Fair-Marin Power Issues Ironed Out

Supervisors Keep String On Hiring, Fee Decisions

By WAT TAKESHITA

Fair-Marin, the nonprofit corporation which will operate the fairgrounds, should have more independence and autonomy than just another county department, Marin County supervisors agreed this morning at a workshop session with Fair-Marin directors.

At the same time, that autonomy would not extend to the hiring and firing of employees and to the independent setting of rental fees for the Veterans Memorial Auditorium, the majority of the supervisors declared.

On a motion by Supervisor Peter H. Behr, the supervisors asked County Administrator Alan Bruce to continue negotiations with Fair-Marin to draw up a compromise agreement whereby "the fiscal and planning responsibility of the supervisors is safeguarded, but recognizing and implementing maximum independence of Fair-Marin in operating 80 acres of the fairgrounds."

Supervisor William A. Gnoss insisted that any such agreement be subject to approval of the state Board of Fairs and Expositions. This was added to Behr's motion and passed unanimously.

Two proposed agreements faced the supervisors this morning — one by the county administrator and the other by Fair-Marin, headed by Harold Stockstad.

At the outset, the agreements appeared poles apart, but after 90 minutes of discussion, some of the differences had been narrowed.

S.F. State Unrest Laid To Agitators

LOS ANGELES (AP) —Gov. Ronald Reagan and State School Supt. Max Rafferty said today "professional agitators" are disrupting classes at San Francisco State College.

They made it clear the "agitators" were a major topic at a closed-door meeting of state college trustees, in session to consider how college president Robert R. Smith handled the disruption.

*The trustees met in a mara*thon 8-and-one-half hour session yesterday. Reagan and Rafferty made their statements to newsmen moments before the meeting resumed today.

"I'm in favor of this college meeting that particular problem with professional agitators head-on and opening the school," Reagan said.

Rafferty said, "there are at least 100 professional agitators that will have to be removed," adding that college officials say at least some of the agitators are not students.

Reagan was asked if he favored firing Smith.

"I couldn't honestly answer that," he replied. "I'm here with an open mind as to what is the answer."

Smith also attended today's session.

Trustee chairman Theodore Meriam of Chico was asked yesterday whether Smith will be fired.

He would only say, "We're trying to be as thorough and judicious and as fair as we can be."

Meriam said "personnel" was the main topic.

Airman Says Guilt Less Than Charge

By MARY LEYDECKER

Airman John E. King, 20, today admitted he was responsible for the death of his friend in a Hamilton Air Force Base flightline shack shooting Sept. 10, but claimed lesser guilt than charged.

Airman King entered a plea of innocent to the charges of involuntary manslaughter and failure to obey an order, but pleaded guilty to a lesser charge of negligent homicide in the killing of A/1c Wesley A. Dorman, 20, of Phoenix, Ariz.

After the court-martial heard the pleas, the prosecution began presenting a case in which it hopes to prove that King was an irresponsible, gun-whirling security policeman who had been previously warned about taking his gun from his holster.

Only witness this morning was Dr. Ralph D. Clark, an internist, who treated Dorman for his fatal wounds and was present when he died.

As King's mother, Mrs. Edna King and his sister, Mrs. Jo Dillinghan, both of Missouri, sat silently weeping, King entered the courtroom this morning with bowed head.

Seated between his two defense attorneys, Capts. Frederick T. Graham and Jeffrey H. Brasfield, King never raised his eyes in the tiny courtroom and only spoke when he pleaded guilty to the lesser charge. A low flying airplane made it necessary for him to repeat his response in his southern cadence.

King's attorneys hope that the court will find the young airman innocent of the more serious charge and accept his plea to the lesser charge.

The difference between the two charges lies in the degree of negligence. Maximum sentence for manslaughter is three and a half years at hard labor and a dishonorable discharge. Maximum sentence for negligent homicide is one year at hard labor and a bad conduct discharge.

Prosecution Hammers At Arceo Alibi

John Areco was typified as a 20th Century Fagan by the prosecution this morning in the murder trial of Areco and Dennis C. Novotny.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Joshua Thomas picked at details of defense testimony in the summation of the prosecution case today. Thomas attempted to discredit testimony by defense witnesses for the two and alleged discrepancies in Novotny's testimony. Areco did not take the stand in his own defense.

Both are charged with the kicking murder of Wesley Marshall while allegedly stealing 16 guns from Marshall's San Rafael home on Dec. 6, 1967.

Prosecution testimony has said that Novotny took part in the robbery and that Areco helped plan it. Thomas referred to Areco as a 20th Century Fagan in helping plan the robbery and said Areco's defense witnesses were part of an attempt by Areco to set up an alibi. He said Areco advised Novotny and Claude LeBas on what to wear and how to carry out the robbery.

LeBas was a prosecution witness after he confessed to the murder-robbery and is serving a life term in prison.

Thomas reminded the jury of the testimony of Connie Rosser and LeBas against Areco and Novotny.

He said Miss Rosser's appear-

Hanoi Protests U.S. Air, Naval Attacks

COMBINED AP & UPI

PARIS — North Vietnam has protested what it says are U.S. air and naval attacks against its territory, a spokesman for Hanoi's peace delegation said today.

Nguyen Than Le, the delegation spokesman, said attacks in recent days violated the U.S. bomb halt commitments.

He said North Vietnam's peace delegation had protested directly to the U.S. peace team here.

Le charged that during the past two weeks a ship of the U.S. 7th Fleet had shelled North Vietnamese territory in the region of Vinh Linh.

In addition, he said, U.S. planes flying to the rescue of two downed reconnaissance pilots bombarded and fired rockets against North Vietnamese territory.

He said the air attacks took place yesterday when an American A3J was downed in Nghe An Province and an F4C fell to enemy fire in Quang Binh Province.

U.S. sources in Saigon said two American planes where shot down over North Vietnam yesterday. They identified the planes as an Air Force F4C fighter-bomber and an unarmed Navy Vigilante reconnaissance jet. They said the fighter-bomber was protecting the Navy plane. Radio Hanoi said two of the four crewmen were captured.

The North Vietnamese spokesman said his delegation had made "numerous protests" directly to the American delegation to the stalled Paris peace talks.

Meanwhile, a mystery envoy from Saigon was reported here preparing for the arrival soon of Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky. This indicated South Vietnam's boycott of the peace talks is nearing its end.

Qualified informants said if all goes well Ky is likely to arrive with a South Vietnamese delegation by next week, clearing the way for the resumption

King of muckrakers

Sinclair died yesterday at the Somerset Valley Nursing Home near here. A memorial service will be held at St. Paul's Episcopal church in Bound Brook at 11 a.m. Saturday.

During what he described as a 63-year battle for social justice, Sinclair wrote 89 full-length books. One of his best known works, "The Jungle," catapulted him to fame at the age of 28 in 1906.

The book exposed filthy conditions in the Chicago meat packing industry and led to the nation's pure food laws. The book's message went around the world through translation as did most of his subsequent works.

It was one of the major reasons for the title "King of the Muckrakers." Sinclair's dedication to social reform incurred the enmity of powerful personalities and the support of many famous men.

Among his admirers were George Bernard Shaw, who recommended Sinclair for the Nobel Prize, and Albert Einstein, who wrote a poem to him.

Stanford won its annual Big Game Saturday from California, 20-0, in a terrific upset, but Athletic Director Charles Taylor said that did not influence the decision to retain Ralston.

There had been some alumni criticism because Ralston didn't develop a Rose Bowl team.

Ralston's overall record for six years is 30-28-2. His 1965 team also finished 6-3-1 and his '64, '66 and '67 teams compiled 5-5 records. His first year was 3-7.

Marines, South Vietnamese Battling Reds Inside DMZ

Heavy fighting raged into tonight with the Marines calling for reinforcements, warplanes, artillery and naval gunfire to blast the dug-in guerrillas.

In arranging for expanding Paris talks, President Johnson halted the bombing of North Vietnam and warned Hanoi against using the DMZ as a military camp.

A 15-man South Vietnamese reconnaissance patrol triggered the DMZ fighting before dawn on a mission to find Communist guns that hit an allied base from the zone yesterday. The Leathernecks went in on patrol four hours later then radioed for reinforcements.

Explaining the DMZ probes, since Nov. 1, a military spokesman said, "the field commander has the responsibility for taking proper security measures to protect his troops."

U.S. headquarters issued no report on Marine casualties with the battle still in progress just 500 yards inside the DMZ above the Leatherneck outpost at Con Thien, which lies just below the six-mile wide buffer zone.

France Axes Budget To Help Save Franc

PARIS (UPI) — France slashed its budget by $1.25 billion today to try to save the franc. And it announced cancellation of its atomic and hydrogen bomb testing program in the Pacific as part of this budget cut.

The measures announced by Premier Maurice Couve de Murville were aimed at holding the franc at its 20-cent level. They already appeared to be succeeding. The franc was climbing steadily on the European money markets and the price of gold dropped.

Couve de Murville, speaking to a packed and often unruly session of the 487-member National Assembly, said the $1.25 billion cut would almost halve the government's planned $2.2 billion deficit in its $30.6 billion budget.

Couve de Murville, in outlining France's new austerity program, said it is "up to us to get to work to save the franc.

However, it was possible Cleaver's attorney, Charles Garry, would seek a stay in U.S. District Court through another legal procedure.

HST: Parkinson's Disease Symptoms

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Former President Harry S Truman has some of the symptoms of Parkinson's disease, his personal physician says, but not the disease itself.

Dr. Wallace H. Graham said last night that the symptoms, including tremors and rigidity, are not uncommon for a man of Truman's age.

Truman

"I never said that President Truman was suffering from Parkinson's disease," he added. "He is still out taking walks. He is a bit shaky, but he is 84 years old."

Graham, who was Truman's physician in the White House, made the statement following a talk given by Everett Dudley, an attorney for the National Parkinson Institute at Miami, Fla.

Dudley outlined the benefits of the proposed center of Miami yesterday and said, "Even the personal physician of former President Truman has sought the help of the institute. Mr. Truman has Parkinson's disease."

Reagan Aide Gets Judgeship

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan is naming his top aide, Executive Secretary William P. Clark Jr., to a judgeship and replacing him with Edwin Meese III, now the governor's legal affairs secretary.

Clark

Meese will become the third man to hold the top staff job in the first 25 months of the Reagan administration.

Reagan announced in a news release last evening that Clark is resigning, effective Jan. 31. The Republican chief executive said he would at that time name Clark to the Superior Court bench in San Luis Obispo County.

Clark played a key role in reorganizing the governor's office, especially in reducing the size and amount of material sent to the governor for the basis of his decision-making.

Peck Film Upsets Hong Kong

HONG KONG (AP) — Hong Kong's British government has passed the word that it does not want actor Gregory Peck and a film crew to come to Hong Kong or try to make location shots here for a motion picture that has aroused violent Communist Chinese criticism.

Peck

Government sources said today that any attempt to film any part of "The Chairman" here presents too great a risk of touching off Communist demonstrations in the tiny British colony on Red China's border. Last year Hong Kong was ripped by Communist-instigated violence that killed more than 60 persons and injured hundreds.

Communist newspapers have devoted half pages and banner headlines to warning the government that the colony's Communist "will not tolerate" any work on the film here. The newspapers charge that the film is "anti-Chinese" and "an insult to Chairman Mao Tse-tung."

Combat Talks

VIENNA (AP) — Military conference of Warsaw Pact countries opened in Bucharest today amid rumors of new Kremlin pressure on Romania to allow Soviet troops on her territory for joint maneuvers.

A brief announcement said the four-day meeting was called to "analyze problems of combat training." Soviet Marshal Ivan Yakubovsky, the alliance's military commander, was presiding.

VATICAN CITY (AP) — One of Pope Paul's closest advisors declared today that Roman Catholics must obey the Pope's orders even if the orders are wrong.

The statement by Pericle Cardinal Felici, president of the Commissoon for the Revision of Canon Law, was an unmistakable call for obedience to the Pope's decisions on birth control, priestly celibacy and other issues dividing the church.

It was also the first admission from a high Vatican prelate that the Pontiff might have erred in some of those divisive decisions.

Computerized Police Net Set For 1970

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A computerized $5 million information storehouse and communication network will be installed next year to give California law officers quick access to crime files in Sacramento and Washington, D.C.

Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch reported yesterday the network, known as the California Law Enforcement Telecommunications System (CLETS), will link more than 450 state law agencies to computerized files.

He said the system will be fully operational next October and will replace the old teletype network established in 1931.

The policeman on the beat, in rural or urban California, will be able to make a fast check on firearms, property, vehicles or persons simply by telephoning his headquarters, Lynch said.

Under the system, a radio dispatcher will transmit a coded question through computerized state information in Sacramento, which then checks with the FBI's National Crime Information Center in Washington.

The information received from both storehouses is then flashed on a screen in the office that sent the message.

"Thus in a matter of seconds the officer can determine whether to release the individual, take immediate action or call for assistance," Lynch said.

Fatal Courthouse Shooting Spree Claims Settled

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Damage suits amounting to several million dollars filed by four persons wounded in a courthouse shooting spree have been settled for $70,000.

Song writer Thomas C. Dilbeck was convicted of murder in the shooting death of his wife Hildegard, 42, at the county courthouse. The woman had been seeking a divorce.

Wounded in the shooting last Jan. 16th shooting were Mrs. Dilbeck's two attorneys, Daniel Sheahan, 35, and Edwin Saul 31; John B. Norberg, 56, an accountant, and Mabel Klug, 46, a prospective witness for Mrs. Dilbeck.

Also sharing in the settlement reached yesterday will be Mrs. Dilbeck's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Zobel of Muhlenstrasse, West Germany. Division of the settlement was not announced.

The settlement was approved by Superior Court Judge Gerold C. Dunn and will come out of Dilbeck's estate, estimated at $250,000 and assigned to his defense attorneys.

Four Children Perish In Fire

The mother, Mrs. Tom Gregg, rescued another child, 8-year-old Charles, and both were hospitalized in fair condition.

The fire broke out about 4:30 a.m., half an hour after the father had left for work at a stone company in nearby Trinity.

The fire snuffed out the lives of Tommy Gregg, 6; Rebecca, 3; Lisa, 2-year-old daughter crippled by a bone disease, and Joan, six months.

Ship Threat Held Key To Pueblo Fuss

NEW YORK (AP) —The key to obtaining freedom for the 82 crewmen of the intelligence ship Pueblo, some Johnson Administration officials believe, may be two ships being built for North Korea in the Netherlands, the New York Times reported today.

A Washington dispatch by William Beecher said American agents in Rotterdam are "ostentatiously showing interest" in two costly fish-processing vessels which might be seized on their long trip home.

The first of the two ships ordered about a year ago is now nearly ready for delivery with a North Korean captain and crew standing by, the newspapr said.

While the United States has made no explicit threats concerning seizure of the ships, the story continues, North Korea, in view of the implied threat, might move to release the crewmen.

The newspaper quotes a U.S. official sa saying:

"North Korea has already milked about as much propaganda from the seizure as it can expect.

"Rather than run the risk of a black eye, and loss of an expensive vessel on the high seas, it may be willing to turn the Pueblo crewmen back and close the books on the incident."

North Korea captured the Pueblo last January in what it asserts were Korean waters and has been insisting that the U.S. government make public apologies. The Administration has called it an "act of piracy."

Nixon Reported Near To Naming Cabinet

NEW YOR K(AP) — President-elect Richard M. Nixon, continuing closed-door meetings with advisers and prominent Republican officeholders, apparently has just about made up his mind on some Cabinet appointments.

Although Nixon has said he'll make known no cabinet choices before Dec. 6, GOP Sen. John G. Tower of Texas emerged from a conference yesterday with the President-elect and acknowledged they'd talked about possible Cabinet selections, Democrats as well as Republicans.

Asked if it would be accurate to say Nixon has not yet decided on any cabinet nominees, Tower carefully responded that Nixon indicated no final decisions to him—leaving wide open the suggestion that the incoming chief executive has privately reached, or is very close to, some final choices.

Tower, one of three prominent Republicans to meet with Nixon during the day, gave a thumbnail description of the kind of cabinet he believes is being sought by Nixon: "People of great professional competence" whose ideas are not incompatible with those of the president-elect and who have an ability to implement those ideas.

The Texas senator said Nixon would like "geographical balance" in the cabinet but would not sacrifice other considerations to parceling out appointments on a regional basis.

OIL RIG BOAT

Frogmen Search For Lost Crew

SANTA BARBARA (AP) — Frogmen carrying 1,000-watt undersea lights searched the dark deep of the Pacific Ocean as hope faded today for nine men lost in the sudden unexplained sinking of the work boat Triple Crown.

A spokesman for Santa Fe International Corp., which built the 170-foot boat to help anchor oil drilling platforms, said there is little hope for the missing men.

"There is a possibility that some of them may have found an air bubble in the ship and may still be alive," he said, "although this is doubtful at that depth of 300 feet and the pressure down there."

Sixteen men were rescued as the crane-rigged boat sank without warning early yesterday stern first.

The company disputed a report by one of the survivors, James Van Auken, that the craft's 500-ton weight load was concentrated on one side just before the boat went down in less than three minutes.

It was built to handle 900 tons, a spokesman said, adding, "we are at a loss to explain or theorize what happened."

"It just started over," said Jim Petrovich, 35-year-old foreman of the crew working to move a 200-foot-square drilling platform eight miles off the Southern California coast. "When the ship didn't right itself, we knew something was wrong."

He said there was no panic as the workmen put on life jackets and leaped into the sea. The tugboat Pacific Saturn picked up the survivors in 30 minutes.

The steel-hulled ship, on the job just three weeks after being built by Burton Shipyard in Port Arthur, Tex., was called by its owners "the world's most powerful combination tug supply boat." It was built especially to lift and lower the huge anchors which keep platforms in position over drilling sites.

A 15-mile-an-hour wind whipped two to three-foot waves at the time of the sinking. A spokesman for the owners said the boat was built to operate safely in 20-foot waves.

The Triple Crown had pulled up eight 10-ton anchors and was reeling in the last of eight chains weighing a total of almost 500 tons when it sank. But it was equipped, the spokesman said, to handle twice that weight without danger.

"That's why the sinking is such a great puzzle," he said.

The spokesman said Jerry Wendell, designer of the Triple Crown and vice president of Caspary-Wendell, the vessel's owner, was aboard the search ship with several marine insurance men and divers.

One-Way Toll Set For Two Area Bridges

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The state is moving to save some ferry boats in San Diego and cut the toll charged on two San Francisco Bay Area bridges.

The California Toll Bridge Authority yesterday:

Approved a plan to eliminate the current 25-cent toll for westbound traffic on the Carquinez and Benicia-Martinez bridges on the eastern fringes of San Francisco Bay. However, the toll for eastbound traffic will be doubled to 50 cents when the plan takes effect about Feb. 1.

Approved a request to private holders of bonds that paid for the San Diego-Coronado Bridge that they allow some ferries to stay in business. The bridge opens next summer and under terms of the bond contract, the state must eliminate all ferry competition. But the authority hopes to persuade the bond holders that the ferries won't really endanger the bridge's solvency.

It costs 15 cents for a car to go from San Diego to a Navy base on North Island by the ferry—but it will be 60 cents to the new bridge, making it the only bridge without a lower rate for commuters.

It was built especially to lift and lower the huge anchors which keep platforms in position over drilling sites.

A 15-mile-an-hour wind whipped two to three-foot waves at the time of the sinking. A spokesman for the owners said the boat was built to operate safely in 20-foot waves.

The Triple Crown had pulled up eight 10-ton anchors and was reeling in the last of eight chains weighing a total of almost 500 tons when it sank. But it was equipped, the spokesman said, to handle twice that weight without danger.

"That's why the sinking is such a great puzzle," he said.

The spokesman said Jerry Wendell, designer of the Triple Crown and vice president of Caspary-Wendell, the vessel's owner, was aboard the search ship with several marine insurance men and divers.

One-Way Toll Set For Two Area Bridges

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The state is moving to save some ferry boats in San Diego and cut the toll charged on two San Francisco Bay Area bridges.

The California Toll Bridge Authority yesterday:

Approved a plan to eliminate the current 25-cent toll for westbound traffic on the Carquinez and Benicia-Martinez bridges on the eastern fringes of San Francisco Bay. However, the toll for eastbound traffic will be doubled to 50 cents when the plan takes effect about Feb. 1.

Approved a request to private holders of bonds that paid for the San Diego-Coronado Bridge that they allow some ferries to stay in business. The bridge opens next summer and under terms of the bond contract, the state must eliminate all ferry competition. But the authority hopes to persuade the bond holders that the ferries won't really endanger the bridge's solvency.

It costs 15 cents for a car to go from San Diego to a Navy base on North Island by the ferry—but it will be 60 cents to the new bridge, making it the only bridge without a lower rate for commuters.

$100,000 Gnoss Field Work Tag

Lighting of Gnoss Field and extending the runway by 1,100 feet will cost about $100,000.

Brown Ely Co. of San Rafael offered to do the job for $101,331, the lowest of five bids opened yesterday at the Civic Center. The engineer's estimate for the job was $93,300.

The project, which is phase two of county airport construction, calls for extending the runway from the present 2,200 feet to 3,300 feet, installing beacon and tower, runway and taxiway lighting, and other related construction. Michael King, assistant director of public works, said the job will take about three and one-half months to complete.

The other contractors and their bids were:

Ghilotti Brothers of San Rafael $108,892; Blasi-Engleke of Healdsburg $110,824; O. C. Jones of Berkeley $119,952; and William McClellan of San Rafael $123,643.

King and Robert Pedroncelli, design engineer, opened the bids yesterday afternoon. All five bids were to go to the Marin County Board of Superivsors for action this afternoon.

In a second bid opening, Healy Tibbitts Co. of San Francisco submitted a low bid of $26,870 to widen Gallinas Creek and relocate a sewer line. The only other bidder was MGM Construction Co. of Concord, which submitted a bid of $55,995. The engineer's estimate was $27,000. An existing sewer line will be relocated to permit channel widening adjacent to Vendola Drive near Mabry Way, Santa Venetia. These bids also were to go to supervisors today for decision.

Mill Valley Planners Vote More 701 Study

The Mill Valley Planning Commission last night talked around all sides of the city's 701 development plan, then required three votes before it could agree how to tackle the plan again in January.

The commission set a fourth public hearing on the plan for Jan. 13, and agreed to begin discussion then of the plan's four pages of general policies on land uses and activities, circulation and physical design.

The 701 plan, partly financed by a federal grant, proposes future development guidelines for the city's downtown, Alto and Miller Avenue commercial areas and for Corte Madera Creek.

For two hours the commission heard several persons among a scanty audience of a dozen find fault with the plan, and wrangled within itself over whether to talk about specific points or general concepts of the plan.

Objections from the audience again centered on the downtown plan, which envisions a partial pedestrian mall in Lytton Square with some of the present parking replaced by parking lots behind stores.

Merchants, cool to the plan in the previous two hearings, remained so. S. W. Schneider, owner of Varney's hardware store, said merchants are against a mall and "after all, your merchants contribute to the tax base and they're the ones who should be satisfied."

"What beauty would a mall contribute to Mill Valley?" Schneider asked. He said it would encourage young people to loiter and learn bad habits as they do now at the Greyhound bus depot.

The plan would not cut downtown parking, Planning Director Harvey E. Bragdon said, but would shift some of it behind stores instead of on the street in front of them.

The commission debated until 10:30 p.m. when Paul E. Rosenthal, chairman, asked for a motion "to discipline our conversation . . . or else we are going to be here for months."

Commissioner Sally Garoutte moved the commission discuss the plan's four geographic areas. Commissioner Edward Farrell offered a substitute motion to approve the plan's general policies.

Mrs. Garoutte amended her motion to include discussion of the general policies, but her entire motion then lost on a 3-3 split, with Farrell, Richard J. Hiatt and Edward J. Boessenecker voting against it and Mrs. Garoutte, Rosenthal and Robert E. Burton for it.

Farrell then moved for approval of the general policies and that lost 3-2 with Burton abstaining, Farrell and Hiatt voting for it and the other three against.

Burton then offered the proposal to discuss the general policies of the plan starting Jan. 13 and the motion passed unanimously, possibly by exhaustion.

The commission then unanimously approved a request by Martin Hirsch, operator of Chronos Watch Repair at 8 El Paseo, to move his shop to 158 East Blithedale Avenue as a permitted use in a professional-administrative district.

ground," said Chairman Ernest N. Kettenhofen. He said the whole key is not to destroy the pride, enthusiasm and independence of Fair-Marin.

The main points at issue were these:

Should Fair-Marin operate 80 acres of the fairgrounds, as it proposed, or limit itself to the auditorium and about eight to 10 acres, as Bruce recommended. The supervisors said Fair-Marin should operate 80 acres, with the degree of control to be spelled out.

Fair-Marin wanted two budgets. One would deal with planning, development and management of the fairgrounds, which would be controlled by the county. The other, dealing with coordinating and promoting various cultural and recreational activities, should be controlled by Fair-Marin. Bruce proposed a simple, county-controlled budget. This, the supervisors left to be decided later.

Fair-Marin wanted to set rental fees for use of the auditorium. The county administrator said fees should be set by the county.

Fair-Marin called for contract of five years. The administrator suggested a cancellation clause, with 120 days notice from either party. Leland H. Jordan, attorney for Fair-Marin, acknowledged that the cancellation clause would be wise.

Fair-Marin wanted the right to hire and fire its key employees, such as the manager of the auditorium and fair. The supervisors said they fear that separate hiring would lead to "favored treatment" of Fair-Marin employees over all other county employees.

Supervisor Thomas T. Storer said he sees nothing wrong with the agreement proposed by Fair-Marin, but the other supervisors had some reservations.

Supervisor John F. McInnis said rental fees should be set by the county with recommendations from Fair-Marin. He said independent hiring of employees could lead to favored treatment and strained relations with other county employees. If Fair-Marin were given the authority to deal directly with supervisors without going through the county administrator, this too would give most favored treatment, said McInnis.

Supervisor Behr agreed that separate hiring could result in unequal treatment of employees. He sided with Fair-Marin on its desire to control 80 acres. Rental fees, said Behr, should be approved by the county and not by Fair-Marin alone. He said the selection of the fair manager could be accomplished by an oral board consisting of Fair-Marin directors and the supervisors.

The various points brought up this morning will be incorporated in a revised agreement to be worked out by the county administrator, Fair-Marin directors and the county counsel.

Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke of the college system suspended Murray this fall for 30 days during an investigation into reports that the Negro militant urged Negro students to carry guns on campus.

Dumke and Rafferty were among the 19 trustees at the first session. Only Lt. Gov. Robert H. Finch and Democratic Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh of Inglewood, a nonvoting member were absent.

Meriam described the meeting as "arduous."

Meanwhile today non-Caucasion students pressed demands for recognition and power at San Francisco State College as faculty and students went into the second day of a three-day convocation.

The convocation got off to a late start yesterday after an argument over whether to consider 10 Black Students Union demands and five Third World Liberation Front demands, all at once or separately. The Third World group includes non-Negro minorities.

The convocation is to end tomorrow, and classes are set to resume Dec. 2, end of the Thanksgiving recess.

Classes were also interrupted yesterday by convocations at two other schools, Chico State College and the University of California Medical Center in San Francisco.

SINCLAIR

since December 1967, living within 15 miles of the farm in Princeton where he wrote "The Jungle."

In 1942 he won a Pulitzer Prize for his novel "Dragon's Teeth," a story set in Hitler's Germany where his books had been put on the bonfire a few years earlier.

The intense but cheerful Socialist crusader, who lived to see changes that he had sought, had been ailing since July 1967 when he was operated on for an intestinal disorder.

When he was 83 he updated his autobiography and only then did a barrage of books, articles, pamphlets, letters cease—eight tons of them now stored in the Lilly Library at Indiana University. He relaxed, making an occasional appearance on the lecture platform.

Born in Baltimore Sept. 20, 1878, Sinclair began his writing life at 14, spurred greatly by a luckless though instructive childhood with kindly but impoverished Southern Aristocrat parents.

His writing, at first inconsequential, helped pay for an education at the College of the City of New York and Columbia University. Soon he began serious themes, excited by cruelties and contradictions in life that seemed to call for a reformer's zeal, a "Jesus Complex" as he freely admitted.

The ebullient writer, who tended to make friends of his critics over the passage of time, didn't win the Nobel, but he did appreciate Shaw's plug."

Books followed "The Jungle" as if from an assembly line. They attacked conditions in the news, coal, oil, auto and other fields.

In 1934 Sinclair ran for governor of California on the Democratic ticket. He was defeated by Republican Frank Merriam.

At one of his last lecture appearances, at the University of Buffalo, he got tired in the middle of his talk and sat down. He asked his son, David, 67, to carry on.

"I did, but with somewhat less color than father," said David, a quiet speaking physicist who works for the Atomic Energy Commission in New York City. "After five minutes father was on his feet again. He wowed the students and got a big hand."

David, Sinclair's only child, was by a first wife, the former Meta H. Fuller of New York who died five years ago. The 1900 marriage ended in divorce in 1912 and she remarried, as did Sinclair two years later.

He wed Mississippi born Mary Craig Kimbrough, of who he said after her death in 1961, "I had for half a century the love of one of the kindest, wisest, and dearest souls that ever lived upon this earth."

In 1962, lonesome in a comfortable California home that his writings had earned him, he married the former May Hard, 79, widowed like himself. She died in 1966 in Rockville, Md., where the couple had moved to be near their families.

$20,000 Bail In Kidnap Case

A San Francisco man was held in Marin County Jail in lieu of $20,000 bail today on charge charges of kidnap, rape and assault with a deadly weapon.

Robert Lee Brown, 26, was arraigned on those charges in Marin Municipal Court yesterday after his arrest by Corte Madera Police. He was to plead to the charges in court today.

Hub Resident Is Found Dead

An 83-year-old man was found dead in his home at 14 Kientz Lane, San Anselmo, yesterday afternoon by a friend who had not seen him in a while.

The Marin County Coroner's Office said that John E. Griffith had been dead about four days. Pending an autopsy at Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo, the death was attributed to natural causes.

Police said the friend, Ray L. Olson of 633 San Anselmo Avenue, told them he went to Griffith's home about 3:10 p.m. yesterday and found the doors locked.

He said he peered through a window and saw Griffith lying on the kitchen floor. Olson notified police and the house was entered.

of the negotiations that have been suspended since Nov. 6.

An American-South Vietnamese agreement on the terms of Saigon's participation in the conference is imminent, according to reports from both Saigon and Washington. President Nguyen Van Thieu is expected to announce his government's readiness to participate in the Paris talks with the United States, North Vietnam and the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front in a few days.

Informants said the mystery man from Saigon arrived during the weekend to arrange the many protocol details connected with the reception and accommodation of the South Vietnamese vice president.

He was reported to be a high official in Ky's own office, but the South Vietnamese mission withheld his name "for reasons of security."

On another front, Communist China today suddenly announced it want to resume diplomatic talks with the United States.

A Peking Radio broadcast heard in Tokyo said the Chinese Communists have agreed to meet American diplomats in Warsaw on Feb. 20.

From 1955 until last January the United States and the Peking regime held periodic talks in the Polish capital. The State Department said Nov. 18 it had been seeking renewed contacts, with Feb. 20 as the last suggested date.

ance "took quite a bit of courage," and maintained that neither witness had a motive to testify against Areco and Novotny.

He pointed out that neither witness developed a faulty memory on the stand as did Ernest Simmons.

Miss Rosser testified that she became worried about the guns of Areco and Novotny and went to Undersheriff Sidney Stinson and told him of their activities.

LeBas, who pleaded guilty to his part in the crime and is now serving a life sentence, testified on the activities of Areco and Novotny in connection with the Marshall death and robbery.

Simmons could remember almost nothing about the events of last January when he took the stand.

The defense was to give its interpretations of the evidence this afternoon.

Marin Builder Edward Burgar To Wed Again

San Rafael builder Edward W. Burgar and a 39-year-old San Rafael divorcee were issued a marriage license yesterday in the Marin County Clerk's Office.

It will be the fourth marriage for Burgar, according to courthouse records, and the third for his bride, Dolores Jean Secrist. He is 65.

In June, Burgar was divorced from his last wife, Betty A. Burgar, on grounds of cruelty. She was awarded the family home in Greenbrae, $20,000 cash, alimony of $1,000 a month, and a promissory note for $122,250.

Burgar was allowed to retain his stock in his company, Edward W. Burgar, Inc., at 615 B Street, San Rafael.

A previous wife, Edna G. Burgar, won an estimated half million dollars worth of property and cash in a divorce settlement approved in Marin Superior Court in 1961.

FAIR

ground," said Chairman Ernest N. Kettenhofen. He said the whole key is not to destroy the pride, enthusiasm and independence of Fair-Marin.

The main points at issue were these:

Should Fair-Marin operate 80 acres of the fairgrounds, as it proposed, or limit itself to the auditorium and about eight to 10 acres, as Bruce recommended. The supervisors said Fair-Marin should operate 80 acres, with the degree of control to be spelled out.

Fair-Marin wanted two budgets. One would deal with planning, development and management of the fairgrounds, which would be controlled by the county. The other, dealing with coordinating and promoting various cultural and recreational activities, should be controlled by Fair-Marin. Bruce proposed a simple, county-controlled budget. This, the supervisors left to be decided later.

Fair-Marin wanted to set rental fees for use of the auditorium. The county administrator said fees should be set by the county.

Fair-Marin called for contract of five years. The administrator suggested a cancellation clause, with 120 days notice from either party. Leland H. Jordan, attorney for Fair-Marin, acknowledged that the cancellation clause would be wise.

Fair-Marin wanted the right to hire and fire its key employees, such as the manager of the auditorium and fair. The supervisors said they fear that separate hiring would lead to "favored treatment" of Fair-Marin employees over all other county employees.

Supervisor Thomas T. Storer said he sees nothing wrong with the agreement proposed by Fair-Marin, but the other supervisors had some reservations.

Supervisor John F. McInnis said rental fees should be set by the county with recommendations from Fair-Marin. He said independent hiring of employees could lead to favored treatment and strained relations with other county employees. If Fair-Marin were given the authority to deal directly with supervisors without going through the county administrator, this too would give most favored treatment, said McInnis.

Supervisor Behr agreed that separate hiring could result in unequal treatment of employees. He sided with Fair-Marin on its desire to control 80 acres. Rental fees, said Behr, should be approved by the county and not by Fair-Marin alone. He said the selection of the fair manager could be accomplished by an oral board consisting of Fair-Marin directors and the supervisors.

The various points brought up this morning will be incorporated in a revised agreement to be worked out by the county administrator, Fair-Marin directors and the county counsel.

Meriam described the meeting as "arduous."

Meanwhile today non-Caucasion students pressed demands for recognition and power at San Francisco State College as faculty and students went into the second day of a three-day convocation.

The convocation got off to a late start yesterday after an argument over whether to consider 10 Black Students Union demands and five Third World Liberation Front demands, all at once or separately. The Third World group includes non-Negro minorities.

The convocation is to end tomorrow, and classes are set to resume Dec. 2, end of the Thanksgiving recess.

Classes were also interrupted yesterday by convocations at two other schools, Chico State College and the University of California Medical Center in San Francisco.

since December 1967, living within 15 miles of the farm in Princeton where he wrote "The Jungle."

In 1942 he won a Pulitzer Prize for his novel "Dragon's Teeth," a story set in Hitler's Germany where his books had been put on the bonfire a few years earlier.

The intense but cheerful Socialist crusader, who lived to see changes that he had sought, had been ailing since July 1967 when he was operated on for an intestinal disorder.

When he was 83 he updated his autobiography and only then did a barrage of books, articles, pamphlets, letters cease—eight tons of them now stored in the Lilly Library at Indiana University. He relaxed, making an occasional appearance on the lecture platform.

Born in Baltimore Sept. 20, 1878, Sinclair began his writing life at 14, spurred greatly by a luckless though instructive childhood with kindly but impoverished Southern Aristocrat parents.

His writing, at first inconsequential, helped pay for an education at the College of the City of New York and Columbia University. Soon he began serious themes, excited by cruelties and contradictions in life that seemed to call for a reformer's zeal, a "Jesus Complex" as he freely admitted.

The ebullient writer, who tended to make friends of his critics over the passage of time, didn't win the Nobel, but he did appreciate Shaw's plug."

Books followed "The Jungle" as if from an assembly line. They attacked conditions in the news, coal, oil, auto and other fields.

In 1934 Sinclair ran for governor of California on the Democratic ticket. He was defeated by Republican Frank Merriam.

At one of his last lecture appearances, at the University of Buffalo, he got tired in the middle of his talk and sat down. He asked his son, David, 67, to carry on.

"I did, but with somewhat less color than father," said David, a quiet speaking physicist who works for the Atomic Energy Commission in New York City. "After five minutes father was on his feet again. He wowed the students and got a big hand."

David, Sinclair's only child, was by a first wife, the former Meta H. Fuller of New York who died five years ago. The 1900 marriage ended in divorce in 1912 and she remarried, as did Sinclair two years later.

He wed Mississippi born Mary Craig Kimbrough, of who he said after her death in 1961, "I had for half a century the love of one of the kindest, wisest, and dearest souls that ever lived upon this earth."

In 1962, lonesome in a comfortable California home that his writings had earned him, he married the former May Hard, 79, widowed like himself. She died in 1966 in Rockville, Md., where the couple had moved to be near their families.

$20,000 Bail In Kidnap Case

A San Francisco man was held in Marin County Jail in lieu of $20,000 bail today on charge charges of kidnap, rape and assault with a deadly weapon.

Robert Lee Brown, 26, was arraigned on those charges in Marin Municipal Court yesterday after his arrest by Corte Madera Police. He was to plead to the charges in court today.

Hub Resident Is Found Dead

An 83-year-old man was found dead in his home at 14 Kientz Lane, San Anselmo, yesterday afternoon by a friend who had not seen him in a while.

The Marin County Coroner's Office said that John E. Griffith had been dead about four days. Pending an autopsy at Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo, the death was attributed to natural causes.

Police said the friend, Ray L. Olson of 633 San Anselmo Avenue, told them he went to Griffith's home about 3:10 p.m. yesterday and found the doors locked.

He said he peered through a window and saw Griffith lying on the kitchen floor. Olson notified police and the house was entered.

of the negotiations that have been suspended since Nov. 6.

An American-South Vietnamese agreement on the terms of Saigon's participation in the conference is imminent, according to reports from both Saigon and Washington. President Nguyen Van Thieu is expected to announce his government's readiness to participate in the Paris talks with the United States, North Vietnam and the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front in a few days.

Informants said the mystery man from Saigon arrived during the weekend to arrange the many protocol details connected with the reception and accommodation of the South Vietnamese vice president.

He was reported to be a high official in Ky's own office, but the South Vietnamese mission withheld his name "for reasons of security."

On another front, Communist China today suddenly announced it want to resume diplomatic talks with the United States.

A Peking Radio broadcast heard in Tokyo said the Chinese Communists have agreed to meet American diplomats in Warsaw on Feb. 20.

From 1955 until last January the United States and the Peking regime held periodic talks in the Polish capital. The State Department said Nov. 18 it had been seeking renewed contacts, with Feb. 20 as the last suggested date.

ance "took quite a bit of courage," and maintained that neither witness had a motive to testify against Areco and Novotny.

He pointed out that neither witness developed a faulty memory on the stand as did Ernest Simmons.

Miss Rosser testified that she became worried about the guns of Areco and Novotny and went to Undersheriff Sidney Stinson and told him of their activities.

LeBas, who pleaded guilty to his part in the crime and is now serving a life sentence, testified on the activities of Areco and Novotny in connection with the Marshall death and robbery.

Simmons could remember almost nothing about the events of last January when he took the stand.

The defense was to give its interpretations of the evidence this afternoon.

Burgar was allowed to retain his stock in his company, Edward W. Burgar, Inc., at 615 B Street, San Rafael.

A previous wife, Edna G. Burgar, won an estimated half million dollars worth of property and cash in a divorce settlement approved in Marin Superior Court in 1961.

Festival Profit Asked For Tots' Playground

The San Anselmo Parks and Recreation Commission voted last night to ask the city council to allot the $2,000 in profits from October's Fall Festival for improvement of the tiny tot area in Memorial Park.

Frank L. Quinn, parks and recreation director, said some playground equipment for small children already is located at the park, and the funds would be used to improve the facilities. He said the comission also is planning to add a tiny tot area in the newly acquired Robson-Harrington Park property within a few months.

He also said tiny tot areas are ultimately planned for the Brookside Court, Angela Avenue, and Sequoia Drive areas.

The commission heard a report by Commissioner Laura M. Cann on plans to seek furniture contributions for two rooms of the large house on the Robson-Harrington property. The rooms would be used as meeting halls, Quinn said.

Indian Valley Sewer Proposal Killed By Panel

A proposed Indian Valley assessment district to add sewers to a large area of West Novato, was killed last night by the Novato Sanitary District Board, according to Asst. Dist. Engineer Bill Bayless.

The assessment district, first proposed in May 1966, was intially favored by 132 persons, about half the people in the area, Bayless said.

But subsequent cost analyses, submitted to the residents of the area last January, reduced the number of those in favor to 71, not sufficient to form an assessment district, Charles Joseph, engineer-manager, told the board, according to Bayless.

The Novato Sanitary District board also:

ANNEXATIONS — Approved the annexation of Trumbull Avenue subdivision No. 2 of 100 acres for Sono-Marin Builders and of Pioneer Memorial Park for the City of Novato.

AGREEMENT — Approved an agreement with the North Marin County Water District for the water district to install an eight-inch main down Davidson Street to the sewer treatment plant at a cost of $7,570.

HEARING — Received notice that the board of supervisors will hold a public hearing on Dec. 17 on the proposed merger of the Novato Sanitary District and the North Marin County Water District.

MEETINGS — Set Dec. 9 and 30 for meetings next month.

Medi-Cal Fees Told To Probers

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Only 10 per cent of the 19,000 physicians taking part in the Medi-Cal Program grossed more than $1,000 a month from it, a spokesman for Blue Shield told the Assembly Public Health Committee.

Dr. Carl E. Anderson, chairman of the group insurance organization's board of trustees, testified yesterday at a hearing into a report by the state attorney general's office that Medi-Cal is being bilked of between $6 million and $8 million annually.

He said that if the average physician devoted his practice entirely to Medi-Cal patients, he would earn slightly less than if he treated only those not in the program.

Mine Owners Still Keeping Shafts Open

MANNINGTON, W. Va. (AP) —The deep coal mine where 78 men have been trapped for more than six days will not be sealed "no matter how remote the possibility" of rescue exists, a top company official said this afternoon.

"We will not seal this mine until a reason for keeping it open does not exist," Consolidation Coal Co. president John Corcoran told news conference.

There has been no contact with any of the 78 entombed men since fire and explosion ripped through Mountaineer Mine Company's No. 9 mine early last Wednesday.

"No matter how remote the possibility, we won't close any avenue of escape," Corcoran said. "We won't cut the rope."

"When I decide to seal it," he said crisply, "I will let you know."

Corcoran and other officials indicated yesterday that a decision whether the mine should be sealed to snuff out the fire deep in its passageways would have to be faced soon.

He has said samples of air taken from the tunnels indicated a high concentration of deadly methane gas and carbon monoxide. "You and I could not live in it," he told newsmen.

Policeman Is Booted; Faces Bribery Charges

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A police sergeant has been fired and two inspectors cited —all on charges of unofficer-like conduct.

The action was taken by the Police Commission yesterday against Sgt. Jack Macklin, 41, who faces a court hearing on a criminal complaint that he accepted a $220 bribe from a bar manager to allow unauthorized dancing.

Police Chief Thomas J. Cahill charged inspector Richard Castro with disturbing the peace at a Van Ness Avenue drive-in on the complaint of a counterman that the officer displayed a gun in a threatening manner.

Inspector Bruce Jones was charged with failing to stop Castro, who is awaiting a Municipal Court hearing on a misdemeanor charge stemming from the incident.

In another case involving a San Francisco policeman, suspended patrolman Michael O'Brien pleaded innocent yesterday to a manslaughter charge that resulted from the shooting of a truck driver Sept. 29.

O'Brien is accused of shooting George Baskett after an argument over a minor traffic accident.

Security Firm Gets Punishment On Tips

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Securities and Exchange Commission today punished Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith and 10 of its executives and salesmen for disclosing inside information to selected big investors.

The agency action took the form of accepting an offer by Merrill Lynch, the world's largest securities firm, to settle a case involving antifraud provisions of federal securities law.

In making the offer and accepting the findings of the SEC, Merrill Lynch, however, did not admit the charges of wrongdoing and agreed to the agency action, it said, solely for the purpose of winding up the case as far as it and its employees are concerned.

Meanwhile, pre-hearing conferences started today in New York City involving 14 mutual funds and large investors alleged by the SEC to have received the information from Merrill Lynch in June 1966.

The information had to do with a report that the Douglas Aircraft Co. would show a sharp drop in earnings for the first part of that year and that the outlook for the remainder of 1966 was gloomy.

The SEC ordered Merrill Lynch to suspend all activities of its New York institutional sales office for 21 days starting Dec. 5 and the firm's West Coast underwriting office to shut down for 15 days starting Dec. 11.

This agency-ordered punishment does not affect the general brokerage activities, such as the buying and selling of securities for individuals and other customers who do not deal with the New York institutional sales office.

The agency dropped charges against four senior executives of Merrill Lynch but ordered punishment for 10 others.

Censure and suspension from employment for 21 days without pay was ordered for the following executives and salesmen: Phillip F. Bilbao, Lee W. Idleman, Lawrence Zicklin, James A. McCarthy, Elias A. Lazor and Chester T. Smith Jr.

Dean S. Woodman, vice president in charge of the West Coast underwriting office, was censured. Also censured on charges of failing to exercise reasonable supervision over employees were Edward N. McMillan and Norman H. Heindel, vice presidents.

The inside information Merrill Lynch was charged with disclosing to selected investors stemmed from investigations made by the big brokerage firm before becoming managing underwriter of a $75 million offering of Douglas debentures.

According to the SEC, the investors receiving the information either sold existing holdings of Douglas stock or sold the stock short. A short sale is the sale of borrowed stock with the seller, expecting its price to drop, hoping to profit by buying it back later at a lower price.

The SEC said that during the same few days the information about Douglas being faced with sharp drop in earnings was being passed on to the selected clients, other Merrill Lynch salesmen, apparently unaware of the outlook for Douglas, were selling its stock to other customers.

No Douglas officials were charged with any wrongdoing. Douglas since has merged with McDonnell Co. to form McDonnell-Douglas Corp., a major aerospace and electronics concern.

The SEC said that as a result of the information obtained from Merrill Lynch, the mutual funds and large investors receiving it sold 190,000 shares of Douglas. According to SEC calculations, there was about a $4.5 million difference between the price at which the investors sold and the market price of Douglas on June 29, after Douglas had publicly revealed its poor earnings outlook.

Teen To Panel Wins Support

The Rohnert Park Recreation Commission last night approved a plan to name a teen-ager to fill a commission vacancy.

"A student body officer might be in closer touch with the feelings of the students," he said, adding perhaps the student council later could create an elected position of a representative to the commission.

The vacancy was created when Dr. Donald Davis resigned as chairman earlier this month and Rasmussen was named to replace him.

The Rohnert Park Recreation Commission also:

RECREATION BUILDING — Heard that inclement weather is slowing construction of the recreation center. It is now scheduled to open after the first of the year rather than late next month.

GOLF COURSE — Hard that progress is being made on the municipal golf course scheduled to open in the spring.

Assault, Battery Booking Is Made

A San Rafael man was booked into Marin County Jail last night on a citizens arrest for assault and battery following a scuffle at Travelers Inn, 706 Third Street, San Rafael.

Police said Kalir O. Shannon, 35, of 1713 Lincoln Avenue, and a companion came to Travelers Inn, found the door locked and kicked in the glass. William Herman Bonge went to place Shannon under citizens arrest, but he left. He returned later and began scuffling with Bonge, police reported.

He was held in lieu of $440 bail and for the state parole board.

Trustees Hear Reading Reports In Kent School

The Kentfield School District board last night heard reports by four teachers on the reading instruction program offered at the Adaline E. Kent School.

A display of materials used in the program, and a discussion of the part the school library plays in the teaching of reading were included.

The board studied a tentative agreement for easement requests at the Kent School campus by the Corte Madera Creek flood control project. Supt. Anthony G. Bacich said it then made minor changes and referred the agreement back to project officials.

Project officials are seeking a 15-month temporary construction easement along the campus, and a permanent right-of-way at the school to enable moving of equipment.

The district has been concerned with how much damage might occur to the land, what provisions would be made for the safety of students, and what playground equipment would have to be moved, Bacich has said.

Damage To Jet Not Yet Known

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Just how much damage an accidental landing on San Francisco Bay did to a Japan Air Lines DC8 jet airplane remained a mystery today.

The Civil Aeronautics Board has not yet released the plane which landed short of a runaway at San Francisco International Airport on Friday without injury to any of the 107 aboard.

Huge cranes lifted the plane aboard a barge Sunday, and early today salvage workers still were considering means of getting it ashore so that it can be moved to the United Air Lines maintenance base for assessment of damages and repairs if possible.

The convention, which ends today, elected David R. Mosher of St. Petersburg, Fla., as first vice president; Mrs. Rita M. Welch, Braintree, Mass., secretary, and Don T. Barry, Raymond, Ill., treasurer.

Festival Profit Asked For Tots' Playground

The San Anselmo Parks and Recreation Commission voted last night to ask the city council to allot the $2,000 in profits from October's Fall Festival for improvement of the tiny tot area in Memorial Park.

Frank L. Quinn, parks and recreation director, said some playground equipment for small children already is located at the park, and the funds would be used to improve the facilities. He said the comission also is planning to add a tiny tot area in the newly acquired Robson-Harrington Park property within a few months.

He also said tiny tot areas are ultimately planned for the Brookside Court, Angela Avenue, and Sequoia Drive areas.

The commission heard a report by Commissioner Laura M. Cann on plans to seek furniture contributions for two rooms of the large house on the Robson-Harrington property. The rooms would be used as meeting halls, Quinn said.

Indian Valley Sewer Proposal Killed By Panel

A proposed Indian Valley assessment district to add sewers to a large area of West Novato, was killed last night by the Novato Sanitary District Board, according to Asst. Dist. Engineer Bill Bayless.

The assessment district, first proposed in May 1966, was intially favored by 132 persons, about half the people in the area, Bayless said.

But subsequent cost analyses, submitted to the residents of the area last January, reduced the number of those in favor to 71, not sufficient to form an assessment district, Charles Joseph, engineer-manager, told the board, according to Bayless.

The Novato Sanitary District board also:

ANNEXATIONS — Approved the annexation of Trumbull Avenue subdivision No. 2 of 100 acres for Sono-Marin Builders and of Pioneer Memorial Park for the City of Novato.

AGREEMENT — Approved an agreement with the North Marin County Water District for the water district to install an eight-inch main down Davidson Street to the sewer treatment plant at a cost of $7,570.

HEARING — Received notice that the board of supervisors will hold a public hearing on Dec. 17 on the proposed merger of the Novato Sanitary District and the North Marin County Water District.

MEETINGS — Set Dec. 9 and 30 for meetings next month.

Bank Reports Forgery For $198

A $198 forgery was reported to San Rfael police yesterday by Ethelyn Godway, a teller at the Bank of America branch in Montecito Shopping Center.

Police said a man who identified himself as Joseph Carder Jr. of 339 D Street, San Rafael, opened a saving account at the bank last week. Yesterday, he deposited $20 of the $198 check and took the rest in cash, police said.

The check was a stolen one drawn on the account of Marcus Upholstering, 726 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael according to police.

Medi-Cal Fees Told To Probers

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Only 10 per cent of the 19,000 physicians taking part in the Medi-Cal Program grossed more than $1,000 a month from it, a spokesman for Blue Shield told the Assembly Public Health Committee.

Dr. Carl E. Anderson, chairman of the group insurance organization's board of trustees, testified yesterday at a hearing into a report by the state attorney general's office that Medi-Cal is being bilked of between $6 million and $8 million annually.

He said that if the average physician devoted his practice entirely to Medi-Cal patients, he would earn slightly less than if he treated only those not in the program.

Youth Admits Selling LSD

Steven Cowan, 22, of Marin City, pleaded guilty in Marin Superior Court yesterday to selling LSD to an agent of the Marin County Drug Abuse Bureau Dec. 6.

A charge that he sold the same dangerous drug to an agent Feb. 16 was dismissed at the recommendation of the district attorney.

Cowan, who was arrested in a countywide narcotics roundup in February, was referred to the probation department and told to return to court Dec. 20 for sentencing.

Mine Owners Still Keeping Shafts Open

MANNINGTON, W. Va. (AP) —The deep coal mine where 78 men have been trapped for more than six days will not be sealed "no matter how remote the possibility" of rescue exists, a top company official said this afternoon.

"We will not seal this mine until a reason for keeping it open does not exist," Consolidation Coal Co. president John Corcoran told news conference.

There has been no contact with any of the 78 entombed men since fire and explosion ripped through Mountaineer Mine Company's No. 9 mine early last Wednesday.

"No matter how remote the possibility, we won't close any avenue of escape," Corcoran said. "We won't cut the rope."

"When I decide to seal it," he said crisply, "I will let you know."

Corcoran and other officials indicated yesterday that a decision whether the mine should be sealed to snuff out the fire deep in its passageways would have to be faced soon.

He has said samples of air taken from the tunnels indicated a high concentration of deadly methane gas and carbon monoxide. "You and I could not live in it," he told newsmen.

Policeman Is Booted; Faces Bribery Charges

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A police sergeant has been fired and two inspectors cited —all on charges of unofficer-like conduct.

The action was taken by the Police Commission yesterday against Sgt. Jack Macklin, 41, who faces a court hearing on a criminal complaint that he accepted a $220 bribe from a bar manager to allow unauthorized dancing.

Police Chief Thomas J. Cahill charged inspector Richard Castro with disturbing the peace at a Van Ness Avenue drive-in on the complaint of a counterman that the officer displayed a gun in a threatening manner.

Inspector Bruce Jones was charged with failing to stop Castro, who is awaiting a Municipal Court hearing on a misdemeanor charge stemming from the incident.

In another case involving a San Francisco policeman, suspended patrolman Michael O'Brien pleaded innocent yesterday to a manslaughter charge that resulted from the shooting of a truck driver Sept. 29.

O'Brien is accused of shooting George Baskett after an argument over a minor traffic accident.

Security Firm Gets Punishment On Tips

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Securities and Exchange Commission today punished Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith and 10 of its executives and salesmen for disclosing inside information to selected big investors.

The agency action took the form of accepting an offer by Merrill Lynch, the world's largest securities firm, to settle a case involving antifraud provisions of federal securities law.

In making the offer and accepting the findings of the SEC, Merrill Lynch, however, did not admit the charges of wrongdoing and agreed to the agency action, it said, solely for the purpose of winding up the case as far as it and its employees are concerned.

Meanwhile, pre-hearing conferences started today in New York City involving 14 mutual funds and large investors alleged by the SEC to have received the information from Merrill Lynch in June 1966.

The information had to do with a report that the Douglas Aircraft Co. would show a sharp drop in earnings for the first part of that year and that the outlook for the remainder of 1966 was gloomy.

The SEC ordered Merrill Lynch to suspend all activities of its New York institutional sales office for 21 days starting Dec. 5 and the firm's West Coast underwriting office to shut down for 15 days starting Dec. 11.

This agency-ordered punishment does not affect the general brokerage activities, such as the buying and selling of securities for individuals and other customers who do not deal with the New York institutional sales office.

The agency dropped charges against four senior executives of Merrill Lynch but ordered punishment for 10 others.

Censure and suspension from employment for 21 days without pay was ordered for the following executives and salesmen: Phillip F. Bilbao, Lee W. Idleman, Lawrence Zicklin, James A. McCarthy, Elias A. Lazor and Chester T. Smith Jr.

CHICAGO AGLITTER FOR YULE

Thousands of tiny white lights decorate trees along Michigan Avenue and add glamor to the Chicago Water Tower, reminder of the historic blaze started by Mrs. O'Leary's cow in 1871. More than 100,000 of the tiny bulbs were lighted for the first time last night. (UPI Telephoto)

Hub Planners Delay On Apartment Plans

The San Anselmo Planning Commission last night in a special meeting, considered the request of Emily Merriman and others for rezoning property at 84 Madrone Avenue from single family to planned development, but took no action.

It agreed to study the matter further at its next regular meeting at 8 p.m. on Dec. 2 at city hall.

The applicants, who include the Ross Realty Co., propose construction of a 24-unit apartment building. Objections from the audience, including Mrs. Maude Happersberger, 58, Madrone Avenue, were that multiple zoning there may not be desirable because it is just north of much traveled Center Boulevard, and that only about one acre of the one-and-one-half-acre site is usable and the requested density of 24 units may be too high.

On the other agenda item, the commission granted the request of Russian Orthodox St. Nicholas Church that parking requirements be two spaces rather than five at the church building, 102 Ross Avenue.

Newton Freedom Plea Is Rejected

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The California Court of Appeal has ruled that Huey Newton, cofounder ot the Black Panther party, must remain in prison pending his appeal from a voluntary manslaughter conviction.

Newton, minister of defense for the Negro militant group, was convicted of slaying a white Oakland policeman, John Frey, and wounding another in a shoot out Oct. 28, 1967.

Newton's attorney, Charles R. Garry, said he would ask the state Supreme Court to free his client pending appeal of Newton's Sept. 8 conviction which brought a two-to-fifteen-year prison sentence.

Point Reyes Station Crash Injures One

Bruce S. Adams, 16, of Inverness, was treated at Point Reyes Medical Center yesterday for a cut over the left eye after the car he was riding in slid off Highway 1, the California Highway Patrol said today.

The patrol said the accident occurred at 8:10 a.m. when the car, driven by Michael L. Martinson, 17, of Inverness Way, Inverness, skidded over a bank 2.5 miles north of Point Reyes Station. Martinson was cited for having a bald tire on his car.

Alabama Youth Gets Probation For Weed

Charles R. Womack, 19, who was living in the back of a truck in Southern Marin when arrested, was given a suspended 30-day jail sentence in Marin Superior Court yesterday and placed on a year of probation for possessing marijuana.

Judge Harold J. Haley declared the crime to be a misdemeanor. The youth, held at Juvenile Hall since his arrest Oct. 15, is to remain there until his parents arrange for his transportation home to Alabama, the judge said.

Homeowner Wins Permit For Horses

Mr. and Mrs. Welton C. Rotz and their two daughters will be able to keep two horses at 469 Corona Avenue in Lagunitas, if they maintain a clean corral area.

That was the ruling yesterday by county zoning Administrator Thomas E. Cordill. Rotz assured Cordill that his daughters keep the horses as a 4-H project and will see that the area is clean.

Cordill, noting that the lot is only 8,500 square feet, also ruled that the corral must remain at least 40 feet from the house, and all grain must be kept in rat-proof metal containers.

The Marin County Zoning Administrator also:

REALTY OFFICE — Approved a use permit for Jeffory S. Morshead to use a model home at 34 Corte San Fernando in Reedland Woods subdivision No. 2 as a real estate office.

VARIANCE — Allowed Richard D. Hedman to build a home on the second of two lots on the south side of Ridgewood Avenue near Tamalpais Drive, Homestead Valley, without the required off-street parking. Three parking spaces on Hedman's other lot will serve the home.

LOT SPLIT — Granted Matilda Brill permission to divide an 11,300-square-foot parcel at 203 Evergreen Avenue, Homestead Valley.

Probation On Theft

Daniel Howard Hubbard, 26, of San Rafael, was sentenced to 15 days in jail and placed on two years of probation in Marin Superior Court yesterday for burgling the Santa Venetia Supermarket March 25.

New Laws Requested To Protect Consumers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Witnesses told the Federal Trade Commission today that a combination of actions is needed to protect the consumer from fraud and deception—including stronger legislation, legal aid, and consumer education.

In a statement read into the record of the FTC hearing, Bronson C. LaFollette, attorney general of Wisconsin, said the main problem in his statement and many others is "the lack of statutory authorization for enforcement" of consumer protection.

He said stat eattorneys general should be authorized to issue injunctions when necessary to give relief for a consumer complaint.

"Such legislation is a vital weapon to deal with this growing problem," his statement said.

LaFollette was represented in this fifth day of FTC hearings on the general topic of consumer protection by Bruce Craig, a member of the Wisconsin Consumer Fraud Division.

Laws are needed, the statement said, to prevent companies from claiming money on a purchased item even after the item has been repossessed for default of payments.

Still another recommendation of the Wisconsin statement was that state motor vehicle departments be empowered to close auto repair shops that do not provide "qualified" work.

Another witness was James Williams of the United Planning Organization in Washington, D.C. Williams urged the creation of a new Cabinet level department on consumer matters and the passage of new consumer protection bills by Congress.

He said hearings should be held in such fields as utility rates, auto repairs and insurance, funeral practices and costs, and on credit bureaus "whose primary function is to serve business clients at the expense of consumers."

Home Looted Of Silver, Other Goods

The theft of about $775 worth of dishes, silverware, records, bedding and other household articles was reported yesterday by Susan Marie Mead of 30 Sonoma Street, San Rafael, police said.

San Rafael police also reported four other thefts today:

Gilbert Earl Selmos of 53 Woodland Avenue, San Rafael, reported yesterday that golf clubs, binoculars and miscellaneous items valued at a total of $530 had been taken from a padlocked storage area at his home between Nov. 12 and 15. The padlocked had been broken.

Jack Edward Miller of 55 Bahia Way, San Rafael, reported yesterday that his car stereo and 12 tapes valued at a total of $170 were taken from his car while it was parked in a driveway at 150 Paul Drive, San Rafael, yesterday morning.

A tachometer, a car stereo and six tapes were reported taken from his car by James Martin Hooweling of 451 Hibiscus Way, San Rafael, while it was parked on Nova Albion Way near Esmeyer Drive yesterday morning. He listed the value of the missing items at about $90.

Nancy Elizabeth Peterson of 39 Robinhood Drive, San Rafael, reported yesterday her son, Matthew Peterson's bike had been taken from Glenwood School Saturday.

Strike Hurts The Commuter

NEW YORK (AP) — The city halted most road construction today to offer a helping hand to the 90,000 commuters of the Long Island Railroad, shut down a second day by a trainmen's strike.

But the order to all contractors, utility companies and government agencies had little effect on the commuters, who again had to make their way to and from New York City through bumper-to-bumper traffic and on jammed buses and subways.

Constantine Sidamon-Eristoff, city acting transportation administrator, announced this morning that he had curtailed construction on all major roadways in Queens, Brooklyn and Manhattan, the three boroughs most affected by the railroad strike. Only the $72-million Long Island Expressway-Brooklyn-Queens Expressway interchange and emergency repairs were omitted.

Russell Wolden Out Of Prison

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Russell Wolden, the former San Francisco assessor convicted of bribery and conspiracy, is out of prison and in St. Mary's Hospital for treatment of a heart ailment.

He was released yesterday after Dr. Ralph E. Prout, chief medical officer at the State Medical Facility in Vacaville, told a judge that Wolden, 69, suffers "three or four episodes every 24 hours of chest pain or shortness of breath."

Superior Court Judge Lewis Drucker of Los Angeles, who sentenced Wolden in 1966 to a prison term of one to 14 years, observed: "The policy of the Adult Authority is that no prisoner should be allowed to die (of illness) in prison if that can be avoided."

Gallinas Slates Park Improvement

Rosal-Adrian Park in Gallinas Village will be improved and made usable by next summer, the directors of Gallinas Village Community Servies District decided last night.

The directors discussed park improvements with San Rafael landscape architect Sidney M. Lewin but made no decision on hiring him.

Instead, the directors decided to proceed with rough plans of their own a larged turded oval in the center of the park, with trees and shrubbery at the edges and a promenade in one corner.

Chairman David Banfield said a special meeting will be held next month to let the public review the improvement plans and give suggestions

Post Office Landscaping Is Approved

Landscaping plans by Capital Construction Co. of Los Angeles for the proposed Corte Madera Post Office at 7 Pixley Avenue were approved last night by the Corte Madera Board of Design.

Application of the Corte Madera Center Merchants' Council for design approval of a Hansel and Gretel house in the mall of Corte Madera Shopping Center also was approved. The board stipulated, however, that the house is for the Christmas season only and must be removed by Jan. 2.

The Corte Madera Board of Design also:

PATIO COVER — Approved the application of Alexander J Coutts for a patio cover in the rear area of 98 Mariner Green Drive.

PHOTO SERVICE — Denied the application of Photo Square Inc., San Francisco, for a photo service kiosk to be located on the south side of a Corte Madera Shopping Center parking lot.

Bill Drafted On Justice Naming

WASHINGTON (AP) — A procedure he says would prevent appointment of Supreme Court justices by a president on the basis of friendship or politics is being pressed by Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr.

The North Carolina Democrat, who helped block President Johnson's effort to elevate Justice Abe Fortas to chief justice, wrote fellow senators yesterday he will propose a constitutional amendment when Congress reconvenes.

He said it would require the president to name justices from among five or more candidates selected by a conference of the chief judges from each state and each federal judicial district.

Auto Leasing Operation Vetoed By Novato Planners

The Novato Planning Commission denied last night the application of Walter Brown for a use permit for an automobile leasing business on the southwest corner of Grant and Machin avenues.

The vote was 5-0, with Commissioners Jack Miklos and Mrs. Patricia Beyer absent.

The use permit was opposed by a petition signed by 39 property owners and businessmen in the area. The petition was presented by Alfred W. Bowman of 827 Reichert Avenue, who owns property across Grant Avenue from the proposed site, according to Planning Director Brian Mattson.

Benjamin F. Edwards, president of the Novato Downtown Merchants Association, said that the association opposed the auto leasing business on that site, according to Matson.

The association described the location as being one of the prime business sites in the city, Mattson reported.

The Novato Planning Commission Also:

SIGNS — Approved changes in the sign ordinance to be submitted to the city council. Major changes included a new definition of a shopping center as having a total of eight stores, an increase of four, and setting a minimum of five acres for a shopping center. The size of window signs would now be based on the frontage of businesses and not just limited to 50 per cent of the window area.

ZONE CHANGE — Approved subject to city council approval, a change from multiple to single family in the zoning of lots of San Marin Drive between San Andreas and San Mateo ways and set Dec. 9 for a public hearing on identical changes for San Marin Drive between Novato Boulevard and Simmons Lane.

COMMERCIAL — Approved, pending council approval, a zone change from single family to planned commercial for one acre on the west side of South Novato Boulevard South of Diablo Avenue for fifty associates.

MAP — Approved the 71-lot tentative map of Pleasant Valley Unit 6 on 21 acres west of Sutro Avenue for Sono-Marin Builders Inc., but postponed indefinitely consideration of the map of Marin Highlands Unit 5 of 71 lots on 31 acres south of Trumbull Avenue for the same builder, pending annexation of the area to the city.

RECREATION AREA — Approved consolidation in the master plan of the Marin Mobile Park site plan of two recreation areas of 4.65 acres just south of Hamilton Air Force Base east of Highway 101.

POSTPONED — Postponed until Dec. 9 the request of Albert Young for rezoning from single family to multiple of 10 acres north of Lamont Avenue and east of Highway 101.

Youngster On Mend After Injury By Car

Ulvar Wallace Klein, 6, of 4 Archangel Way, San Rafael, was reported in good condition at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Francisco today following a car-pedestrian accident at 3:10 p.m. yesterday on Golden Hinde Boulevard, San Rafael.

The child suffered a broken pelvis and cuts on his head when he apparently ran into the side of a car driven by Marrita Alice Ronconi of 219 Mirada Avenue, San Rafael, police said.

Petaluma Councilmen Receive Park Plans

Plans for 31-acre Luchessi Park were worked over last night at a study session of the Petaluma City Council.

Architect Sidney Lewin of San Rafael reviewed the plans approved Tuesday by the parks and recreation commission for the family park on Maria Drive near East Washington street and south McDowell Boulevard.

Lewin told councilmen plans include a 3.5-acre lake for boating similar to Stow Lake at Golden Gate Park in San Francisco. The lake could be stocked with fish or an area set aside for the sailing of miniature boats, he said.

Also planned are several flexible baseball diamonds, four tennis courts, handball court, soccer or field hockey field, badminton, volleyball, pathways for hikes and benches. Lewin said parking spaces for 370 cars had been alloted.

Designed to serve all age groups, a play area for young children has been provided as well as space for a future senior citizens center and a community center.

Picnic areas will easily accomodate 500 persons, said Richard Shollenberger, parks and recreation director. Telling the council they were most important, he said, "we already have people going out of town to picnic."

Councilmen suggested the possibility of coordinating athletic areas with plans for a future high school that may be built on South McDowell Boulevard. Shollenberger said that had been taken into consideration.

The park plans will be reviewed at the regular Dec. 1 council meeting at 7:30 p.m. and again Dec. 4 at a public hearing at 7:30 p.m. at city hall.

The Petaluma City Council Also:

POLICE STATION — Heard a report that the architectual firm of Lieb and Quaresma is working on plans for an addition to the police station. Richard S. Lieb said Police Chief Larry D. Higgins had asked him to prepare preliminary plans and give a cost estimate for enclosing the present carport into a new room and remodeling some existing rooms. Lieb said the preliminary planning fee would be $750 and if the firm does the entire job, the $750 would be applied to the total project costs. The firm is already doing a similar study for an addition to the central fire station.

REVENUE — Were told by City Treasurer Cecil G. Gealta that new sources of tax revenue this year would include property transfer taxes, television antenna taxes and cigarette taxes. He noted costs for operating the city had increased at an average rate of 10 per cent each year since 1965.

ASSESSMENTS — Heard recommendation from City Atty. Edouard E. Robert that a $200 limit be placed on assessments for segregating land. He noted that persons now pay a $100 fee for the first lot subdivided and $25 for each following lot. Robert said this rate could be excessive in comparison to the amount of administrative work. Treasurer Gealta called the present rate reasonable and said a limit would be impractical. Mayor Helen Putnam asked Gealta to survey neighboring cities for their practice.

Chancellor Bars Closing Campus At San Diego

SAN DIEGO (AP) —Chancellor William McGill, in his first major confrontation with University of California at San Diego students since taking over two months ago, refused a demand to close the campus for faculty-student discussions.

McGill met with students several hours yesterday in a campus plaza and told them he had an obligation "to keep the university open.

"I can't allow you to influence the rest of the academic community to this extent," he said.

Students had asked for a two-day discussion period, similar to the convocations at San Francisco State College instead of regular classes.

McGill did agree to allow students to meet for a free speech session today. He said students wanting to attend would be excused from classes.

Typhoon's Toll 17

MANILA (UPI) — Typhoon Nina left 17 persons dead and 56 fishermen missing in its sweep across the Philippines, the Manila Weather Bureau said today. The typhoon was downgraded to a tropical storm in the South China Sea.

Police Arrest School Leaders

NEW YORK (AP) — Two key Negro leaders in the Ocean Hill-Brownsville School District were taken into custody by police today, as the state moved to preserve a shaky agreement which ended a seven-week teachers' strike last week.

Rev. C. Herbert Oliver, chairman of the suspended Ocean Hill board, and Albert Vann, head of the Afro-American Teachers Association and a suspended teacher, were arrested at Junior High School 271.

Police said the two refused to leave the school as requested by Herbert Johnson, the state trustee put in charge of the eight-school experimental Brooklyn district as part of the strike-ending agreement.

Curriculum Report For Lagunitas

Lagunitas School District trustees last night heard a report on the seventh and eighth grade curriculum, Supt. Marshall J. McCunniff reported today.

Jean Berensmeier, parent of a student at the just-completed San Geronimo Valley School, outlined a plan for playground apparatus at the school using logs and wood construction which would blend with the forest atmosphere of a part of the play area.

The board will consider cost of the proposal at a future meeting, McCunniff said.

Trustees approved expenditure up to $200 for uniforms for pupils in the after school basketball program.

The board hired JoAnne Giddings as bus driver and noon playground supervisor at $1,714, and Carol Kendall as a teacher's aide and noon playground supervisor at $1,428, both for the rest of the school year.

The board will meet at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 16 at Lagunitas School to review the building program for San Geronimo Valley School.

Informer Takes Case To State's Tribunal

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Robert K. Worthington of Point Reyes Station, key police informer in the 1965 Sally Stanford burglary case, yesterday asked the state Supreme Court to overrule the state and to award him $150,000 as a "good samaritan."

Worthington, 43, a contractor, two years ago asked $152,777 from the state Board of Control, but got only $1,777. The board handles awards made to citizens who suffer physical harm or financial loss while giving aid to police.

The board rejected Worthington's claim that he had suffered $150,000 in general damages for "fear, nervousness and loss of business," and agreed to pay him only for the cost of moving his family five times during the much-publicized trial of the men who burglarized the Stanford home in San Francisco.

The board agreed to Worthington's claim that his out-of-pocket expenses totaled $2,777, but cut the award by $1,000 because he had received rewards totaling $1,000.

His attorneys, in the petition for a hearing before the court, asserted he was entitled to "an award substantially in excess" of actual expenses. They also noted that Worthington was shot in the arm while driving his pickup truck along Lucas Valley Road before the trial.

San Francisco police officer Salvatore Polani and three others were convicted after falling into a trap which Worthington helped set.

Credit Card Use Probation Set

Alvin L. Whittenbrock, 20, of Santa Rosa, who found a bank credit card belonging to someone else and used it for $3,000 worth of purchases in three weeks, was given a suspended jail sentence yesterday in Marin Superior Court.

Judge Harold J. Haley, noting Whittenbrock's clean record until arrested for using the credit card in Novato Oct. 3, gave him a four-month suspended sentence and placed him on two years of probation. He declared the offense a misdemeanor.

A condition of the probation is that Whittenbrock repay the Bank of America for his unauthorized chargings, the judge said.

Whittenbrock told the judge he used the credit card, found in a San Mateo County shopping center, to buy clothes and food for his wife and his three stepchildren.

Burglary Denied

Mark Jefferson Lee, 20, of San Rafael, pleaded innocent in Marin Superior Court yesterday to a charge that he burgled the Greenbrae Pet Hospital Nov. 3. His case was scheduled for a jury trial in the week of April 7.

Interim Freight Rate Increase Wins Approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interstate Commerce Commission granted the nation's railroads today an interim freight rate increase on most commodities of 3 to 10 per cent.

The ICC said in a statement its decision modifies its June 19 ruling that permitted the railroads to file tariffs limited to no more than 3 per cent.

It excluded from today's authorization higher rates for grain, iron, steel scrap and pig iron, saying increases in those rates must remain at the 3 per cent rate set last June.

The ICC said its final decision will be made later. Meanwhile, it said, it will permit the higher rate now because "of a critical need on the pact of the railroads for additional revenue to offset increased operating costs."

The earth rotates so quickly that a person standing on the equator would be traveling 1,000-miles per hour, says Collier's Encyclopedia.

Little-oak-barrel brandy.

At Almadén, we don't let our brandy get lost in giant casks.

We age it in barrels—little oak barrels.

That's why Almadén Brandy has the kind of smooth, creamy taste you've always wanted in a brandy.

CHICAGO AGLITTER FOR YULE

Thousands of tiny white lights decorate trees along Michigan Avenue and add glamor to the Chicago Water Tower, reminder of the historic blaze started by Mrs. O'Leary's cow in 1871. More than 100,000 of the tiny bulbs were lighted for the first time last night. (UPI Telephoto)

Hub Planners Delay On Apartment Plans

It agreed to study the matter further at its next regular meeting at 8 p.m. on Dec. 2 at city hall.

The applicants, who include the Ross Realty Co., propose construction of a 24-unit apartment building. Objections from the audience, including Mrs. Maude Happersberger, 58, Madrone Avenue, were that multiple zoning there may not be desirable because it is just north of much traveled Center Boulevard, and that only about one acre of the one-and-one-half-acre site is usable and the requested density of 24 units may be too high.

On the other agenda item, the commission granted the request of Russian Orthodox St. Nicholas Church that parking requirements be two spaces rather than five at the church building, 102 Ross Avenue.

Newton Freedom Plea Is Rejected

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The California Court of Appeal has ruled that Huey Newton, cofounder of the Black Panther party, must remain in prison pending his appeal from a voluntary manslaughter conviction.

Newton, minister of defense for the Negro militant group, was convicted of slaying a white Oakland policeman, John Frey, and wounding another in a shoot out Oct. 28, 1967.

Newton's attorney, Charles R. Garry, said he would ask the state Supreme Court to free his client pending appeal of Newton's Sept. 8 conviction which brought a two-to-fifteen-year prison sentence.

Point Reyes Station Crash Injures One

Bruce S. Adams, 16, of Inverness, was treated at Point Reyes Medical Center yesterday for a cut over the left eye after the car he was riding in slid off Highway 1, the California Highway Patrol said today.

The patrol said the accident occurred at 8:10 a.m. when the car, driven by Michael L. Martinson, 17, of Inverness Way, Inverness, skidded over a bank 2.5 miles north of Point Reyes Station. Martinson was cited for having a bald tire on his car.

Alabama Youth Gets Probation For Weed

Charles R. Womack, 19, who was living in the back of a truck in Southern Marin when arrested, was given a suspended 30-day jail sentence in Marin Superior Court yesterday and placed on a year of probation for possessing marijuana.

Judge Harold J. Haley declared the crime to be a misdemeanor. The youth, held at Juvenile Hall since his arrest Oct. 15, is to remain there until his parents arrange for his transportation home to Alabama, the judge said.

Homeowner Wins Permit For Horses

Mr. and Mrs. Welton C. Rotz and their two daughters will be able to keep two horses at 469 Corona Avenue in Lagunitas, if they maintain a clean corral area.

That was the ruling yesterday by county zoning Administrator Thomas E. Cordill. Rotz assured Cordill that his daughters keep the horses as a 4-H project and will see that the area is clean.

Cordill, noting that the lot is only 8,500 square feet, also ruled that the corral must remain at least 40 feet from the house, and all grain must be kept in ratproof metal containers.

The Marin County Zoning Administrator also:

REALTY OFFICE — Approved a use permit for Jeffory S. Morshead to use a model home at 34 Corte San Fernando in Reedland Woods subdivision No. 2 as a real estate office.

VARIANCE — Allowed Richard D. Hedman to build a home on the second of two lots on the south side of Ridgewood Avenue near Tamalpais Drive, Homestead Valley, without the required off-street parking. Three parking spaces on Hedman's other lot will serve the home.

LOT SPLIT — Granted Matilda Brill permission to divide an 11,300-square-foot parcel at 203 Evergreen Avenue, Homestead Valley.

Probation On Theft

Daniel Howard Hubbard, 26, of San Rafael, was sentenced to 15 days in jail and placed on two years of probation in Marin Superior Court yesterday for burgling the Santa Venetia Supermarket March 25.

New Laws Requested To Protect Consumers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Witnesses told the Federal Trade Commission today that a combination of actions is needed to protect the consumer from fraud and deception—including stronger legislation, legal aid, and consumer education.

In a statement read into the record of the FTC hearing, Bronson C. LaFollette, attorney general of Wisconsin, said the main problem in his statement and many others is "the lack of statutory authorization for enforcement" of consumer protection.

He said stat eattorneys general should be authorized to issue injunctions when necessary to give relief for a consumer complaint.

"Such legislation is a vital weapon to deal with this growing problem," his statement said.

LaFollette was represented in this fifth day of FTC hearings on the general topic of consumer protection by Bruce Craig, a member of the Wisconsin Consumer Fraud Division.

Laws are needed, the statement said, to prevent companies from claiming money on a purchased item even after the item has been repossessed for default of payments.

Still another recommendation of the Wisconsin statement was that state motor vehicle departments be empowered to close auto repair shops that do not provide "qualified" work.

Another witness was James Williams of the United Planning Organization in Washington, D.C. Williams urged the creation of a new Cabinet level department on consumer matters and the passage of new consumer protection bills by Congress.

He said hearings should be held in such fields as utility rates, auto repairs and insurance, funeral practices and costs, and on credit bureaus "whose primary function is to serve business clients at the expense of consumers."

Home Looted Of Silver, Other Goods

The theft of about $775 worth of dishes, silverware, records, bedding and other household articles was reported yesterday by Susan Marie Mead of 30 Sonoma Street, San Rafael, police said.

San Rafael police also reported four other thefts today:

Gilbert Earl Selmos of 53 Woodland Avenue, San Rafael, reported yesterday that golf clubs, binoculars and miscellaneous items valued at a total of $530 had been taken from a padlocked storage area at his home between Nov. 12 and 15. The padlocked had been broken.

Jack Edward Miller of 55 Bahia Way, San Rafael, reported yesterday that his car stereo and 12 tapes valued at a total of $170 were taken from his car while it was parked in a driveway at 150 Paul Drive, San Rafael, yesterday morning.

A tachometer, a car stereo and six tapes were reported taken from his car by James Martin Hooweling of 451 Hibiscus Way, San Rafael, while it was parked on Nova Albion Way near Esmeyer Drive yesterday morning. He listed the value of the missing items at about $90.

Nancy Elizabeth Peterson of 39 Robinhood Drive, San Rafael, reported yesterday her son, Matthew Peterson's bike had been taken from Glenwood School Saturday.

Strike Hurts The Commuter

NEW YORK (AP) — The city halted most road construction today to offer a helping hand to the 90,000 commuters of the Long Island Railroad, shut down a second day by a trainmen's strike.

But the order to all contractors, utility companies and government agencies had little effect on the commuters, who again had to make their way to and from New York City through bumper-to-bumper traffic and on jammed buses and subways.

Constantine Sidamon-Eristoff, city acting transportation administrator, announced this morning that he had curtailed construction on all major roadways in Queens, Brooklyn and Manhattan, the three boroughs most affected by the railroad strike. Only the $72-million Long Island Expressway-Brooklyn-Queens Expressway interchange and emergency repairs were omitted.

Russell Wolden Out Of Prison

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Russell Wolden, the former San Francisco assessor convicted of bribery and conspiracy, is out of prison and in St. Mary's Hospital for treatment of a heart ailment.

He was released yesterday after Dr. Ralph E. Prout, chief medical officer at the State Medical Facility in Vacaville, told a judge that Wolden, 69, suffers "three or four episodes every 24 hours of chest pain or shortness of breath."

Superior Court Judge Lewis Drucker of Los Angeles, who sentenced Wolden in 1966 to a prison term of one to 14 years, observed: "The policy of the Adult Authority is that no prisoner should be allowed to die (of illness) in prison if that can be avoided."

Gallinas Slates Park Improvement

Rosal-Adrian Park in Gallinas Village will be improved and made usable by next summer, the directors of Gallinas Village Community Servies District decided last night.

The directors discussed park improvements with San Rafael landscape architect Sidney M. Lewin but made no decision on hiring him.

Instead, the directors decided to proceed with rough plans of their own a larged turded oval in the center of the park, with trees and shrubbery at the edges and a promenade in one corner.

Chairman David Banfield said a special meeting will be held next month to let the public review the improvement plans and give suggestions

Post Office Landscaping Is Approved

Landscaping plans by Capital Construction Co. of Los Angeles for the proposed Corte Madera Post Office at 7 Pixley Avenue were approved last night by the Corte Madera Board of Design.

Application of the Corte Madera Center Merchants' Council for design approval of a Hansel and Gretel house in the mall of Corte Madera Shopping Center also was approved. The board stipulated, however, that the house is for the Christmas season only and must be removed by Jan. 2.

The Corte Madera Board of Design also:

PATIO COVER — Approved the application of Alexander J Coutts for a patio cover in the rear area of 98 Mariner Green Drive.

PHOTO SERVICE — Denied the application of Photo Square Inc., San Francisco, for a photo service kiosk to be located on the south side of a Corte Madera Shopping Center parking lot.

Bill Drafted On Justice Naming

WASHINGTON (AP) — A procedure he says would prevent appointment of Supreme Court justices by a president on the basis of friendship or politics is being pressed by Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr.

The North Carolina Democrat, who helped block President Johnson's effort to elevate Justice Abe Fortas to chief justice, wrote fellow senators yesterday he will propose a constitutional amendment when Congress reconvenes.

He said it would require the president to name justices from among five or more candidates selected by a conference of the chief judges from each state and each federal judicial district.

Auto Leasing Operation Vetoed By Novato Planners

The Novato Planning Commission denied last night the application of Walter Brown for a use permit for an automobile leasing business on the southwest corner of Grant and Machin avenues.

The vote was 5-0, with Commissioners Jack Miklos and Mrs. Patricia Beyer absent.

The use permit was opposed by a petition signed by 39 property owners and businessmen in the area. The petition was presented by Alfred W. Bowman of 827 Reichert Avenue, who owns property across Grant Avenue from the proposed site, according to Planning Director Brian Mattson.

Benjamin F. Edwards, president of the Novato Downtown Merchants Association, said that the association opposed the auto leasing business on that site, according to Matson.

The association described the location as being one of the prime business sites in the city, Mattson reported.

The Novato Planning Commission Also:

SIGNS — Approved changes in the sign ordinance to be submitted to the city council. Major changes included a new definition of a shopping center as having a total of eight stores, an increase of four, and setting a minimum of five acres for a shopping center. The size of window signs would now be based on the frontage of businesses and not just limited to 50 per cent of the window area.

ZONE CHANGE — Approved subject to city council approval, a change from multiple to single family in the zoning of lots of San Marin Drive between San Andreas and San Mateo ways and set Dec. 9 for a public hearing on identical changes for San Marin Drive between Novato Boulevard and Simmons Lane.

COMMERCIAL — Approved, pending council approval, a zone change from single family to planned commercial for one acre on the west side of South Novato Boulevard South of Diablo Avenue for fifty associates.

MAP — Approved the 71-lot tentative map of Pleasant Valley Unit 6 on 21 acres west of Sutro Avenue for Sono-Marin Builders Inc., but postponed indefinitely consideration of the map of Marin Highlands Unit 5 of 71 lots on 31 acres south of Trumbull Avenue for the same builder, pending annexation of the area to the city.

RECREATION AREA — Approved consolidation in the master plan of the Marin Mobile Park site plan of two recreation areas of 4.65 acres just south of Hamilton Air Force Base east of Highway 101.

POSTPONED — Postponed until Dec. 9 the request of Albert Young for rezoning from single family to multiple of 10 acres north of Lamont Avenue and east of Highway 101.

Youngster On Mend After Injury By Car

Ulvar Wallace Klein, 6, of 4 Archangel Way, San Rafael, was reported in good condition at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Francisco today following a car-pedestrian accident at 3:10 p.m. yesterday on Golden Hinde Boulevard, San Rafael.

The child suffered a broken pelvis and cuts on his head when he apparently ran into the side of a car driven by Marrita Alice Ronconi of 219 Mirada Avenue, San Rafael, police said.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

High-Cost Housing May Help Create Slums

Nobody builds a slum, intentionally. Marin County, though, may be creating slums unintentionally. It may be doing so by its very insistence on large lots and high development standards.

How could this be? How could high-cost building, on large high-cost lots, result in slums? Let's consider.

It is widely recognized that real estate costs in Marin are very high — in fact, higher than in any other county in the Bay Area, considered county-wide. Exclusive locations in Hillsborough, Burlingame Hills, Piedmont, etc., are as costly as any in Marin, but the other counties (except San Francisco, which has run out of land) have many localities of lower cost.

IT IS WIDELY recognized that a basic reason for the high price of homes in Marin is the high cost of land.

Because Marin is mostly hilly, with level land that can be cheaply developed a rather scarce article, there is not much that can be done about the high cost of land. Hillsides may be purchased fairly cheaply per acre, but by the time they have been converted into building sites, the cost has risen greatly. Much of the flat land must be filled — again adding greatly to cost. And the price of the flat acreage that needs no fill is inflated by its very scarcity.

How this expensive land is used, however, has great bearing on the cost of the completed homes.

The approach in Marin for many years has been to require relatively large lots. The idea has been to prevent crowding the land with buildings.

The result has been that only expensive houses can be built. If an acre of prime residential property costs $40,000, for instance, and can be divided into only four lots, that is $10,000 per lot — before improvements. And the share of the costs of streets and utilities that must be charged against each lot is proportionately high. The result is that the cost has risen so high before a house is built that it is unfeasible to put a house on such a lot with a price tag less than about $50,000.

Marin has a lot of these high-priced houses on high-priced lots. Even where the land is relatively cheap, this development method has made it impractical now to put up homes below about $35,000.

WHERE, THEN, are those to go who do not have the income to buy $35,000 to $50,000 homes? There are many, many such people in Marin.

They must (1) move into apartments, or (2) buy houses which were built on small lots in pre-control days. (The big old homes have shared, of course, in the inflation.) If they do the former, the apartment neighborhood suffers from too many children in the buildings, under conditions not designed for rearing families; if the latter, they cannot add to the home as the family increases because of existing restrictions.

Result: Slums.

MARIN HAS LONG been deeply concerned with planning to preserve its trees, its (mostly unusable) shoreline, etc.

Isn't it about time we concentrated on planning to preserve people?

Pollen Is Beautiful

We don't expect sufferers from pollen allergies to jump with joy at the news, but the fact is that the scanning electron microscope reveals pollen grains to be varied and beautiful examples of natural architecture. And each species of flowering plant appears to produce pollens which are as distinct in appearance as their blossoms.

For example, a grain of flax pollen magnified 1,250 times resembles the shell of a sea urchin. Wallflower pollen resembles sponges. The pollen of the hellebore looks like a cantelope. And that of thrift resembles sections of honeycomb.

Even in its tiniest forms, Nature can be quite complex and beautiful.

GOLDEN GATE VIEW

Political Wire-Pulling Sometimes Put To Good Use, For Instance...

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

Political pull traditionally is the first requirement for a job on the Golden Gate Bridge.

That's not surprising, but what is remarkable is that the system was capable of turning up a top-notch new general manager, Dale W. Luehring of Mill Valley.

The six bridge and highway district directors screening applicants for the job last July had settled on someone else before Leuhring entered the picture.

But they started to get telephone calls from Washington, Sacramento and some Bay Area wheels even more important than themselves. All got the word — Leuhring, who was retiring from the Air Force as a colonel — would be a good man to replace James Adam, who was retiring at 70.

THE RESULT of all this superior advice was that the committee dropped its first choice and decided to recommend Luehring's hiring to the full board of directors.

The big day saw his hiring quickly and unanimously approved.

Hardcastle, a shipping executive, had had some contact with Leuhring, who was in the transportation end of the Air Force, so they naturally got together when the bridge job came along.

Hardcastle, after satisfying himself that Leuhring would do the job as he thought it should be done, arranged those telephone calls without once revealing his role to his fellow directors until after it was all over.

At least one San Francisco director reportedly was furious when Hardcastle told him what he had done — after the full board vote. The same director had lobbied Hardcastle just before the board meeting, urging Hardcastle to vote for Luehring.

COMMUTERS will be under strong attack in the 1969 Legislature if Los Angeles' committee on proposed legislation has its way.

It has topped its list of 16 items recommended for city sponsorship in the Legislature with amendment of state law to permit a tax on wages and other income earned in the city by residents and nonresidents.

With both San Francisco and Los Angeles pushing for such an amendment, it could make its way into law.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Campus Uprisings Not Unrelated

Yesterday it was Berkeley and Columbia. And now the anarchy has (again) come to San Francisco State. Because the dates, names and places and the issues vary with each case, the liberal news media treats each of these as a separate and unrelated case. A good look at each case shows that they are all similar and related. Similar in that on each campus there is a strong rebel element planted in the faculty, a hard-core group of militant student leaders, and key administrators that appease the militants while putting up a front of opposing them.

They are related in that the key group running the show on each campus was either the W. E. B. DuBois Club or the Students for a Democratic Society. . . .

The short-term goal of these revolutionaries is control of the campuses, and they move a step closer to it with each confrontation. Their long term goal is the destruction of our American republic.

The same pattern is developing at College of Marin and, unless concerned students and citizens unite now to prevent it, College of Marin will soon erupt into anarcy and violence.

Two Intersections Need Traffic Lights

There are two intersections in Mill Valley that create a hopeless traffic jam in peak commuter hours which could be solved quiete simply by replacing the existing four-way stop signs with traffic lights. These intersections are at Camino Alto-East Blithedale and Lomita-East Blithedale.

The present system adds at least five minutes to the commuter time for Mill Valley residents, not to mention the frustration of deciding whose turn it is to "creep through." Surely with the high rate of taxes paid by home owners, the necessary funds could be appropriated to correct such an inadequate system of traffic control.

Way To Improve Execution Efficiency

As a professional bio-engineer and California taxpayer, I call your attention to the following facts regarding executions at San Quentin:

Current techniques allow for only two simultaneous killings and up to three hours for evacuation of the gas chamber. A bit of simple arithmetic demonstrates that 84 executions, two at a time, would require five days and six hours, working around-the-clock. Based upon an eight-hour day and a five-day week, the total time involved to complete the series would constitute 22 days.

If instead, all 84 are packed into the chamber at once, the job can be done in less than four hours, including evacuation of the chamber. The savings in salary and employee benefits will be considerable. A smaller but still significant savings will occur in the amount of gas-producing pellets used.

Should any further technical assistance be required, there are several gas chamber attendants left over from Nazi Germany who might volunteer their services.

THE RAZOR'S EDGE

Railroad Line Key To Future

As every I-J reader by now knows, the NWP RR wants to abandon its Sausalito branch. Several proposals have been advanced on how to use the present right of way and they all seem to include everything but future rail operations.

It is time that somebody decided that the right of way has only one real service and that is for providing continued rail service for Marin County. The present freight operation of the branch holds much potential for light industrial development in the county but perhaps the greatest potential of all is for development of alternate transportation for commuters to San Francisco.

If anything can be learned from history then I say that people should read a book entitled "The Northwestern Pacific RR." It can be found in any public library in Marin. A quick review of this book will reveal to the reader that Marin County once had a fine public transportation system. This old, but highly reliable system, if recreated and modernized, would go a long way toward solving the public transportation problem that now exists in Marin County. . . . If Marin wants to further pave the landscape with nothing but miles of concrete then I suggest they let the railroad die a horrible death and plunge full speed ahead with more highway construction. . . . The choice is yours, people of Marin, but decide wisely and rapidly, before it is too late and the rail line is gone.

Officials Show Public Conscience

Good deeds by public officials, elected or appointed, often go unnoticed.

I would like to compliment Mayor William R. Bremer for disqualifying himself when the appeal to rezone the Taylor tract came before the council. Mayor Bremer lives in that area.

Also to be complimented is Victor Banks, a member of the Tiburon Planning Commission. Mr. Banks alerted his friends and neighbors to the change made in the zoning ordinance. Many people do not get the local paper where the notices are published and are not aware of what is being done to them by the City of Tiburon. Mr. Banks was appointed, not elected. He also disqualified himself regarding the matter as he is a property owner in the area.

Controllers, Pilots In Hero Roles As Air Traffic Congestion Grows

WASHINGTON — Anyone who travels frequently by air, as this reporter has done during the past three months, endures the frustration of delayed flights, cancellations and the interminable stackup with layers of planes in the overcast waiting to land at crowded airports. It must seem at times that the system is overburdened to the point of breakdown.

On Black Friday in July the climax came with an air traffic jam so horrendous that disaster was averted by sheer luck. This brought a demand for drastic reduction in the number of flights in and out of crowded airports.

The end of the vacation season meant a drop in air travel which has somewhat cut back the load. But the measures proposed to reduce the maddening delays, not to mention the hazards, are only in the beginning state. The bureaucratic mills grind exceedingly slow, conflicting interests pull in opposite directions, and the end of what at times appear to be chaos is, officials concerned with air traffic readily admit, a long way off.

THE CONTROLLERS who direct air traffic work overtime six or seven days a week, as was disclosed after Black Friday. Nervous tension with its physical toll is an occupational disease. The controllers are still working overtime bringing down the big jets out of foggy, rain-swept skies.

There has been some progress. Shocked by Black Friday and the picture of the sky jammed with planes almost wing tip to wing tip Congress reconsidered earlier budget cuts and allowed the Federal Aviation Administration to hire 2,000 more controllers. The Control Training Academy in Oklahoma City, which had been closed to save money, has been reopened with a class of 150.

It is an interesting commentary on values that the average salary of a controller — the man responsible for the safety of so many lives and an investment of millions of dollars in jet planes — is $9,000 to $10,000. He may work up after a number of years to $15,000 on the Civil Service scale.

THE FAA is conducting a 12-months of the year FAA For the first two and a half months on the year FAA received reports of 554 near midair collisions from pilots and other sources. FAA estimated that during this period there were 15,500,000 flight operations, so that one close call was reported for every 28,000 operations.

Traffic control is only one piece of the dangerous congestion picture. The urgent — perhaps desperate is the word — need is for airports. Even the casual air traveler knows the cluttered, crowded airport, with ramps extended out so far that a hike to the departure gate seems to take as long as the flight itself.

Earlier this month the FAA in the 1968 edition of the annual National Airport Plan said that more than 800 new airports must be built in the next five years to "relieve present congestion and accommodate future growth." Location of these airports is often the object of fierce contention.

NATIONAL AIRPORT here in Washington is the most glaring example of what overcrowding means. It was built to handle 4 million arrivals and departures annually. The total today is 10 million and it would be a lot more and sheer chaos, according to FAA officials, if a ceiling had not been put on—when traffic had reached two and a half times capacity.

Theoretically National Airport is regulated by FAA, unlike other airports around the country. But FAA with its 40,000 employees carrying out all the control functions is a creature of Congress. When the agency moved to keep out the bigger jets by putting a geographical flight range on operations out of National, making it in effect a local airport and channeling long-distance traffic to nearby Dulles and Friendship, members of Congress screamed to high heaven. The limit came off.

The simple truth is that the controllers and the pilots are the unsung heroes of the jammed airways. Their skill and their dedication are the margin between safety and disaster. It is a heavy burden they should not have to carry singlehanded.

Mali: Peanuts, Airlines, And Teachings Of Mao

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

The Sahara sun boiled down on a gaily decked tent from which the president of Mali, Modibo Keita, spoke above the loud complaints of camels tethered alongside a new macadam airstrip.

This was Mali in the first flush of independence from France. Already, the desert sand was beginning to drift over the new runway.

And this was Timbuctu, "where the camel meets the canoe," linked now by a new Malinese airline with Bamako, the capital, 400 miles away.

AS VISITING diplomats and other guests stewed in their own perspiration, Keita told them that this new airline would overcome desert barriers and act as a symbol of Mali's independence, unity and new prosperity.

In the market place, close to the sun-baked mud brick walls of a 600-year-old mosque, blue-eyed, black-skinned Tuaregs, fierce tribesmen of the desert, strolled hand-in-hand or with arms around each other's waists.

The Malis feared the Tuaregs. In ancient days they had been the slave traders, the men who loaded their camels with salt from mines deep in the Sahara for shipment by canoe down the Niger River and made their exchange in slaves.

DESPITE its size, twice that of Texas, Mali wasn't much of a country then and it isn't now.

Literally, it had a peanut economy. Its chief export is peanuts.

And, like many another newly independent black African nation, it wanted to fly before it could walk or run. It needed an expensive national airline like Eskimos need iceboxes.

When the diplomats departed Timbuctu for the shade and cool of Bamako, the Malis forgot to put either water or food on the inaugural airliner, superheated by hours sitting on the runway under the desert sun and with a four hour flight ahead.

On the way back, the Danish pilot flew low, and this correspondent recalls the wretching illness of two North Vietnamese delegates as the airplane bounced off one shimmering heat wave after another rising from the sands below.

KEITA, more than six feet tall, imposing in his white robes, tough under a gracious exterior and a socialist in the African manners, became Mali's first president after a short-lived federation with Senegal in which he served as premier.

But Keita, after receiving aid from both East and West, including the United States, was swinging close to the Red Chinese. A slogan in Bamako declared: "All the peoples of the world ardently love Chairman Mao."

With the Malinese economy slipping badly, it was too much for young officers in the Malinese army. This week, Keita fell to a bloodless coup.

Petaluma Councilmen Receive Park Plans

Plans for 31-acre Luchessi Park were worked over last night at a study session of the Petaluma City Council.

Architect Sidney Lewin of San Rafael reviewed the plans approved Tuesday by the parks and recreation commission for the family park on Maria Drive near East Washington street and south McDowell Boulevard.

Lewin told councilmen plans include a 3.5-acre lake for boating similar to Stow Lake at Golden Gate Park in San Francisco. The lake could be stocked with fish or an area set aside for the sailing of miniature boats, he said.

Also planned are several flexible baseball diamonds, four tennis courts, handball court, soccer or field hockey field, badminton, volleyball, pathways for hikes and benches. Lewin said parking spaces for 370 cars had been alloted.

Designed to serve all age groups, a play area for young children has been provided as well as space for a future senior citizens center and a community center.

Picnic areas will easily accomodate 500 persons, said Richard Shollenberger, parks and recreation director. Telling the council they were most important, he said, "we already have people going out of town to picnic."

Councilmen suggested the possibility of coordinating athletic areas with plans for a future high school that may be built on South McDowell Boulevard. Shollenberger said that had been taken into consideration.

The park plans will be reviewed at the regular Dec. 1 council meeting at 7:30 p.m. and again Dec. 4 at a public hearing at 7:30 p.m. at city hall.

POLICE STATION — Heard a report that the architectual firm of Lieb and Quaresma is working on plans for an addition to the police station. Richard S. Lieb said Police Chief Larry D. Higgins had asked him to prepare preliminary plans and give a cost estimate for enclosing the present carport into a new room and remodeling some existing rooms. Lieb said the preliminary planning fee would be $750 and if the firm does the entire job, the $750 would be applied to the total project costs. The firm is already doing a similar study for an addition to the central fire station.

REVENUE — Were told by City Treasurer Cecil G. Gealta that new sources of tax revenue this year would include property transfer taxes, television antenna taxes and cigarette taxes. He noted costs for operating the city had increased at an average rate of 10 per cent each year since 1965.

ASSESSMENTS — Heard recommendation from City Atty. Edouard E. Robert that a $200 limit be placed on assessments for segregating land. He noted that persons now pay a $100 fee for the first lot subdivided and $25 for each following lot. Robert said this rate could be excessive in comparison to the amount of administrative work. Treasurer Gealta called the present rate reasonable and said a limit would be impractical. Mayor Helen Putnam asked Gealta to survey neighboring cities for their practice.

Chancellor Bars Closing Campus At San Diego

SAN DIEGO (AP) —Chancellor William McGill, in his first major confrontation with University of California at San Diego students since taking over two months ago, refused a demand to close the campus for faculty-student discussions.

McGill met with students several hours yesterday in a campus plaza and told them he had an obligation "to keep the university open.

"I can't allow you to influence the rest of the academic community to this extent," he said.

Students had asked for a two-day discussion period, similar to the convocations at San Francisco State College instead of regular classes.

McGill did agree to allow students to meet for a free speech session today. He said students wanting to attend would be excused from classes.

Police Arrest School Leaders

NEW YORK (AP) — Two key Negro leaders in the Ocean Hill-Brownsville School District were taken into custody by police today, as the state moved to preserve a shaky agreement which ended a seven-week teachers' strike last week.

Rev. C. Herbert Oliver, chairman of the suspended Ocean Hill board, and Albert Vann, head of the Afro-American Teachers Association and a suspended teacher, were arrested at Junior High School 271.

Police said the two refused to leave the school as requested by Herbert Johnson, the state trustee put in charge of the eight-school experimental Brooklyn district as part of the strike-ending agreement.

Curriculum Report For Lagunitas

Lagunitas School District trustees last night heard a report on the seventh and eighth grade curriculum, Supt. Marshall J. McCunniff reported today.

Jean Berensmeier, parent of a student at the just-completed San Geronimo Valley School, outlined a plan for playground apparatus at the school using logs and wood construction which would blend with the forest atmosphere of a part of the play area.

The board will consider cost of the proposal at a future meeting, McCunniff said.

Trustees approved expenditure up to $200 for uniforms for pupils in the after school basketball program.

The board hired JoAnne Giddings as bus driver and noon playground supervisor at $1,714, and Carol Kendall as a teacher's aide and noon playground supervisor at $1,428, both for the rest of the school year.

The board will meet at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 16 at Lagunitas School to review the building program for San Geronimo Valley School.

Informer Takes Case To State's Tribunal

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Robert K. Worthington of Point Reyes Station, key police informer in the 1965 Sally Stanford burglary case, yesterday asked the state Supreme Court to overrule the state and to award him $150,000 as a "good samaritan."

Worthington, 43, a contractor, two years ago asked $152,777 from the state Board of Control, but got only $1,777. The board handles awards made to citizens who suffer physical harm or financial loss while giving aid to police.

The board rejected Worthington's claim that he had suffered $150,000 in general damages for "fear, nervousness and loss of business," and agreed to pay him only for the cost of moving his family five times during the much-publicized trial of the men who burglarized the Stanford home in San Francisco.

The board agreed to Worthington's claim that his out-of-pocket expenses totaled $2,777, but cut the award by $1,000 because he had received rewards totaling $1,000.

His attorneys, in the petition for a hearing before the court, asserted he was entitled to "an award substantially in excess" of actual expenses. They also noted that Worthington was shot in the arm while driving his pickup truck along Lucas Valley Road before the trial.

San Francisco police officer Salvatore Polani and three others were convicted after falling into a trap which Worthington helped set.

Credit Card Use Probation Set

Alvin L. Whittenbrock, 20, of Santa Rosa, who found a bank credit card belonging to someone else and used it for $3,000 worth of purchases in three weeks, was given a suspended jail sentence yesterday in Marin Superior Court.

Judge Harold J. Haley, noting Whittenbrock's clean record until arrested for using the credit card in Novato Oct. 3, gave him a four-month suspended sentence and placed him on two years of probation. He declared the offense a misdemeanor.

A condition of the probation is that Whittenbrock repay the Bank of America for his unauthorized chargings, the judge said.

Whittenbrock told the judge he used the credit card, found in a San Mateo County shopping center, to buy clothes and food for his wife and his three step-children.

Interim Freight Rate Increase Wins Approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interstate Commerce Commission granted the nation's railroads today an interim freight rate increase on most commodities of 3 to 10 per cent.

The ICC said in a statement its decision modifies its June 19 ruling that permitted the railroads to file tariffs limited to no more than 3 per cent.

It excluded from today's authorization higher rates for grain, iron, steel scrap and pig iron, saying increases in those rates must remain at the 3 per cent rate set last June.

The ICC said its final decision will be made later. Meanwhile, it said, it will permit the higher rate now because "of a critical need on the pact of the railroads for additional revenue to offset increased operating costs."

The earth rotates so quickly that a person standing on the equator would be traveling 1,000-miles per hour, says Collier's Encyclopedia.

Minority Rule Fails To Work Its Way Down To Novato Schools

For several years, our society has been reversing its original concept of majority rule to that of rule by an organized minority.

Nowhere has this been more true than in the universities and colleges. Here small minorities have made demands and carried them to the point of disrupting the function of institutions.

This point of view seems to be permeating down to the high school level. During the recent negotiations between the teachers of the Novato schools and trustees, there was a very vocal minority making suggestions which were almost like demands.

Then when it came to a vote of the assembled teachers, this vocal minority was overwhelmingly outvoted by the vast majority of the teachers.

ONE OF THE suggestions at the negotiations was to keep high schools on half-day sessions and not open San Marin High School. This was first suggested as an economy measure. Then the teachers got a raise and the school district planned to open the high school on Dec. 2.

A few days ago, a circular which could be signed and returned the same as a petition was passed around to Novato and San Marin high school teachers. It called for continuation of the half-day sessions with the afternoons being used by students and teachers in a free choice program.

Jerrold Moore, president of the 450-member Novato Teachers Association, said this idea had been discussed by the high schools curriculum council but no action was taken on it. The curriculum council is composed of the department heads.

Moore also said the Novato Teachers Association would not oppose the full-day schedule as adopted by the school board. Both Novato and San Marin high schools will go onto full six 50-minute periods with a post-period each day.

He said he did not expect it would be necessary for the Novato Teachers Association to take any action on the circulars which were passed to the teachers.

So again a vocal minority in the high schools failed to upset the concept of majority rule.

WE HAVE ALWAYS felt that the Novato area was about as free of racial prejudice as any we have ever seen. We attributed part of this to the influence of Hamilton Air Force Base.

That is not the only reason. Novato was the only city in Marin County which had a Negro police officer until he quit to go elsewhere for more money. Novato has a Negro on its parks and recreation commission. Negroes and Orientals are in business here. People of minority groups live all over the city and are not confined to any "ghetto" area.

A group, Novatans for Racial Equality, want the city council to do more for the minority races. It has held two meetings with the Novato City Council to further the cause.

The council has responded by declaring Novato an open city for housing and also hiring of its 70 city employees.

One point which the Novatans for Racial Equality made was that unless something drastic is done, America will be a two-culture society by 1984.

The morning after the council met with the racial equality group, I saw a car with a sticker on its back bumper which read: "Love America or leave it." The driver of the car was a Negro. It helped restore my confidence in this community and country.

GOP Fund-Raisers Need Help In Law And Order Crackdown

WASHINGTON — My friend, Rumpelmeyer, the arch-Democrat, called me up the other day with a surprise request. He wanted me to contribute to a "defense fund" for the Republicans who may be prosecuted under the Corrupt Practices Act for failure to meet the deadline on their reports of contributors to the Nixon-Agnew campaign.

"But Rumpelmeyer," I said, "why are you getting involved in this?"

"I believe in it," Rumpelmeyer said. "Nixon and Agnew ran on a law-and-order platform and they vowed to prosecute anyone who breaks the law. If they follow through on their pledge, then the first thing the new attorney general will have to do is take the people who raised money for Nixon and Agnew to trial."

"BUT SURELY, Rumpelmeyer," I said, "Nixon woudn't prosecute his own people for what was probably an administrative oversight. After all, it's just politics."

"That's what you say, but Nixon and Agnew specifically said they would not tolerate any monkeying around with the law. They promised if they were elected that there would no longer be some laws for people to obey, and others that they didn't have to obey. They won't have any choice but to see that the men who failed to file their reports feel the full weight of our judicial system. Now, how much can you pledge to the defense fund?"

"Wait a minute, Rumpelmeyer. No court in the land is going to convict men for being tardy in handing in political contribution reports."

"I'D LIKE to think so," Rumpelmeyer said. "But both Nixon and Agnew said during their campaigns that one of the big issues in our land was that the courts were too lenient on criminals, and that you don't prevent crime by letting people who break the law get off scot-free. I can't see where Nixon could do anything but lower the boom on his fund-raisers."

"You know, Rumpelmeyer," I said, "I'm always willing to give for a good cause, but even if the committee chairmen were tried, what could they get?"

"The law says they could get as much as a $10,000 fine and up to two years in jail," Rumpelmeyer said. "Even as a Democrat I don't think a Republican should have to do time for putting Nixon in the White House."

"I believe you're over-reacting, Rumpelmeyer. This whole thing will probably fade away."

"Not if Nixon gets a new attorney general. Don't you understand? The Nixon administration is trying to dramatize the issue of law and order. What better way to do it than to have the new attorney general try as his first case 'The People Versus the Nixon-Agnew Fund Raising Committee'? It would show beyond a shadow of a doubt that the new administration means business. I figure if we can get the defense fund started now, the poor guys responsible for the reports will have a better chance."

"YOU'VE GOT a good heart, Rumpelmeyer," I said. "Who would have ever thought that you would be concerned with Republican fund-raisers going to jail?"

"I wouldn't have gotten involved," Rumpelmeyer said, "but I'm concerned with justice, and Agnew refused to talk about justice during the campaign. He said people either have to obey the law or see that it's changed. That doesn't give the fund-raisers any place to go."

"OK, Rumpelmeyer. Put me down for $50. If you're man enough to raise money for their defense fund, then I don't see any reason why I shouldn't kick in. By the way, what do you think the defense will be?"

"We're going to claim it was a crime of passion."

Black Panther Cleaver Balks At Prison Order

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Black Panther Eldridge Cleaver, due to return to prison tomorrow as a parole violator, says he won't surrender.

The state would never free him again, he contends.

Cleaver, minister of information for the militant Negro group is required by State Supreme Court order to surrender to his parole officer tomorrow morning at the state building.

"That's one thing I can't do, go back to prison," Cleaver told a newsman yesterday. "Hoping and praying is irrational, so I've locked my mind and steeled myself."

Cleaver's attorney, Charles Garry, filed a petition yesterday with U.S. Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas in Washington for a stay, but there was no word from Washington of whether Douglas might act.

Garry said Cleaver had not received a registered letter from his parole board telling him to report tomorrow, and that consequently Cleaver will obey earlier instructions only to let his parole officer know where he is.

Regional Parole Administrator Hal Hubbell said in response to questions that if Cleaver doesn't show up, parole officers will try to contact him. If they can't, Hubbell said, they'll ask police to pick him up.

Their picket sign reads: "To save Eldridge Cleaver from police murder we wait and watch 24 hours a day." Most of the vigil keepers are white.

Cleaver had been paroled in 1966 after serving eight years of a 13-year Los Angeles sentence for assault to commit murder and rape.

After a shootout last spring in Oakland, in which Cleaver and two policemen were wounded and Panther treasurer Bobby Hutton was killed, Cleaver's parole was revoked and he was taken to the state's medical facility at Vacaville.

He was freed two months later when Solano County Superior Court Judge Raymond Sherwin agreed with Cleaver's contention that he was being held for his political beliefs.

High-Cost Housing May Help Create Slums

Nobody builds a slum, intentionally.

Marin County, though, may be creating slums unintentionally. It may be doing so by its very insistence on large lots and high development standards.

How could this be? How could high-cost building, on large high-cost lots, result in slums? Let's consider.

It is widely recognized that real estate costs in Marin are very high — in fact, higher than in any other county in the Bay Area, considered county-wide. Exclusive locations in Hillsborough, Burlingame Hills, Piedmont, etc., are as costly as any in Marin, but the other counties (except San Francisco, which has run out of land) have many localities of lower cost.

IT IS WIDELY recognized that a basic reason for the high price of homes in Marin is the high cost of land.

Because Marin is mostly hilly, with level land that can be cheaply developed a rather scarce article, there is not much that can be done about the high cost of land. Hillsides may be purchased fairly cheaply per acre, but by the time they have been converted into building sites, the cost has risen greatly. Much of the flat land must be filled — again adding greatly to cost. And the price of the flat acreage that needs no fill is inflated by its very scarcity.

How this expensive land is used, however, has great bearing on the cost of the completed homes.

The approach in Marin for many years has been to require relatively large lots. The idea has been to prevent crowding the land with buildings.

The result has been that only expensive houses can be built. If an acre of prime residential property costs $40,000, for instance, and can be divided into only four lots, that is $10,000 per lot — before improvements. And the share of the costs of streets and utilities that must be charged against each lot is proportionately high. The result is that the cost has risen so high before a house is built that it is unfeasible to put a house on such a lot with a price tag less than about $50,000.

Marin has a lot of these high-priced houses on high-priced lots. Even where the land is relatively cheap, this development method has made it impractical now to put up homes below about $35,000.

WHERE, THEN, are those to go who do not have the income to buy $35,000 to $50,000 homes? There are many, many such people in Marin.

They must (1) move into apartments, or (2) buy houses which were built on small lots in pre-control days. (The big old homes have shared, of course, in the inflation.) If they do the former, the apartment neighborhood suffers from too many children in the buildings, under conditions not designed for rearing families; if the latter, they cannot add to the home as the family increases because of existing restrictions.

Result: Slums.

MARIN HAS LONG been deeply concerned with planning to preserve its trees, its (mostly unusable) shoreline, etc.

Isn't it about time we concentrated on planning to preserve people?

Pollen Is Beautiful

We don't expect sufferers from pollen allergies to jump with joy at the news, but the fact is that the scanning electron microscope reveals pollen grains to be varied and beautiful examples of natural architecture. And each species of flowering plant appears to produce pollens which are as distinct in appearance as their blossoms.

For example, a grain of flax pollen magnified 1,250 times resembles the shell of a sea urchin. Wallflower pollen resembles sponges. The pollen of the hellebore looks like a cantelope. And that of thrift resembles sections of honeycomb.

Even in its tiniest forms, Nature can be quite complex and beautiful.

GOLDEN GATE VIEW

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

Political pull traditionally is the first requirement for a job on the Golden Gate Bridge.

That's not surprising, but what is remarkable is that the system was capable of turning up a top-notch new general manager, Dale W. Luehring of Mill Valley.

The six bridge and highway district directors screening applicants for the job last July had settled on someone else before Leuhring entered the picture.

But they started to get telephone calls from Washington, Sacramento and some Bay Area wheels even more important than themselves. All got the word — Leuhring, who was retiring from the Air Force as a colonel — would be a good man to replace James Adam, who was retiring at 70.

THE RESULT of all this superior advice was that the committee dropped its first choice and decided to recommend Luehring's hiring to the full board of directors.

The big day saw his hiring quickly and unanimously approved.

Hardcastle, a shipping executive, had had some contact with Leuhring, who was in the transportation end of the Air Force, so they naturally got together when the bridge job came along.

Hardcastle, after satisfying himself that Leuhring would do the job as he thought it should be done, arranged those telephone calls without once revealing his role to his fellow directors until after it was all over.

At least one San Francisco director reportedly was furious when Hardcastle told him what he had done — after the full board vote. The same director had lobbied Hardcastle just before the board meeting, urging Hardcastle to vote for Luehring.

COMMUTERS will be under strong attack in the 1969 Legislature if Los Angeles' committee on proposed legislation has its way.

It has topped its list of 16 items recommended for city sponsorship in the Legislature with amendment of state law to permit a tax on wages and other income earned in the city by residents and nonresidents.

With both San Francisco and Los Angeles pushing for such an amendment, it could make its way into law.

The worst of the present day is that men hate one another so damnably. — William Lamb (1835).

Campus Uprisings Not Unrelated

Yesterday it was Berkeley and Columbia. And now the anarchy has (again) come to San Francisco State. Because the dates, names and places and the issues vary with each case, the liberal news media treats each of these as a separate and unrelated case. A good look at each case shows that they are all similar and related. Similar in that on each campus there is a strong rebel element planted in the faculty, a hard-core group of militant student leaders, and key administrators that appease the militants while putting up a front of opposing them.

They are related in that the key group running the show on each campus was either the W. E. B. DuBois Club or the Students for a Democratic Society. . . .

The short-term goal of these revolutionaries is control of the campuses, and they move a step closer to it with each confrontation. Their long term goal is the destruction of our American republic.

The same pattern is developing at College of Marin and, unless concerned students and citizens unite now to prevent it, College of Marin will soon erupt into anarcy and violence.

Two Intersections Need Traffic Lights

There are two intersections in Mill Valley that create a hopeless traffic jam in peak commuter hours which could be solved quiete simply by replacing the existing four-way stop signs with traffic lights. These intersections are at Camino Alto-East Blithedale and Lomita-East Blithedale.

The present system adds at least five minutes to the commuter time for Mill Valley residents, not to mention the frustration of deciding whose turn it is to "creep through." Surely with the high rate of taxes paid by home owners, the necessary funds could be appropriated to correct such an inadequate system of traffic control.

Way To Improve Execution Efficiency

As a professional bio-engineer and California taxpayer, I call your attention to the following facts regarding executions at San Quentin:

Current techniques allow for only two simultaneous killings and up to three hours for evacuation of the gas chamber. A bit of simple arithmetic demonstrates that 84 executions, two at a time, would require five days and six hours, working around-the-clock. Based upon an eight-hour day and a five-day week, the total time involved to complete the series would constitute 22 days.

If instead, all 84 are packed into the chamber at once, the job can be done in less than four hours, including evacuation of the chamber. The savings in salary and employee benefits will be considerable. A smaller but still significant savings will occur in the amount of gas-producing pellets used.

Should any further technical assistance be required, there are several gas chamber attendants left over from Nazi Germany who might volunteer their services.

THE RAZOR'S EDGE

Railroad Line Key To Future

As every I-J reader by now knows, the NWP RR wants to abandon its Sausalito branch. Several proposals have been advanced on how to use the present right of way and they all seem to include everything but future rail operations.

It is time that somebody decided that the right of way has only one real service and that is for providing continued rail service for Marin County. The present freight operation of the branch holds much potential for light industrial development in the county but perhaps the greatest potential of all is for development of alternate transportation for commuters to San Francisco.

If anything can be learned from history then I say that people should read a book entitled "The Northwestern Pacific RR." It can be found in any public library in Marin. A quick review of this book will reveal to the reader that Marin County once had a fine public transportation system. This old, but highly reliable system, if recreated and modernized, would go a long way toward solving the public transportation problem that now exists in Marin County. . . . If Marin wants to further pave the landscape with nothing but miles of concrete then I suggest they let the railroad die a horrible death and plunge full speed ahead with more highway construction. . . . The choice is yours, people of Marin, but decide wisely and rapidly, before it is too late and the rail line is gone.

Officials Show Public Conscience

Good deeds by public officials, elected or appointed, often go unnoticed.

I would like to compliment Mayor William R. Bremer for disqualifying himself when the appeal to rezone the Taylor tract came before the council. Mayor Bremer lives in that area.

Also to be complimented is Victor Banks, a member of the Tiburon Planning Commission. Mr. Banks alerted his friends and neighbors to the change made in the zoning ordinance. Many people do not get the local paper where the notices are published and are not aware of what is being done to them by the City of Tiburon. Mr. Banks was appointed, not elected. He also disqualified himself regarding the matter as he is a property owner in the area.

Controllers, Pilots In Hero Roles As Air Traffic Congestion Grows

WASHINGTON — Anyone who travels frequently by air, as this reporter has done during the past three months, endures the frustration of delayed flights, cancellations and the interminable stackup with layers of planes in the overcast waiting to land at crowded airports. It must seem at times that the system is overburdened to the point of breakdown.

On Black Friday in July the climax came with an air traffic jam so horrendous that disaster was averted by sheer luck. This brought a demand for drastic reduction in the number of flights in and out of crowded airports.

The end of the vacation season meant a drop in air travel which has somewhat cut back the load. But the measures proposed to reduce the maddening delays, not to mention the hazards, are only in the beginning state. The bureaucratic mills grind exceedingly slow, conflicting interests pull in opposite directions, and the end of what at times appear to be chaos is, officials concerned with air traffic readily admit, a long way off.

THE CONTROLLERS who direct air traffic work overtime six or seven days a week, as was disclosed after Black Friday. Nervous tension with its physical toll is an occupational disease. The controllers are still working overtime bringing down the big jets out of foggy, rain-swept skies.

There has been some progress. Shocked by Black Friday and the picture of the sky jammed with planes almost wing tip to wing tip Congress reconsidered earlier budget cuts and allowed the Federal Aviation Administration to hire 2,000 more controllers. The Control Training Academy in Oklahoma City, which had been closed to save money, has been reopened with a class of 150.

It is an interesting commentary on values that the average salary of a controller — the man responsible for the safety of so many lives and an investment of millions of dollars in jet planes — is $9,000 to $10,000. He may work up after a number of years to $15,000 on the Civil Service scale.

THE FAA is conducting a 12-months of the year FAA For the first two and a half months on the year FAA received reports of 554 near midair collisions from pilots and other sources. FAA estimated that during this period there were 15,500,000 flight operations, so that one close call was reported for every 28,000 operations.

Traffic control is only one piece of the dangerous congestion picture. The urgent — perhaps desperate is the word — need is for airports. Even the casual air traveler knows the cluttered, crowded airport, with ramps extended out so far that a hike to the departure gate seems to take as long as the flight itself.

Earlier this month the FAA in the 1968 edition of the annual National Airport Plan said that more than 800 new airports must be built in the next five years to "relieve present congestion and accommodate future growth." Location of these airports is often the object of fierce contention.

NATIONAL AIRPORT here in Washington is the most glaring example of what overcrowding means. It was built to handle 4 million arrivals and departures annually. The total today is 10 million and it would be a lot more and sheer chaos, according to FAA officials, if a ceiling had not been put on—when traffic had reached two and a half times capacity.

Theoretically National Airport is regulated by FAA, unlike other airports around the country. But FAA with its 40,000 employees carrying out all the control functions is a creature of Congress. When the agency moved to keep out the bigger jets by putting a geographical flight range on operations out of National, making it in effect a local airport and channeling long-distance traffic to nearby Dulles and Friendship, members of Congress screamed to high heaven. The limit came off.

The simple truth is that the controllers and the pilots are the unsung heroes of the jammed airways. Their skill and their dedication are the margin between safety and disaster. It is a heavy burden they should not have to carry singelhanded.

Mali: Peanuts, Airlines, And Teachings Of Mao

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

The Sahara sun boiled down on a gaily decked tent from which the president of Mali, Modibo Keita, spoke above the loud complaints of camels tethered alongside a new macadam airstrip.

This was Mali in the first flush of independence from France. Already, the desert sand was beginning to drift over the new runway.

And this was Timbuctu, "where the camel meets the canoe," linked now by a new Malinese airline with Bamako, the capital, 400 miles away.

AS VISITING diplomats and other guests stewed in their own perspiration, Keita told them that this new airline would overcome desert barriers and act as a symbol of Mali's independence, unity and new prosperity.

In the market place, close to the sun-baked mud brick walls of a 600-year-old mosque, blue-eyed, black-skinned Tuaregs, fierce tribesmen of the desert, strolled hand-in-hand or with arms around each other's waists.

The Malis feared the Tuaregs. In ancient days they had been the slave traders, the men who loaded their camels with salt from mines deep in the Sahara for shipment by canoe down the Niger River and made their exchange in slaves.

DESPITE its size, twice that of Texas, Mali wasn't much of a country then and it isn't now.

Literally, it had a peanut economy. Its chief export is peanuts.

And, like many another newly independent black African nation, it wanted to fly before it could walk or run. It needed an expensive national airline like Eskimos need iceboxes.

When the diplomats departed Timbuctu for the shade and cool of Bamako, the Malis forgot to put either water or food on the inaugural airliner, superheated by hours sitting on the runway under the desert sun and with a four hour flight ahead.

On the way back, the Danish pilot flew low, and this correspondent recalls the wretching illness of two North Vietnamese delegates as the airplane bounced off one shimmering heat wave after another rising from the sands below.

KEITA, more than six feet tall, imposing in his white robes, tough under a gracious exterior and a socialist in the African manners, became Mali's first president after a short-lived federation with Senegal in which he served as premier.

But Keita, after receiving aid from both East and West, including the United States, was swinging close to the Red Chinese. A slogan in Bamako declared: "All the peoples of the world ardently love Chairman Mao."

With the Malinese economy slipping badly, it was too much for young officers in the Malinese army. This week, Keita fell to a bloodless coup.

What Happens When A Stock Is Split?

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Would you comment on an increasingly common situation? I refer to splits — such as in Gulf Oil. What is the effect of a split on share action? Will the stock become a slow mover?—A.N.

A. So far this year about 140 splits of over 50 per cent have been announced on New York Stock Exchange stocks, while only 66 took place last year. This increased space is likely to continue since a long bull market uptrend has pushed share prices to new high levels. Theoretically, a shareholder doesn't gain capital as a result of a split; in practice however, the lower price for the shares generally attracts a wider following.

Two examples of gains following splits can be seen in the action of Becton, Dickinson and Cincinnati Milling Machine, both splitting shares two for one in 1966. Becton shares, split in the high 70s, required just 18 months to reach 70 once again. Cincinnati Milling took only 10 months to move back to its presplit level.

In a company such as Gulf Oil, with its large common issue, the price effect of a split is mitigated. Likewise, if the fundamentals, such as earnings and outlook, do not justify the split, the shares will not respond as expected.

Q. I was told to buy Oil Shale Corp. I can afford the risk. What is your opinion on this selection?—R.B.

A. Oil Shale (TOSCO), in partnership with Standard Oil of Ohio and Cleveland Cliffs Iron, proposed building a $140 million plant to produce oil — with sulphur as a by-product — from Rocky Mountain shale deposits. However, disagreements with Sohio and a former board chairman temporarily disrupted progress; these are now well on the way to being resolved.

Word of institutional interest and reported proposals from several large oil companies, notably Atlantic Richfield, make a convincing argument for the eventual successful commercialization of TOSCO's recovery-process.

Controversy Ends With Vote On Directors

SAN FRANCISCO (BW) — A six-month controversy among shareholders of Pacific Vegetable Oil Corp. has ended with the election of a new board of directors that combines members of the company's founding family with a new group of prominent investors.

B. T. Rocca Jr. is the newly elected chairman and chief executive officer. Rocca Jr., son of the founder and former PVO president, said stockholders on the board have approximately 50 per cent of the stock outstanding.

Rocca Sr. was named founder-chairman. The board appointed Stuart R. Dole of San Francisco secretary and general counsel.

Related to the amicable conclusion of the stockholder controversy was the dismissal prior to the election of a $7 million lawsuit brought by the previous management against members of the dissident group.

Union Oil Dividend

LOS ANGELES — The board of directors of Union Oil Co. of California has declared a dividend of 35 cents per share on the common stock and also the regular 62½ cents quarterly dividend on the company's preferred shares.

Market Scores New Highs In Averages

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market closed today in trading, making new highs for 1968 in the averages.

The market was higher from the start.

A broad sweep including blue chips, glamor stocks and specially situated issues pushed indicators to new peaks for 1968.

The ticker tape was late at the close.

Lionel, up ⅞ at 15⅞; American Smelting, up 10¾ at 84¾; Sinclair, up 6⅛ at 125⅜; Ling-Temco-Vought, up 3¼ at 93⅞; Reynolds Metals, off 1⅛ at 44⅝; Pan American World Airways, up 1⅜ at 29⅜; Lorillard, up 3⅜ at 78; Rollins Inc., up 2 at 84; Loew's Theatres, up 1¼ at 148½; and Procter & Gamble, up 3⅜ at 95⅜.

Confidence arising from the ability of stocks to withstand the shock of the European monetary crisis and a Wall Street belief that progress is being made in the Vietnam peace talks helped sentiment.

Lionel, up about a point, paced the list on activity in a bid to repeat yesterday's role as most-active stock.

An outside gainer was American Smelting, up more than 11 points and heavily traded, following a report that Pennzoil had proposed to combine with it in a tax-free transactions estimated to be worth about $105 a share of American Smelting.

Sinclair spurted 5 points as Gulf & Western started mailing proxy material to its shareholders covering the exchange offer for Sinclair stock. G&W gained more than a point.

Gold-mining stocks receded as the jitters subsided over the currency crisis. American-South African lost 2, Homestake and Campbell Red Lake a point or so.

Pacific Clay, Armstrong To Combine

LOS ANGELES (BW) — The boards of directors of Pacific Clay Products and Armstrong Paint and Varnish Works, Inc., have agreed in principle on combination of the two companies.

In announcing the terms of the proposed combination, company officials stated "an exchange of Armstrong's common stock for Pacific's will be worked out on the basis of one share of Armstrong for two-thirds of a share of a newly created $1.20 cumulative convertible preferred of Pacific plus four-tenths of a share of Pacific common stock.

"The Pacific convertible preferred will be immediately convertible into three-quarters of a share of Pacific common."

Pacific Clay Products is also considering the feasibility of creating a holding company which would be the parent of Pacific Clay Products, Armstrong and the Anaheim Union Water Co. On Nov. 18 an announcement was made concerning the merger of Anaheim with Pacific.

The proposed combination is subject to the approval of the shareholders of both Pacific and Armstrong and to various regulatory agencies.

Woolcott stated that the combination of the two companies will not change the structure of the Chicago-headquartered paint, chemical and can manufacturing company.

By THERON NEWELL

Minority Rule Fails To Work Its Way Down To Novato Schools

For several years, our society has been reversing its original concept of majority rule to that of rule by an organized minority.

Nowhere has this been more true than in the universities and colleges. Here small minorities have made demands and carried them to the point of disrupting the function of institutions.

This point of view seems to be permeating down to the high school level. During the recent negotiations between the teachers of the Novato schools and trustees, there was a very vocal minority making suggestions which were almost like demands.

Then when it came to a vote of the assembled teachers, this vocal minority was overwhelmingly outvoted by the vast majority of the teachers.

ONE OF THE suggestions at the negotiations was to keep high schools on half-day sessions and not open San Marin High School. This was first suggested as an economy measure. Then the teachers got a raise and the school district planned to open the high school on Dec. 2.

A few days ago, a circular which could be signed and returned the same as a petition was passed around to Novato and San Marin high school teachers. It called for continuation of the half-day sessions with the afternoons being used by students and teachers in a free choice program.

Jerrold Moore, president of the 450-member Novato Teachers Association, said this idea had been discussed by the high schools curriculum council but no action was taken on it. The curriculum council is composed of the department heads.

Moore also said the Novato Teachers Association would not oppose the full-day schedule as adopted by the school board. Both Novato and San Marin high schools will go onto full six 50-minute periods with a post-period each day.

He said he did not expect it would be necessary for the Novato Teachers Association to take any action on the circulars which were passed to the teachers.

So again a vocal minority in the high schools failed to upset the concept of majority rule.

WE HAVE ALWAYS felt that the Novato area was about as free of racial prejudice as any we have ever seen. We attributed part of this to the influence of Hamilton Air Force Base.

That is not the only reason. Novato was the only city in Marin County which had a Negro police officer until he quit to go elsewhere for more money. Novato has a Negro on its parks and recreation commission. Negroes and Orientals are in business here. People of minority groups live all over the city and are not confined to any "ghetto" area.

A group, Novatans for Racial Equality, want the city council to do more for the minority races. It has held two meetings with the Novato City Council to further the cause.

The council has responded by declaring Novato an open city for housing and also hiring of its 70 city employees.

One point which the Novatans for Racial Equality made was that unless something drastic is done, America will be a two-culture society by 1984.

The morning after the council met with the racial equality group, I saw a car with a sticker on its back bumper which read: "Love America or leave it." The driver of the car was a Negro. It helped restore my confidence in this community and country.

GOP Fund-Raisers Need Help In Law And Order Crackdown

WASHINGTON — My friend, Rumpelmeyer, the arch-Democrat, called me up the other day with a surprise request. He wanted me to contribute to a "defense fund" for the Republicans who may be prosecuted under the Corrupt Practices Act for failure to meet the deadline on their reports of contributors to the Nixon-Agnew campaign.

"But Rumpelmeyer," I said, "why are you getting involved in this?"

"I believe in it," Rumpelmeyer said. "Nixon and Agnew ran on a law-and-order platform and they vowed to prosecute anyone who breaks the law. If they follow through on their pledge, then the first thing the new attorney general will have to do is take the people who raised money for Nixon and Agnew to trial."

"BUT SURELY, Rumpelmeyer," I said, "Nixon woudn't prosecute his own people for what was probably an administrative oversight. After all, it's just politics."

"That's what you say, but Nixon and Agnew specifically said they would not tolerate any monkeying around with the law. They promised if they were elected that there would no longer be some laws for people to obey, and others that they didn't have to obey. They won't have any choice but to see that the men who failed to file their reports feel the full weight of our judicial system. Now, how much can you pledge to the defense fund?"

"Wait a minute, Rumpelmeyer. No court in the land is going to convict men for being tardy in handing in political contribution reports."

"I'D LIKE to think so," Rumpelmeyer said. "But both Nixon and Agnew said during their campaigns that one of the big issues in our land was that the courts were too lenient on criminals, and that you don't prevent crime by letting people who break the law get off scot-free. I can't see where Nixon could do anything but lower the boom on his fund-raisers."

"You know, Rumpelmeyer," I said, "I'm always willing to give for a good cause, but even if the committee chairmen were tried, what could they get?"

"The law says they could get as much as a $10,000 fine and up to two years in jail," Rumpelmeyer said. "Even as a Democrat I don't think a Republican should have to do time for putting Nixon in the White House."

"I believe you're over-reacting, Rumpelmeyer. This whole thing will probably fade away."

"Not if Nixon gets a new attorney general. Don't you understand? The Nixon administration is trying to dramatize the issue of law and order. What better way to do it than to have the new attorney general try as his first case 'The People Versus the Nixon-Agnew Fund Raising Committee'? It would show beyond a shadow of a doubt that the new administration means business. I figure if we can get the defense fund started now, the poor guys responsible for the reports will have a better chance."

"YOU'VE GOT a good heart, Rumpelmeyer," I said. "Who would have ever thought that you would be concerned with Republican fund-raisers going to jail?"

"I wouldn't have gotten involved," Rumpelmeyer said, "but I'm concerned with justice, and Agnew refused to talk about justice during the campaign. He said people either have to obey the law or see that it's changed. That doesn't give the fund-raisers any place to go."

"OK. Rumpelmeyer. Put me down for $50. If you're man enough to raise money for their defense fund, then I don't see any reason why I shouldn't kick in. By the way, what do you think the defense will be?"

"We're going to claim it was a crime of passion."

Black Panther Cleaver Balks At Prison Order

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Black Panther Eldridge Cleaver, due to return to prison tomorrow as a parole violator, says he won't surrender.

The state would never free him again, he contends.

Cleaver, minister of information for the militant Negro group is required by State Supreme Court order to surrender to his parole officer tomorrow morning at the state building.

"That's one thing I can't do, go back to prison," Cleaver told a newsman yesterday. "Hoping and praying is irrational, so I've locked my mind and steeled myself."

Cleaver's attorney, Charles Garry, filed a petition yesterday with U.S. Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas in Washington for a stay, but there was no word from Washington of whether Douglas might act.

Garry said Cleaver had not received a registered letter from his parole board telling him to report tomorrow, and that consequently Cleaver will obey earlier instructions only to let his parole officer know where he is.

Regional Parole Administrator Hal Hubbell said in response to questions that if Cleaver doesn't show up, parole officers will try to contact him. If they can't, Hubbell said, they'll ask police to pick him up.

Their picket sign reads: "To save Eldridge Cleaver from police murder we wait and watch 24 hours a day." Most of the vigil keepers are white.

Cleaver had been paroled in 1966 after serving eight years of a 13-year Los Angeles sentence for assault to commit murder and rape.

After a shootout last spring in Oakland, in which Cleaver and two policemen were wounded and Panther treasurer Bobby Hutton was killed, Cleaver's parole was revoked and he was taken to the state's medical facility at Vacaville.

He was freed two months later when Solano County Superior Court Judge Raymond Sherwin agreed with Cleaver's contention that he was being held for his political beliefs.

GLAMOROUS PANT ENSEMBLES FOR HOLIDAYS

Back To The Fashion Show As Junior League Benefit

Marin Women

SECOND SECTION Tuesday, Nov. 26, 1968 13

By MOLLY MARIN

It's back to the tried and true fashion show as a fund-raiser for the Junior League of San Francisco, to which the Marin members belong. And after a year hiatus in which the league presented a theatrical performance instead, the gala fashion event will carry the fund-raising load this season, not once but tiwce. The traditional luncheon and style show will be held Feb. 27 at the Continental Ballroom of the Hilton Hotel in San Francisco, and then that evening the fashions will be presented at an elegant cocktail and buffet party followed by dancing. New, too, this year will be the emphasis on men's fashions as well as the women's and youngsters' styles.

From Marin Mrs. Joseph E. Sheeks of Belvedere is co-chairman of models and Mrs. Gordon Dohemann of San Rafael is on the luncheon committee.

Invitations have been mailed for the sponsors table reservations for both noon and evening shows.

A RECEPTION was given Sunday at the Bohemian Club in San Francisco to honor Martha Bigelow Eliot of Tiburon, in recognition of her 20th year as director of the San Francisco Players Guild. The reception was given by the guild's board of directors and auxiliary after a performance of "Yatya, the Wonder Girl."

PROMINENT PHILADELPHIANS Dr. and Mrs. Edward S. Gifford Jr. will visit their nephew, John Heisley of Terra Linda on Thanksgiving Day. Dr. Gifford is chief opthamologist at the University of Pennsylvania Hospital, and his wife is a noted artist who is a member of the board of trustees of the Philadelphia Museum School of Art.

On this first trip west for the couple, they will spend six days touring the Bay Area and Monterey as well as Marin.

A CONTINGENT of Marinites is planning to be on hand for the San Francisco Sponsors fund-raising Casino 13 party on Dec. 13 at the Ice House Number One and Number Two. The evening of games, cocktails, supper and dancing will be a benefit for the City Theater of Jack Aranson of Mill Valley. Sponsors board members from Marin are Mr. and Mrs. John Kornfeld of Strawberry, Joyce Berg of San Rafael and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Skornia of Ross. Other Sponsors members who are working on the Casino 13 party are the Rev. and Mrs. Angus Dun Jr., Dr. and Mrs. Jansheski, Dr. and Mrs. Robert E. Rouda, Mrs. L. Henry Garland and James E. Williams, all of Marin.

THE HUNTLEY BENNETTS of Ross have been vacationing at the Royal Hawaiian and Sheraton Mauai Hotels in Hawaii after the Hawaiian International Open Golf Tournament. Mr. Bennett is West Coast sales manager for Newsweek magazine, which was a sponsor of the golf tournament held at the Waialae Country Club.

It's Turtlenecks

Turtles again win the race when it comes to men's sweaters for fall. But this year's crop is different from last. Gentlemen's Quarterly says the turtlenecks come in a variety of patterns that didn't exist a year ago. Instead of flat knit solids or one color bulkies and cable designs, the cables come in navy, red and white. An oversized windowpane check beefs up a silver gray turtleneck. Copper covers the front of a tan turtle. Two others have crosses dividing the front into colorful panels, while still another sweater is patterned with a dramatic V.

What Happens When A Stock Is Split?

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Would you comment on an increasingly common situation? I refer to splits — such as in Gulf Oil. What is the effect of a split on share action? Will the stock become a slow mover?—A.N.

A. So far this year about 140 splits of over 50 per cent have been announced on New York Stock Exchange stocks, while only 66 took place last year. This increased space is likely to continue since a long bull market uptrend has pushed share prices to new high levels. Theoretically, a shareholder doesn't gain capital as a result of a split; in practice however, the lower price for the shares generally attracts a wider following.

Two examples of gains following splits can be seen in the action of Becton, Dickinson and Cincinnati Milling Machine, both splitting shares two for one in 1966. Becton shares, split in the high 70s, required just 18 months to reach 70 once again. Cincinnati Milling took only 10 months to move back to its presplit level.

In a company such as Gulf Oil, with its large common issue, the price effect of a split is mitigated. Likewise, if the fundamentals, such as earnings and outlook, do not justify the split, the shares will not respond as expected.

Q. I was told to buy Oil Shale Corp. I can afford the risk. What is your opinion on this selection?—R.B.

A. Oil Shale (TOSCO), in partnership with Standard Oil of Ohio and Cleveland Cliffs Iron, proposed building a $140 million plant to produce oil — with sulphur as a by-product — from Rocky Mountain shale deposits. However, disagreements with Sohio and a former board chairman temporarily disrupted progress; these are now well on the way to being resolved.

Word of institutional interest and reported proposals from several large oil companies, notably Atlantic Richfield, make a convincing argument for the eventual successful commercialization of TOSCO's recovery-process.

Controversy Ends With Vote On Directors

SAN FRANCISCO (BW) — A six-month controversy among shareholders of Pacific Vegetable Oil Corp. has ended with the election of a new board of directors that combines members of the company's founding family with a new group of prominent investors.

B. T. Rocca Jr. is the newly elected chairman and chief executive officer. Rocca Jr., son of the founder and former PVO president, said stockholders on the board have approximately 50 per cent of the stock outstanding.

Rocca Sr. was named founder-chairman. The board appointed Stuart R. Dole of San Francisco secretary and general counsel.

Related to the amicable conclusion of the stockholder controversy was the dismissal prior to the election of a $7 million lawsuit brought by the previous management against members of the dissident group.

Union Oil Dividend

LOS ANGELES — The board of directors of Union Oil Co. of California has declared a dividend of 35 cents per share on the common stock and also the regular 62½ cents quarterly dividend on the company's preferred shares.

Market Scores New Highs In Averages

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market closed today in trading, making new highs for 1968 in the averages.

The market was higher from the start.

A broad sweep including blue chips, glamor stocks and specially situated issues pushed indicators to new peaks for 1968.

The ticker tape was late at the close.

Prices near the close included:

Lionel, up ⅞ at 15⅞; American Smelting, up 10¾ at 84¾; Sinclair, up 6⅛ at 125⅜; Ling-Temco-Vought, up 3¼ at 93⅞; Reynolds Metals, off 1⅛ at 44⅝; Pan American World Airways, up 1⅜ at 29⅜; Lorillard, up 3⅜ at 78; Rollins Inc., up 2 at 84; Loew's Theatres, up 1¼ at 148½; and Procter & Gamble, up 3⅜ at 95⅜.

Confidence arising from the ability of stocks to withstand the shock of the European monetary crisis and a Wall Street belief that progress is being made in the Vietnam peace talks helped sentiment.

Lionel, up about a point, paced the list on activity in a bid to repeat yesterday's role as most-active stock.

An outside gainer was American Smelting, up more than 11 points and heavily traded, following a report that Pennzoil had proposed to combine with it in a tax-free transactions estimated to be worth about $105 a share of American Smelting.

Sinclair spurted 5 points as Gulf & Western started mailing proxy material to its shareholders covering the exchange offer for Sinclair stock. G&W gained more than a point.

Gold-mining stocks receded as the jitters subsided over the currency crisis. American-South African lost 2, Homestake and Campbell Red Lake a point or so.

Pacific Clay, Armstrong To Combine

LOS ANGELES (BW) — The boards of directors of Pacific Clay Products and Armstrong Paint and Varnish Works, Inc., have agreed in principle on combination of the two companies.

In announcing the terms of the proposed combination, company officials stated "an exchange of Armstrong's common stock for Pacific's will be worked out on the basis of one share of Armstrong for two-thirds of a share of a newly created $1.20 cumulative convertible preferred of Pacific plus four-tenths of a share of Pacific common stock.

"The Pacific convertible preferred will be immediately convertible into three-quarters of a share of Pacific common."

Pacific Clay Products is also considering the feasibility of creating a holding company which would be the parent of Pacific Clay Products, Armstrong and the Anaheim Union Water Co. On Nov. 18 an announcement was made concerning the merger of Anaheim with Pacific.

The proposed combination is subject to the approval of the shareholders of both Pacific and Armstrong and to various regulatory agencies.

Woolcott stated that the combination of the two companies will not change the structure of the Chicago-headquartered paint, chemical and can manufacturing company.

Junior Requests Suggestions To Help Alleviate Bashfulness

DEAR HELEN:

I'm a junior in high school, am five feet ten inches, weight 165, and am not bad looking, but I'm completely dateless. Every once in a while a girl waves to me or something, but I'm too bashful to go over and talk to her, or even wave back. I can talk to guys okay, but I guess I just don't know how to approach a girl. I'll probably never get up nerve to ask one for a date.

Any suggestions?—UP TIGHT

DEAR U. T.:

What you need is self-confidence, and the best way to get it is from girls your own age. But since you seem to have such difficulty in meeting them, why not get one of your male pals to give you a hand. A buddy could easily arrange a double date if you asked him. Also, why not join one of the recreational clubs at your school? In such groups guys and gals meet on a very informal basis and you'll find your shyness wearing off in no time.

Meanwhile, U. T., screw up your courage and take the "Hi"-road. Some girl is bound to take it from there.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

You said guys would wear purses in about the same ratio that girls wore see-through dresses with nothing much under.

Around here you see a lot of fellows with purses, and they aren't "purse-swingers" either. I'm still looking for a see-through dress.

Maybe the guys are trying to get even because women hogged their styles, but I wish they would forget beads, medallions, purses, long hair, and other feminine frills. What's wrong with looking like a man?—NORTHERN NEW JERSEY

DEAR HELEN:

I'm going with a fellow who is a nut about hunting and fishing. We are planning on marriage next year, but I'm not so sure.

He goes target shooting, doesn't call until he gets home, and then expects me to be ready in 10 minutes.

Last weekend he didn't show up at all. He claims he was thrown in jail Friday night and kept there until Sunday. I think he is lying to me. He just went hunting.

Shouldn't I think twice about marrying a liar?—DIANA

DEAR DIANA :

In this case, better a liar than a jailbird, but think twice anyway. I don't believe you're cut out to be a sportsman's wife. —H.

DEAR HELEN:

I don't know how that woman managed it — getting a legal abortion when she didn't qualify under the law. I speak from experience. I was an unwed p.g., and desperate enough to want an abortion. My parents tried, but they were turned down. The baby wasn't in danger, I wasn't ill, and I hadn't been forced.

Illegal — yes. But we were scared of that route.

I'm so very, very glad now, that I had my baby. She is the most wonderful thing that ever happened to me. When I think of how close I came to never having known her, I shudder. Yes, I kept her, and now I'm engaged to a wonderful fellow who is going to adopt her.

Helen, I don't think abortions are morally wrong, and I know that sometimes they're the only way, but I'm glad we aren't going all-out to legalize them. Think how many women hate the idea of having a baby at first, and then, in about the sixth month, begin to realize hoy lucky they are:—LUCKY ONE

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble, or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

FIVE AGES OF WOMAN

'Middle Age' Extends To 70

(Last in a five part series from the Women's Medical News Service, "The Five Ages of Woman.")

POST-MENOPAUSE

A medical writer recounts how as a young woman she returned home to find her 52-year-old widowed mother serving tea to an unknown man she'd just met in the library. Convinced that her mother was too old for such goings-on, the daughter made the visitor feel so unwelcome that he never returned. Shortly after, her mother died. Now older and wiser, the writer is haunted by the recollection of her cruelty. And she realizes just how unold 52 really is.

But her youthful shortsightedness is epidemic. As a well-known gynecologist points out, few people understand the sex lives of teenagers or older persons — teenagers because they won't talk, older persons because nobody asks.

BUT TIMES ARE changing. Life expectancy lengthens to the point where the average woman lives about 30 more years after her menopause. And a recent book, "Sexual Life After Sixty" by Isadore Rubin, cites researchers who, ignoring precedent, are interesting themselves in the sex lives of older persons. For instance, a questionnaire to over-65-year-olds listed in "Who's Who" revealed that 70 per cent of the married men replying engaged with some regularity in coitus.

When Dr. William Masters and Virginia Johnson studied a select group of post-menopausal women, they found that the clitoral response of 70-year-olds was comparable to that of women in the thirties and early forties. Orgasms, too, were unchanged except for being shorter in duration. Active sex lives helped some older women to avoid the decrease of vaginal lubrication that is common.

In one poll of college-educated women, one out of every five in the 55-to-65 year age group said that after the menopause, women are usually more interested in sexual relations than they were before.

Dr. Sherwin Kaufman, a professor at the New York University School of Medicine, tackles the issue of post-menopause sex forthrightly and emphatically: "If a woman is in good health, feels well and has always had a good sex life, there is no reason to expect any change (following the menopause)."

Proof that sexual desires are independent of hormonal production, he says, lies in such facts as these: surgical removal of a young woman's ovaries does not interfere with her libido; prematurely mature children have sex urges consonant with their chronological age rather than with their precociously-developed bodies; and elderly women with comparable hormonal outputs lead very disparate sexual lives.

DR. SOPHIA KLEEGMAN, a New York gynecologist, describes a patient who had been frigid with two husbands through decades of marriage. At the age of 72 she took a 76-year-old lover with whom she found fulfillment.

Nor are these isolated exceptions. Since 35,000 marriages annually involve at least one partner over 65 years old, it's obvious that the senescent can swing too.

A person is indeed as old as he feels. When a group of 65-to-69-year-olds were asked how old they felt, fully half replied, "middle-aged" or even "young." Only when the investigators reached the group past 80 did they get nearly unanimous agreement that they were old.

In action, too, some elderly women have proved that calendars are not iron-clad. Nurse Clara Barton worked 14 hours a day when she was 90; Gertrude Atherton published her 56th book at that age; and Lillien Martin, America's first old-age counselor, learned to use a typewriter at age 65 and to drive a car when she was 77. Grandma Moses took up painting at the comparatively juvenile age of 75.

In recent years, national attitudes have shifted in seemingly contradictory directions: to students, the over-30s are "old," everyone else has raised both the threshold and the ceiling of "middle age." A generation or so ago, a 50-year-old woman would have been considered old; now she is clearly starting to be middle-aged. "Old" seems to begin at about 70. This differentiation between middle-aged and elderly has a physical basis. All the post-menopausal years should not be lumped together. When a woman is fiftyish, her breasts will tend to become fatty; in later years, the fat is absorbed and they become smaller and flabbier. In early middle age, women gain weight readily, developing (unless they are very careful and energetic) padding around the hips and abdomen. In old age, on the contrary, women tend to lose weight. A plump 80-year-old is as rare as a skinny candy-taster.

ALTHOUGH THE ovaries ease off their production of estrogen, this female hormone may still play a role in the post-menopausal woman. In a survey of 680 women ranging in age from 38 to 111 years, some women up to the age of 80 showed evidence of sex hormone activity. A stepping-up by the adrenal glands may partially compensate for the lagging ovaries.

After the age of 50 or so, women become increasingly vulnerable to certain diseases. They lose their comparative immunity to heart disease; few women in their fifties suffer heart attacks, but after that women are almost at equal risk as men of the same age. Cancer of the ovary has its highest incidence between the ages of 55 and 65. Other cancers of the reproductive system and cancer of the breast become increasingly common too. A regular annual visit to a gynecologist is thus of crucial importance during this period of aging.

Osteoporosis (the development of brittle bones) is four times more frequent among women than among men, affecting them at an earlier age. This disorder strikes an estimated one out of every four postmenopausal women.

Ultimately, everyone grows old, but one woman's old age is another woman's agelessness. The "old" dancer can be a "young" club president. The "old" tennis player can be a "young" grandmother. Energetic, understanding old can beat out flabby, self-satisfied middle-aged any day of the week. Ask any admirer of Marlene Dietrich.

Shopping in the Village with Pat Reynolds

Town & Country Village

A treat for the children on Saturday and Sunday of the 1st and 3rd weeks of every month . . . pony rides! These little non-bucking broncos are corraled in the parking lot on the highway side of The Village.

And, for every member of the family, Village Christmas shopping hours start on Friday, November 29th, with all shops open weekday evenings through Christmas Eve.

If you are searching for "Christmas spirit" stop by ALBERTA OF MARIN on a Tuesday and see beautiful holiday decorative fantasies being created. I know you'll be back for the Thursday classes!

Lovely hand-cut crystal perfume bottles at THE GOLDEN CHERUB. These imported bottles are made by Irice in both clear and colored crystal . . . all are simply beautiful and would make a stunning decorative accent on m'lady's dressing table. In case you are not acquainted, THE GOLDEN CHERUB is a charming bath boutique specializing in color coordinated decor and interesting gifts.

Handsome gifts for the home at THE HEARTH SHOP. Highly decorative (and useful) hand wrought iron fireplace tools, log racks that hold 8 to 10 logs, hard-to-find wood boxes and much, much more. Their gift baskets (in handy mailing carton) of pine cones or oak rounds, treated for color, always make most welcomed gifts.

Got a sloppy, floppy-eared eater around the pad? MUTTS OF MARIN suggests their placemats for pooches . . . washable, colorful, practical!

Just remember the wine for Thanksgiving dinner? Well, trot down to VILLAGE LIQUORS. If you are not too sure about your selection, just ask Dan. He'll be happy to recommend the right wine for your taste (and wallet.) Connoisseurs, by the way, will be delighted by this really choice collection of fine domestic and imported wines.

If the thought of entertaining sends you into a panic, don't just stand there wringing your hands, dear. Get thee to L'ENTREE and then relax as Master Chef, Louis Reimers and his experienced catering staff take over all details and guarantee your party will be a smashing success. L'ENTREE catering is complete in every way, including rentals if needed. Also, they are equally adept at small cocktail buffets or grand receptions.

Seems more and more people are enjoying Thanksgiving dinner at one of Marin's fine restaurants and one of the finest is KUBLAI KHAN. This attractive restaurant welcomes family gatherings and will be featuring a complete traditional Thanksgiving dinner for only $3.95. Of course, there will be many other items available on their superb Oriental and Continental menu.

Found delectable treats for Thanksgiving dinner at VILLAGE SWEET SHOPPE. For your own table (and as welcome hostess gifts) they suggest Blum's famous Plum Pudding and/or fruitcake miniatures. And don't overlook their Blum's and Hooper's candies for sweet nibbling after the "stuffed-like-the-turkey-feeling" leaves. Looking forward to Christmas, VILLAGE SWEET SHOPPE offers imported chocolate tree ornaments, in brightly colored foil wrappings to delight one and all.

For the fragrance of Christmas, just walk into FIESTA CANDLE SHOP and take a whiff. You can't miss the traditional fragrance of Bayberry and Essence of Christmas candles and, as always, FIESTA CANDLE SHOP carries these seasonal favorites in many sizes. An unusual gift item here is their color coordinated boxed wreath, candle and holder in several styles to complement any decor (and delight the giftee!)

SHOPPING SANTAS EAT HERE!

With Village Christmas shopping hours starting this Friday, more and more families will be enjoying an informal dinner at The HICK'RY PIT before (or after) their Christmas shopping. This is the perfect place to bring the children since the HICK'RY PIT staff sees to it that hungry youngsters are fed fast, before thay have a chance to get cranky. The HICK'RY PIT menu pleases every member of the family . . . Dad will go for their barbecued steaks done to perfection over a sizzling wood fire . . . the kids go for the thick, frothy milk shakes and generous size hamburgers . . . and everyone loves those lean, meaty barbecued spareribs at The HICK'RY PIT. Top it all off with a hunk of really homemade pie or cake and you'll know why The HICK'RY PIT is a favorite family restaurant at Christmas Shopping Time (or any time!).

GLAMOROUS PANT ENSEMBLES FOR HOLIDAYS

THE SUBURBAN SCENE

Back To The Fashion Show As Junior League Benefit

By MOLLY MARIN

It's back to the tried and true fashion show as a fund-raiser for the Junior League of San Francisco, to which the Marin members belong. And after a year hiatus in which the league presented a theatrical performance instead, the gala fashion event will carry the fund-raising load this season, not once but tiwce. The traditional luncheon and style show will be held Feb. 27 at the Continental Ballroom of the Hilton Hotel in San Francisco, and then that evening the fashions will be presented at an elegant cocktail and buffet party followed by dancing. New, too, this year will be the emphasis on men's fashions as well as the women's and youngsters' styles.

From Marin Mrs. Joseph E. Sheeks of Belvedere is co-chairman of models and Mrs. Gordon Dohemann of San Rafael is on the luncheon committee.

Invitations have been mailed for the sponsors table reservations for both noon and evening shows.

A RECEPTION was given Sunday at the Bohemian Club in San Francisco to honor Martha Bigelow Eliot of Tiburon, in recognition of her 20th year as director of the San Francisco Players Guild. The reception was given by the guild's board of directors and auxiliary after a performance of "Yatya, the Wonder Girl."

PROMINENT PHILADELPHIANS Dr. and Mrs. Edward S. Gifford Jr. will visit their nephew, John Heisley of Terra Linda on Thanksgiving Day. Dr. Gifford is chief opthamologist at the University of Pennsylvania Hospital, and his wife is a noted artist who is a member of the board of trustees of the Philadelphia Museum School of Art.

On this first trip west for the couple, they will spend six days touring the Bay Area and Monterey as well as Marin.

A CONTINGENT of Marinites is planning to be on hand for the San Francisco Sponsors fund-raising Casino 13 party on Dec. 13 at the Ice House Number One and Number Two. The evening of games, cocktails, supper and dancing will be a benefit for the City Theater of Jack Aranson of Mill Valley. Sponsors board members from Marin are Mr. and Mrs. John Kornfeld of Strawberry, Joyce Berg of San Rafael and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Skornia of Ross. Other Sponsors members who are working on the Casino 13 party are the Rev. and Mrs. Angus Dun Jr., Dr. and Mrs. Jansheski, Dr. and Mrs. Robert E. Rouda, Mrs. L. Henry Garland and James E. Williams, all of Marin.

THE HUNTLEY BENNETTS of Ross have been vacationing at the Royal Hawaiian and Sheraton Mauai Hotels in Hawaii after the Hawaiian International Open Golf Tournament. Mr. Bennett is West Coast sales manager for Newsweek magazine, which was a sponsor of the golf tournament held at the Waialae Country Club.

It's Turtlenecks

Turtles again win the race when it comes to men's sweaters for fall. But this year's crop is different from last. Gentlemen's Quarterly says the turtlenecks come in a variety of patterns that didn't exist a year ago. Instead of flat knit solids or one color bulkies and cable designs, the cables come in navy, red and white. An oversized windowpane check beefs up a silver gray turtleneck. Copper covers the front of a tan turtle. Two others have crosses dividing the front into colorful panels, while still another sweater is patterned with a dramatic V.

Flowers Burn While Guests Enjoy Ball

By LOUISE COOK

NEW YORK (AP) — The April in Paris Ball by any other name is still one of the most glamorous charity affairs around.

Some 1,000 socialites proved that recently when they took over an entire floor of the Waldorf Astoria for the black tie, $350 per couple event, renamed this year Le Bal de l'Amite.

THE ONLY MISHAP of the evening occurred when the carnations on the head table caught fire, touched off by candles, which were part of the decorations. Several of the guests of honor doused the flames with water from crystal, gold-trimmed goblets.

Claudius C. Philippe, who founded the ball 17 years ago with the late Elsa Maxwell, said the name of the event was changed because it was held neither in April nor in Paris.

THE "AMITE" of the new title, Philippe said refers not to present French-American relations but to help given to George Washington during the American Revolution by the French.

Before the dinner, guests sipped champagne and tried their luck at charity-benefiting gambling tables, or drooled over goodies at a "Christmas boutique" of jewels by Cartier.

Mrs. John R. McLean, "Brownie" to her friends, was general chairman of this year's event. Eighty percent of the money raised by the ball goes to American charities, 20 per cent to French charities.

Couple Will Be Married On Tamalpais

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lee Crebassa of San Anselmo are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Linda F. Crebassa, to Timothy A. Giddings of Novato.

A graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School, she attended the College of Marin and Graceland College in Lamoni, Iowa. Linda is employed with the City of San Anselmo Parks and Recreation Department.

Timothy is the son of Mrs. Lloyd E. Giddings of Novato. He is a Novato High School graduate and attended College of Marin and is self-employed as a contractor.

The couple will be married Dec. 22 in a ceremony on Mt. Tamalpais.

Sad Brushes Found By Dental Group

AP Newsfeatures

Everyone knows the value of regular toothbrushing, but apparently not everyone knows how to care for toothbrushes. That's the gist of a survey undertaken recently in cooperation with the American Dental Association.

As reportef in ADA's official "journal," the survey showed that 50 per cent of the brushes inspected were "unsatisfactory for use." It found that a substantial portion of the American public is using toothbrushes that are worn-out, caked with dentrifice, covered with unsanitary deposits, and dangerous to dental health. The evaluation, which tested thousands of brushes currently in use in households across the country, was based solely on the ability of the brushes to do an effective cleaning job.

Of all the brushes examined, 19 per cent were found to be capable of causing gum injury. The report further pointed out, "It was obvious that most brushes were used much longer than their condition merited. It was apparent also that many brushes were improperly cared for."

According to the journal article, here are the signs to look for in deciding when to replace toothbrushes:

Worn-out brushes. The bristles are worn down and mis-shapen so that the brush can't do a proper cleaning job.

Brushes dangerous to gums. The bristles are flared and splayed so that they may injure gum tissue.

Brushes caked with dentrifice. The brushes have a build-up of dentrifice so that the flexibility of the bristles is impared and they function more as a unit than individually.

The report concluded: "There is no doubt that there is great need for continued and more effective education of the public in use and care of the toothbrush."

Brush manufacturers recommend four months as a maximum time that toothbrushes should be used before replacement. They also suggest that two toothbrushes be used by each person each day, to give brushes as a chance to dry and so retain their firmness.

Delta Zeta's President Aids Hearing Loss Work

Mrs. Headley A. Brown of San Rafael, new president of Marin County Delta Zeta Alumnae, is especially interested in the sorority's national philanthrophy of assistance to the hearing handicapped.

Personally concerned with the problems of the hard of hearing because her mother had had such difficulties, Marge Brown has devoted many hours to volunteer work in connection with programs of aid to the hard of hearing begun by the local chapter 12 years ago.

MRS. HEADLEY BROWN

She has been a member of the group 14 years and has previously served as vice president, secretary, philantrophies and benefits chairman, historian and publicity chairman.

The new president plans to continue emphasis on the hearing project and is already working on the benefit to be held in April at the Marin Golf and Country Club to raise money for the hearing handicapped children of Marin at Gallinas School. She is also active in the Terra Linda Guild of Sunny Hills.

Marge attended Washington State University two years. She lists as her favorite activities swimming, tennis, enameling and bridge.

She and her husband, who is employed in the food processing department of Del Monte Corporation, have lived in Marin 14 years. They have two sons, Richard Headley Brown of Santa Cruz, and Leffler Brown, 19, a student at the College of Marin.

The Minor Generation Is Up To Its Neck In Sweater Fashions

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

NEW YORK (AP) — In the days not very far past, fashion as far as boys were concerned, was for girls, or for their mothers.

Clothes were just clothes, something to be worn to keep you warm and dry and decent and to keep your knees from scraping too hard on the sidewalk when you fell down skating.

What colors they were or shape they took did not matter much to the pre-adolescent. If at all, his fashion consciousness did not awaken until he developed an interest in the opposite sex.

Perhaps the oncoming generation of males might have followed in the dull gray fashion footsteps of their fathers if the peacock revolution had not permeated from the young quickly to the very young.

Kids are quick to copy their big brothers whom they envy for the extra years of maturity, and loathe to imitate the ways of their fathers who are authority figures. At least that's the way the amateur psychologists in the men's and boyswear industry analyze it.

At any rate the lads of America are holding their heads high and their chins up because the minor fashion news is all around their necks. Their first lesson in style is to do their own thing with sweaters that do their own thing or do the thing the sweaters for older boys do; around the collar line.

Dick Frankfort, stylist for Donmoor, was one of the first to mini the Nehrus and gurus for the little guys, and to make tall turtles, low turtles, rolled turtles, mock turtles, zipped-to-the-ears turtles and double-layered turtles and turtle dickeys for kids with very ordinary necks.

The junior crowd has been quick to take up the trend of decorating these with jangling jewelry and leather thongs and colorful scarves, formerly the province of girls.

One probably reason for the popularity of these under-the chin fashions not yet mentioned is that kids hate to wash those necks.

Junior Requests Suggestions To Help Alleviate Bashfulness

DEAR HELEN:

I'm a junior in high school, am five feet ten inches, weight 165, and am not bad looking, but I'm completely dateless. Every once in a while a girl waves to me or something, but I'm too bashful to go over and talk to her, or even wave back. I can talk to guys okay, but I guess I just don't know how to approach a girl. I'll probably never get up nerve to ask one for a date.

Any suggestions?—UP TIGHT

DEAR U. T.:

What you need is self-confidence, and the best way to get it is from girls your own age. But since you seem to have such difficulty in meeting them, why not get one of your male pals to give you a hand. A buddy could easily arrange a double date if you asked him. Also, why not join one of the recreational clubs at your school? In such groups guys and gals meet on a very informal basis and you'll find your shyness wearing off in no time.

Meanwhile, U. T., screw up your courage and take the "Hi"-road. Some girl is bound to take it from there.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

You said guys would wear purses in about the same ratio that girls wore see-through dresses with nothing much under.

Around here you see a lot of fellows with purses, and they aren't "purse-swingers" either. I'm still looking for a see-through dress.

Maybe the guys are trying to get even because women hogged their styles, but I wish they would forget beads, medallions, purses, long hair, and other feminine frills. What's wrong with looking like a man?—NORTHERN NEW JERSEY

DEAR HELEN:

I'm going with a fellow who is a nut about hunting and fishing. We are planning on marriage next year, but I'm not so sure.

He goes target shooting, doesn't call until he gets home, and then expects me to be ready in 10 minutes.

Last weekend he didn't show up at all. He claims he was thrown in jail Friday night and kept there until Sunday. I think he is lying to me. He just went hunting.

Shouldn't I think twice about marrying a liar?—DIANA

DEAR DIANA :

In this case, better a liar than a jailbird, but think twice anyway. I don't believe you're cut out to be a sportsman's wife. —H.

DEAR HELEN:

I don't know how that woman managed it — getting a legal abortion when she didn't qualify under the law. I speak from experience. I was an unwed p.g., and desperate enough to want an abortion. My parents tried, but they were turned down. The baby wasn't in danger, I wasn't ill, and I hadn't been forced.

Illegal — yes. But we were scared of that route.

I'm so very, very glad now, that I had my baby. She is the most wonderful thing that ever happened to me. When I think of how close I came to never having known her, I shudder. Yes, I kept her, and now I'm engaged to a wonderful fellow who is going to adopt her.

Helen, I don't think abortions are morally wrong, and I know that sometimes they're the only way, but I'm glad we aren't going all-out to legalize them. Think how many women hate the idea of having a baby at first, and then, in about the sixth month, begin to realize hoy lucky they are:—LUCKY ONE

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble, or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

Nuptials In San Rafael

FIVE AGES OF WOMAN

'Middle Age' Extends To 70

(Last in a five part series from the Women's Medical News Service, "The Five Ages of Woman.")

POST-MENOPAUSE

A medical writer recounts how as a young woman she returned home to find her 52-year-old widowed mother serving tea to an unknown man she'd just met in the library. Convinced that her mother was too old for such goings-on, the daughter made the visitor feel so unwelcome that he never returned. Shortly after, her mother died. Now older and wiser, the writer is haunted by the recollection of her cruelty. And she realizes just how unold 52 really is.

But her youthful shortsightedness is epidemic. As a well-known gynecologist points out, few people understand the sex lives of teenagers or older persons — teenagers because they won't talk, older persons because nobody asks.

BUT TIMES ARE changing. Life expectancy lengthens to the point where the average woman lives about 30 more years after her menopause. And a recent book, "Sexual Life After Sixty" by Isadore Rubin, cites researchers who, ignoring precedent, are interesting themselves in the sex lives of older persons. For instance, a questionnaire to over-65-year-olds listed in "Who's Who" revealed that 70 per cent of the married men replying engaged with some regularity in coitus.

When Dr. William Masters and Virginia Johnson studied a select group of post-menopausal women, they found that the clitoral response of 70-year-olds was comparable to that of women in the thirties and early forties. Orgasms, too, were unchanged except for being shorter in duration. Active sex lives helped some older women to avoid the decrease of vaginal lubrication that is common.

In one poll of college-educated women, one out of every five in the 55-to-65 year age group said that after the menopause, women are usually more interested in sexual relations than they were before.

Dr. Sherwin Kaufman, a professor at the New York University School of Medicine, tackles the issue of post-menopause sex forthrightly and emphatically: "If a woman is in good health, feels well and has always had a good sex life, there is no reason to expect any change (following the menopause)."

Proof that sexual desires are independent of hormonal production, he says, lies in such facts as these: surgical removal of a young woman's ovaries does not interfere with her libido; prematurely mature children have sex urges consonant with their chronological age rather than with their precociously-developed bodies; and elderly women with comparable hormonal outputs lead very disparate sexual lives.

DR. SOPHIA KLEEGMAN, a New York gynecologist, describes a patient who had been frigid with two husbands through decades of marriage. At the age of 72 she took a 76-year-old lover with whom she found fulfillment.

Nor are these isolated exceptions. Since 35,000 marriages annually involve at least one partner over 65 years old, it's obvious that the senescent can swing too.

A person is indeed as old as he feels. When a group of 65-to-69-year-olds were asked how old they felt, fully half replied, "middle-aged" or even "young." Only when the investigators reached the group past 80 did they get nearly unanimous agreement that they were old.

In action, too, some elderly women have proved that calendars are not iron-clad. Nurse Clara Barton worked 14 hours a day when she was 90; Gertrude Atherton published her 56th book at that age; and Lillien Martin, America's first old-age counselor, learned to use a typewriter at age 65 and to drive a car when she was 77. Grandma Moses took up painting at the comparatively juvenile age of 75.

In recent years, national attitudes have shifted in seemingly contradictory directions: to students, the over-30s are "old," everyone else has raised both the threshold and the ceiling of "middle age." A generation or so ago, a 50-year-old woman would have been considered old; now she is clearly starting to be middle-aged. "Old" seems to begin at about 70. This differentiation between middle-aged and elderly has a physical basis. All the post-menopausal years should not be lumped together. When a woman is fiftyish, her breasts will tend to become fatty; in later years, the fat is absorbed and they become smaller and flabbier. In early middle age, women gain weight readily, developing (unless they are very careful and energetic) padding around the hips and abdomen. In old age, on the contrary, women tend to lose weight. A plump 80-year-old is as rare as a skinny candy-taster.

ALTHOUGH THE ovaries ease off their production of estrogen, this female hormone may still play a role in the post-menopausal woman. In a survey of 680 women ranging in age from 38 to 111 years, some women up to the age of 80 showed evidence of sex hormone activity. A stepping-up by the adrenal glands may partially compensate for the lagging ovaries.

After the age of 50 or so, women become increasingly vulnerable to certain diseases. They lose their comparative immunity to heart disease; few women in their fifties suffer heart attacks, but after that women are almost at equal risk as men of the same age. Cancer of the ovary has its highest incidence between the ages of 55 and 65. Other cancers of the reproductive system and cancer of the breast become increasingly common too. A regular annual visit to a gynecologist is thus of crucial importance during this period of aging.

Osteoporosis (the development of brittle bones) is four times more frequent among women than among men, affecting them at an earlier age. This disorder strikes an estimated one out of every four postmenopausal women.

Ultimately, everyone grows old, but one woman's old age is another woman's agelessness. The "old" dancer can be a "young" club president. The "old" tennis player can be a "young" grandmother. Energetic, understanding old can beat out flabby, self-satisfied middle-aged any day of the week. Ask any admirer of Marlene Dietrich.

Bolinas Ranch Bought For Nature Education

Audubon Canyon Ranch, a nature preserve at Bolinas Lagoon, has purchased 232 acres along its southern border for potential use as a regional outdoor education center.

The Frederick Thompson ranch was purchased for $210,000 which must be raised through private donations, announced Dr. L. Martin Griffin Jr ranch chairman.

He described the property as "a complete unspoiled watershed reaching from near the top of Bolinas Ridge to the lagoon."

The lower portion has open meadows and "a beautifully restored two-story farm house built in 1852," Griffin said. "The upper portions are heavily timbered and there is a year-round stream furnishing a good water supply."

Tentative plans are to use the property as a regional outdoor education center for Marin and Bay Area schools, Griffin reported.

Virgil S. Hollis, county superintendent of schools and Stanley Friese, assistant superintendent, have told him the Thompson ranch land is ideal for outdoor education, Griffin reported.

The ranch land has many undisturbed plant and wildlife communities, including fresh and salt water marsh, native bunchgrass meadows, chaparall and oak woodlands and mixed conifer forests, he said. "Its trails will tie in with the Audubon Canyon Ranch wildlife preserve, now a National Landmark, and it is only a short distance to ocean beaches, Duxbury reef and the National Seashore."

If plans to establish an outdoor education center materialize, overnight facilities for school groups would be restricted to the lower valley to preserve the wilderness qualities of the ranch and the Bolinas ridge, Dr. Griffin said.

Marin County pupils are now bused 70 miles to Pescadero in San Mateo County because there is no outdoor education center in Marin, Dr. Griffin said.

The Educational Services Committee of the Marin County Board of Education is studying the possibility of having the Marin County Schools Office cooperate with the Marin Audubon Society to establish the proposed outdoor program.

Audubon Canyon Ranch now consists of 569 acres of rolling grasslands, woodlands and canyons and has 368 acres of water and tidelands in Bolinas Lagoon under lease as a wildlife refuge.

The ranch was purchased by the Marin Audubon Society and the Golden Gate Audubon Society of San Francisco.

West Marin Feels Density Confusion

By FRANK FARRARA

West Marin residents were confused and skeptical last night when they tried to fathom a proposed complicated point system for density of development in their area.

Planning Director Paul C. Zucker, with the aid of charts and blackboard, explained the proposed amendment to the West Marin Master Plan at a hearing by the Marin County Planning Commission at West Marin School.

The basic intent, as well as details of the point system, was sharply questioned during the two-hour and 50-minute hearing before about 40 resident.s

Zucker contended the system provided flexibility in development and would encourage a "mixed community" including multi-family units and visitor accommodations, such as motels.

It is designed to decrease urban sprawl and enhance West Marin's potential market for second homes and tourist-recreation development, he said.

"Cape Cod woke up almost too late, being plastered with suburbs ruining what anyone went there for in the first place," he said.

Several residents commented that the system was designed for 10 to 15 years from now, not the present, and questioned whether the multi-family development was desirable for the area.

Albert Solnit, chief of advance planning, advised residents not to overlook the advantages of capturing the tourism market, including visitors to the Point Reyes National Seashore, to help lower their tax rate.

The proposed system is "not anti small-lot," Zucker said, but "benefits will come to developers who move away from the typical suburban tract house."

The intent is to have the optimum economic development and the optimum environmental quality, Solnit noted.

The density plan assigns basic development points per acre of land, the steeper the terrain the fewer the points allocated. On top of this, bonus points would be granted for planned development, special features such as open space or trails and good design.

The developer could then build single family homes, multi-family units, visitor accommodations, commercial buildings or mobile homes up to the maximum number of points.

Single family units would use up more development points than any of the other uses.

Zucker also explained, as an inducement to provide low or moderate income housing, even fewer points would be required for that type of development.

There was some question that the proposed system would meet the call by Marin County supervisors for a bonus system based on an average density of 1.15 units per acre.

Originally the plan called for a density of .88 units per acre, but it was raised on an interim basis to 1.15.

"I don't know how you could make it more complicated," said Henry C. Hankins of Point Reyes.

After Zucker noted that details would have to be worked out, one resident said accepting the plan "would be buying a pig in a poke with too many ifs."

"It's no more a pig in a poke than the adopted plan," Zucker replied. "You really don't know how the adopted plan would be laid on the ground."

Zucker said the system hasn't been applied anywhere, but he saw no reason why it couldn't be applied in West Marin as well as other areas of Marin.

"We're kidding ourselves if we think we know in detail the West Marin of 40 years from now and to set up too precisely is a mistake," he said.

Asked if the flexibility system for individual developments would result in random commercial development, Zucker said "some controls would have to be built in."

One resident asked, "Aren't you just doing away with the West Marin Master Plan?"

Zucker explained that the plan has been adopted and "the debate now is how it should be amended" to raise the denisty. He said he opposed the straight across-the-board density increase.

The planning commission will have its third hearing on the proposed point system at 9 a.m. Monday at Marin County Civic Center.

Ballet Students Will Perform

Seven advanced students from the Leona Norman School of Ballet, San Rafael, will tomorrow perform excerpts from "The Nutcracker Suite" at four schools in the Dixie School District.

The performances are: 9:30 a.m. in the Bernard Hoffman School, Terra Linda; 11 a.m. in the Santa Margarita School, Terra Linda; 1 p.m. in the Mary Silveira School, Marinwood, and 2:10 p.m. in the Oak View School, Lucas Valley.

The performers will be in costume.

OWNERSHIP QUESTIONED

Tiburon Council Gives Informal Nod To Parking Lot Plans

The controversial proposal for an 81-space parking lot at Tiburon Boulevard and Paradise Drive last night won the unofficial approval of the Tiburon City Council — some two years after the proposal was first presented to the city.

The council, on a 4-0 vote, adopted a resolution of intent to grant a temporary use permit for the parking lot at the Dec. 9 meeting. Councilman Thomas E. Drohan was absent.

Approval was delayed two weeks to allow the staff time to research the actual ownership of the property and to draft a resolution which would adequately incorporate all the conditions of landscaping, grading and entrance and exit engineering sought by the council.

Developer Jay Quetnick told the council that he, Marshall Walthers and Michel Demaurex are partners in Waterfront Properties and are legal owners of the parcel upon which the parking lot is to be constructed.

However, in a letter to the council, Matthew B. Weinberg said he is the owner of the property involved and, although he had no objection to the use of the land as a parking lot, he wanted the record to show clearly that Waterfront Properties did not speak for him before the council.

The original use permit application for the parking lot, made in late 1966, was signed by Weinberg and Demaurex. The use permit was denied by the city's board of adjustments and the council, in January 1967, refused to hear an appeal requested by Weinberg and Demaurex, because the city was involved in a lawsuit with the four property owners over the development of the waterfront along Paradise Drive, south of Main Street.

Quetnick last night said that Waterfront Properties and Weinberg were having a "family quarrel" in which they did not think the city should become involved.

The council agreed and requested staff to clarify the ownership and to obtain a stipulation from Weinberg and the attorneys for Waterfront Properties that the granting of the temporary use permit would in no way prejudice litigation still pending in court over the waterfront development question.

During the recess, Mayor William R. Bremer said the council had decided to hear the application at this time because it wanted to "cooperate" with the developers as a conciliatory step toward working out the snarl of litigation which has prevented a solution to the Paradise Drive waterfront problem.

Included in the conditions requested by the council for the one-year permit was one requiring the property owners to provide permit parking for ferry boat commuters. Councilman Branwell D. Fanning said commuters, for a small extra fee, would purchase the permit with their monthly commute books. All other patrons of the parking lot would pay parking fees, he said.

The Tiburon City Council Also:

AWARD — Presented an award for civic service to Elmo L. De Martini who recently completed his second term on the city's planning commission. Allan Thompson was appointed by Bremer to replace De Martini at the Nov. 13 council meeting.

PARKING — Postponed to Dec. 9 consideration of a proposal to prohibit parking on the south side of Paradise Drive between Main and Mar West streets pending resolution of the Waterfront Properties parking lot request.

TIBURON LODGE — Postponed to Dec. 9 approval of the master plan for addition of 44 units to the Tiburon Lodge pending study and a report by the council's lands and development committee.

MASTER PLAN — Postponed to Dec. 9 approval of the master plan for 1-11 Main Street pending study and a report by the council's lands and development committee.

DRAINAGE — Postponed consideration of the Trestle Glen basin drainage problem pending further study by the council's public services committee.

LIGHTS — Asked city staff to study and report on complaints of excessive intensity in downtown lighting.

APPOINTMENT — Accepted fanning's recommendation that he resign and another representative be appointed to the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council. Fanning said he had been unable to attend many EOC meetings because of conflicts with city business. Bremer said he would appoint someone to the post at the Dec. 9 meeting, if possible.

COMMENDATION — Agreed to commend the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District board for the institution of one way toll collection.

MEETING S— Agreed not to meet on Dec. 23 because of the Christmas holiday and adjourned to 8 p.m. Dec. 9 in City Hall.

Flowers Burn While Guests Enjoy Ball

By LOUISE COOK

NEW YORK (AP) — The April in Paris Ball by any other name is still one of the most glamorous charity affairs around.

Some 1,000 socialites proved that recently when they took over an entire floor of the Waldorf Astoria for the black tie, $350 per couple event, renamed this year Le Bal de l'Amite.

THE ONLY MISHAP of the evening occurred when the carnations on the head table caught fire, touched off by candles, which were part of the decorations. Several of the guests of honor doused the flames with water from crystal, gold-trimmed goblets.

Claudius C. Philippe, who founded the ball 17 years ago with the late Elsa Maxwell, said the name of the event was changed because it was held neither in April nor in Paris.

THE "AMITE" of the new title, Philippe said refers not to present French-American relations but to help given to George Washington during the American Revolution by the French.

Before the dinner, guests sipped champagne and tried their luck at charity-benefiting gambling tables, or drooled over goodies at a "Christmas boutique" of jewels by Cartier.

Mrs. John R. McLean, "Brownie" to her friends, was general chairman of this year's event. Eighty percent of the money raised by the ball goes to American charities, 20 per cent to French charities.

Sad Brushes Found By Dental Group

AP Newsfeatures

Everyone knows the value of regular toothbrushing, but apparently not everyone knows how to care for toothbrushes. That's the gist of a survey undertaken recently in cooperation with the American Dental Association.

As reportef in ADA's official "journal," the survey showed that 50 per cent of the brushes inspected were "unsatisfactory for use." It found that a substantial portion of the American public is using toothbrushes that are worn-out, caked with dentrifice, covered with unsanitary deposits, and dangerous to dental health. The evaluation, which tested thousands of brushes currently in use in households across the country, was based solely on the ability of the brushes to do an effective cleaning job.

Of all the brushes examined, 19 per cent were found to be capable of causing gum injury. The report further pointed out, "It was obvious that most brushes were used much longer than their condition merited. It was apparent also that many brushes were improperly cared for."

According to the journal article, here are the signs to look for in deciding when to replace toothbrushes:

Worn-out brushes. The bristles are worn down and mis-shapen so that the brush can't do a proper cleaning job.

Brushes dangerous to gums. The bristles are flared and splayed so that they may injure gum tissue.

Brushes caked with dentrifice. The brushes have a build-up of dentrifice so that the flexibility of the bristles is impared and they function more as a unit than individually.

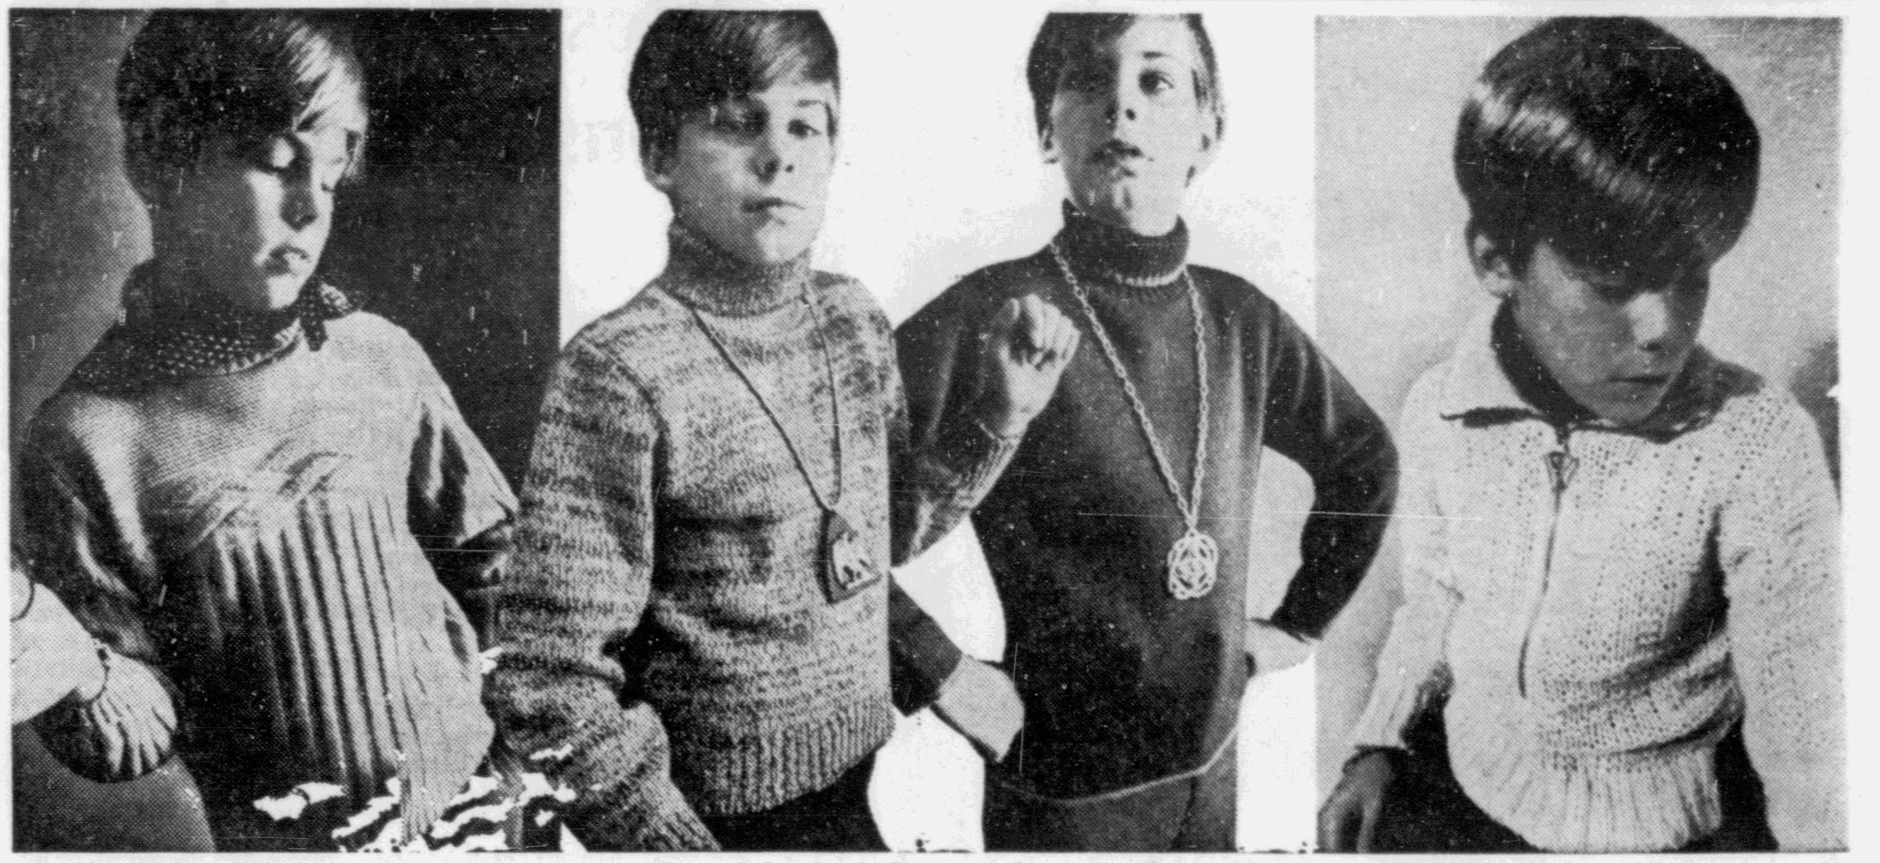
The report concluded: "There is no doubt that there is great need for continued and more effective education of the public in use and care of the toothbrush."

Brush manufacturers recommend four months as a maximum time that toothbrushes should be used before replacement. They also suggest that two toothbrushes be used by each person each day, to give brushes as a chance to dry and so retain their firmness.



THE YOUNG DO their thing with sweaters. From left, the lad ties a bright polka scarf over his sweater of rib and braid pattern. Center, a leather thong pendant encircles the tweed turtleneck on one boy while another hangs a chain over his smooth navy turtleneck which is banded at the edges with white. The boy at the left doubles up by wearing a loose-knit white sweater with zipper front over black.

She has been a member of the group 14 years and has previously served as vice president, secretary, philantrophies and benefits chairman, historian and publicity chairman.

The new president plans to continue emphasis on the hearing project and is already working on the benefit to be held in April at the Marin Golf and Country Club to raise money for the hearing handicapped children of Marin at Gallinas School. She is also active in the Terra Linda Guild of Sunny Hills.

Marge attended Washington State University two years. She lists as her favorite activities swimming, tennis, enameling and bridge.

She and her husband, who is employed in the food processing department of Del Monte Corporation, have lived in Marin 14 years. They have two sons, Richard Headley Brown of Santa Cruz, and Leffler Brown, 19, a student at the College of Marin.

The Minor Generation Is Up To Its Neck In Sweater Fashions

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

NEW YORK (AP) — In the days not very far past, fashion as far as boys were concerned, was for girls, or for their mothers.

Clothes were just clothes, something to be worn to keep you warm and dry and decent and to keep your knees from scraping too hard on the sidewalk when you fell down skating.

What colors they were or shape they took did not matter much to the pre-adolescent. If at all, his fashion consciousness did not awaken until he developed an interest in the opposite sex.

Perhaps the oncoming generation of males might have followed in the dull gray fashion footsteps of their fathers if the peacock revolution had not permeated from the young quickly to the very young.

Kids are quick to copy their big brothers whom they envy for the extra years of maturity, and loathe to imitate the ways of their fathers who are authority figures. At least that's the way the amateur psychologists in the men's and boyswear industry analyze it.

At any rate the lads of America are holding their heads high and their chins up because the minor fashion news is all around their necks. Their first lesson in style is to do their own thing with sweaters that do their own thing or do the thing the sweaters for older boys do; around the collar line.

Dick Frankfort, stylist for Donmoor, was one of the first to mini the Nehrus and gurus for the little guys, and to make tall turtles, low turtles, rolled turtles, mock turtles, zipped-to-the-ears turtles and double-layered turtles and turtle dickeys for kids with very ordinary necks.

The junior crowd has been quick to take up the trend of decorating these with jangling jewelry and leather thongs and colorful scarves, formerly the province of girls.

One probably reason for the popularity of these under-the chin fashions not yet mentioned is that kids hate to wash those necks.

AMUSED — Bobby Nichols (left) and Raymond Jones, third grade students, enjoyed a light moment at the festival. Black culture and history is emphasized at the weekly program.

AT SAUSALITO SCHOOL

Afro-American Festival Swings

By ALAN JONES

"A lot of adults are uncomfortable about black people," James T. Toliver said. "But I'm sure your parents aren't, and I'm sure you aren't.

A 120 grade school children — thoroughly mixed between black and white — listened intently as Toliver, formerly with the Peace Corps and now guidance counselor in the Sausalito school system, told of his Peace Corps experiences in West and Central Africa with snakes, foreign languages, African customs "and children and families just like yours."

Toward the rear of the Central School auditorium sat 20 to 25 mothers and a handful of other adults, many of them black. Several mothers wore "natural" hair and bold-printed African style dress.

Toliver spoke, and later sang to his own drum accompaniment, at this week's Afro-American Festival at Central School, set up by the school staff as an addition to studies this semester of African nations.

On stage yesterday, talked on and off by KDIA disc jockey Bob White, were a series of young people's groups.

A mixed group of black and white elementary school children performed a pulsing, multiphasic rhythmic number on bongos and African drums.

Three subteen-age black youths joined the Naturals for dances to soul music.

". . . The emphasis is on our black history, and our black culture," said Gabe Jackson community worker for the school who is coordinating the festival which runs through tomorrow at Central.

Twelve home rooms of second, third and fourth graders each have taken one African country for intensive study this semester, learning how its people live, their customs, what they plant and reap and how they make their living.

The three-day festival, Jackson said, is aimed at showing pupils how the African influence has developed in America as well. Pupils studying the African cultures can relate their development to the experience and culture of the American Negro.

By way of showing what he meant, Jackson came onstage with his own African drums and did a five-minute performance that had the entire auditorium clapping in unison until the rhythm threw them off beat.

In the rear of the auditorium a group of older black youths looked on, swinging in time to the music and wildly applauding the dancers and drummers.

Jackson said classes from other elementary schools in Marin have been invited to attend to obtain their own insight into Afro-American roots, and some classes from Novato, San Rafael and other districts plan to attend.

Several professional performers who have promised to take part will perform tomorrow, Jackson said, including Sausalito School District Trustee Nathaniel Johnson who is a singer and musician. Marin City poet Calvin Scott, cartoonist Morrie Turner and some Tamalpais High School student groups.

No one is talking yet about an annual festival. But judging from the Central School pupils' response, Jackson has a hit on his hands that could be repeated next year.

Police Have No Clues To Sabella's Robbery

San Rafael police today reported themselves facing a blank wall in their search for the three unidentified gunmen in Sunday night's kidnap of Luciano Sabella and subsequent $4,000 robbery of Sabella's restaurant in Mill Valley.

The three men, masked at the time of the crime, left no clues and might as well have vanished into thin air, according to police.

The gunmen invaded Sabella's Peacock Gap residence at 227 Riviera Drive, terrorized him and his wife, Diane, and forced Sabella to accompany them to the restaurant, one robber remaining behind to guard Mrs. Sabella.

Sabella was forced to open the safe of the restaurant and later released at a darkened spot at the Bon Air Medical Center off Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

Couple To Plead On Dope Charges

William N. Roberts of 6 Tamarack Road, San Geronimo, was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on a charge of marijuana possession.

Drony L. Welch of 101 Hawthorne Street, Santa Venetia, arrested with him in Nicasio Friday, was charged with possessing a device for smoking a narcotic.

Both were to return to court tomorrow to plead to the charges.

Garbage Rate Hike Approved

Homestead Valley Sanitary District board last night approved an increase in garbage collection rates requested by the Mill Valley Refuse Co. Warren I. Jacobs, chairman reported.

Jacobs said the exact amount of the increase will be computed by the district's auditor and presented to the board for approval on Dec. 16.

The new rates will be based on the operating costs of the Mill Valley Refuse Co. and the E. DeMartini Co., which services a small area of the valley, pro rated over the number of homes served by both companies, Jacobs said. De Martini will also received the rate increase, Jacobs noted.

The board set its next meeting for 8:30 p.m. Dec. 16, rather than Dec. 23, because of Christmas.

Park Officials Seek Substitute For Turf

Mill Valley Parks and Recreation commissioners last night agreed to investigate other types of ground cover for Old Mill Park after several attempts to maintain a grass turf in the redwood grove failed.

Parks and Recreation Director Don Dimitratos said the park is too damp and shady for grass to stand up under heavy use by children.

Commissioners asked Dimitratos to look into the possibility of using wood chips or decomposed granite in the area.

The Mill Valley Parks and Recreation Commission also:

TENNIS — Approved a two-month tennis tournament next fall for the parks and recreation department's interclub tennis team.

LIAISON — Named Chairman Jean Barnard as liaison to the city council.

GOLF COURSE — Heard that the grass tees on the eighth and ninth holes at the municipal golf course have been completed and the fairway for the eighth hole planted.

LANDSCAPING — Heard that landscaping around Boyle Park restrooms has been completed.

THANKS — Thanked the Mill Valley Junior Chamber of Commerce for constructing a bridge at Old Mill Park. The city provided the materials and the Jaycees the labor, Dimitratos said.

MEETING — Set the next meeting for 8 p.m. Dec. 9 at the library and canceled the regularly scheduled Dec. 23 meeting because of the Christmas holiday.

Novato Arrests Ukiah Bank Aide

Clyde F. Bradiey, 36, operations officer of the Ukiah branch of the Bank of America was arrested this morning by Novato police on a warrant charging embezzlement of more than $10,000.

Bradley was arrested at a residence at 746 Diablo Avenue at the request of Ukiah Police Chief Donn Sauldsbury, according to Novato Police Chief Robert de Grazia.

Sauldsbury said that Bradley was wanted for investigation of embezzlement, the exact amount not known, from the Ukiah branch of the bank.

The federal warrant calls for $50,000 bail, De Grazia said. Bradley would be turned over to the Ukiah police and FBI, Di Grazia said.

Old School's Salvage Plan Is Ruled Out

Mill Valley School District trustees last night authorized the demolition of the old Homestead School building after hearing it would cost too much to salvage one floor of the building for storage and restroom facilities.

The board then approved plans for the addition of storage and restroom areas to the main school building and landscaping and seating areas on the old building site, according to Supt. James A. Collins.

The board previously agreed to demolish only the second floor of the building and construct a deck on top of the first foor storage area.

Additional state requirements to ensure structural soundness were too expensive, Collins said, making demolition and construction of the addition the most economical way to provide necessary facilities.

The Mill Valley School District board also:

PAYMENT — Authorized a partial payment to Richard N. Jessup for architectural services on the Homestead School project.

CONTRACT — Authorized Collinsto extend the contract with Harding, Miller, Lawson and Associates, San Rafael soils engineers, for work on the middle school project.

RESIGNATIONS — Accepted the resignations of Carol Hurwitz, Alto School teacher, and Eleanor Buckley, volunteer aide coordinator. Both resigned because they were moving out of town.

MEETING — Set the board's next meeting for 8 p.m. Dec. 16 at Park School.

Smoke, Siren Drill Set For Fort Barry

Heavy smoke and a siren may be seen and heard at Fort Barry from 8 a.m. to noon tomorrow during a "routine" exercise, the Army announced today.

The exercise, to be conducted by A Battery, 2nd Battalion, 51st Artillery at Fort Barry, also is expected to generate heavy military traffic on area roads, according to Lt. Ronald Izumi, an information officer at the Presidio of San Francisco.

Bolinas Ranch Bought For Nature Education

Audubon Canyon Ranch, a nature preserve at Bolinas Lagoon, has purchased 232 acres along its southern border for potential use as a regional outdoor education center.

The Frederick Thompson ranch was purchased for $210,000 which must be raised through private donations, announced Dr. L. Martin Griffin Jr ranch chairman.

He described the property as "a complete unspoiled watershed reaching from near the top of Bolinas Ridge to the lagoon."

The lower portion has open meadows and "a beautifully restored two-story farm house built in 1852," Griffin said. "The upper portions are heavily timbered and there is a year-round stream furnishing a good water supply."

Tentative plans are to use the property as a regional outdoor education center for Marin and Bay Area schools, Griffin reported.

Virgil S. Hollis, county superintendent of schools and Stanley Friese, assistant superintendent, have told him the Thompson ranch land is ideal for outdoor education, Griffin reported.

The ranch land has many undisturbed plant and wildlife communities, including fresh and salt water marsh, native bunchgrass meadows, chaparall and oak woodlands and mixed conifer forests, he said. "Its trails will tie in with the Audubon Canyon Ranch wildlife preserve, now a National Landmark, and it is only a short distance to ocean beaches, Duxbury reef and the National Seashore."

If plans to establish an outdoor education center materialize, overnight facilities for school groups would be restricted to the lower valley to preserve the wilderness qualities of the ranch and the Bolinas ridge, Dr. Griffin said.

Marin County pupils are now bused 70 miles to Pescadero in San Mateo County because there is no outdoor education center in Marin, Dr. Griffin said.

The Educational Services Committee of the Marin County Board of Education is studying the possibility of having the Marin County Schools Office cooperate with the Marin Audubon Society to establish the proposed outdoor program.

Audubon Canyon Ranch now consists of 569 acres of rolling grasslands, woodlands and canyons and has 368 acres of water and tidelands in Bolinas Lagoon under lease as a wildlife refuge.

The ranch was purchased by the Marin Audubon Society and the Golden Gate Audubon Society of San Francisco.

West Marin Feels Density Confusion

By FRANK FARRARA

West Marin residents were confused and skeptical last night when they tried to fathom a proposed complicated point system for density of development in their area.

Planning Director Paul C. Zucker, with the aid of charts and blackboard, explained the proposed amendment to the West Marin Master Plan at a hearing by the Marin County Planning Commission at West Marin School.

The basic intent, as well as details of the point system, was sharply questioned during the two-hour and 50-minute hearing before about 40 resident.s

Zucker contended the system provided flexibility in development and would encourage a "mixed community" including multi-family units and visitor accommodations, such as motels.

It is designed to decrease urban sprawl and enhance West Marin's potential market for second homes and tourist-recreation development, he said.

"Cape Cod woke up almost too late, being plastered with suburbs ruining what anyone went there for in the first place," he said.

Several residents commented that the system was designed for 10 to 15 years from now, not the present, and questioned whether the multi-family development was desirable for the area.

Albert Solnit, chief of advance planning, advised residents not to overlook the advantages of capturing the tourism market, including visitors to the Point Reyes National Seashore, to help lower their tax rate.

The proposed system is "not anti small-lot," Zucker said, but "benefits will come to developers who move away from the typical suburban tract house."

The intent is to have the optimum economic development and the optimum environmental quality, Solnit noted.

The density plan assigns basic development points per acre of land, the steeper the terrain the fewer the points allocated. On top of this, bonus points would be granted for planned development, special features such as open space or trails and good design.

The developer could then build single family homes, multi-family units, visitor accommodations, commercial buildings or mobile homes up to the maximum number of points.

Single family units would use up more development points than any of the other uses.

Zucker also explained, as an inducement to provide low or moderate income housing, even fewer points would be required for that type of development.

There was some question that the proposed system would meet the call by Marin County supervisors for a bonus system based on an average density of 1.15 units per acre.

Originally the plan called for a density of .88 units per acre, but it was raised on an interim basis to 1.15.

"I don't know how you could make it more complicated," said Henry C. Hankins of Point Reyes.

After Zucker noted that details would have to be worked out, one resident said accepting the plan "would be buying a pig in a poke with too many ifs."

"It's no more a pig in a poke than the adopted plan," Zucker replied. "You really don't know how the adopted plan would be laid on the ground."

Zucker said the system hasn't been applied anywhere, but he saw no reason why it couldn't be applied in West Marin as well as other areas of Marin.

"We're kidding ourselves if we think we know in detail the West Marin of 40 years from now and to set up too precisely is a mistake," he said.

Asked if the flexibility system for individual developments would result in random commercial development, Zucker said "some controls would have to be built in."

One resident asked, "Aren't you just doing away with the West Marin Master Plan?"

Zucker explained that the plan has been adopted and "the debate now is how it should be amended" to raise the denisty. He said he opposed the straight across-the-board density increase.

The planning commission will have its third hearing on the proposed point system at 9 a.m. Monday at Marin County Civic Center.

Ballet Students Will Perform

Seven advanced students from the Leona Norman School of Ballet, San Rafael, will tomorrow perform excerpts from "The Nutcracker Suite" at four schools in the Dixie School District.

The performances are: 9:30 a.m. in the Bernard Hoffman School, Terra Linda; 11 a.m. in the Santa Margarita School, Terra Linda; 1 p.m. in the Mary Silveira School, Marinwood, and 2:10 p.m. in the Oak View School, Lucas Valley.

The performers will be in costume.

OWNERSHIP QUESTIONED

Tiburon Council Gives Informal Nod To Parking Lot Plans

The controversial proposal for an 81-space parking lot at Tiburon Boulevard and Paradise Drive last night won the unofficial approval of the Tiburon City Council — some two years after the proposal was first presented to the city.

The council, on a 4-0 vote, adopted a resolution of intent to grant a temporary use permit for the parking lot at the Dec. 9 meeting. Councilman Thomas E. Drohan was absent.

Approval was delayed two weeks to allow the staff time to research the actual ownership of the property and to draft a resolution which would adequately incorporate all the conditions of landscaping, grading and entrance and exit engineering sought by the council.

Developer Jay Quetnick told the council that he, Marshall Walthers and Michel Demaurex are partners in Waterfront Properties and are legal owners of the parcel upon which the parking lot is to be constructed.

However, in a letter to the council, Matthew B. Weinberg said he is the owner of the property involved and, although he had no objection to the use of the land as a parking lot, he wanted the record to show clearly that Waterfront Properties did not speak for him before the council.

The original use permit application for the parking lot, made in late 1966, was signed by Weinberg and Demaurex. The use permit was denied by the city's board of adjustments and the council, in January 1967, refused to hear an appeal requested by Weinberg and Demaurex, because the city was involved in a lawsuit with the four property owners over the development of the waterfront along Paradise Drive, south of Main Street.

Quetnick last night said that Waterfront Properties and Weinberg were having a "family quarrel" in which they did not think the city should become involved.

The council agreed and requested staff to clarify the ownership and to obtain a stipulation from Weinberg and the attorneys for Waterfront Properties that the granting of the temporary use permit would in no way prejudice litigation still pending in court over the waterfront development question.

During the recess, Mayor William R. Bremer said the council had decided to hear the application at this time because it wanted to "cooperate" with the developers as a conciliatory step toward working out the snarl of litigation which has prevented a solution to the Paradise Drive waterfront problem.

Included in the conditions requested by the council for the one-year permit was one requiring the property owners to provide permit parking for ferry boat commuters. Councilman Branwell D. Fanning said commuters, for a small extra fee, would purchase the permit with their monthly commute books. All other patrons of the parking lot would pay parking fees, he said.

The Tiburon City Council Also:

AWARD — Presented an award for civic service to Elmo L. De Martini who recently completed his second term on the city's planning commission. Allan Thompson was appointed by Bremer to replace De Martini at the Nov. 13 council meeting.

PARKING — Postponed to Dec. 9 consideration of a proposal to prohibit parking on the south side of Paradise Drive between Main and Mar West streets pending resolution of the Waterfront Properties parking lot request.

TIBURON LODGE — Postponed to Dec. 9 approval of the master plan for addition of 44 units to the Tiburon Lodge pending study and a report by the council's lands and development committee.

MASTER PLAN — Postponed to Dec. 9 approval of the master plan for 1-11 Main Street pending study and a report by the council's lands and development committee.

DRAINAGE — Postponed consideration of the Trestle Glen basin drainage problem pending further study by the council's public services committee.

LIGHTS — Asked city staff to study and report on complaints of excessive intensity in downtown lighting.

APPOINTMENT — Accepted fanning's recommendation that he resign and another representative be appointed to the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council. Fanning said he had been unable to attend many EOC meetings because of conflicts with city business. Bremer said he would appoint someone to the post at the Dec. 9 meeting, if possible.

COMMENDATION — Agreed to commend the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District board for the institution of one way toll collection.

MEETING S— Agreed not to meet on Dec. 23 because of the Christmas holiday and adjourned to 8 p.m. Dec. 9 in City Hall.

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Modern Bridge Expert Must Play With Soul For Victory

Have you ever noticed the resemblance between the deuce of spades and the deuce of clubs? Not the obvious similarities: after all, even the unfortunate people who don't read this column can see the black figure 2 in two corners of each card. The real resemblance is in the soul of those cards. As usual, we have a bridge hand to prove all of this.

RUFFS KING

South ruffed the king of diamonds with the deuce of spades, drew one round of trumps and then led the deuce of clubs to try a finesse with dummy's queen.

East took the king of clubs and returned the queen of hearts, giving the defenders three heart tricks. Down one, all because South didn't play with "soul."

If you know how to take a hint, you've surely seen where South went wrong. If not, see if you can work it out for yourself before you read on.

EARLY ERROR

South made his mistake by playing the wrong black deuce at the first trick. Instead of ruffing the king of diamonds South should discard the deuce of clubs. West must shift to a club, and declarer steps up with dummy's ace. After drawing one round of trumps with the queen, declarer leads dummy's queen of clubs.

If East plays low, South discards a heart. This is quite safe because even if West had the king of clubs and could win the trick he could cash only one heart trick. South would lose only one diamond, one club and one heart.

KING IN EAST

As it happens, East has the king of clubs, whenever East plays low, South will discard a heart. Whenever East puts up the king of clubs, South will ruff and return to dummy with a trump to get rid of more hearts on the good clubs.

Instead of going down one, South makes his contract with an overtrick — all because he can see the true resemblance between the two black deuces.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one diamond, and the next player bids one spade.

You hold:

♠ 3
♥ Q J 10
♦ J 8 7 6 4 3
♣ K 9 8.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two diamonds.

This is a pronounced underbid, but you will surely get another chance to speak. A jump to four diamonds would be more descriptive, but would get you past three notrump (which might be the best contract). A jump to three diamonds would promise about an ace more in high-card strength. In short, no bid really.

ALMANAC

Today is Tuesday, Nov. 26, the 331st day of 1968 with 35 to follow.

The moon is in its first quarter The morning stars are Mars and Jupiter. The evening start are Saturn and Venus.

On this day in history:

In 1925 Americans could buy a new Ford roadster for $260.

In 1930 one-quarter of all office space available in New York City's skyscrapers was for rent as the depression set in.

In 1940 the Nazis forced 500,000 Jews in Warsaw to live in a ghetto surrounded by an 8-foot concrete wall.

A thought for the day: American journalist Ambrose Bierce said, "Prejudice is a vagrant opinion without visible means of support."

TIME AND TIDE

AT SAUSALITO SCHOOL

Afro-American Festival Swings

By ALAN JONES

"A lot of adults are uncomfortable about black people," James T. Toliver said. "But I'm sure your parents aren't, and I'm sure you aren't.

A 120 grade school children — thoroughly mixed between black and white — listened intently as Toliver, formerly with the Peace Corps and now guidance counselor in the Sausalito school system, told of his Peace Corps experiences in West and Central Africa with snakes, foreign languages, African customs "and children and families just like yours."

Toward the rear of the Central School auditorium sat 20 to 25 mothers and a handful of other adults, many of them black. Several mothers wore "natural" hair and bold-printed African style dress.

Toliver spoke, and later sang to his own drum accompaniment, at this week's Afro-American Festival at Central School, set up by the school staff as an addition to studies this semester of African nations.

On stage yesterday, talked on and off by KDIA disc jockey Bob White, were a series of young people's groups.

A mixed group of black and white elementary school children performed a pulsing, multiphasic rhythmic number on bongos and African drums.

Three subteen-age black youths joined the Naturals for dances to soul music.

". . . The emphasis is on our black history, and our black culture," said Gabe Jackson community worker for the school who is coordinating the festival which runs through tomorrow at Central.

JAMES TOLIVER
'A head start'

Twelve home rooms of second, third and fourth graders each have taken one African country for intensive study this semester, learning how its people live, their customs, what they plant and reap and how they make their living.

The three-day festival, Jackson said, is aimed at showing pupils how the African influence has developed in America as well. Pupils studying the African cultures can relate their development to the experience and culture of the American Negro.

By way of showing what he meant, Jackson came onstage with his own African drums and did a five-minute performance that had the entire auditorium clapping in unison until the rhythm threw them off beat.

In the rear of the auditorium a group of older black youths looked on, swinging in time to the music and wildly applauding the dancers and drummers.

Jackson said classes from other elementary schools in Marin have been invited to attend to obtain their own insight into Afro-American roots, and some classes from Novato, San Rafael and other districts plan to attend.

Several professional performers who have promised to take part will perform tomorrow, Jackson said, including Sausalito School District Trustee Nathaniel Johnson who is a singer and musician. Marin City poet Calvin Scott, cartoonist Morrie Turner and some Tamalpais High School student groups.

No one is talking yet about an annual festival. But judging from the Central School pupils' response, Jackson has a hit on his hands that could be repeated next year.

Police Have No Clues To Sabella's Robbery

San Rafael police today reported themselves facing a blank wall in their search for the three unidentified gunmen in Sunday night's kidnap of Luciano Sabella and subsequent $4,000 robbery of Sabella's restaurant in Mill Valley.

The three men, masked at the time of the crime, left no clues and might as well have vanished into thin air, according to police.

The gunmen invaded Sabella's Peacock Gap residence at 227 Riviera Drive, terrorized him and his wife, Diane, and forced Sabella to accompany them to the restaurant, one robber remaining behind to guard Mrs. Sabella.

Sabella was forced to open the safe of the restaurant and later released at a darkened spot at the Bon Air Medical Center off Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

Couple To Plead On Dope Charges

William N. Roberts of 6 Tamarack Road, San Geronimo, was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on a charge of marijuana possession.

Drony L. Welch of 101 Hawthorne Street, Santa Venetia, arrested with him in Nicasio Friday, was charged with possessing a device for smoking a narcotic.

Both were to return to court tomorrow to plead to the charges.

Garbage Rate Hike Approved

Homestead Valley Sanitary District board last night approved an increase in garbage collection rates requested by the Mill Valley Refuse Co. Warren I. Jacobs, chairman reported.

Jacobs said the exact amount of the increase will be computed by the district's auditor and presented to the board for approval on Dec. 16.

The new rates will be based on the operating costs of the Mill Valley Refuse Co. and the E. DeMartini Co., which services a small area of the valley, pro rated over the number of homes served by both companies, Jacobs said. De Martini will also received the rate increase, Jacobs noted.

The board set its next meeting for 8:30 p.m. Dec. 16, rather than Dec. 23, because of Christmas.

Park Officials Seek Substitute For Turf

Mill Valley Parks and Recreation commissioners last night agreed to investigate other types of ground cover for Old Mill Park after several attempts to maintain a grass turf in the redwood grove failed.

Parks and Recreation Director Don Dimitratos said the park is too damp and shady for grass to stand up under heavy use by children.

Commissioners asked Dimitratos to look into the possibility of using wood chips or decomposed granite in the area.

The Mill Valley Parks and Recreation Commission also:

TENNIS — Approved a two-month tennis tournament next fall for the parks and recreation department's interclub tennis team.

LIAISON — Named Chairman Jean Barnard as liaison to the city council.

GOLF COURSE — Heard that the grass tees on the eighth and ninth holes at the municipal golf course have been completed and the fairway for the eighth hole planted.

LANDSCAPING — Heard that landscaping around Boyle Park restrooms has been completed.

THANKS — Thanked the Mill Valley Junior Chamber of Commerce for constructing a bridge at Old Mill Park. The city provided the materials and the Jaycees the labor, Dimitratos said.

MEETING — Set the next meeting for 8 p.m. Dec. 9 at the library and canceled the regularly scheduled Dec. 23 meeting because of the Christmas holiday.

Novato Arrests Ukiah Bank Aide

Clyde F. Bradley, 36, operations officer of the Ukiah branch of the Bank of America was arrested this morning by Novato police on a warrant charging embezzlement of more than $10,000.

Bradley was arrested at a residence at 746 Diablo Avenue at the request of Ukiah Police Chief Donn Sauldsbury, according to Novato Police Chief Robert de Grazia.

Sauldsbury said that Bradley was wanted for investigation of embezzlement, the exact amount not known, from the Ukiah branch of the bank.

The federal warrant calls for $50,000 bail, De Grazia said. Bradley would be turned over to the Ukiah police and FBI, Di Grazia said.

Old School's Salvage Plan Is Ruled Out

Mill Valley School District trustees last night authorized the demolition of the old Homestead School building after hearing it would cost too much to salvage one floor of the building for storage and restroom facilities.

The board then approved plans for the addition of storage and restroom areas to the main school building and landscaping and seating areas on the old building site, according to Supt. James A. Collins.

The board previously agreed to demolish only the second floor of the building and construct a deck on top of the first foor storage area.

Additional state requirements to ensure structural soundness were too expensive, Collins said, making demolition and construction of the addition the most economical way to provide necessary facilities.

The Mill Valley School District board also:

PAYMENT — Authorized a partial payment to Richard N. Jessup for architectural services on the Homestead School project.

CONTRACT — Authorized Collinsto extend the contract with Harding, Miller, Lawson and Associates, San Rafael soils engineers, for work on the middle school project.

RESIGNATIONS — Accepted the resignations of Carol Hurwitz, Alto School teacher, and Eleanor Buckley, volunteer aide coordinator. Both resigned because they were moving out of town.

MEETING — Set the board's next meeting for 8 p.m. Dec. 16 at Park School.

Smoke, Siren Drill Set For Fort Barry

Heavy smoke and a siren may be seen and heard at Fort Barry from 8 a.m. to noon tomorrow during a "routine" exercise, the Army announced today.

The exercise, to be conducted by A Battery, 2nd Battalion, 51st Artillery at Fort Barry, also is expected to generate heavy military traffic on area roads, according to Lt. Ronald Izumi, an information officer at the Presidio of San Francisco.

ALMANAC

Today is Tuesday, Nov. 26, the 331st day of 1968 with 35 to follow.

The moon is in its first quarter The morning stars are Mars and Jupiter. The evening start are Saturn and Venus.

On this day in history:

In 1925 Americans could buy a new Ford roadster for $260.

In 1930 one-quarter of all office space available in New York City's skyscrapers was for rent as the depression set in.

In 1940 the Nazis forced 500,000 Jews in Warsaw to live in a ghetto surrounded by an 8-foot concrete wall.

A thought for the day: American journalist Ambrose Bierce said, "Prejudice is a vagrant opinion without visible means of support."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Modern Bridge Expert Must Play With Soul For Victory

Have you ever noticed the resemblance between the deuce of spades and the deuce of clubs? Not the obvious similarities: after all, even the unfortunate people who don't read this column can see the black figure 2 in two corners of each card. The real resemblance is in the soul of those cards. As usual, we have a bridge hand to prove all of this.

RUFFS KING

South ruffed the king of diamonds with the deuce of spades, drew one round of trumps and then led the deuce of clubs to try a finesse with dummy's queen.

East took the king of clubs and returned the queen of hearts, giving the defenders three heart tricks. Down one, all because South didn't play with "soul."

If you know how to take a hint, you've surely seen where South went wrong. If not, see if you can work it out for yourself before you read on.

EARLY ERROR

South made his mistake by playing the wrong black deuce at the first trick. Instead of ruffing the king of diamonds South should discard the deuce of clubs. West must shift to a club, and declarer steps up with dummy's ace. After drawing one round of trumps with the queen, declarer leads dummy's queen of clubs.

If East plays low, South discards a heart. This is quite safe because even if West had the king of clubs and could win the trick he could cash only one heart trick. South would lose only one diamond, one club and one heart.

KING IN EAST

As it happens, East has the king of clubs, whenever East plays low, South will discard a heart. Whenever East puts up the king of clubs, South will ruff and return to dummy with a trump to get rid of more hearts on the good clubs.

Instead of going down one, South makes his contract with an overtrick — all because he can see the true resemblance between the two black deuces.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one diamond, and the next player bids one spade.

You hold:

♠ 3
♥ Q J 10
♦ J 8 7 6 4 3
♣ K 9 8.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two diamonds.

This is a pronounced underbid, but you will surely get another chance to speak. A jump to four diamonds would be more descriptive, but would get you past three notrump (which might be the best contract). A jump to three diamonds would promise about an ace more in high-card strength. In short, no bid really.

Supervisors Hit Street Sleeping

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) —The board of supervisors has adopted a law against sitting or sleeping on streets or sidewalks, voting down an objection by one member that it was "an antihippie ordinance."

Supervisor Jack Morrison said: "This law trends on constitutional freedoms."

Before the board adopted the measure 9-1 yesterday, Supervisor Peter Tamaras commented: "All the laws these days are on the side of criminals. The country needs laws on the side of the good people."

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Oral Vaccines Being Developed To Combat Influenza Outbreaks

VAN DELLEN

Many of our readers ask why an oral vaccine similar to the one that protects against poliomyelitis cannot be made to ward off influenza. Actually two forms of oral flu vaccine are available; one is made from dead viruses, the other from living, but weakened, influenza viruses. Although not so effective as oral polio vaccine, they are just as good as flu vaccine that is injected. Our researchers are conducting clinical trials using an oral spray that is given intranasally.

POLIO AND INFLUENZA are both caused by viruses, but there is a difference in how the conditions get started. The oral polio vaccine is effective because the poliomyelitis virus has to spread from the intestines to the central nervous system in order to cause disease. In contrast, influenzal viruses multiply in the respiratory tract.

Presently, we are hearing more and more about the debut of a new variant of A2 influenza; the new strain is spreading from Hong Kong and Singapore. It differs widely from other A2 strains previously isolated.

Furthermore, some authorities have suggested that it be classified as A3. It is not, however, a serious form of flu.

SOME OF the publicity associated with the Hong Kong variant has been misconstrued as a new epidemic. At the time of this writing, there is no epidemic but public health officials are concerned about this possibility because it takes a long time to prepare a protective vaccine. Our current supplies protect only against flu strains now prevalent in this country.

Chronically ill persons and the elderly have the greatest need for the vaccine. Essentially they are the ones facing serious complications or death from influenza.

Such "high risk" individuals should be treated first when an epidemic is forecast. These include victims of heart disease, hypertension, lung disorders, and diabetes.

ANTIVIRAL AGENTS are also on the agenda. Amantadine hydrochloride is effective against some influenzal strains. Another newcomer is isoquinoline, which is not yet on the market. The interferon inducers also are good prospects for the future.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

SHORTNESS OF BREATH

E. L. writes: Does shortness of breath occur in lung disease as well as in heart trouble?

REPLY

Yes. Our leaflet on shortness of breath explains the various conditions in which the symptoms appears. It can be obtained by sending stamped, self-addressed envelope with request.

'PUSHING' VITAMIN PILLS

A reader writes: I stopped in a drug store recently and the clerk urged me to buy vitamins. He said everyone needs them. Is this a fact?

REPLY

No — just a salesman's pitch.

First Lady Dedicates Redwoods

EUREKA (UPI) — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson's five-year crusade to beautify America has officially ended with dedication of the Redwood National Park and a two-mile hike through the world's tallest trees.

"You know after today I hardly have an exclamation left," Mrs. Johnson said after leading reporters on a one-hour walk yesterday through the dense Northern California coastal redwood forest.

"I thought everything was the most and the biggest and the best," she added before boarding a plane for a flight to the LBJ Ranch in Texas. She plans to spend Thanksgiving at the ranch with the president.

Mrs. Johnson, wearing a camel-colored pants suit and hiking boots, questioned conservation club officials about the history of the stately, ancient trees as she walked along the cool, damp floor of the forest.

"This place is absolutely unique," she said. "This day has been a jewel."

The First Lady began the last of a four-day, 6,000-mile cross-country tour by dedicating the 58,000-acre national park.

The ceremonies were performed beneath a towering redwood which began growing 657 years ago—181 years before Columbus discovered America.

The $92 million park, approved earlier this year by Congress, contains the world's tallest known tree—as high as a 36-story building. Many of the trees began growing before the birth of Christ.

Friendly pickets and a crowd of about 400 persons greeted Mrs. Johnson at the dedication site. The pickets carried signs reading "Ladybird, tell the world the park still has a long way to go," "This is only a beginning — save more redwoods," and "Thoreau, Muir, T.R., LBJ."

But Norman B. Livermore, California resources secretary and Gov. Ronald Reagan's representative at the ceremonies, said there would be no more large tracts of redwoods taken from lumber companies for park lands.

Before leaving the park and flying to Texas, Mrs. Johnson was driven along the Redwood Highway where the majestic trees grow down to the rocky shores of the Pacific.

Mrs. Johnson then boarded her chartered plane and flew back to Texas, ending a trip which began four days before in New Orleans and included stops at Cape Kennedy and Denver.

It was her last official trip as First Lady on behalf of conservation causes and a more beautiful America.

Saunders was released on $625 bail.

TV REVIEW

Sinatra's Singing: The Best

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—"Francis Albert Sinatra Does His Thing" was the inspired title of CBS-TV's one-hour last night special starring the singer who is known as Frank.

Sinatra's thing, as everybody knows, is singing with unmatched style, savoir faire and charm that is all the more real because his face, manner and phrasing radiate the experiences of a man who has lived.

UNIQUE STYLE

It is this unique sense of character that separates the men from the boys in all forms of work, and show business is no exception. And it is the special sense of character identified with Sinatra—above all, his lust for life and his refusal to settle into a rut—that appeals to romantics of all ages.

As in his past specials, all these qualities were very plain to see last night, and it is hardly a surprise to report that once again the great showman illustrated what pop singing at its best is all about.

His guests this time were Diahann Carroll and the 5th Dimension.

Miss Carroll's lovely singing served as a reminder that although she is the star of NBC-TV's "Julia" series, her talents are much wider. And the 5th Dimension fit in beautifully too as Sinatra even got into the act with them.

EASY SWINGER

The fact that Sinatra can knock off songs of the "new generation" with aplomb and artistry should be no surprise to anyone. In his own way, he has created new generations of musical interpretation in his personal progression as a singer. My own personal preference is to hear him gaily making his way through dashing, insouciant, witty lyrics, informing the contended clods of what the world is all about, or at least can be if you swing out.

"Francis Albert Sinatra Does His Thing" was, in short, another of the singer's contributions to show business posterity. He's a good man for a television critic to have around. He takes your mind off your work.

Federico Fellini, the incomparable Italian movie director, is making a film about himself for NBC-TV's "Experiment in Television" series. The hour will be a study of Fellini preparing to make a movie, "The Satyricon," and also recalling" his first awareness of film as a child, with recollections of part films and even of projects started and then put aside."

Supervisors Hit Street Sleeping

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) —The board of supervisors has adopted a law against sitting or sleeping on streets or sidewalks, voting down an objection by one member that it was "an antihippie ordinance."

Supervisor Jack Morrison said: "This law trends on constitutional freedoms."

Before the board adopted the measure 9-1 yesterday, Supervisor Peter Tamaras commented: "All the laws these days are on the side of criminals. The country needs laws on the side of the good people."

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Oral Vaccines Being Developed To Combat Influenza Outbreaks

VAN DELLEN

Many of our readers ask why an oral vaccine similar to the one that protects against poliomyelitis cannot be made to ward off influenza. Actually two forms of oral flu vaccine are available; one is made from dead viruses, the other from living, but weakened, influenza viruses. Although not so effective as oral polio vaccine, they are just as good as flu vaccine that is injected. Our researchers are conducting clinical trials using an oral spray that is given intranasally.

POLIO AND INFLUENZA are both caused by viruses, but there is a difference in how the conditions get started. The oral polio vaccine is effective because the poliomyelitis virus has to spread from the intestines to the central nervous system in order to cause disease. In contrast, influenzal viruses multiply in the respiratory tract.

Presently, we are hearing more and more about the debut of a new variant of A2 influenza; the new strain is spreading from Hong Kong and Singapore. It differs widely from other A2 strains previously isolated.

Furthermore, some authorities have suggested that it be classified as A3. It is not, however, a serious form of flu.

SOME OF the publicity associated with the Hong Kong variant has been misconstrued as a new epidemic. At the time of this writing, there is no epidemic but public health officials are concerned about this possibility because it takes a long time to prepare a protective vaccine. Our current supplies protect only against flu strains now prevalent in this country.

Chronically ill persons and the elderly have the greatest need for the vaccine. Essentially they are the ones facing serious complications or death from influenza.

Such "high risk" individuals should be treated first when an epidemic is forecast. These include victims of heart disease, hypertension, lung disorders, and diabetes.

ANTIVIRAL AGENTS are also on the agenda. Amantadine hydrochloride is effective against some influenzal strains. Another newcomer is isoquinoline, which is not yet on the market. The interferon inducers also are good prospects for the future.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

SHORTNESS OF BREATH

E. L. writes: Does shortness of breath occur in lung disease as well as in heart trouble?

REPLY

Yes. Our leaflet on shortness of breath explains the various conditions in which the symptoms appears. It can be obtained by sending stamped, self-addressed envelope with request.

'PUSHING' VITAMIN PILLS

A reader writes: I stopped in a drug store recently and the clerk urged me to buy vitamins. He said everyone needs them. Is this a fact?

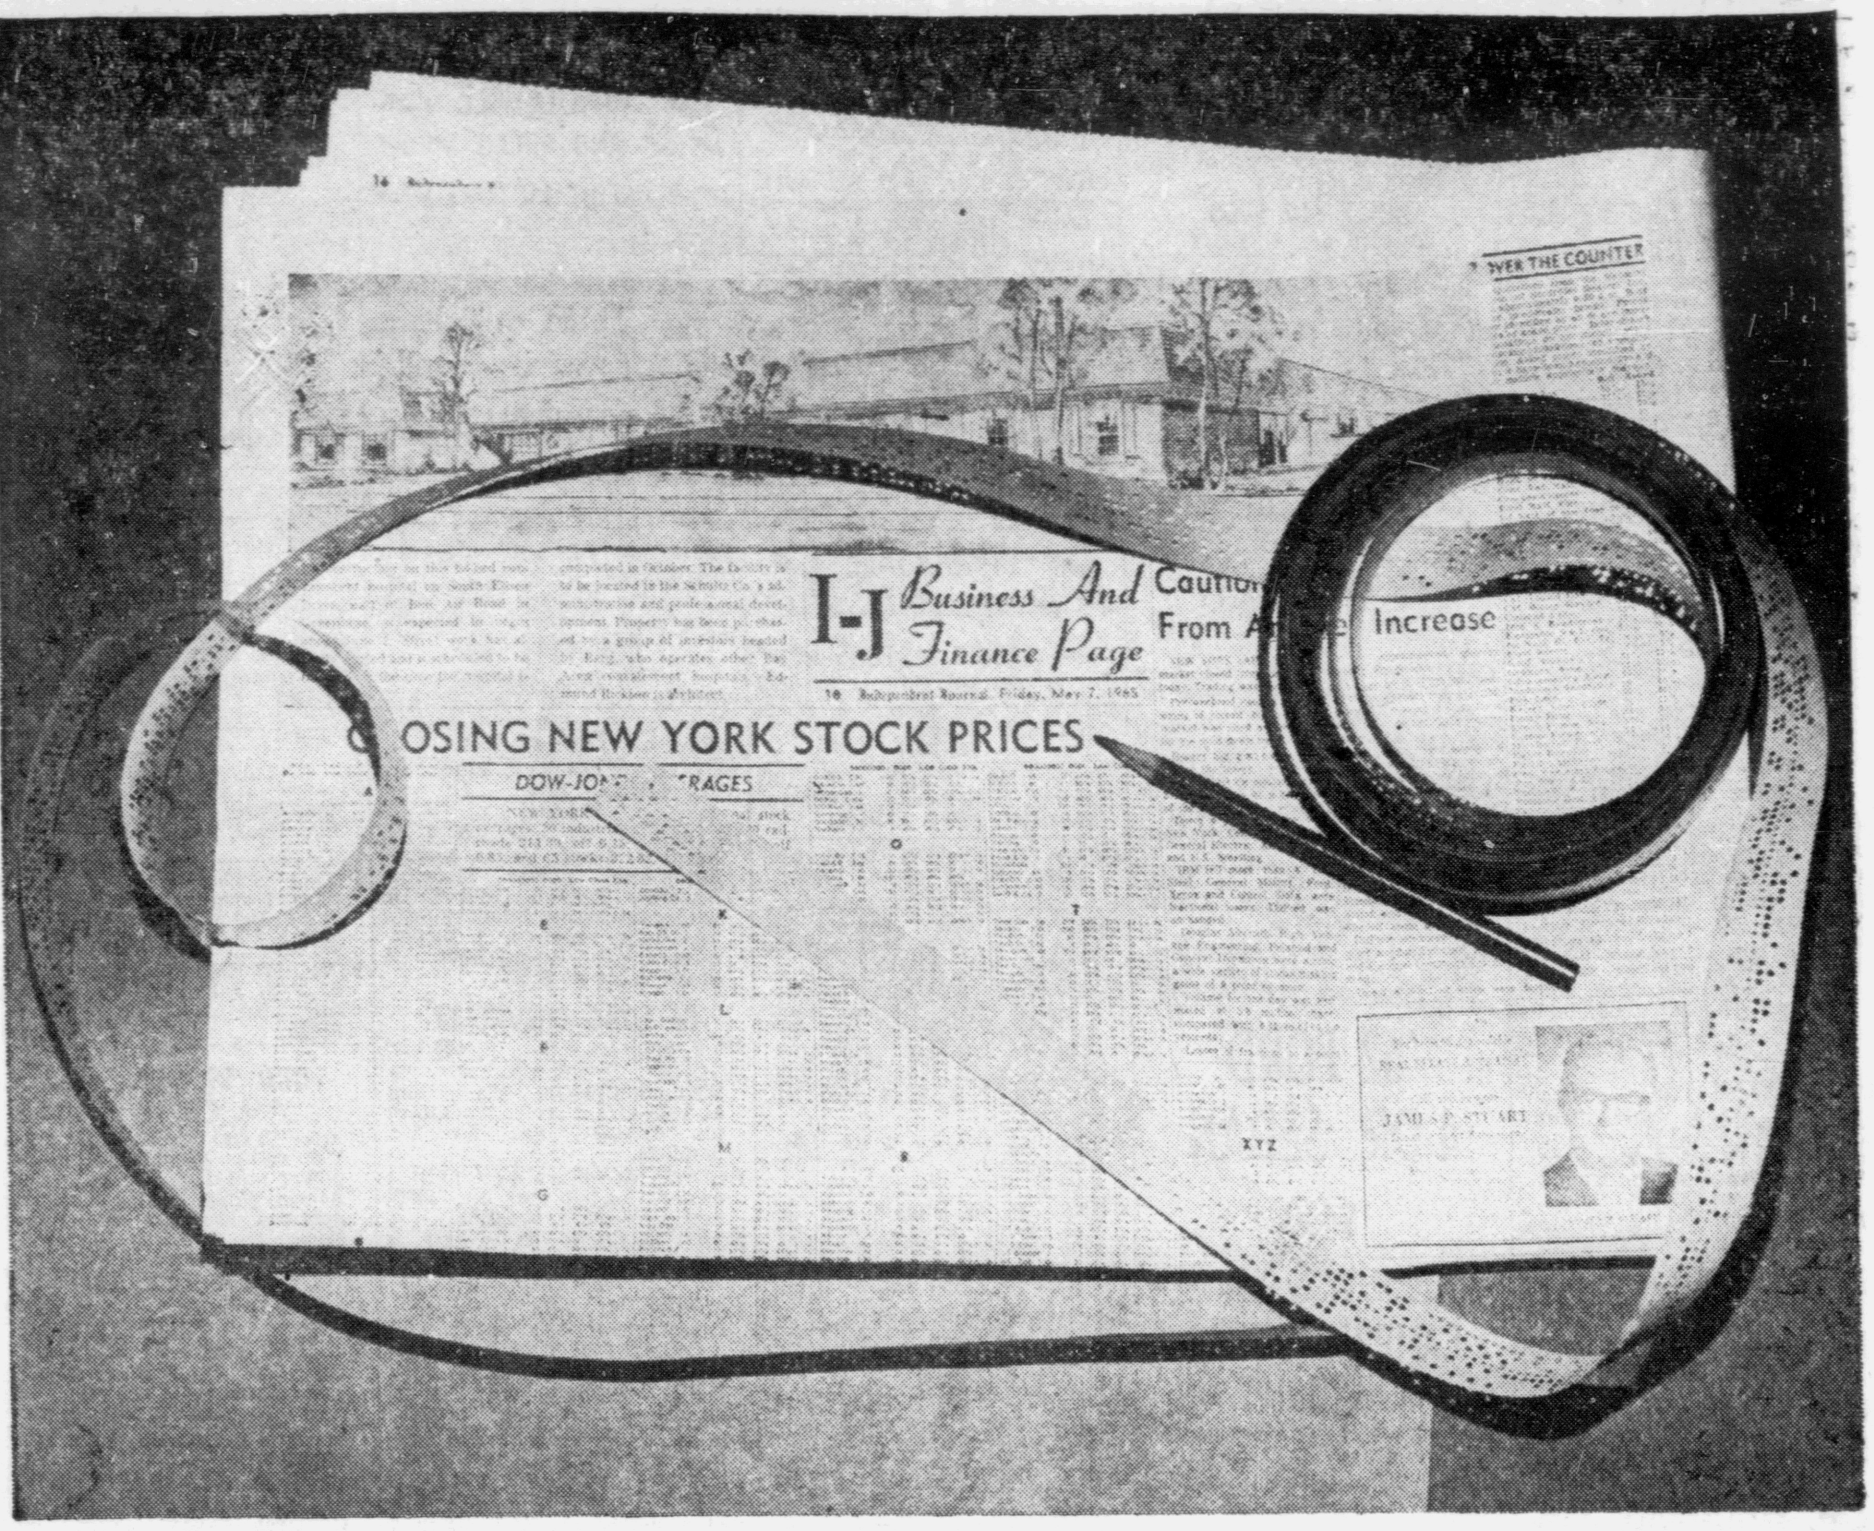
No — just a salesman's pitch.



You get today's business news today in Marin's Best-seller

WITH THE I-J you're up on business, up on the market, ahead of the morning newspapers. For the I-J reports today's business news for tonight's reading. Closing N.Y. stock prices on 500 stocks . . . AP analyst Sam Dawson on the economic front . . . local business news by Harry Craft, I-J business editor. Always a full page of good reading on business and finance. Another reason why the I-J is Marin's Best-selling newspaper . . . with more daily Marin circulation than the S.F. Chronicle and Examiner combined.

Electronic way of a Best-seller

I-J stocks are set by electronics. Impulses, actuated by computer in New York, run direct by wire to the I-J, are converted into punched tapes (as in photo above), then fed into electronic linotypes. Result: today's stocks today!

Pair Named Marin's Top 4-H Members

Madelyn Angress of Marshall and Glenn Parks of Tomales are the county's 4-H Club all-stars this year.

They were honored at a ceremony Saturday night at the Sinaloa High School in Novato.

"The all-star award is the highest county award in the 4-H program," said Marin County Farm Advisor Donald L. Brittsan. "The two were selected on the basis of their outstanding project work during their years as 4-H Club members." They will attend the statewide all-star conference to be held next summer at Davis.

Madelyn is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert A. Angress of Marshall. Glenn is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Parks of Tomales.

Judges who picked the all-stars were were James McNern, former 4-H all-star, Virginia Shattuck of San Rafael, Mrs. Vera Miller of San Anselmo and Peter J. Ferrarese, manager of Crocker Citizens Bank in Novato.

San Rafael, Novato Toll Free Calls Set

San Rafael and Novato residents will be able to call each other toll free as of next April, Troy E. Lewis, manager of the San Rafael office of Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co., announced today.

After approximately April 10, the local calling area for San Rafael customers will include the prefixes 883 in Ignacio, 892 and 897 in Novato and 838 at Hamilton Air Force Base, he said.

The San Rafael exchange includes San Anselmo, Ross, Kentfield, Fairfax, Terra Linda, and Marinwood with the prefixes 453, 454, 456, 457, 461, 472 and 479.

Not only will the calls be toll free, but it will also no longer be necessary to dial "1" before the prefixes.

The agreement between Pacific Telephone and Western Telephone Co., which provides telephone service in Novato, was approved by the California Public Utilities Commission in May, 1967.

The companies were given two years to start the new service.

At the time the new service goes into effect, Novato and Ignacio customers will have a rate increase but San Rafael will not, because a rate increase going into effect next Tuesday has taken into consideration the new arrangement.

SAN RAFAEL — Business service will rise from $9.55 to $13.25 on Tuesday with no increase in April; residence service from $3.90 to $4.65 on Tuesday with no increase in April.

IGNACIO — Business service will rise from $7.35 to $9 on Tuesday and to $11.25 in April; residence service from $4.25 to $4.75 on Tuesday and to $5.15 in April.

NOVATO — No increase on Tuesday but business rate will rise from $10.25 to $13.10 and residence rate from $5 to $6.20 in April.

Sinatra's Singing: The Best

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—"Francis Albert Sinatra Does His Thing" was the inspired title of CBS-TV's one-hour last night special starring the singer who is known as Frank.

Sinatra's thing, as everybody knows, is singing with unmatched style, savoir faire and charm that is all the more real because his face, manner and phrasing radiate the experiences of a man who has lived.

UNIQUE STYLE

It is this unique sense of character that separates the men from the boys in all forms of work, and show business is no exception. And it is the special sense of character identified with Sinatra—above all, his lust for life and his refusal to settle into a rut—that appeals to romantics of all ages.

As in his past specials, all these qualities were very plain to see last night, and it is hardly a surprise to report that once again the great showman illustrated what pop singing at its best is all about.

His guests this time were Diahann Carroll and the 5th Dimension.

Miss Carroll's lovely singing served as a reminder that although she is the star of NBC-TV's "Julia" series, her talents are much wider. And the 5th Dimension fit in beautifully too as Sinatra even got into the act with them.

EASY SWINGER

The fact that Sinatra can knock off songs of the "new generation" with aplomb and artistry should be no surprise to anyone. In his own way, he has created new generations of musical interpretation in his personal progression as a singer. My own personal preference is to hear him gaily making his way through dashing, insouciant, witty lyrics, informing the contended clods of what the world is all about, or at least can be if you swing out.

"Francis Albert Sinatra Does His Thing" was, in short, another of the singer's contributions to show business posterity. He's a good man for a television critic to have around. He takes your mind off your work.

Federico Fellini, the incomparable Italian movie director, is making a film about himself for NBC-TV's "Experiment in Television" series. The hour will be a study of Fellini preparing to make a movie, "The Satyricon," and also recalling" his first awareness of film as a child, with recollections of part films and even of projects started and then put aside."

First Lady Dedicates Redwoods

EUREKA (UPI) — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson's five-year crusade to beautify America has officially ended with dedication of the Redwood National Park and a two-mile hike through the world's tallest trees.

"You know after today I hardly have an exclamation left," Mrs. Johnson said after leading reporters on a one-hour walk yesterday through the dense Northern California coastal redwood forest.

"I thought everything was the most and the biggest and the best," she added before boarding a plane for a flight to the LBJ Ranch in Texas. She plans to spend Thanksgiving at the ranch with the president.

Mrs. Johnson, wearing a camel-colored pants suit and hiking boots, questioned conservation club officials about the history of the stately, ancient trees as she walked along the cool, damp floor of the forest.

"This place is absolutely unique," she said. "This day has been a jewel."

The First Lady began the last of a four-day, 6,000-mile cross-country tour by dedicating the 58,000-acre national park.

The ceremonies were performed beneath a towering redwood which began growing 657 years ago—181 years before Columbus discovered America.

The $92 million park, approved earlier this year by Congress, contains the world's tallest known tree—as high as a 36-story building. Many of the trees began growing before the birth of Christ.

Friendly pickets and a crowd of about 400 persons greeted Mrs. Johnson at the dedication site. The pickets carried signs reading "Ladybird, tell the world the park still has a long way to go," "This is only a beginning — save more redwoods," and "Thoreau, Muir, T.R., LBJ."

But Norman B. Livermore, California resources secretary and Gov. Ronald Reagan's representative at the ceremonies, said there would be no more large tracts of redwoods taken from lumber companies for park lands.

Before leaving the park and flying to Texas, Mrs. Johnson was driven along the Redwood Highway where the majestic trees grow down to the rocky shores of the Pacific.

Mrs. Johnson then boarded her chartered plane and flew back to Texas, ending a trip which began four days before in New Orleans and included stops at Cape Kennedy and Denver.

It was her last official trip as First Lady on behalf of conservation causes and a more beautiful America.

Saunders was released on $625 bail.

USC's Fabulous Simpson Captures Heisman Trophy

NEW YORK (AP) — O. J. Simpson, Southern California's record-breaking runner, was named winner of the Heisman Trophy today as college football's best player for 1968.

Simpson, an All-American as a junior last season, was an overwhelming choice in the voting conducted by the Downtown Athletic Club among the nation's sports writers and sportscasters.

He received 2,853 points to 1,103 for runner-up Leroy Keyes of Purdue and 387 for Terry Hanratty of Notre Dame.

The 6-2, 207-pound Simpson, a superb athlete with the effortless grace of a deer but the shattering power of a bull, cracked collegiate ball-carrying records this year in leading Southern Cal to nine straight victories and the No. 2 national ranking.

He has overshadowed the performances of such all-time great running stars as Red Grange, Tom Harmon, Glenn Davis, Jimmy Brown and Gale Sayers.

He has carried the ball this year 334 times, a record, and piled up 1,654 yards rushing, a new peak in that category. He has scored 21 touchdowns, the most in the nation.

A transfer from City College of San Francisco, Simpson has played only two seasons with USC but in that period has accomplished more than many top-grade athletes are able to gain in three.

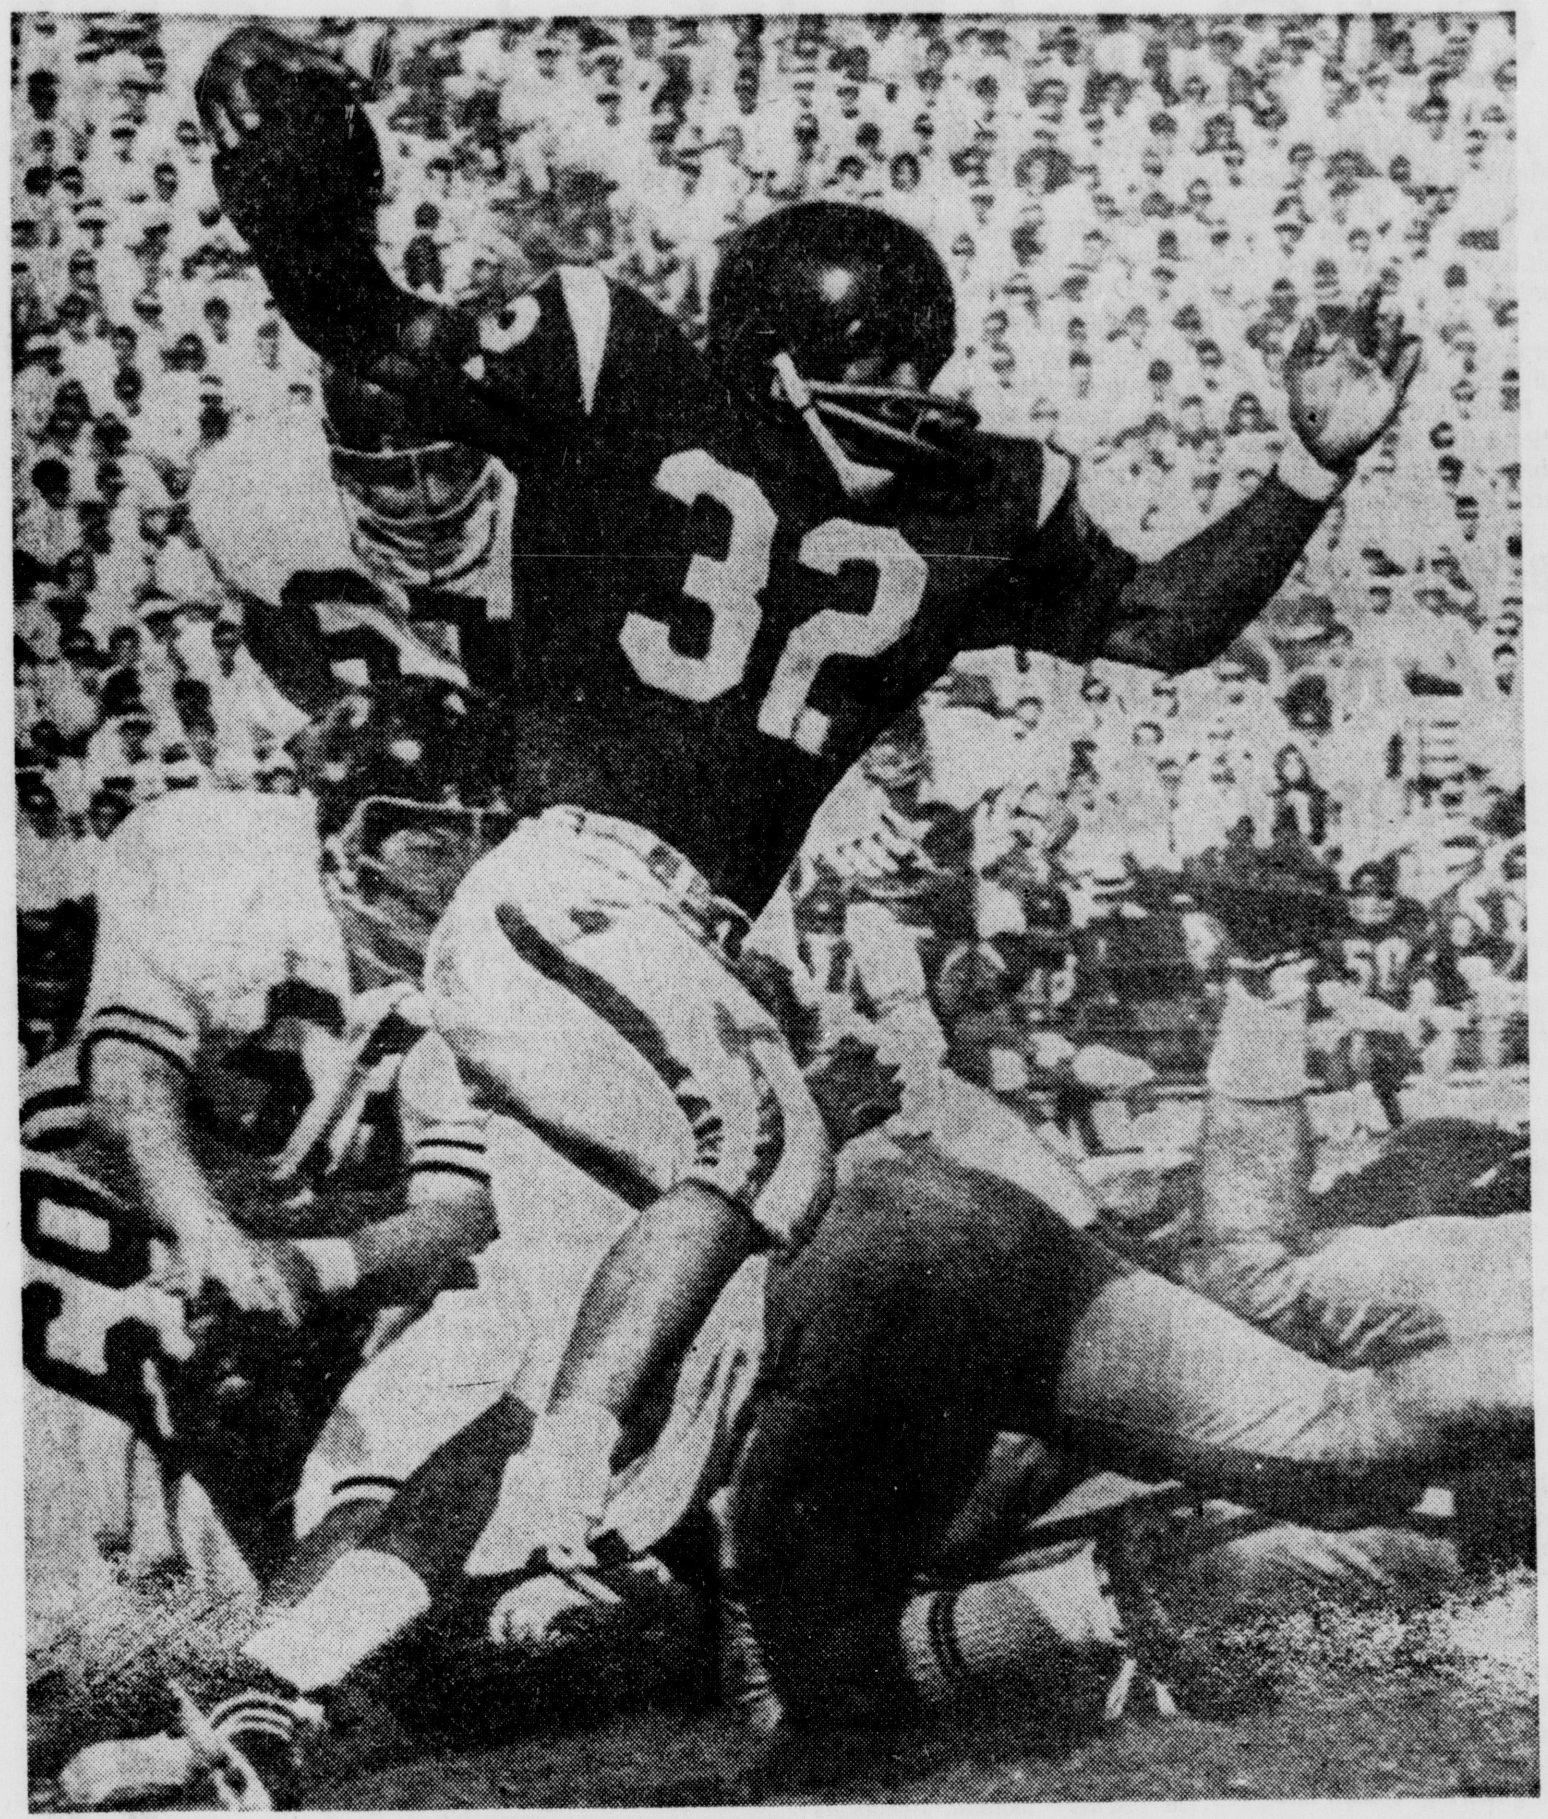
His career record shows him with 3,069 yards rushing and 32 touchdowns. No athlete has ever gained more on the ground in two years.

O. J. has a good chance of grabbing two other season marks with a game against Notre Dame left. He needs only 17 points to overtake Jim O'Brien of Cincinnati, who has finished for the scoring lead. He needs to pick up 85 more yards in any fashion—running, pass-catching, kick-returning—to pass Eugene Morris of West Texas State as the nation's No. 1 all-purpose back of 168. Morris has 1,957 hards, Simpson 1,872.

O. J. called "Orange Juice" by his mates, grew up with a brother and two sisters in a black neighborhood of San Francisco called Portero Hills. They were reared by their mother, a hospital worker.

In high school, he was a 5-10, 160-pound tackle. He frequently was in trouble with juvenile authorities. Later he fell under the influence of the Booker T. Washington Community Center, which headed him toward a college education.

Simpson is sure to be No. 1 in the pro football draft and O. J. says, "Ive always longed for those pro dollars."



THE WINNER — University of Southern California great O. J. Simpson, shown here in action against California Nov. 9, today was named winner of the Heisman Trophy as the outstanding collegiate football player in the country.

THANKSGIVING DAY BATTLE

Tars To Face Star QB

It's another "big game week" for College of Marin's football squad, and the tenseness is beginning to show.

With the Tars' State J.C. Playoff date with Fresno City College two days away, coach Dick Read has gone over the films of Fresno games so many times he's probably seeing the Valley Conference champions in his dreams.

And the figure that will appear most often in those dreams, and in Read's thoughts up to Thursday's noon kickoff in Fresno's Ratcliffe Stadium is that of Ram quarterback Mike Rasmussen, a 6-foot-1, 170-pound lefthander who rates as the best quarterback Read has seen in eight years of junior college coaching.

NATURAL

"Rasmussen is what makes them a great team," said Read. "If they didn't have him, they'd just be a good club — with him, they're terrific. He's a real natural athlete, quick, good hands—he must play basketball or baseball too — and a real quick release, fine short and medium passer."

With three good receivers and a fine offensive backfield as well as a small but quick line, Rasmussen has led Fresno to an offensive average of 375 yards per game in the Rams' 7-2 season mark. Steve Natsues, the swift flanker who is in the top 15 in statewide receiving, is his favorate target, but tight end Bob Burdick and split end Bob Davidon are almost as good.

PROBLEMS

"They present a lot of problems to the defense," sighed Read, remarking that since Rasmussen is lefthanded, he confuses the defense and can roll to his left and throw back across the field, which is hard on a righthander. In addition, the Ram frosh is adept at changing huddle calls at the line of scrimmage via audibles, and has great accuracy (103 completions in 195 attempts for 1,600 yards) and a lot of guts. "He got hit real good a few times in the games we saw on film," said Read, "but he just got up and kept the team moving."

Running the team from a pro-set formation, sometimes shifting out of an I formation, Rasmussen runs a strong ground game, with a very effective off-tackle play. "The off-tackle is every team's bread and butter," says Read. "It's been ours for the last three years. They run it very well, and we have to stop it to stop them. But it's hard because they can hit you from so many different angles."

FORMATION

The Rams will also run quick pitches to the fullback or tailback, who lines up as deep man in the I, the same way O. J. Simpson does for USC. Happily, the Rams have no O. J. — but what they have is tough enough.

Rasmussen will drop back and throw, or roll out and set up. With his quick release, he can wait until the last possible moment to throw. In addition, he can run. In the 34-27 Ram win over archrival College of Sequoias that won the Valley title, he ran for 55 yards in 12 carries to lead FCC's ground game, in addition to passing for 268 years.

GOOD MORALE

Overall, Read feels that team morale is good. The eligibility issue now only affects one player, who may be able to play, and star halfback Tim Garvin is back on the starting team after missing the Santa Rosa finale due to grades.

"If we get too afraid or too flat, we'll get beat badly down there," said Read. "But if we play a tough game, the kind we're capable of, we can do it. It'll take a maximum effort from the whole team, but if we make the effort it'll be real close and we can win. I just don't want to get the kids too keyed up too early. I have a lot of faith in this team; they've come from behind so many times this year, I think they have the courage it takes to win."

Other Blacks Give Support To Gridders

SAN JOSE (AP) — San Jose State's seven embattled Negro football players, in danger of losing their scholarships if they boycott Saturday's game with Brigham Young University, have received support from their counterparts in other sports.

Representatives of the basketball and track teams said at a meeting yesterday that the Negroes on those teams and in other sports had all voted to turn in their scholarships if the football players lost theirs.

The football players have said they will refuse to play against BYU here because of alleged racial policies of the Mormon Church, which runs the university.

At first, said linebacker Tony Jackson, the Negroes were assured they would not lose their scholarships for refusing to play.

"President (Robert) Clark and (Athletic Director Bob) Bronzan said that if they were black, they'd do the same thing," Jackson said.

But after white athletes threatened not to play last Saturday against Arizona State if the Negroes' boycott went unpunished, Jackson said, Clark and Bronzan changed their minds.

As it stands now, the Negroes will lose their athletic scholarships, but other money will be made available.

This, however, didn't satisfy the Negro athletes, who noted that NCAA rules would keep them from ever competing in college again if they lost their scholarships.

The athletes have formed a Black Athletes Federation, which, besides threatening to turn in all their scholarships, made the following demands:

That the school hire a Negro football coach to replace Harry Anderson, who is retiring after this season. Walter Roberts, a San Jose graduate who went on to play with the National Football League Los Angeles Rams and Cleveland Browns, was mentioned.

That San Jose discontinue all athletic events with Brigham Young University.

That a Negro be hired as assistant athletic director.

That Negro athletes be discouraged from enrolling at San Jose unless the "racist conditions under which black athletes operate at San Jose State College daily" improve.

Attending the meeting were Olympic track stars John Carlos and Ronnie Ray Smith and basketball players C.J. Haward and Darrell Hillman.

No New League Move For Marin Catholic

To the great relief of many local persons, the California Interscholastic Federation has shelved a plan to transfer Marin Catholic High School out of the Marin County Athletic League and into a new conference with some East Bay schools.

The parochial school of Kentfield was vehemently against such a move because of transportation expenses and gate appeal that would suffer in competition against non-Marin schools.

Marin is the smallest school in the MCAL and plays an independent football schedule against schools its own size, but competes with the seven other MCAL members in other sports and will continue to do so, thanks to the CIF's change of heart.

Like Father, Like Son

ALL-LEAGUE FOOTBALL honors seem to run in the Jay Simon family of Corte Madera. When Redwood High School center Phil Simon, a junior, was named to the All-Marin County Athletic League last week he was just following in his dad's footsteps. Jay Simon, now a contractor, was an All-North Bay League tackle at Tamalpais high back in the 1940s, All-Northern California Junior College selection at College of at Oregon State. Jay never turned professional; he Marin and then honorable mention All-Pacific Coast remained Simon pure.

WELL, THE GANG down at College of Marin finally got their Toilet Bowl touch tackle football game played the other day and what a romp. The COM Times staff beat the Associated Student Government 69-21 as Rick Beban passed for six touchdowns and Editor-In-Chief Kimo Campbell scored four times, twice on passes from Beban. "We're flushed with victory," said Campbell. Harry Gilbert and Mike Conroy starred for the losers.

Good Job By Baccaglio

MARTIN BACCAGLIO, the former Novato High, College of Marin and San Jose standout, was mentioned prominently on television Sunday for his defensive end work for the Cincinnati Bengals against the Oakland Raiders.

Obtained by Cincinnati from the San Diego Chargers earlier this season, Baccaglio recovered the Raiders' only fumble and was in on several tackles.

DAVID CHASE, son of Mrs. Ruth P. Chase of Greenbrae, starred for the University of Rochester soccer team this season and drew praise as an "excellent defender" from coach Bill Boomer.

WORD FROM University of Santa Clara reports that former Drake High basketball all-star Bob Tobin should see considerable action with the Bronco varsity as a forward this bounceball season. Bob is now a junior and has grown to 6-5, 220 pounds.

Santa Clara, U S F In Cable Car Classic

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Two San Francisco Bay Area teams will be among the competitors in the annual Cable Car Classic Basketball Tournament, set for Dec. 13-14.

The University of Santa Clara, winner of the tournament last year, will meet the Houston Cougars and the University of San Francisco will tangle with Brigham Young University, Provo, Utah, on the first day of the tournament.

Girl Jock Now Tries Singing

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Thwarted at her effort to become the first woman jockey in American horse racing, Penny Ann Early began a bid today for a singing career.

"I can ride better than I sing," the comely 25-year-old said when she stepped off a plane here last night.

Jay Bainwater, an independent producer in this recording center, brought Miss Early to Nashville and says she will cut a single record. Rainwater added he expects to sell about 100,000 copies.

"I'm a shower singer," Penny Ann said.

"I've got a song that you can sing in the showers," Rainwater responded.

Miss Early failed at her first bid to become a jockey when she couldn't get a mount before the close of the fall racing season at Churchill Downs at Louisville, Ky.

But she did land a contract with the Kentucky Colonels of the American Basketball Association, although her sports career so far has consisted of adding glamor to the Colonels' bench.

Miss Early will try to break the sex barrier next at Latonia racetrack.

"I think I'll ride before next week is over," she said, even if it requires a court fight. "There's the Civil Rights Act, you know."

Ghilotti Cagers Win Rec Game

Ghilotti Brothers, paced by Bill Buffalow's 28-point spree, defeated San Quentin Prison 103-78 last night in the San Rafael Recreation Department's Class A Adult Basketball League at San Quentin.

In another Class A game played at San Rafael High School, Red Shield of San Francisco defeated Paradise Pharmacy, 75-66. Red Shield had five men scoring in double figures—Fred Williams 18, Jesse Wilson 14, Bill Lindsay 13, Norman King 11 and George Bayless 10.

Leaders for Paradise were Jay Johnson 15, Jim Halm 13, Jack Stromberg 12 and Al Patsei 12.

Class C scores and high scorers:

SETTLEMENT TO FEUD?

Most Golfers Still Hopeful

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP) — Most of the golfing tourists at the Cajun Classic, the year's last circuit stop, were hopeful of an early settlement of the war between the Professional Golfers Association and the American Professional Golfers.

Leaders of the APG, the organization of tournament pros who've split away from the PGA in a fight over control of the $5 million plus tour, flew to Florida for talks yesterday with the hierarchy of the PGA.

TO MEET

APG President Gardner Dickinson and Dan Sikes Jr., a lawyer as well as a tournament golf star, were to meet with the president, vice president and treasurer of the PGA.

Dickinson, asked in an interview here what it would take to satisfy the touring pros so they would remain with the PGA, replied:

"What it's been all along, what it's been for 30 years, or 40, or however long they have been hollering at each other.

"The touring pros' rights in matters pertaining strictly to tournaments run by the PGA, to cast the deciding vote as to how the tour is run, who works for them and so fourth.

"That's all it is. One vote majority. One more touring player than a majority of the tournament committee."

However, PGA National Vice President Nobole Chalfant of Denver, who also was here, said in an interview he didn't think the PGA would ever permit the touring players to have "complete control. The (the PGA) want a share in all negotiations."

Chalfant said the PGA has talked about a golf czar ever since Jack Tuthill resigned as PGA tournament director and joined the APG staff.

"There has been talk of getting a tournament manager and different names have been discussed, but no one has been offered a position, job or anything," said Chalfant.

"I don't think we're in a position to do so at this time until we know what the future of tournament golf is going to be."

Dickinson, however, when asked how he felt about a czar, said:

SECRET

"We have offered the job to someone. I can't tell you who at this time."

Many of the golfers in the Cajun Classic, which rookie Ron Cerrudo, of San Rafael, won, privately said they felt a compromise may be reached before the PGA and APG are due back in federal court next month.

"Our door has never been shut," said Dickinson. "Stuck a little, but it isn't closed."

ANDERSON SPEAKS OUT ON GUN LAW

WASHINGTON (AP) — Olympic rifle champion, Gary Anderson said yesterday he doesn't think the nation's new gun control law will hinder most hunters and marksmen who shoot for sport.

Anderson, former student at San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo who now lives in Axtell, Neb., appeared at a news conference at the National Rifle Association to take a couple of potshots at part of the new regulations. He said they would have made it impossible for him to buy the rifle with which he won his second straight Olympic gold medal.

But Anderson added his specific problem of getting special imported rifles probably could be worked out in the future. And he conceded the new laws would not impose any restrictions on the average hunter and sportsman.

The gun control law forbids mail sales of arms and ammunition across state lines, requires special licenses for gun imports, and bans all sales to ex-convicts, minors and the mentally incompetent.

San Rafael, Novato Toll Free Calls Set

San Rafael and Novato residents will be able to call each other toll free as of next April, Troy E. Lewis, manager of the San Rafael office of Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co., announced today.

After approximately April 10, the local calling area for San Rafael customers will include the prefixes 883 in Ignacio, 892 and 897 in Novato and 838 at Hamilton Air Force Base, he said.

The San Rafael exchange includes San Anselmo, Ross, Kentfield, Fairfax, Terra Linda, and Marinwood with the prefixes 453, 454, 456, 457, 461, 472 and 479.

Not only will the calls be toll free, but it will also no longer be necessary to dial "1" before the prefixes.

The agreement between Pacific Telephone and Western Telephone Co., which provides telephone service in Novato, was approved by the California Public Utilities Commission in May, 1967.

The companies were given two years to start the new service.

At the time the new service goes into effect, Novato and Ignacio customers will have a rate increase but San Rafael will not, because a rate increase going into effect next Tuesday has taken into consideration the new arrangement.

SAN RAFAEL — Business service will rise from $9.55 to $13.25 on Tuesday with no increase in April; residence service from $3.90 to $4.65 on Tuesday with no increase in April.

IGNACIO — Business service will rise from $7.35 to $9 on Tuesday and to $11.25 in April; residence service from $4.25 to $4.75 on Tuesday and to $5.15 in April.

NOVATO — No increase on Tuesday but business rate will rise from $10.25 to $13.10 and residence rate from $5 to $6.20 in April.

"The two were selected on the basis of their outstanding project work during their years as 4-H Club members." They will attend the statewide all-star conference to be held next summer at Davis.

Madelyn is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert A. Angress of Marshall. Glenn is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Parks of Tomales.

Judges who picked the all-stars were were James McNern, former 4-H all-star, Virginia Shattuck of San Rafael, Mrs. Vera Miller of San Anselmo and Peter J. Ferrarese, manager of Crocker Citizens Bank in Novato.

Simpson Leads UPI A-A Team

NEW YORK (UPI)—O.J. "Orange Juice" Simpson, who often makes the difficult look easy, accomplished the "impossible" today when he got the nation's sports writers and broadcasters to agree on one thing unanimously.

Simpson, the record-breaking running back from Southern California, was a unanimous choice on all 202 ballots cast in the voting for the 1968 United Press International All-America college football team announced today.

It marked the first time in the history of the team—the only All-America team chosen by direct vote of the nation's sports writers and broadcasters—that one man was named on all the ballots. The closest previous approach to perfection came in 1966 when end George "Bubba" Smith of Michigan State missed a unanimous vote by seven ballots.

It also marked the second straight year that Simpson, now a senior, had led the voting for the All-America team and for the second year in a row versatile back Leroy Keyes of Purdue, who received votes both on offense and defense, was runner-up with a total of 191 ballots.

One thing Simpson was not able to do—to lead Southern Cal to the greatest number of places on the All-America team. The Trojans, who had four men on the squad last year, landed only two this time—Simpson and defensive back Mike Battle.

THE OFFENSIVE MR. NAMATH

New York Jets quarterback Joe Namath, Fu Manchu-type mustache and all, yesterday was named the American Football League's offensive player of the week after leading the Jets to a 37-15 victory over the San Diego Chargers Sunday. Namath said he'll shave off the mustache when the Jets clinch the AFL championship. (AP Wirephoto)

Hart Resigns, Pitt Looks For New Coach

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The University of Pittsburgh, once a football power but now just another loser, is searching again for a coach.

The search began yesterday when Dave Hart, an enthusiastic but unproductive coach, resigned.

Not since 1963 when Pitt had a 9-1 record has the school had a winner. Hart's three teams shared 1-9 records, but the season just ended may have been the worse.

Opponents racked up 393 points against Pitt, the most in the school's history. Scores like 63-7, 48-0, 50-17 and 65-9 are in the record book.

Hart was hired in 1965 to rejuvenate a sliding team under John Michelosen. But Hart's record was worse.

Still, the former high school coach successfully recruited players other Eastern schools wanted badly.

But it's on this success that Hart pinned at least part of his downfall. Night after night, he said, were spent on the banquet circuit or in homes of prospects—reducing his coaching time and energy.

When he came to Pitt, 40 players showed up for football; this season he had 80.

"I hope the new guy can coach 80 guys and not worry about getting 40 new ones," Hart told reporters.

Before this season Hart and publicists billed Pitt as a much improved team, and the season as "The year the Panthers begin to growl." It never happened.

Hart left Pitt with a suggestion—lowering Pitt's strict academic standards for players.

Chancellor Wesley M. Posvar, when pressed, admitted the whole academic program is undergoing analysis which may bring about innovations. But he gave no hint that standards for athletes will be lowered.

Hart said he resigned of his own accord, but he said nobody rushed to stop him when he offered to quit.

"Well, it might be the smart thing to do," he said Frank Carver, the athletic director, told him during a 15-minute conversation.

"I think you have made the right decision," Carver said he told Hart.

Posvar announced that a committee has been named to search for a new coach. He said, however, that Hart's contract, which has one year to go, would be honored.

Hart, a native of Connellsville, coached high school teams in Pennsylvania for 11 years before he went to Kentucky and then Navy as an assistant coach.

"I'm a fighter," he said. "I expected to return and wish I could but it's not supposed to be."

Atkins Finished

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Doug Atkins of the New Orleans Saints, has been lost for the rest of the NFL season with a fractured kneecap.

Farr Out For Year

DETROIT (AP) — Mel Farr of the Detroit Lions of the NFL will undergo surgery on his left knee and will be out for the rest of the season. The knee was injured in a game against the San Francisco 49ers on Oct. 27.

Mike Ryan Wins NCAA Cross Country

NEW YORK (AP) — Mike Ryan, an aspiring fighter pilot who calls Okinawa home, has proven his speed afoot by capturing the NCAA cross country championship in a duel with two Eastern distance stars.

Ryan, a 5-foot-7, 145-pound junior at the Air Force Academy, beat Georgetown's Steve Stageberg by 60 yards yesterday for the individual NCAA crown, with Art Dulong of Holy Cross third.

Villanova took the team title for the third straight year although its top finisher, Tom Donnelly, placed eighth in the six-mile test at Van Cortlandt Park. The Wildcats compiled a low score of 78 points. Stanford was second with 101 and Southern California third with 108.

Ryan, who was born in Ithaca, N.Y., but lists his home as Okinawa, where his father is a lieutenant colonel in the Air Force, took the lead from Dulong at the four-mile mark and won in 29 minutes, 16.8 seconds.

Stageberg, winner of the IC4-A meet at the same park last week, came on to take second from Dulong, who was allowed to compete by a special vote of the executive committee after learning his entry had not been received in time.

Team placings below the first three were unofficial and individual placings below the first 20 also were in doubt.

Nolan Says Belk To Start Against Packers Sunday

SAN FRANCISCO — Rookie defensive end Bill Belk, who has turned in fine performances since being called up two weeks ago, will get his second starting assignment Sunday when the San Francisco 49ers take on the Green Bay Packers.

The massive end from Maryland State grabbed a fumble in San Francisco's 20-20 tie with Los Angeles two weeks ago and last Sunday grabbed off a Dick Shiner pass for a touchdown as the 49ers routed Pittsburgh, 45-28.

Coach Dick Nolan was forced to call on Belk after regular Clark Miller injured his knee and backup man Kevin Hardy also suffered the same injury. Hardy, however, is expected to be ready for the Packer clash.

Nolan said yesterday he was satisfied with most of the players but does want to "make changes in certain areas."

Hoping for a speedy halfback in the draft, he said he was looking for three things: "speed, consistency and ability to perform in clutch situations."

Cal Quint Tabbed As 2nd

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Northern California basketball writers have picked California to finish runner-up to mighty UCLA in the Pacific-8 conference.

The Bruins are virtually everybody's pick to finish No. 1 in the nation.

Behind Cal in yesterday's predicted final standings were Southern California, Oregon State and Washington State.

And where will Stanford finish?

Indian Coach Howie Dallmar smiled wryly as he told the writers' luncheon:

"We held an intrasquad scrimmage Thursday — first team against second team and the second team won handily. That means either we have great depth or we have problems."

California Coach Jim Padgett said his Bears "have some talent." But he said they're a young team and will have to prove themselves under pressure.

In the West Coast Athletic Conference, Santa Clara was named to repeat as champion. But Coach Dick Garibaldi was only mildly optimistic.

"They're probably the best first string I've ever had, but the worst reserves," he said.

The Broncos' main opposition is expected to come from the University of the Pacific Tigers, whose coach, Dick Edwards, said he will have all the starters back and gunning for their third league title in four years.

The apparent have-not in the circuit will be the University of San Francisco, with the entire starting five gone by graduation.

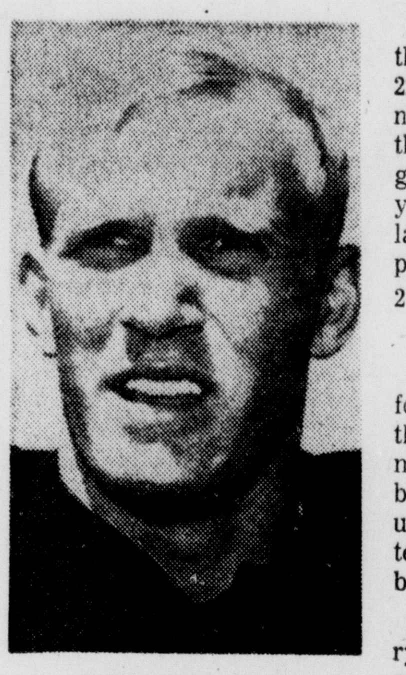
BEWARE, NAVY

Army Quarterback Not Flashy, Gets Job Done

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — A few of the uninitiated television fans watching the Army-Navy football game Saturday may get a jolt when Steven Lindell pops on the screen as the Army quarterback.

"Do they call that guy a passer?" may be a first astonished reaction. "Whoever told him he was a quarterback?"

The shock will stem from the fact that Lindell is far from the image of the classic quarterback. Sometimes he throws the ball end over end. Other times the ball seems to wobble and fade in the air.



STEVE LINDELL

Army star

SCRAMBLES

From his quarterback slot, Lindell scoots and scrambles. He often doesn't follow the pattern. At first glance, it appears he is lost and doesn't know what he is doing.

However, he usually gets the ball away and usually somebody catches it. Statistically, he is the best passer in Army's long and glittering football history.

"He isn't what you would call a classic passer," says Army Coach Tom Cahill. "I doubt if the pros would be interested in him even if he weren't committed to a military career.

"He's simply a guy who gets the job done. He has been a great inspiration for our team."

When Lindell ends his varsity career against Navy Saturday, he will have wiped out some of the proudest offensive records in Army football, eclipsing marks set by the great Chris Cagle, Carl Stichweh and Pete Vann.

He already has beaten Cagle's mark for most plays. In three season, Lindell has had part in 743 plays compared with Cagle's four-year total of 613 from 1926 through 1929.

As a sophomore in 1966, Lindell had a hand in more plays than any Army player ever—281.

In passing alone, Lindell has thrown 455 times and completed 227, both Army records, and needs only 15 more yards through the air in the Navy game to surpass the total aerial yardage set by Pete Vann. The latter held the record of 372 passes and 174 completions for 2,915 yards.

STARTS IN '66

The Army quarterback, a six-foot, 180-pounder who hails from the little town of Princeton 30 miles northwest of Minneapolis, burst into bloom as Army's unorthodox but effective quarterback in 1966, the year that brought Cahill in as head coach.

Lindell starred in a 20-7 victory over Navy. Last year he completed 13 of 21 passes for 173 yards and two touchdowns against Utah. This year he scurried 26 yards against Pittsburgh and 41 against Boston College for touchdowns and kept Army in the game against Penn State, losing to the unbeaten Nittany Lions 28-24.

San Rafael 2nd In Swim Meet

The San Rafael Swim Club took second place in team standings at the second annual Blackford Invitational Swim Meet held at Blackford High School in San Jose Saturday.

Palo Alto Swim Club won the meet.

The San Rafael club took five relay victories and 11 individual wins in the meet.

Oaks Beat Houston, Fatten Lead

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Rick Barry scored only 25 points, 10 below his average, and the Oakland Oaks scored their lowest total of the season but that didn't stop them from winning.

The Oaks seek their second straight victory on a four-game road trip at New Orleans tonight against the Buccaneers after beating Houston 111-102 last night.

Oakland increased its lead to five games over Los Angeles in the American Basketball Association's Western Division.

The Mavericks pulled to within 106-100 with 1:02 left on toy Jackson's three-point basket but Houston fouls enabled the Oaks to keep the lead.

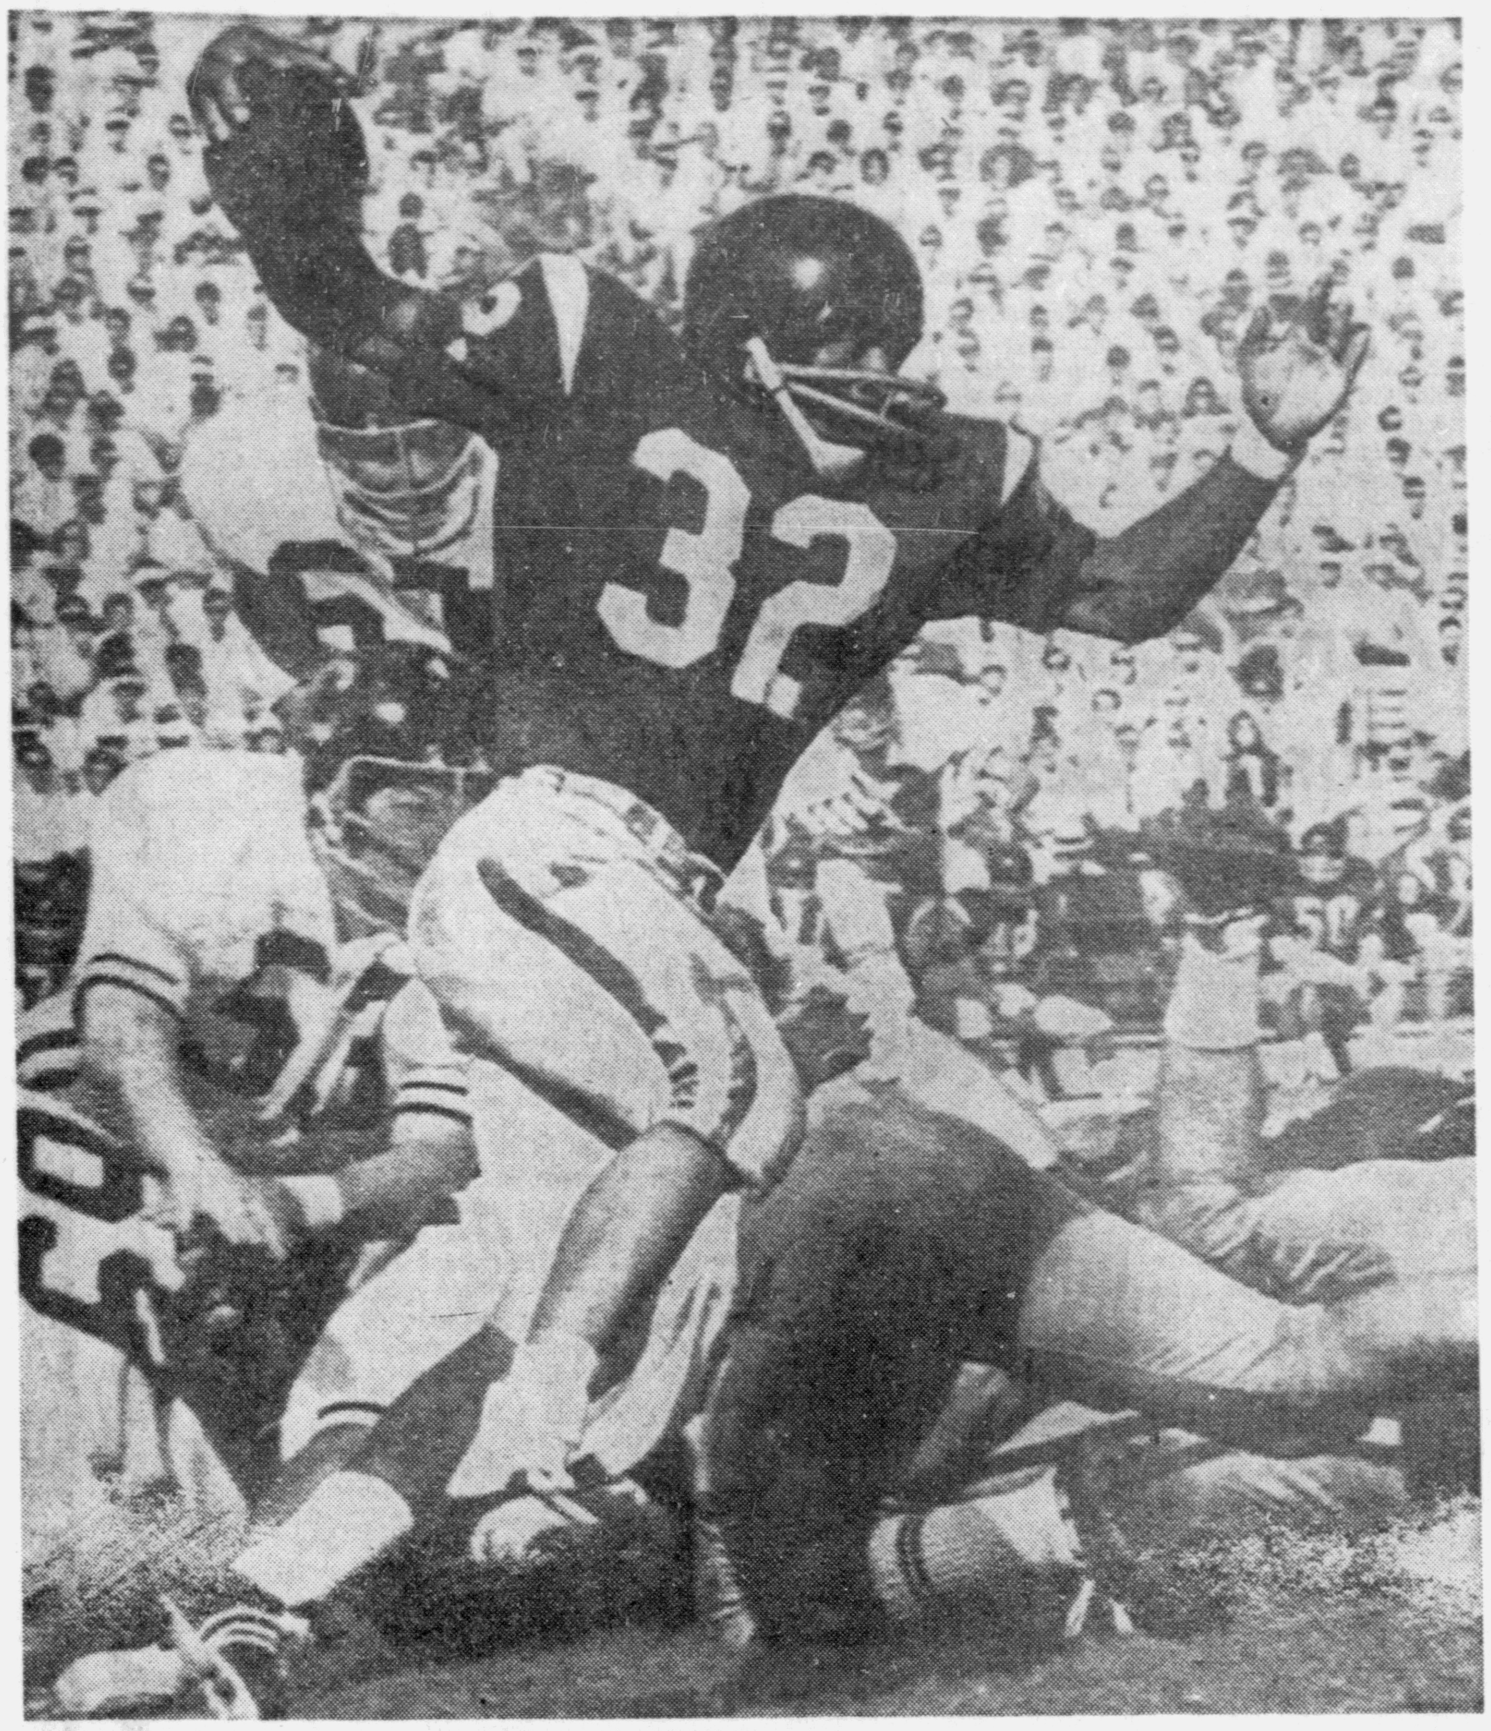
USC's Fabulous Simpson Captures Heisman Trophy



THE WINNER — University of Southern California great O. J. Simpson, shown here in action against California Nov. 9, today was named winner of the Heisman Trophy as the outstanding collegiate football player in the country.

(AP Wirephoto)

NEW YORK (AP) — O. J. Simpson, Southern California's record-breaking runner, was named winner of the Heisman Trophy today as college football's best player for 1968.

Simpson, an All-American as a junior last season, was an overwhelming choice in the voting conducted by the Downtown Athletic Club among the nation's sports writers and sportscasters.

He received 2,853 points to 1,103 for runner-up Leroy Keyes of Purdue and 387 for Terry Hanratty of Notre Dame.

The 6-2, 207-pound Simpson, a superb athlete with the effortless grace of a deer but the shattering power of a bull, cracked collegiate ball-carrying records this year in leading Southern Cal to nine straight victories and the No. 2 national ranking.

He has overshadowed the performances of such all-time great running stars as Red Grange, Tom Harmon, Glenn Davis, Jimmy Brown and Gale Sayers.

He has carried the ball this year 334 times, a record, and piled up 1,654 yards rushing, a new peak in that category. He has scored 21 touchdowns, the most in the nation.

A transfer from City College of San Francisco, Simpson has played only two seasons with USC but in that period has accomplished more than many top-grade athletes are able to gain in three.

His career record shows him with 3,069 yards rushing and 32 touchdowns. No athlete has ever gained more on the ground in two years.

O. J. has a good chance of grabbing two other season marks with a game against Notre Dame left. He needs only 17 points to overtake Jim O'Brien of Cincinnati, who has finished for the scoring lead. He needs to pick up 85 more yards in any fashion—running, pass-catching, kick-returning—to pass Eugene Morris of West Texas State as the nation's No. 1 all-purpose back of 168. Morris has 1,957 hards, Simpson 1,872.

O. J. called "Orange Juice" by his mates, grew up with a brother and two sisters in a black neighborhood of San Francisco called Portero Hills. They were reared by their mother, a hospital worker.

In high school, he was a 5-10, 160-pound tackle. He frequently was in trouble with juvenile authorities. Later he fell under the influence of the Booker T. Washington Community Center, which headed him toward a college education.

Simpson is sure to be No. 1 in the pro football draft and O. J. says, "Ive always longed for those pro dollars."

THANKSGIVING DAY BATTLE

Tars To Face Star QB

It's another "big game week" for College of Marin's football squad, and the tenseness is beginning to show.

With the Tars' State J.C. Playoff date with Fresno City College two days away, coach Dick Read has gone over the films of Fresno games so many times he's probably seeing the Valley Conference champions in his dreams.

And the figure that will appear most often in those dreams, and in Read's thoughts up to Thursday's noon kickoff in Fresno's Ratcliffe Stadium is that of Ram quarterback Mike Rasmussen, a 6-foot-1, 170-pound lefthander who rates as the best quarterback Read has seen in eight years of junior college coaching.

NATURAL

"Rasmussen is what makes them a great team," said Read. "If they didn't have him, they'd just be a good club — with him, they're terrific. He's a real natural athlete, quick, good hands— he must play basketball or baseball too — and a real quick release, fine short and medium passer."

With three good receivers and a fine offensive backfield as well as a small but quick line, Rasmussen has led Fresno to an offensive average of 375 yards per game in the Rams' 7-2 season mark. Steve Natsues, the swift flanker who is in the top 15 in statewide receiving, is his favorate target, but tight end Bob Burdick and split end Bob Davidon are almost as good.

PROBLEMS

"They present a lot of problems to the defense," sighed Read, remarking that since Rasmussen is lefthanded, he confuses the defense and can roll to his left and throw back across the field, which is hard on a righthander. In addition, the Ram frosh is adept at changing huddle calls at the line of scrimmage via audibles, and has great accuracy (103 completions in 195 attempts for 1,600 yards) and a lot of guts. "He got hit real good a few times in the games we saw on film," said Read, "but he just got up and kept the team moving."

Running the team from a pro-set formation, sometimes shifting out of an I formation, Rasmussen runs a strong ground game, with a very effective off-tackle play. "The off-tackle is every team's bread and butter," says Read. "It's been ours for the last three years. They run it very well, and we have to stop it to stop them. But it's hard because they can hit you from so many different angles."

FORMATION

The Rams will also run quick pitches to the fullback or tailback, who lines up as deep man in the I, the same way O. J. Simpson does for USC. Happily, the Rams have no O. J. — but what they have is tough enough.

Rasmussen will drop back and throw, or roll out and set up. With his quick release, he can wait until the last possible moment to throw. In addition, he can run. In the 34-27 Ram win over archrival College of Sequoias that won the Valley title, he ran for 55 yards in 12 carries to lead FCC's ground game, in addition to passing for 268 years.

GOOD MORALE

Overall, Read feels that team morale is good. The eligibility issue now only affects one player, who may be able to play, and star halfback Tim Garvin is back on the starting team after missing the Santa Rosa finale due to grades.

"If we get too afraid or too flat, we'll get beat badly down there," said Read. "But if we play a tough game, the kind we're capable of, we can do it. It'll take a maximum effort from the whole team, but if we make the effort it'll be real close and we can win. I just don't want to get the kids too keyed up too early. I have a lot of faith in this team; they've come from behind so many times this year, I think they have the courage it takes to win."

SETTLEMENT TO FEUD?

Most Golfers Still Hopeful

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP) — Most of the golfing tourists at the Cajun Classic, the year's last circuit stop, were hopeful of an early settlement of the war between the Professional Golfers Association and the American Professional Golfers.

Leaders of the APG, the organization of tournament pros who've split away from the PGA in a fight over control of the $5 million plus tour, flew to Florida for talks yesterday with the hierarchy of the PGA.

TO MEET

APG President Gardner Dickinson and Dan Sikes Jr., a lawyer as well as a tournament golf star, were to meet with the president, vice president and treasurer of the PGA.

Dickinson, asked in an interview here what it would take to satisfy the touring pros so they would remain with the PGA, replied:

"What it's been all along, what it's been for 30 years, or 40, or however long they have been hollering at each other.

"The touring pros' rights in matters pertaining strictly to tournaments run by the PGA, to cast the deciding vote as to how the tour is run, who works for them and so fourth.

"That's all it is. One vote majority. One more touring player than a majority of the tournament committee."

However, PGA National Vice President Nobole Chalfant of Denver, who also was here, said in an interview he didn't think the PGA would ever permit the touring players to have "complete control. The (the PGA) want a share in all negotiations."

Chalfant said the PGA has talked about a golf czar ever since Jack Tuthill resigned as PGA tournament director and joined the APG staff.

"There has been talk of getting a tournament manager and different names have been discussed, but no one has been offered a position, job or anything," said Chalfant.

"I don't think we're in a position to do so at this time until we know what the future of tournament golf is going to be."

Dickinson, however, when asked how he felt about a czar, said:

SECRET

"We have offered the job to someone. I can't tell you who at this time."

Many of the golfers in the Cajun Classic, which rookie Ron Cerrudo, of San Rafael, won, privately said they felt a compromise may be reached before the PGA and APG are due back in federal court next month.

"Our door has never been shut," said Dickinson. "Stuck a little, but it isn't closed."

ANDERSON SPEAKS OUT ON GUN LAW

WASHINGTON (AP) — Olympic rifle champion, Gary Anderson said yesterday he doesn't think the nation's new gun control law will hinder most hunters and marksmen who shoot for sport.

Anderson, former student at San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo who now lives in Axtell, Neb., appeared at a news conference at the National Rifle Association to take a couple of potshots at part of the new regulations. He said they would have made it impossible for him to buy the rifle with which he won his second straight Olympic gold medal.

But Anderson added his specific problem of getting special imported rifles probably could be worked out in the future. And he conceded the new laws would not impose any restrictions on the average hunter and sportsman.

The gun control law forbids mail sales of arms and ammunition across state lines, requires special licenses for gun imports, and bans all sales to ex-convicts, minors and the mentally incompetent.

Other Blacks Give Support To Gridders

SAN JOSE (AP) — San Jose State's seven embattled Negro football players, in danger of losing their scholarships if they boycott Saturday's game with Brigham Young University, have received support from their counterparts in other sports.

Representatives of the basketball and track teams said at a meeting yesterday that the Negroes on those teams and in other sports had all voted to turn in their scholarships if the football players lost theirs.

The football players have said they will refuse to play against BYU here because of alleged racial policies of the Mormon Church, which runs the university.

At first, said linebacker Tony Jackson, the Negroes were assured they would not lose their scholarships for refusing to play.

"President (Robert) Clark and (Athletic Director Bob) Bronzan said that if they were black, they'd do the same thing," Jackson said.

But after white athletes threatened not to play last Saturday against Arizona State if the Negroes' boycott went unpunished, Jackson said, Clark and Bronzan changed their minds.

As it stands now, the Negroes will lose their athletic scholarships, but other money will be made available.

This, however, didn't satisfy the Negro athletes, who noted that NCAA rules would keep them from ever competing in college again if they lost their scholarships.

The athletes have formed a Black Athletes Federation, which, besides threatening to turn in all their scholarships, made the following demands:

That the school hire a Negro football coach to replace Harry Anderson, who is retiring after this season. Walter Roberts, a San Jose graduate who went on to play with the National Football League Los Angeles Rams and Cleveland Browns, was mentioned.

That San Jose discontinue all athletic events with Brigham Young University.

That a Negro be hired as assistant athletic director.

That Negro athletes be discouraged from enrolling at San Jose unless the "racist conditions under which black athletes operate at San Jose State College daily" improve.

Attending the meeting were Olympic track stars John Carlos and Ronnie Ray Smith and basketball players C.J. Haward and Darrell Hillman.

No New League Move For Marin Catholic

To the great relief of many local persons, the California Interscholastic Federation has shelved a plan to transfer Marin Catholic High School out of the Marin County Athletic League and into a new conference with some East Bay schools.

The parochial school of Kentfield was vehemently against such a move because of transportation expenses and gate appeal that would suffer in competition against non-Marin schools.

Marin is the smallest school in the MCAL and plays an independent football schedule against schools its own size, but competes with the seven other MCAL members in other sports and will continue to do so, thanks to the CIF's change of heart.

Like Father, Like Son

ALL-LEAGUE FOOTBALL honors seem to run in the Jay Simon family of Corte Madera. When Redwood High School center Phil Simon, a junior, was named to the All-Marin County Athletic League last week he was just following in his dad's footsteps. Jay Simon, now a contractor, was an All-North Bay League tackle at Tamalpais high back in the 1940s, All-Northern California Junior College selection at College of at Oregon State. Jay never turned professional; he Marin and then honorable mention All-Pacific Coast remained Simon pure.

WELL, THE GANG down at College of Marin finally got their Toilet Bowl touch tackle football game played the other day and what a romp. The COM Times staff beat the Associated Student Government 69-21 as Rick Beban passed for six touchdowns and Editor-In-Chief Kimo Campbell scored four times, twice on passes from Beban. "We're flushed with victory," said Campbell. Harry Gilbert and Mike Conroy starred for the losers.

Good Job By Baccaglio

MARTIN BACCAGLIO, the former Novato High, College of Marin and San Jose standout, was mentioned prominently on television Sunday for his defensive end work for the Cincinnati Bengals against the Oakland Raiders.

Obtained by Cincinnati from the San Diego Chargers earlier this season, Baccaglio recovered the Raiders' only fumble and was in on several tackles.

DAVID CHASE, son of Mrs. Ruth P. Chase of Greenbrae, starred for the University of Rochester soccer team this season and drew praise as an "excellent defender" from coach Bill Boomer.

WORD FROM University of Santa Clara reports that former Drake High basketball all-star Bob Tobin should see considerable action with the Bronco varsity as a forward this bounceball season. Bob is now a junior and has grown to 6-5, 220 pounds.

Santa Clara, U S F In Cable Car Classic

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Two San Francisco Bay Area teams will be among the competitors in the annual Cable Car Classic Basketball Tournament, set for Dec. 13-14.

The University of Santa Clara, winner of the tournament last year, will meet the Houston Cougars and the University of San Francisco will tangle with Brigham Young University, Provo, Utah, on the first day of the tournament.

The winners will meet for the title Dec. 14.

Girl Jock Now Tries Singing

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Thwarted at her effort to become the first woman jockey in American horse racing, Penny Ann Early began a bid today for a singing career.

"I can ride better than I sing," the comely 25-year-old said when she stepped off a plane here last night.

Jay Bainwater, an independent producer in this recording center, brought Miss Early to Nashville and says she will cut a single record. Rainwater added he expects to sell about 100,000 copies.

"I'm a shower singer," Penny Ann said.

"I've got a song that you can sing in the showers," Rainwater responded.

Miss Early failed at her first bid to become a jockey when she couldn't get a mount before the close of the fall racing season at Churchill Downs at Louisville, Ky.

But she did land a contract with the Kentucky Colonels of the American Basketball Association, although her sports career so far has consisted of adding glamor to the Colonels' bench.

Miss Early will try to break the sex barrier next at Latonia racetrack.

"I think I'll ride before next week is over," she said, even if it requires a court fight. "There's the Civil Rights Act, you know."

Leaders for Paradise were Jay Johnson 15, Jim Halm 13, Jack Stromberg 12 and Al Patsei 12.

Sports Commissioners Sound Like Children

From time to time Pete Rozelle, commissioner of football, and William D. Eckert, commissioner of baseball, make conflicting claims. Rozelle claims football commands the biggest audiences in television. Eckert insists it's baseball.

The commissioners sound like a couple of kids claiming "My all day sucker is bigger than yours."

Eckert's office just released a two-page statement claiming that the fourth game of the 1968 World Series played in Detroit on Sunday, Oct. 6, was viewed in more homes and by more people than any other sports event in history.

"Over 28.5 million homes tuned to the game," the statement read. "This is almost a million more homes than saw the previously No. 1 ranked Sunday game of the 1963 World Series between the Dodgers and Yankees.

"BASED ON an estimated 2.75 persons to a home, this means that some 78,577,500 watched the 1968 World Series game in the United States. In addition, the game was televised into Canada, Japan, Mexico and other Latin American countries.

"This represented the second largest TV audience of all time for any program. Only the 1967 Academy Awards show drew a larger TV audience."

ON AND ON went the statement which finally acknowledged that football also draws sizeable TV audiences. It admitted that the 1968 Super Bowl was third on the all-time TV sports list with 27 million homes tuned in.

AND IN doing so Rozelle jumped to the same illogical conclusion about football TV audiences that Eckert reached about World Series TV audiences.

"From the ratings," Rozelle declared earlier in the year, "it is clear that pro football commands television's biggest audiences."

"FROM THE rankings," Eckert declared in his recent release, "it is easy to conclude that World Series is still America's No. 1 sports event."

There's no need to point out the flaws in such fuzzy logic. Elementary rules of clear thinking prohibit general conclusions from specific facts.

And, indeed, the specific audience ratings of both the World Series and the Super Bowl might be challenged. For instance, how many homes are there in your neighborhood with 2.75 persons?

Rested Warriors To Face Bulls

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—After taking back-to-back victories with little more than three hours of sleep, the San Francisco Warriors will be well rested when they play the Chicago Bulls in a National Basketball Association game tomorrow night at the Cow Palace.

The Warriors walloped Seattle 132-119 Saturday night at the Cow Palace. They had beaten Los Angeles 100-98 at Los Angeles Friday night but had to wait long hours — missing sleep—as both the Los Angeles and San Francisco airports were fogged in.

Lack of sleep didn't appear to bother Joe Ellis as he hit 15 of 19 shots from the floor and added two free throws for 32 points in pacing the victory over Seattle.

The victory pulled the Warriors over .500 with a 10-9 record.

Alcindor, Bruins Rated No. 1 Again

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The UCLA basketball team, seeking an unprecedented third straight national championship, opens the 1968-69 season where it left off last year — the No. 1 rated team in the country.

All-American center Lew Alcindor and fellow Bruins were the unanimous choice to repeat UCLA's title claim in the annual preseason poll conducted by The Associated Press.

PERFECT SCORE

The AP selectors voted a perfect 400 points for UCLA, with North Carolina, Kentucky, Notre Dame and Kansas trailing in that order.

Coach John Wooden was pleased by the compliment but he's a cautious man with predictions involving his teams.

UCLA opens its campaign here Saturday night against Purdue, and Wooden has only to recall that it took a last second basket to down the Boilermakers, 73-71.

Today, in fact, Wooden is not ready to name his starting team. The front line seems set, with seniors Lynn Shackleford, 6-5, Jim Nielsen, 6-7, and 7-2 Alcindor, who now weighs in at 235.

There is, however, a lively battle at guard, and that is where Wooden still has to make decisions.

UCLA played an intra-squad game last Friday night. A crowd of 8,260 paid to see it.

"The thing that pleased me most," said Wodden, "was that our guards did better than they did in practice. As I've said before, my front line could be one of the greatest in collegiate history."

Wooden was especially pleased with John Vallely, a 6-2½ guard, a junior college transfer, and three senior backcourt men, Bill Sweek, 6-3; Don Saffer, 6-1, and Kenny Heitz, 6-3½.

Of Alcindor, Wooden observed significantly:

MORE MATURE

"He is more mature, five pounds heavier and appears to have better stamina this year. He definitely is more maneuverable. But perhaps most importantly, he is more at ease and seems to be enjoying it more."

If Lew is indeed enjoying it more, it stands to reason UCLA's opponents may enjoy it less this season.

Rounding out the top 10 in the AP poll, in order, were Davidson, St. Bonaventure, Houston, New Mexico and Purdue.

The second 10: 11, Villanova, 12, Ohio State. 13, Vanderbilt. 14, Cincinnati. 15, Marquette. 16, Western Kentucky. 17, Duke. 18, Detroit. 19, Florida. 20, Tennessee.

Pasadena Bowl: Sacramento St. Vs. Grambling

PASADENA (AP) — The Pasadena Bowl, formerly known as the Junior Rose Bowl, will pit Sacramento State College of California against Louisiana's Grambling College.

Both teams will bring regular-season records of 8-2 into the Dec. 7 game.

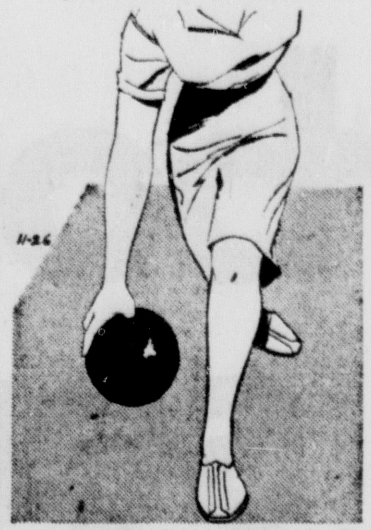
Grambling is this year's Southwestern Athletics Conference tri-champion. Sacramento State, runner-up to Humboldt State in the Far Western Conference, led the circuit in defense.

Grambling will be coached by Eddie Robinson, virtually an institution at the school. He's in his 27th season there. Ray Clemens, in his eighth year at Sacramento State, will coach the Hornets.

The 23-year-old game was opened to four-year colleges last year. West Texas State College, which defeated San Fernando State College of Northridge, Calif., 35-13 last year, declined an invitation to return.

BOWLING TIPS

By MARION LADEWIG



It may be fun to twist on the dance floor, but its counterpart on the bowling lanes won't work. The woman in today's illustration is about to turn her wrist violently counter-clockwise at release in an effort to increase the sidespin of the ball. Her fingers are on the right side of the ball. The best release finds the fingers more behind the ball at this point with only a minimal wrist-twist.

Marin Kids Gain Coast Ice Skating

Michelle Robinson and Forrest Craig will be representing the Marin Figure Skating Club at the Pacific Coast Figure Skating Championships Dec. 12 through 14 in Los Angeles.

Other club members at Squaw Valley included Caroline Sturquelle, third, juvenile girls; Lisa Craig, fourth, pre-juvenile; Gracie Fleming, eighth, pre-juvenile girls, and Kim Likerman, fourth, intermediate ladies.

Juli McKinstry, 12, of San Rafael, who skates out of Santa Rosa, teamed with Charlie Tickner, 14, of Walnut Creek, to defend the Novice Division pairs title at the Squaw Valley meet.

Blame Thoughtless Hunters For 'Off-Limits' Territory

By JAMES K. WOODWORTH

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Thousands of nimrods took to the fields last weekend on the opening day of the annual pheasant season and many found the open hunting areas have been reduced as more and more landowners find it necessary to place their property "off-limits" to hunters.

It is always startling to us to find that all sportsmen are placed in one category, almost as destructive pests, because of the actions of a few, unthinking, and obviously unsportsmanlike individuals.

Some of the blame can be placed on the new hunter who invades property because he does not know the "rules" of a true sportsman, which require clearing with the landowner for the privilege of hunting on his property.

TARGET PRACTICE

We have known farmers and rice growers who formerly welcomed hunters to their lands, but due to the thoughtlessness of a few, these lands have now been closed, and little wonder. Not long ago we came upon a trio of deer hunters who had stopped in the forest to rest, and consume a few beers. They left the empty cans strewn about the property and were enjoying themselves by tossing them in the air and firing their rifles in attempts at hitting the flying cans, which were left where they fell.

Others have patiently worked for 15 or 20 minutes to remove "No Trasspassing-No Hunting" signs so they could claim they did not see them, and most hunters have seen these signs literally riddled with bullets where some angry, immature gun toter had taken his wrath out on the sign.

It is such irrational acts which result in demands for restrictions on guns and it is time the sportsmen themselves joined together to stop this type of practice, or they may see more actions to curb guns, hunting and other sports as well.

It may be considered unusual and harsh punishment, but it is our feeling that unless action is taken immediately, much will be lost in the way of hunting.

Therefore, we believe stiffer penalties may be in order for the misuse of guns . . . such as lifetime revocation of hunting permits . . . since it is our feeling that misuse of a weapon once makes it easier to misuse the gun a second time . . . and so on.

If some hard stand is not taken by the real sportsmen of the state, and soon, these juvenile-thinking gun wielders could end for all time the present cooperation between sportsmen and landowners throughout the state.

DEER INCREASE

Preliminary deer tag returns indicate an increased "take" of deer of more than 25 per cent above last year. Total so far, including the special season hunts, has been placed at 52,061 deer taken in all hunts.

Tag returns for the late season were up 28 per cent, from the 23,658 a year ago to 30,272 this year.

The report of 52,061 deer killed is still well below the average of 61,729 bucks killed during the five-year period between 1962 and 1966, the final year before the adoption of the "self-validation" system, which allows hunters to validate their own deer tags.

There is some speculation that the reduction in kill reports may be due to this new system of self-validation, started last year.

Which foreign car is chock full of American nuts and bolts?

Cortina's the one. Built by Ford in England, Cortina has a stout-hearted 4-cylinder engine that will take you up to 30 miles per gallon. Yet this 1500 cc mill produces over 70 horsepower to get you into fast traffic—fast. In fact, Cortina is heir to more than 500 victories in international road races and rallies. Add 5-passenger room and 12 cu. ft. of useable trunk, and you can't go wrong. And even if it should, your Ford Motor Company dealer can fix it.

Simpson Leads UPI A-A Team

NEW YORK (UPI)—O.J. "Orange Juice" Simpson, who often makes the difficult look easy, accomplished the "impossible" today when he got the nation's sports writers and broadcasters to agree on one thing unanimously.

Simpson, the record-breaking running back from Southern California, was a unanimous choice on all 202 ballots cast in the voting for the 1968 United Press International All-America college football team announced today.

It marked the first time in the history of the team—the only All-America team chosen by direct vote of the nation's sports writers and broadcasters—that one man was named on all the ballots. The closest previous approach to perfection came in 1966 when end George "Bubba" Smith of Michigan State missed a unanimous vote by seven ballots.

It also marked the second straight year that Simpson, now a senior, had led the voting for the All-America team and for the second year in a row versatile back Leroy Keyes of Purdue, who received votes both on offense and defense, was runner-up with a total of 191 ballots.

One thing Simpson was not able to do—to lead Southern Cal to the greatest number of places on the All-America team. The Trojans, who had four men on the squad last year, landed only two this time—Simpson and defensive back Mike Battle.

San Rafael, Drake and Redwood high schools took championships in the fall sports season of the Marin County Athletic League girls' division.

San Rafael swept to the swimming title with a 6-0 won-lost record to edge Redwood (5-1). The Redwood gals suffered the same bridesmaid fate in tennis where Drake of San Anselmo won with a 6-0 mark.

Redwood finally came through in volleyball where it won a 10-game schedule with a 9-1 mark. Marin Catholic of Kentfield 1 was runnerup and took the junior varsity title with an 8-2 record.

New York Jets quarterback Joe Namath, Fu Manchu-type mustache and all, yesterday was named the American Football League's offensive player of the week after leading the Jets to a 37-15 victory over the San Diego Chargers Sunday. Hart Resigns, Pitt Looks For New Coach

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The University of Pittsburgh, once a football power but now just another loser, is searching again for a coach.

The search began yesterday when Dave Hart, an enthusiastic but unproductive coach, resigned.

Not since 1963 when Pitt had a 9-1 record has the school had a winner. Hart's three teams shared 1-9 records, but the season just ended may have been the worse.

Opponents racked up 393 points against Pitt, the most in the school's history. Scores like 63-7, 48-0, 50-17 and 65-9 are in the record book.

Hart was hired in 1965 to rejuvenate a sliding team under John Michelosen. But Hart's record was worse.

Still, the former high school coach successfully recruited players other Eastern schools wanted badly.

But it's on this success that Hart pinned at least part of his downfall. Night after night, he said, were spent on the banquet circuit or in homes of prospects—reducing his coaching time and energy.

When he came to Pitt, 40 players showed up for football; this season he had 80.

"I hope the new guy can coach 80 guys and not worry about getting 40 new ones," Hart told reporters.

Before this season Hart and publicists billed Pitt as a much improved team, and the season as "The year the Panthers begin to growl." It never happened.

Hart left Pitt with a suggestion—lowering Pitt's strict academic standards for players.

Chancellor Wesley M. Posvar, when pressed, admitted the whole academic program is undergoing analysis which may bring about innovations. But he gave no hint that standards for athletes will be lowered.

Hart said he resigned of his own accord, but he said nobody rushed to stop him when he offered to quit.

"Well, it might be the smart thing to do," he said Frank Carver, the athletic director, told him during a 15-minute conversation.

"I think you have made the right decision," Carver said he told Hart.

Posvar announced that a committee has been named to search for a new coach. He said, however, that Hart's contract, which has one year to go, would be honored.

Hart, a native of Connellsville, coached high school teams in Pennsylvania for 11 years before he went to Kentucky and then Navy as an assistant coach.

"I'm a fighter," he said. "I expected to return and wish I could but it's not supposed to be."

Farr Out For Year

DETROIT (AP) — Mel Farr of the Detroit Lions of the NFL will undergo surgery on his left knee and will be out for the rest of the season. The knee was injured in a game against the San Francisco 49ers on Oct. 27.

Atkins Finished

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Doug Atkins of the New Orleans Saints, has been lost for the rest of the NFL season with a fractured kneecap.

Mike Ryan Wins NCAA Cross Country

NEW YORK (AP) — Mike Ryan, an aspiring fighter pilot who calls Okinawa home, has proven his speed afoot by capturing the NCAA cross country championship in a duel with two Eastern distance stars.

Ryan, a 5-foot-7, 145-pound junior at the Air Force Academy, beat Georgetown's Steve Stageberg by 60 yards yesterday for the individual NCAA crown, with Art Dulong of Holy Cross third.

Villanova took the team title for the third straight year although its top finisher, Tom Donnelly, placed eighth in the six-mile test at Van Cortlandt Park. The Wildcats compiled a low score of 78 points. Stanford was second with 101 and Southern California third with 108.

Ryan, who was born in Ithaca, N.Y., but lists his home as Okinawa, where his father is a lieutenant colonel in the Air Force, took the lead from Dulong at the four-mile mark and won in 29 minutes, 16.8 seconds.

Stageberg, winner of the IC4-A meet at the same park last week, came on to take second from Dulong, who was allowed to compete by a special vote of the executive committee after learning his entry had not been received in time.

Team placings below the first three were unofficial and individual placings below the first 20 also were in doubt.

Nolan Says Belk To Start Against Packers Sunday

SAN FRANCISCO — Rookie defensive end Bill Belk, who has turned in fine performances since being called up two weeks ago, will get his second starting assignment Sunday when the San Francisco 49ers take on the Green Bay Packers.

The massive end from Maryland State grabbed a fumble in San Francisco's 20-20 tie with Los Angeles two weeks ago and last Sunday grabbed off a Dick Shiner pass for a touchdown as the 49ers routed Pittsburgh, 45-28.

Coach Dick Nolan was forced to call on Belk after regular Clark Miller injured his knee and backup man Kevin Hardy also suffered the same injury. Hardy, however, is expected to be ready for the Packer clash.

Nolan said yesterday he was satisfied with most of the players but does want to "make changes in certain areas."

Hoping for a speedy halfback in the draft, he said he was looking for three things: "speed, consistency and ability to perform in clutch situations."

Cal Quint Tabbed As 2nd

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Northern California basketball writers have picked California to finish runner-up to mighty UCLA in the Pacific-8 conference.

The Bruins are virtually everybody's pick to finish No. 1 in the nation.

Behind Cal in yesterday's predicted final standings were Southern California, Oregon State and Washington State.

And where will Stanford finish?

Indian Coach Howie Dallmar smiled wryly as he told the writers' luncheon:

"We held an intrasquad scrimmage Thursday — first team against second team and the second team won handily. That means either we have great depth or we have problems."

California Coach Jim Padgett said his Bears "have some talent." But he said they're a young team and will have to prove themselves under pressure.

In the West Coast Athletic Conference, Santa Clara was named to repeat as champion. But Coach Dick Garibaldi was only mildly optimistic.

"They're probably the best first string I've ever had, but the worst reserves," he said.

The Broncos' main opposition is expected to come from the University of the Pacific Tigers, whose coach, Dick Edwards, said he will have all the starters back and gunning for their third league title in four years.

The apparent have-not in the circuit will be the University of San Francisco, with the entire starting five gone by graduation.

BEWARE, NAVY

Army Quarterback Not Flashy, Gets Job Done

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — A few of the uninitiated television fans watching the Army-Navy football game Saturday may get a jolt when Steven Lindell pops on the screen as the Army quarterback.

"Do they call that guy a passer?" may be a first astonished reaction. "Whoever told him he was a quarterback?"

The shock will stem from the fact that Lindell is far from the image of the classic quarterback. Sometimes he throws the ball end over end. Other times the ball seems to wobble and fade in the air.

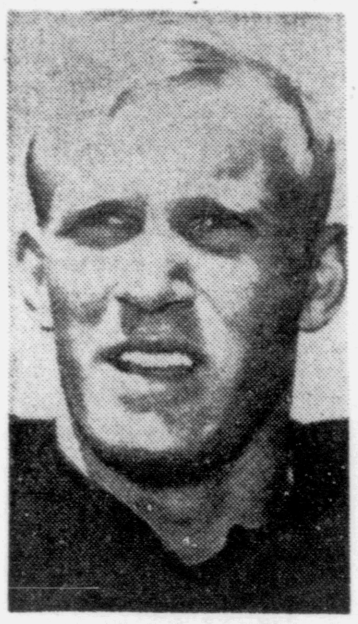
SCRAMBLES

From his quarterback slot, Lindell scoots and scrambles. He often doesn't follow the pattern. At first glance, it appears he is lost and doesn't know what he is doing.

However, he usually gets the ball away and usually somebody catches it. Statistically, he is the best passer in Army's long and glittering football history.

"He isn't what you would call a classic passer," says Army Coach Tom Cahill. "I doubt if the pros would be interested in him even if he weren't committed to a military career.

"He's simply a guy who gets the job done. He has been a great inspiration for our team."



STEVE LINDELL
Army star

When Lindell ends his varsity career against Navy Saturday, he will have wiped out some of the proudest offensive records in Army football, eclipsing marks set by the great Chris Cagle, Carl Stichweh and Pete Vann.

He already has beaten Cagle's mark for most plays. In three season, Lindell has had part in 743 plays compared with Cagle's four-year total of 613 from 1926 through 1929.

As a sophomore in 1966, Lindell had a hand in more plays than any Army player ever—281.

In passing alone, Lindell has thrown 455 times and completed 227, both Army records, and needs only 15 more yards through the air in the Navy game to surpass the total aerial yardage set by Pete Vann. The latter held the record of 372 passes and 174 completions for 2,915 yards.

STARTS IN '66

The Army quarterback, a six-foot, 180-pounder who hails from the little town of Princeton 30 miles northwest of Minneapolis, burst into bloom as Army's unorthodox but effective quarterback in 1966, the year that brought Cahill in as head coach.

Lindell starred in a 20-7 victory over Navy. Last year he completed 13 of 21 passes for 173 yards and two touchdowns against Utah. This year he scurried 26 yards against Pittsburgh and 41 against Boston College for touchdowns and kept Army in the game against Penn State, losing to the unbeaten Nittany Lions 28-24.

San Rafael 2nd In Swim Meet

The San Rafael Swim Club took second place in team standings at the second annual Blackford Invitational Swim Meet held at Blackford High School in San Jose Saturday.

Palo Alto Swim Club won the meet.

The San Rafael club took five relay victories and 11 individual wins in the meet.

Double winners for San Rafael were Gordon Hodgson in boys 10 and under, Peter Kamler in boys 8 and under, Leslie Bryans in Girls 13-14, and Jo Hislop in girls 13-14.

Single winners were Nancy Placak in girls 8 and under, Joe Dunn in boys 10, and under, and Tami McDuffie in girls 11-12.

Oaks Beat Houston, Fatten Lead

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Rick Barry scored only 25 points, 10 below his average, and the Oakland Oaks scored their lowest total of the season but that didn't stop them from winning.

The Oaks seek their second straight victory on a four-game road trip at New Orleans tonight against the Buccaneers after beating Houston 111-102 last night.

Oakland increased its lead to five games over Los Angeles in the American Basketball Association's Western Division.

The Mavericks pulled to within 106-100 with 1:02 left on toy Jackson's three-point basket but Houston fouls enabled the Oaks to keep the lead.

Sports Commissioners Sound Like Children

From time to time Pete Rozelle, commissioner of football, and William D. Eckert, commissioner of baseball, make conflicting claims. Rozelle claims football commands the biggest audiences in television. Eckert insists it's baseball.

The commissioners sound like a couple of kids claiming "My all day sucker is bigger than yours."

Eckert's office just released a two-page statement claiming that the fourth game of the 1968 World Series played in Detroit on Sunday, Oct. 6, was viewed in more homes and by more people than any other sports event in history.

"Over 28.5 million homes tuned to the game," the statement read. "This is almost a million more homes than saw the previously No. 1 ranked Sunday game of the 1963 World Series between the Dodgers and Yankees.

"BASED ON an estimated 2.75 persons to a home, this means that some 78,577,500 watched the 1968 World Series game in the United States. In addition, the game was televised into Canada, Japan, Mexico and other Latin American countries.

"This represented the second largest TV audience of all time for any program. Only the 1967 Academy Awards show drew a larger TV audience."

ON AND ON went the statement which finally acknowledged that football also draws sizeable TV audiences. It admitted that the 1968 Super Bowl was third on the all-time TV sports list with 27 million homes tuned in.

AND IN doing so Rozelle jumped to the same illogical conclusion about football TV audiences that Eckert reached about World Series TV audiences.

"From the ratings," Rozelle declared earlier in the year, "it is clear that pro football commands television's biggest audiences."

"FROM THE rankings," Eckert declared in his recent release, "it is easy to conclude that World Series is still America's No. 1 sports event."

There's no need to point out the flaws in such fuzzy logic. Elementary rules of clear thinking prohibit general conclusions from specific facts.

And, indeed, the specific audience ratings of both the World Series and the Super Bowl might be challenged. For instance, how many homes are there in your neighborhood with 2.75 persons?

Rested Warriors To Face Bulls

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—After taking back-to-back victories with little more than three hours of sleep, the San Francisco Warriors will be well rested when they play the Chicago Bulls in a National Basketball Association game tomorrow night at the Cow Palace.

The Warriors walloped Seattle 132-119 Saturday night at the Cow Palace. They had beaten Los Angeles 100-98 at Los Angeles Friday night but had to wait long hours — missing sleep—as both the Los Angeles and San Francisco airports were fogged in.

Lack of sleep didn't appear to bother Joe Ellis as he hit 15 of 19 shots from the floor and added two free throws for 32 points in pacing the victory over Seattle.

The victory pulled the Warriors over .500 with a 10-9 record.

Alcindor, Bruins Rated No. 1 Again

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The UCLA basketball team, seeking an unprecedented third straight national championship, opens the 1968-69 season where it left off last year — the No. 1 rated team in the country.

All-American center Lew Alcindor and fellow Bruins were the unanimous choice to repeat UCLA's title claim in the annual preseason poll conducted by The Associated Press.

PERFECT SCORE

The AP selectors voted a perfect 400 points for UCLA, with North Carolina, Kentucky, Notre Dame and Kansas trailing in that order.

Coach John Wooden was pleased by the compliment but he's a cautious man with predictions involving his teams.

UCLA opens its campaign here Saturday night against Purdue, and Wooden has only to recall that it took a last second basket to down the Boilermakers, 73-71.

Today, in fact, Wooden is not ready to name his starting team. The front line seems set, with seniors Lynn Shackleford, 6-5, Jim Nielsen, 6-7, and 7-2 Alcindor, who now weighs in at 235.

There is, however, a lively battle at guard, and that is where Wooden still has to make decisions.

UCLA played an intra-squad game last Friday night. A crowd of 8,260 paid to see it.

"The thing that pleased me most," said Wodden, "was that our guards did better than they did in practice. As I've said before, my front line could be one of the greatest in collegiate history."

Wooden was especially pleased with John Vallely, a 6-2½ guard, a junior college transfer, and three senior backcourt men, Bill Sweek, 6-3; Don Saffer, 6-1, and Kenny Heitz, 6-3½.

Of Alcindor, Wooden observed significantly:

MORE MATURE

"He is more mature, five pounds heavier and appears to have better stamina this year. He definitely is more maneuverable. But perhaps most importantly, he is more at ease and seems to be enjoying it more."

If Lew is indeed enjoying it more, it stands to reason UCLA's opponents may enjoy it less this season.

Rounding out the top 10 in the AP poll, in order, were Davidson, St. Bonaventure, Houston, New Mexico and Purdue.

The second 10: 11, Villanova, 12, Ohio State. 13, Vanderbilt. 14, Cincinnati. 15, Marquette. 16, Western Kentucky. 17, Duke. 18, Detroit. 19, Florida. 20, Tennessee.

Pasadena Bowl: Sacramento St. Vs. Grambling

PASADENA (AP) — The Pasadena Bowl, formerly known as the Junior Rose Bowl, will pit Sacramento State College of California against Louisiana's Grambling College.

Both teams will bring regular-season records of 8-2 into the Dec. 7 game.

Grambling is this year's Southwestern Athletics Conference tri-champion. Sacramento State, runner-up to Humboldt State in the Far Western Conference, led the circuit in defense.

Grambling will be coached by Eddie Robinson, virtually an institution at the school. He's in his 27th season there. Ray Clemens, in his eighth year at Sacramento State, will coach the Hornets.

The 23-year-old game was opened to four-year colleges last year. West Texas State College, which defeated San Fernando State College of Northridge, Calif., 35-13 last year, declined an invitation to return.

It may be fun to twist on the dance floor, but its counterpart on the bowling lanes won't work. The woman in today's illustration is about to turn her wrist violently counter-clockwise at release in an effort to increase the sidespin of the ball. Her fingers are on the right side of the ball. The best release finds the fingers more behind the ball at this point with only a minimal wrist-twist.

Michelle Robinson and Forrest Craig will be representing the Marin Figure Skating Club at the Pacific Coast Figure Skating Championships Dec. 12 through 14 in Los Angeles.

Other club members at Squaw Valley included Caroline Sturquelle, third, juvenile girls; Lisa Craig, fourth, pre-juvenile; Gracie Fleming, eighth, pre-juvenile girls, and Kim Likerman, fourth, intermediate ladies.

Juli McKinstry, 12, of San Rafael, who skates out of Santa Rosa, teamed with Charlie Tickner, 14, of Walnut Creek, to defend the Novice Division pairs title at the Squaw Valley meet.

Blame Thoughtless Hunters For 'Off-Limits' Territory

By JAMES K. WOODWORTH

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Thousands of nimrods took to the fields last weekend on the opening day of the annual pheasant season and many found the open hunting areas have been reduced as more and more landowners find it necessary to place their property "off-limits" to hunters.

It is always startling to us to find that all sportsmen are placed in one category, almost as destructive pests, because of the actions of a few, unthinking, and obviously unsportsmanlike individuals.

Some of the blame can be placed on the new hunter who invades property because he does not know the "rules" of a true sportsman, which require clearing with the landowner for the privilege of hunting on his property.

TARGET PRACTICE

We have known farmers and rice growers who formerly welcomed hunters to their lands, but due to the thoughtlessness of a few, these lands have now been closed, and little wonder. Not long ago we came upon a trio of deer hunters who had stopped in the forest to rest, and consume a few beers. They left the empty cans strewn about the property and were enjoying themselves by tossing them in the air and firing their rifles in attempts at hitting the flying cans, which were left where they fell.

Others have patiently worked for 15 or 20 minutes to remove "No Trasspassing-No Hunting" signs so they could claim they did not see them, and most hunters have seen these signs literally riddled with bullets where some angry, immature gun toter had taken his wrath out on the sign.

It is such irrational acts which result in demands for restrictions on guns and it is time the sportsmen themselves joined together to stop this type of practice, or they may see more actions to curb guns, hunting and other sports as well.

It may be considered unusual and harsh punishment, but it is our feeling that unless action is taken immediately, much will be lost in the way of hunting.

Therefore, we believe stiffer penalties may be in order for the misuse of guns . . . such as lifetime revocation of hunting permits . . . since it is our feeling that misuse of a weapon once makes it easier to misuse the gun a second time . . . and so on.

If some hard stand is not taken by the real sportsmen of the state, and soon, these juvenile-thinking gun wielders could end for all time the present cooperation between sportsmen and landowners throughout the state.

DEER INCREASE

Preliminary deer tag returns indicate an increased "take" of deer of more than 25 per cent above last year. Total so far, including the special season hunts, has been placed at 52,061 deer taken in all hunts.

Tag returns for the late season were up 28 per cent, from the 23,658 a year ago to 30,272 this year.

The report of 52,061 deer killed is still well below the average of 61,729 bucks killed during the five-year period between 1962 and 1966, the final year before the adoption of the "self-validation" system, which allows hunters to validate their own deer tags.

There is some speculation that the reduction in kill reports may be due to this new system of self-validation, started last year.

Airman Says Guilt Less Than Charge

By MARY LEYDECKER

Airman John E. King, 20, today admitted he was responsible for the death of his friend in a Hamilton Air Force Base flightline shack shooting Sept. 10, but claimed lesser guilt than charged.

Airman King entered a plea of innocent to the charges of involuntary manslaughter and failure to obey an order, but pleaded guilty to a lesser charge of negligent homicide in the killing of A/1c Wesley A. Dorman, 20, of Phoenix, Ariz.

After the court-martial heard the pleas, the prosecution began presenting a case in which it hopes to prove that King was an irresponsible, gun-whirling security policeman who had been previously warned about taking his gun from his holster.

Only witness this morning was Dr. Ralph D. Clark, an internist, who treated Dorman for his fatal wounds and was present when he died.

As King's mother, Mrs. Edna King and his sister, Mrs. Jo Dillinghan, both of Missouri, sat silently weeping, King entered the courtroom this morning with bowed head.

Seated between his two defense attorneys, Capts. Frederick T. Graham and Jeffrey H. Brasfield, King never raised his eyes in the tiny courtroom and only spoke when he pleaded guilty to the lesser charge. A low flying airplane made it necessary for him to repeat his response in his southern cadence.

King's attorneys hope that the court will find the young airman innocent of the more serious charge and accept his plea to the lesser charge.

The difference between the two charges lies in the degree of negligence. Maximum sentence for manslaughter is three and a half years at hard labor and a dishonorable discharge. Maximum sentence for negligent homicide is one year at hard labor and a bad conduct discharge.

Prosecution Hammers At Arceo Alibi

John Areco was typified as a 20th Century Fagan by the prosecution this morning in the murder trial of Areco and Dennis C. Novotny.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Joshua Thomas picked at details of defense testimony in the summation of the prosecution case today. Thomas attempted to discredit testimony by defense witnesses for the two and alleged discrepancies in Novotny's testimony. Areco did not take the stand in his own defense.

Both are charged with the kicking murder of Wesley Marshall while allegedly stealing 16 guns from Marshall's San Rafael home on Dec. 6, 1967.

Prosecution testimony has said that Novotny took part in the robbery and that Areco helped plan it. Thomas referred to Areco as a 20th Century Fagan in helping plan the robbery and said Areco's defense witnesses were part of an attempt by Areco to set up an alibi. He said Areco advised Novotny and Claude LeBas on what to wear and how to carry out the robbery.

LeBas was a prosecution witness after he confessed to the murder-robbery and is serving a life term in prison.

Thomas reminded the jury of the testimony of Connie Rosser and LeBas against Areco and Novotny.

He said Miss Rosser's appear-

Hanoi Protests U.S. Air, Naval Attacks

COMBINED AP & UPI

PARIS — North Vietnam has protested what it says are U.S. air and naval attacks against its territory, a spokesman for Hanoi's peace delegation said today.

Nguyen Than Le, the delegation spokesman, said attacks in recent days violated the U.S. bomb halt commitments.

He said North Vietnam's peace delegation had protested directly to the U.S. peace team here.

Le charged that during the past two weeks a ship of the U.S. 7th Fleet had shelled North Vietnamese territory in the region of Vinh Linh.

In addition, he said, U.S. planes flying to the rescue of two downed reconnaissance pilots bombarded and fired rockets against North Vietnamese territory.

He said the air attacks took place yesterday when an American A3J was downed in Nghe An Province and an F4C fell to enemy fire in Quang Binh Province.

U.S. sources in Saigon said two American planes where shot down over North Vietnam yesterday. They identified the planes as an Air Force F4C fighter-bomber and an unarmed Navy Vigilante reconnaissance jet. They said the fighter-bomber was protecting the Navy plane. Radio Hanoi said two of the four crewmen were captured.

The North Vietnamese spokesman said his delegation had made "numerous protests" directly to the American delegation to the stalled Paris peace talks.

Meanwhile, a mystery envoy from Saigon was reported here preparing for the arrival soon of Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky. This indicated South Vietnam's boycott of the peace talks is nearing its end.

Qualified informants said if all goes well Ky is likely to arrive with a South Vietnamese delegation by next week, clearing the way for the resumption

Fair-Marin Power Issues Ironed Out

Supervisors Keep String On Hiring, Fee Decisions

By WAT TAKESHITA

Fair-Marin, the nonprofit corporation which will operate the fairgrounds, should have more independence and autonomy than just another county department, Marin County supervisors agreed this morning at a workshop session with Fair-Marin directors.

At the same time, that autonomy would not extend to the hiring and firing of employees and to the independent setting of rental fees for the Veterans Memorial Auditorium, the majority of the supervisors declared.

On a motion by Supervisor Peter H. Behr, the supervisors asked County Administrator Alan Bruce to continue negotiations with Fair-Marin to draw up a compromise agreement whereby "the fiscal and planning responsibility of the supervisors is safeguarded, but recognizing and implementing maximum independence of Fair-Marin in operating 80 acres of the fairgrounds."

Supervisor William A. Gnoss insisted that any such agreement be subject to approval of the state Board of Fairs and Expositions. This was added to Behr's motion and passed unanimously.

Two proposed agreements faced the supervisors this morning — one by the county administrator and the other by Fair-Marin, headed by Harold Stockstad.

At the outset, the agreements appeared poles apart, but after 90 minutes of discussion, some of the differences had been narrowed.

S.F. State Unrest Laid To Agitators

LOS ANGELES (AP) —Gov. Ronald Reagan and State School Supt. Max Rafferty said today "professional agitators" are disrupting classes at San Francisco State College.

They made it clear the "agitators" were a major topic at a closed-door meeting of state college trustees, in session to consider how college president Robert R. Smith handled the disruption.

*The trustees met in a mara*thon 8-and-one-half hour session yesterday. Reagan and Rafferty made their statements to newsmen moments before the meeting resumed today.

"I'm in favor of this college meeting that particular problem with professional agitators head-on and opening the school," Reagan said.

Rafferty said, "there are at least 100 professional agitators that will have to be removed," adding that college officials say at least some of the agitators are not students.

Reagan was asked if he favored firing Smith.

"I couldn't honestly answer that," he replied. "I'm here with an open mind as to what is the answer."

Smith also attended today's session.

Trustee chairman Theodore Meriam of Chico was asked yesterday whether Smith will be fired.

He would only say, "We're trying to be as thorough and judicious and as fair as we can be."

Meriam said "personnel" was the main topic.

France Axes Budget To Help Save Franc

PARIS (UPI) — France slashed its budget by $1.25 billion today to try to save the franc. And it announced cancellation of its atomic and hydrogen bomb testing program in the Pacific as part of this budget cut.

The measures announced by Premier Maurice Couve de Murville were aimed at holding the franc at its 20-cent level. They already appeared to be succeeding. The franc was climbing steadily on the European money markets and the price of gold dropped.

President Charles de Gaulle had refused to devalue the franc as expected by most world economic experts. But in saving his symbol of French resurgence, the franc, he lost his most cherished idea.

That was his force de frappe, or striking force, based on France's own possession of atomic and hydrogen bombs and the ability to strike with them. Such a force, he believed, would make France another superpower. Cancellation of the tests meant indefinite postponement.

Couve de Murville, speaking to a packed and often unruly session of the 487-member National Assembly, said the $1.25 billion cut would almost halve the government's planned $2.2 billion deficit in its $30.6 billion budget.

Couve de Murville, in outlining France's new austerity program, said it is "up to us to get to work to save the franc.

Couve De Murville said prices will be "firmly held" and "infractions will be severely punished." He said new means of curbing price rises would be instituted.

Gold fell to $41.02 an ounce from yesterday's high of $42.26.

Upton Sinclair Dies; Sought Social Reform

BOUND BROOK, N.J. (AP) — Upton Sinclair, a prolific author who earned the title "King of the Muckrakers" during a 63-year career, is dead at the age of 90.

Sinclair died yesterday at the Somerset Valley Nursing Home near here. A memorial service will be held at St. Paul's Episcopal church in Bound Brook at 11 a.m. Saturday.

During what he described as a 63-year battle for social justice, Sinclair wrote 89 full-length books. One of his best known works, "The Jungle," catapulted him to fame at the age of 28 in 1906.

The book exposed filthy conditions in the Chicago meat packing industry and led to the nation's pure food laws. The book's message went around the world through translation as did most of his subsequent works.

It was one of the major reasons for the title "King of the Muckrakers." Sinclair's dedication to social reform incurred the enmity of powerful personalities and the support of many famous men.

Among his admirers were George Bernard Shaw, who recommended Sinclair for the Nobel Prize, and Albert Einstein, who wrote a poem to him.

Ralston Given New Stanford Grid Contract

STANFORD (AP) — Football coach John Ralston was given a new contract of unannounced duration by Stanford University today following a 6-3-1 season.

Stanford won its annual Big Game Saturday from California, 20-0, in a terrific upset, but Athletic Director Charles Taylor said that did not influence the decision to retain Ralston.

There had been some alumni criticism because Ralston didn't develop a Rose Bowl team.

Ralston's overall record for six years is 30-28-2. His 1965 team also finished 6-3-1 and his '64, '66 and '67 teams compiled 5-5 records. His first year was 3-7.

Ralston's Indians lost only one of their six games to California, 26-3 in 1967.

Marines, South Vietnamese Battling Reds Inside DMZ

Heavy fighting raged into tonight with the Marines calling for reinforcements, warplanes, artillery and naval gunfire to blast the dug-in guerrillas.

In arranging for expanding Paris talks, President Johnson halted the bombing of North Vietnam and warned Hanoi against using the DMZ as a military camp.

A 15-man South Vietnamese reconnaissance patrol triggered the DMZ fighting before dawn on a mission to find Communist guns that hit an allied base from the zone yesterday. The Leathernecks went in on patrol four hours later then radioed for reinforcements.

Explaining the DMZ probes, since Nov. 1, a military spokesman said, "the field commander has the responsibility for taking proper security measures to protect his troops."

U.S. headquarters issued no report on Marine casualties with the battle still in progress just 500 yards inside the DMZ above the Leatherneck outpost at Con Thien, which lies just below the six-mile wide buffer zone.

Nixon Appoints Another Adviser

NEW YORK (AP) — Robert F. Ellsworth, former Republican congressman from Kansas, was named today by President-elect Richard M. Nixon to be a top level White House assistant.

Ellsworth, 42, is the third person appointed by Nixon with the title of assistant. Press spokesman Ron Ziegler said there would be no further appointments in that category but did not rule out that others later would be named to posts at the same level—but with different titles.

A house member from 1961 to 1967, Ellsworth was national political director for the Nixon campaign.

Ziegler said Ellsworth would be "a generalist in the true sense of the word" and will involve himself in a broad range of duties, foreign and domestic.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

HST: Parkinson's Disease Symptoms

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Former President Harry S Truman has some of the symptoms of Parkinson's disease, his personal physician says, but not the disease itself.

Dr. Wallace H. Graham said last night that the symptoms, including tremors and rigidity, are not uncommon for a man of Truman's age.

Truman

"I never said that President Truman was suffering from Parkinson's disease," he added. "He is still out taking walks. He is a bit shaky, but he is 84 years old."

Graham, who was Truman's physician in the White House, made the statement following a talk given by Everett Dudley, an attorney for the National Parkinson Institute at Miami, Fla.

Dudley outlined the benefits of the proposed center of Miami yesterday and said, "Even the personal physician of former President Truman has sought the help of the institute. Mr. Truman has Parkinson's disease."

Reagan Aide Gets Judgeship

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan is naming his top aide, Executive Secretary William P. Clark Jr., to a judgeship and replacing him with Edwin Meese III, now the governor's legal affairs secretary.

Clark

Meese will become the third man to hold the top staff job in the first 25 months of the Reagan administration.

Reagan announced in a news release last evening that Clark is resigning, effective Jan. 31. The Republican chief executive said he would at that time name Clark to the Superior Court bench in San Luis Obispo County.

Clark played a key role in reorganizing the governor's office, especially in reducing the size and amount of material sent to the governor for the basis of his decision-making.

Peck Film Upsets Hong Kong

HONG KONG (AP) — Hong Kong's British government has passed the word that it does not want actor Gregory Peck and a film crew to come to Hong Kong or try to make location shots here for a motion picture that has aroused violent Communist Chinese criticism.

Peck

Government sources said today that any attempt to film any part of "The Chairman" here presents too great a risk of touching off Communist demonstrations in the tiny British colony on Red China's border. Last year Hong Kong was ripped by Communist-instigated violence that killed more than 60 persons and injured hundreds.

Communist newspapers have devoted half pages and banner headlines to warning the government that the colony's Communist "will not tolerate" any work on the film here. The newspapers charge that the film is "anti-Chinese" and "an insult to Chairman Mao Tse-tung."

Combat Talks

VIENNA (AP) — Military conference of Warsaw Pact countries opened in Bucharest today amid rumors of new Kremlin pressure on Romania to allow Soviet troops on her territory for joint maneuvers.

A brief announcement said the four-day meeting was called to "analyze problems of combat training." Soviet Marshal Ivan Yakubovsky, the alliance's military commander, was presiding.

Obedience Call

VATICAN CITY (AP) — One of Pope Paul's closest advisors declared today that Roman Catholics must obey the Pope's orders even if the orders are wrong.

The statement by Pericle Cardinal Felici, president of the Commissoon for the Revision of Canon Law, was an unmistakable call for obedience to the Pope's decisions on birth control, priestly celibacy and other issues dividing the church.

It was also the first admission from a high Vatican prelate that the Pontiff might have erred in some of those divisive decisions.

Leaves Hospital

DENVER (AP) — Actor Van Johnson left St. Joseph Hospital yesterday, where he had been treated since Nov. 16 for what his physician described as influenza and a slight case of pneumonia.

Vietnam Honor

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ambassador Robert W. Komer yesterday was presented with the State Department's Distinguished Honor Award for "outstanding contributions to U.S. military and civil objectives in Vietnam."

The presentation was made by Secretary of State Dean Rusk to Komer, 46, who leaves tomorrow for a new assignment as ambassador to Turkey. Komer served since May 1967 as deputy for pacification in South Vietnam with the personal rank of ambassador.

Computerized Police Net Set For 1970

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A computerized $5 million information storehouse and communication network will be installed next year to give California law officers quick access to crime files in Sacramento and Washington, D.C.

Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch reported yesterday the network, known as the California Law Enforcement Telecommunications System (CLETS), will link more than 450 state law agencies to computerized files.

He said the system will be fully operational next October and will replace the old teletype network established in 1931.

The policeman on the beat, in rural or urban California, will be able to make a fast check on firearms, property, vehicles or persons simply by telephoning his headquarters, Lynch said.

Under the system, a radio dispatcher will transmit a coded question through computerized state information in Sacramento, which then checks with the FBI's National Crime Information Center in Washington.

The information received from both storehouses is then flashed on a screen in the office that sent the message.

"Thus in a matter of seconds the officer can determine whether to release the individual, take immediate action or call for assistance," Lynch said.

Fatal Courthouse Shooting Spree Claims Settled

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Damage suits amounting to several million dollars filed by four persons wounded in a courthouse shooting spree have been settled for $70,000.

Song writer Thomas C. Dilbeck was convicted of murder in the shooting death of his wife Hildegard, 42, at the county courthouse. The woman had been seeking a divorce.

Wounded in the shooting last Jan. 16th shooting were Mrs. Dilbeck's two attorneys, Daniel Sheahan, 35, and Edwin Saul 31; John B. Norberg, 56, an accountant, and Mabel Klug, 46, a prospective witness for Mrs. Dilbeck.

Also sharing in the settlement reached yesterday will be Mrs. Dilbeck's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Zobel of Muhlenstrasse, West Germany. Division of the settlement was not announced.

The settlement was approved by Superior Court Judge Gerold C. Dunn and will come out of Dilbeck's estate, estimated at $250,000 and assigned to his defense attorneys.

Dilbeck is serving a life term at the California Men's Colony in San Luis Obispo.

Four Children Perish In Fire

The mother, Mrs. Tom Gregg, rescued another child, 8-year-old Charles, and both were hospitalized in fair condition.

The fire broke out about 4:30 a.m., half an hour after the father had left for work at a stone company in nearby Trinity.

The fire snuffed out the lives of Tommy Gregg, 6; Rebecca, 3; Lisa, 2-year-old daughter crippled by a bone disease, and Joan, six months.

Ship Threat Held Key To Pueblo Fuss

NEW YORK (AP) —The key to obtaining freedom for the 82 crewmen of the intelligence ship Pueblo, some Johnson Administration officials believe, may be two ships being built for North Korea in the Netherlands, the New York Times reported today.

A Washington dispatch by William Beecher said American agents in Rotterdam are "ostentatiously showing interest" in two costly fish-processing vessels which might be seized on their long trip home.

The first of the two ships ordered about a year ago is now nearly ready for delivery with a North Korean captain and crew standing by, the newspapr said.

While the United States has made no explicit threats concerning seizure of the ships, the story continues, North Korea, in view of the implied threat, might move to release the crewmen.

The newspaper quotes a U.S. official sa saying:

"North Korea has already milked about as much propaganda from the seizure as it can expect.

"Rather than run the risk of a black eye, and loss of an expensive vessel on the high seas, it may be willing to turn the Pueblo crewmen back and close the books on the incident."

North Korea captured the Pueblo last January in what it asserts were Korean waters and has been insisting that the U.S. government make public apologies. The Administration has called it an "act of piracy."

Nixon Reported Near To Naming Cabinet

NEW YOR K(AP) — President-elect Richard M. Nixon, continuing closed-door meetings with advisers and prominent Republican officeholders, apparently has just about made up his mind on some Cabinet appointments.

Although Nixon has said he'll make known no cabinet choices before Dec. 6, GOP Sen. John G. Tower of Texas emerged from a conference yesterday with the President-elect and acknowledged they'd talked about possible Cabinet selections, Democrats as well as Republicans.

Asked if it would be accurate to say Nixon has not yet decided on any cabinet nominees, Tower carefully responded that Nixon indicated no final decisions to him—leaving wide open the suggestion that the incoming chief executive has privately reached, or is very close to, some final choices.

Tower, one of three prominent Republicans to meet with Nixon during the day, gave a thumbnail description of the kind of cabinet he believes is being sought by Nixon: "People of great professional competence" whose ideas are not incompatible with those of the president-elect and who have an ability to implement those ideas.

The Texas senator said Nixon would like "geographical balance" in the cabinet but would not sacrifice other considerations to parceling out appointments on a regional basis.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits of New York was another visitor who about specific jobs and specific possible officeholders.

OIL RIG BOAT

Frogmen Search For Lost Crew

SANTA BARBARA (AP) — Frogmen carrying 1,000-watt undersea lights searched the dark deep of the Pacific Ocean as hope faded today for nine men lost in the sudden unexplained sinking of the work boat Triple Crown.

A spokesman for Santa Fe International Corp., which built the 170-foot boat to help anchor oil drilling platforms, said there is little hope for the missing men.

"There is a possibility that some of them may have found an air bubble in the ship and may still be alive," he said, "although this is doubtful at that depth of 300 feet and the pressure down there."

Sixteen men were rescued as the crane-rigged boat sank without warning early yesterday stern first.

The company disputed a report by one of the survivors, James Van Auken, that the craft's 500-ton weight load was concentrated on one side just before the boat went down in less than three minutes.

It was built to handle 900 tons, a spokesman said, adding, "we are at a loss to explain or theorize what happened."

"It just started over," said Jim Petrovich, 35-year-old foreman of the crew working to move a 200-foot-square drilling platform eight miles off the Southern California coast. "When the ship didn't right itself, we knew something was wrong."

He said there was no panic as the workmen put on life jackets and leaped into the sea. The tugboat Pacific Saturn picked up the survivors in 30 minutes.

The steel-hulled ship, on the job just three weeks after being built by Burton Shipyard in Port Arthur, Tex., was called by its owners "the world's most powerful combination tug supply boat." It was built especially to lift and lower the huge anchors which keep platforms in position over drilling sites.

A 15-mile-an-hour wind whipped two to three-foot waves at the time of the sinking. A spokesman for the owners said the boat was built to operate safely in 20-foot waves.

The Triple Crown had pulled up eight 10-ton anchors and was reeling in the last of eight chains weighing a total of almost 500 tons when it sank. But it was equipped, the spokesman said, to handle twice that weight without danger.

"That's why the sinking is such a great puzzle," he said.

The spokesman said Jerry Wendell, designer of the Triple Crown and vice president of Caspary-Wendell, the vessel's owner, was aboard the search ship with several marine insurance men and divers.

One-Way Toll Set For Two Area Bridges

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The state is moving to save some ferry boats in San Diego and cut the toll charged on two San Francisco Bay Area bridges.

The California Toll Bridge Authority yesterday:

Approved a plan to eliminate the current 25-cent toll for westbound traffic on the Carquinez and Benicia-Martinez bridges on the eastern fringes of San Francisco Bay. However, the toll for eastbound traffic will be doubled to 50 cents when the plan takes effect about Feb. 1.

Approved a request to private holders of bonds that paid for the San Diego-Coronado Bridge that they allow some ferries to stay in business. The bridge opens next summer and under terms of the bond contract, the state must eliminate all ferry competition. But the authority hopes to persuade the bond holders that the ferries won't really endanger the bridge's solvency.

It costs 15 cents for a car to go from San Diego to a Navy base on North Island by the ferry—but it will be 60 cents to the new bridge, making it the only bridge without a lower rate for commuters.

egregation Of Schools Ordered

RICHMOND (AP) — Broad gregation of schools in Richmond has been ordered by Contra Costa Superior Court Judge Richmond E. Arnason.

Acting on a suit by five Negro families, he ordered the school board yesterday to choose one of three plans for racially mixing four schools.

The action contended that Verde Elementary School, where the families have 17 children in attendance, has an enrollment of 534 Negroes and no whites.

The action also mentioned three other schools, Dover, Broadway and Lake, as being segregated with either all-Negro or all-white enrollments.

Meeting Postponed

The Kentfield Fire District Board will not meet for its regular session Thursday because of the Thanksgiving holiday. Another meeting will be scheduled later Fire Chief Kenneth Kamp said.

County Patient Care On Hospital Agenda

The Marin Hospital District Board today will discuss making an agreement with the County of Marin for treatment of county patients at the newly opened Community Mental Health Center.

The board meets at 6 p.m. in the hospital cafeteria for dinner, then moves to the hospital Coral Room at 7 p.m. for its business session.

$100,000 Gnoss Field Work Tag

Lighting of Gnoss Field and extending the runway by 1,100 feet will cost about $100,000.

Brown Ely Co. of San Rafael offered to do the job for $101,331, the lowest of five bids opened yesterday at the Civic Center. The engineer's estimate for the job was $93,300.

The project, which is phase two of county airport construction, calls for extending the runway from the present 2,200 feet to 3,300 feet, installing beacon and tower, runway and taxiway lighting, and other related construction. Michael King, assistant director of public works, said the job will take about three and one-half months to complete.

The other contractors and their bids were:

Ghilotti Brothers of San Rafael $108,892; Blasi-Engleke of Healdsburg $110,824; O. C. Jones of Berkeley $119,952; and William McClellan of San Rafael $123,643.

King and Robert Pedroncelli, design engineer, opened the bids yesterday afternoon. All five bids were to go to the Marin County Board of Superivsors for action this afternoon.

In a second bid opening, Healy Tibbitts Co. of San Francisco submitted a low bid of $26,870 to widen Gallinas Creek and relocate a sewer line. The only other bidder was MGM Construction Co. of Concord, which submitted a bid of $55,995. The engineer's estimate was $27,000. An existing sewer line will be relocated to permit channel widening adjacent to Vendola Drive near Mabry Way, Santa Venetia. These bids also were to go to supervisors today for decision.

Mill Valley Planners Vote More 701 Study

The Mill Valley Planning Commission last night talked around all sides of the city's 701 development plan, then required three votes before it could agree how to tackle the plan again in January.

The commission set a fourth public hearing on the plan for Jan. 13, and agreed to begin discussion then of the plan's four pages of general policies on land uses and activities, circulation and physical design.

The 701 plan, partly financed by a federal grant, proposes future development guidelines for the city's downtown, Alto and Miller Avenue commercial areas and for Corte Madera Creek.

For two hours the commission heard several persons among a scanty audience of a dozen find fault with the plan, and wrangled within itself over whether to talk about specific points or general concepts of the plan.

Objections from the audience again centered on the downtown plan, which envisions a partial pedestrian mall in Lytton Square with some of the present parking replaced by parking lots behind stores.

Merchants, cool to the plan in the previous two hearings, remained so. S. W. Schneider, owner of Varney's hardware store, said merchants are against a mall and "after all, your merchants contribute to the tax base and they're the ones who should be satisfied."

"What beauty would a mall contribute to Mill Valley?" Schneider asked. He said it would encourage young people to loiter and learn bad habits as they do now at the Greyhound bus depot.

The plan would not cut downtown parking, Planning Director Harvey E. Bragdon said, but would shift some of it behind stores instead of on the street in front of them.

The commission debated until 10:30 p.m. when Paul E. Rosenthal, chairman, asked for a motion "to discipline our conversation . . . or else we are going to be here for months."

Commissioner Sally Garoutte moved the commission discuss the plan's four geographic areas. Commissioner Edward Farrell offered a substitute motion to approve the plan's general policies.

Mrs. Garoutte amended her motion to include discussion of the general policies, but her entire motion then lost on a 3-3 split, with Farrell, Richard J. Hiatt and Edward J. Boessenecker voting against it and Mrs. Garoutte, Rosenthal and Robert E. Burton for it.

Farrell then moved for approval of the general policies and that lost 3-2 with Burton abstaining, Farrell and Hiatt voting for it and the other three against.

Burton then offered the proposal to discuss the general policies of the plan starting Jan. 13 and the motion passed unanimously, possibly by exhaustion.

The commission then unanimously approved a request by Martin Hirsch, operator of Chronos Watch Repair at 8 El Paseo, to move his shop to 158 East Blithedale Avenue as a permitted use in a professional-administrative district.

"X. Paid-up term life insurance policies, issued by Mafia Mutual, with assignment of dividends to the Al Capone Memorial Foundation for the benefit of aspiring young Italian defense attorneys.

"XI. All female students and secretaries must submit to pinching in the hallways."

Having gone one beyond the original 10 demands of the Black Students Union at San Francisco State, the Italian Student Fratellanza then warned that "if these demands are not acceded to by the time the next boat leaves for the mother country," it would demand all alumni of Italian descent to discontinue financial aid, and conduct protest marches around Kendrick Hall chanting "Italian power slogans."

Cited as such slogans were: "Galileo was right!" "Olive skin is beautiful!" "Garlic power!" and "Claudia Cardinale does too shave her underarms!"

So far, there has been no word from the administration —and no attempt to shut down the campus.

FAIR

ground," said Chairman Ernest N. Kettenhofen. He said the whole key is not to destroy the pride, enthusiasm and independence of Fair-Marin.

The main points at issue were these:

Should Fair-Marin operate 80 acres of the fairgrounds, as it proposed, or limit itself to the auditorium and about eight to 10 acres, as Bruce recommended. The supervisors said Fair-Marin should operate 80 acres, with the degree of control to be spelled out.

Fair-Marin wanted two budgets. One would deal with planning, development and management of the fairgrounds, which would be controlled by the county. The other, dealing with coordinating and promoting various cultural and recreational activities, should be controlled by Fair-Marin. Bruce proposed a simple, county-controlled budget. This, the supervisors left to be decided later.

Fair-Marin wanted to set rental fees for use of the auditorium. The county administrator said fees should be set by the county.

Fair-Marin called for contract of five years. The administrator suggested a cancellation clause, with 120 days notice from either party. Leland H. Jordan, attorney for Fair-Marin, acknowledged that the cancellation clause would be wise.

Fair-Marin wanted the right to hire and fire its key employees, such as the manager of the auditorium and fair. The supervisors said they fear that separate hiring would lead to "favored treatment" of Fair-Marin employees over all other county employees.

Supervisor Thomas T. Storer said he sees nothing wrong with the agreement proposed by Fair-Marin, but the other supervisors had some reservations.

Supervisor John F. McInnis said rental fees should be set by the county with recommendations from Fair-Marin. He said independent hiring of employees could lead to favored treatment and strained relations with other county employees. If Fair-Marin were given the authority to deal directly with supervisors without going through the county administrator, this too would give most favored treatment, said McInnis.

Supervisor Behr agreed that separate hiring could result in unequal treatment of employees. He sided with Fair-Marin on its desire to control 80 acres. Rental fees, said Behr, should be approved by the county and not by Fair-Marin alone. He said the selection of the fair manager could be accomplished by an oral board consisting of Fair-Marin directors and the supervisors.

The various points brought up this morning will be incorporated in a revised agreement to be worked out by the county administrator, Fair-Marin directors and the county counsel.

$13,925 In Art Objects Are Stolen

Burglars yesterday looted a Sausalito home of $13,925 worth of paintings and antiques, Sausalito police reported.

The burglars pried a patio door to enter the home of William F. Roche, 528 Sausalito Boulevard, took only art objects and antiques, and left by the front door, police said. The Roches discovered the crime when they returned home at 9:30 p.m.

Art objects stolen were a Wade Reynolds portrait of a girl with cross valued at $4,500; a Carlo Moratti painting of the Virgin and Christ with Angels, $4,000; a Pierre Migard painting of the Virgin and Child With St. Anne, $2000; a bronze cannon with wooden wheels, $1,000; a Badeni painting of a lute player, $600; an Ezekiel Davidson painting of a Flemish scholar, $500.

Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke of the college system suspended Murray this fall for 30 days during an investigation into reports that the Negro militant urged Negro students to carry guns on campus.

Dumke and Rafferty were among the 19 trustees at the first session. Only Lt. Gov. Robert H. Finch and Democratic Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh of Inglewood, a nonvoting member were absent.

Meriam described the meeting as "arduous."

Meanwhile today non-Caucasion students pressed demands for recognition and power at San Francisco State College as faculty and students went into the second day of a three-day convocation.

The convocation got off to a late start yesterday after an argument over whether to consider 10 Black Students Union demands and five Third World Liberation Front demands, all at once or separately. The Third World group includes non-Negro minorities.

The convocation is to end tomorrow, and classes are set to resume Dec. 2, end of the Thanksgiving recess.

Classes were also interrupted yesterday by convocations at two other schools, Chico State College and the University of California Medical Center in San Francisco.

The committee's recommendation will go before the full board 10 a.m. Dec. 6.

Delinquency Case Complaint Dropped

Loreen Gail Edwards, 22, of San Rafael, was freed in Marin Municipal Court yesterday when the district attorney reported no complaint would be filed against her, pending further investigation.

Mrs. Edwards was arrested on suspicion of contributing to the delinquency of a 17-year-old Corte Madera boy Sunday. The boy, arrested for being under the influence of narcotics and resisting arrest, was found in Mrs. Edwards' apartment, police said.

SINCLAIR

since December 1967, living within 15 miles of the farm in Princeton where he wrote "The Jungle."

In 1942 he won a Pulitzer Prize for his novel "Dragon's Teeth," a story set in Hitler's Germany where his books had been put on the bonfire a few years earlier.

The intense but cheerful Socialist crusader, who lived to see changes that he had sought, had been ailing since July 1967 when he was operated on for an intestinal disorder.

When he was 83 he updated his autobiography and only then did a barrage of books, articles, pamphlets, letters cease—eight tons of them now stored in the Lilly Library at Indiana University. He relaxed, making an occasional appearance on the lecture platform.

Born in Baltimore Sept. 20, 1878, Sinclair began his writing life at 14, spurred greatly by a luckless though instructive childhood with kindly but impoverished Southern Aristocrat parents.

His writing, at first inconsequential, helped pay for an education at the College of the City of New York and Columbia University. Soon he began serious themes, excited by cruelties and contradictions in life that seemed to call for a reformer's zeal, a "Jesus Complex" as he freely admitted.

The ebullient writer, who tended to make friends of his critics over the passage of time, didn't win the Nobel, but he did appreciate Shaw's plug."

Books followed "The Jungle" as if from an assembly line. They attacked conditions in the news, coal, oil, auto and other fields.

In 1934 Sinclair ran for governor of California on the Democratic ticket. He was defeated by Republican Frank Merriam.

At one of his last lecture appearances, at the University of Buffalo, he got tired in the middle of his talk and sat down. He asked his son, David, 67, to carry on.

"I did, but with somewhat less color than father," said David, a quiet speaking physicist who works for the Atomic Energy Commission in New York City. "After five minutes father was on his feet again. He wowed the students and got a big hand."

David, Sinclair's only child, was by a first wife, the former Meta H. Fuller of New York who died five years ago. The 1900 marriage ended in divorce in 1912 and she remarried, as did Sinclair two years later.

He wed Mississippi born Mary Craig Kimbrough, of who he said after her death in 1961, "I had for half a century the love of one of the kindest, wisest, and dearest souls that ever lived upon this earth."

In 1962, lonesome in a comfortable California home that his writings had earned him, he married the former May Hard, 79, widowed like himself. She died in 1966 in Rockville, Md., where the couple had moved to be near their families.

$20,000 Bail In Kidnap Case

A San Francisco man was held in Marin County Jail in lieu of $20,000 bail today on charge charges of kidnap, rape and assault with a deadly weapon.

Robert Lee Brown, 26, was arraigned on those charges in Marin Municipal Court yesterday after his arrest by Corte Madera Police. He was to plead to the charges in court today.

Hub Resident Is Found Dead

An 83-year-old man was found dead in his home at 14 Kientz Lane, San Anselmo, yesterday afternoon by a friend who had not seen him in a while.

The Marin County Coroner's Office said that John E. Griffith had been dead about four days. Pending an autopsy at Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo, the death was attributed to natural causes.

Police said the friend, Ray L. Olson of 633 San Anselmo Avenue, told them he went to Griffith's home about 3:10 p.m. yesterday and found the doors locked.

He said he peered through a window and saw Griffith lying on the kitchen floor. Olson notified police and the house was entered.

of the negotiations that have been suspended since Nov. 6.

An American-South Vietnamese agreement on the terms of Saigon's participation in the conference is imminent, according to reports from both Saigon and Washington. President Nguyen Van Thieu is expected to announce his government's readiness to participate in the Paris talks with the United States, North Vietnam and the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front in a few days.

Informants said the mystery man from Saigon arrived during the weekend to arrange the many protocol details connected with the reception and accommodation of the South Vietnamese vice president.

He was reported to be a high official in Ky's own office, but the South Vietnamese mission withheld his name "for reasons of security."

On another front, Communist China today suddenly announced it want to resume diplomatic talks with the United States.

A Peking Radio broadcast heard in Tokyo said the Chinese Communists have agreed to meet American diplomats in Warsaw on Feb. 20.

From 1955 until last January the United States and the Peking regime held periodic talks in the Polish capital. The State Department said Nov. 18 it had been seeking renewed contacts, with Feb. 20 as the last suggested date.

ance "took quite a bit of courage," and maintained that neither witness had a motive to testify against Areco and Novotny.

He pointed out that neither witness developed a faulty memory on the stand as did Ernest Simmons.

Miss Rosser testified that she became worried about the guns of Areco and Novotny and went to Undersheriff Sidney Stinson and told him of their activities.

LeBas, who pleaded guilty to his part in the crime and is now serving a life sentence, testified on the activities of Areco and Novotny in connection with the Marshall death and robbery.

Simmons could remember almost nothing about the events of last January when he took the stand.

The defense was to give its interpretations of the evidence this afternoon.

Marin Builder Edward Burgar To Wed Again

San Rafael builder Edward W. Burgar and a 39-year-old San Rafael divorcee were issued a marriage license yesterday in the Marin County Clerk's Office.

It will be the fourth marriage for Burgar, according to courthouse records, and the third for his bride, Dolores Jean Secrist. He is 65.

In June, Burgar was divorced from his last wife, Betty A. Burgar, on grounds of cruelty. She was awarded the family home in Greenbrae, $20,000 cash, alimony of $1,000 a month, and a promissory note for $122,-250.

Burgar was allowed to retain his stock in his company, Edward W. Burgar, Inc., at 615 B Street, San Rafael.

A previous wife, Edna G. Burgar, won an estimated half million dollars worth of property and cash in a divorce settlement approved in Marin Superior Court in 1961.

Festival Profit Asked For Tots' Playground

The San Anselmo Parks and Recreation Commission voted last night to ask the city council to allot the $2,000 in profits from October's Fall Festival for improvement of the tiny tot area in Memorial Park.

Frank L. Quinn, parks and recreation director, said some playground equipment for small children already is located at the park, and the funds would be used to improve the facilities. He said the comission also is planning to add a tiny tot area in the newly acquired Robson-Harrington Park property within a few months.

He also said tiny tot areas are ultimately planned for the Brookside Court, Angela Avenue, and Sequoia Drive areas.

The commission heard a report by Commissioner Laura M. Cann on plans to seek furniture contributions for two rooms of the large house on the Robson-Harrington property. The rooms would be used as meeting halls, Quinn said.

Indian Valley Sewer Proposal Killed By Panel

A proposed Indian Valley assessment district to add sewers to a large area of West Novato, was killed last night by the Novato Sanitary District Board, according to Asst. Dist. Engineer Bill Bayless.

The assessment district, first proposed in May 1966, was intially favored by 132 persons, about half the people in the area, Bayless said.

But subsequent cost analyses, submitted to the residents of the area last January, reduced the number of those in favor to 71, not sufficient to form an assessment district, Charles Joseph, engineer-manager, told the board, according to Bayless.

The Novato Sanitary District board also:

ANNEXATIONS — Approved the annexation of Trumbull Avenue subdivision No. 2 of 100 acres for Sono-Marin Builders and of Pioneer Memorial Park for the City of Novato.

AGREEMENT — Approved an agreement with the North Marin County Water District for the water district to install an eight-inch main down Davidson Street to the sewer treatment plant at a cost of $7,570.

HEARING — Received notice that the board of supervisors will hold a public hearing on Dec. 17 on the proposed merger of the Novato Sanitary District and the North Marin County Water District.

MEETINGS — Set Dec. 9 and 30 for meetings next month.

Bank Reports Forgery For $198

A $198 forgery was reported to San Rfael police yesterday by Ethelyn Godway, a teller at the Bank of America branch in Montecito Shopping Center.

Police said a man who identified himself as Joseph Carder Jr. of 339 D Street, San Rafael, opened a saving account at the bank last week. Yesterday, he deposited $20 of the $198 check and took the rest in cash, police said.

The check was a stolen one drawn on the account of Marcus Upholstering, 726 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael according to police.

Medi-Cal Fees Told To Probers

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Only 10 per cent of the 19,000 physicians taking part in the Medi-Cal Program grossed more than $1,000 a month from it, a spokesman for Blue Shield told the Assembly Public Health Committee.

Dr. Carl E. Anderson, chairman of the group insurance organization's board of trustees, testified yesterday at a hearing into a report by the state attorney general's office that Medi-Cal is being bilked of between $6 million and $8 million annually.

He said that if the average physician devoted his practice entirely to Medi-Cal patients, he would earn slightly less than if he treated only those not in the program.

Youth Admits Selling LSD

Steven Cowan, 22, of Marin City, pleaded guilty in Marin Superior Court yesterday to selling LSD to an agent of the Marin County Drug Abuse Bureau Dec. 6.

A charge that he sold the same dangerous drug to an agent Feb. 16 was dismissed at the recommendation of the district attorney.

Cowan, who was arrested in a countywide narcotics roundup in February, was referred to the probation department and told to return to court Dec. 20 for sentencing.

Theft Of Cycle

Jean I. Charles of 285 Scenic Avenue, San Anselmo, complained to sheriff's officers Friday that someone stole her 1967 Honda motorcycle from the College of Marin parking lot near the fine arts building that day, deputies said today.

Mine Owners Still Keeping Shafts Open

MANNINGTON, W. Va. (AP) —The deep coal mine where 78 men have been trapped for more than six days will not be sealed "no matter how remote the possibility" of rescue exists, a top company official said this afternoon.

"We will not seal this mine until a reason for keeping it open does not exist," Consolidation Coal Co. president John Corcoran told news conference.

There has been no contact with any of the 78 entombed men since fire and explosion ripped through Mountaineer Mine Company's No. 9 mine early last Wednesday.

"No matter how remote the possibility, we won't close any avenue of escape," Corcoran said. "We won't cut the rope."

"When I decide to seal it," he said crisply, "I will let you know."

Corcoran and other officials indicated yesterday that a decision whether the mine should be sealed to snuff out the fire deep in its passageways would have to be faced soon.

He has said samples of air taken from the tunnels indicated a high concentration of deadly methane gas and carbon monoxide. "You and I could not live in it," he told newsmen.

Policeman Is Booted; Faces Bribery Charges

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A police sergeant has been fired and two inspectors cited —all on charges of unofficer-like conduct.

The action was taken by the Police Commission yesterday against Sgt. Jack Macklin, 41, who faces a court hearing on a criminal complaint that he accepted a $220 bribe from a bar manager to allow unauthorized dancing.

Police Chief Thomas J. Cahill charged inspector Richard Castro with disturbing the peace at a Van Ness Avenue drive-in on the complaint of a counterman that the officer displayed a gun in a threatening manner.

Inspector Bruce Jones was charged with failing to stop Castro, who is awaiting a Municipal Court hearing on a misdemeanor charge stemming from the incident.

In another case involving a San Francisco policeman, suspended patrolman Michael O'Brien pleaded innocent yesterday to a manslaughter charge that resulted from the shooting of a truck driver Sept. 29.

O'Brien is accused of shooting George Baskett after an argument over a minor traffic accident.

Security Firm Gets Punishment On Tips

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Securities and Exchange Commission today punished Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith and 10 of its executives and salesmen for disclosing inside information to selected big investors.

The agency action took the form of accepting an offer by Merrill Lynch, the world's largest securities firm, to settle a case involving antifraud provisions of federal securities law.

In making the offer and accepting the findings of the SEC, Merrill Lynch, however, did not admit the charges of wrongdoing and agreed to the agency action, it said, solely for the purpose of winding up the case as far as it and its employees are concerned.

Meanwhile, pre-hearing conferences started today in New York City involving 14 mutual funds and large investors alleged by the SEC to have received the information from Merrill Lynch in June 1966.

The information had to do with a report that the Douglas Aircraft Co. would show a sharp drop in earnings for the first part of that year and that the outlook for the remainder of 1966 was gloomy.

The SEC ordered Merrill Lynch to suspend all activities of its New York institutional sales office for 21 days starting Dec. 5 and the firm's West Coast underwriting office to shut down for 15 days starting Dec. 11.

This agency-ordered punishment does not affect the general brokerage activities, such as the buying and selling of securities for individuals and other customers who do not deal with the New York institutional sales office.

The agency dropped charges against four senior executives of Merrill Lynch but ordered punishment for 10 others.

Censure and suspension from employment for 21 days without pay was ordered for the following executives and salesmen: Phillip F. Bilbao, Lee W. Idleman, Lawrence Zicklin, James A. McCarthy, Elias A. Lazor and Chester T. Smith Jr.

Dean S. Woodman, vice president in charge of the West Coast underwriting office, was censured. Also censured on charges of failing to exercise reasonable supervision over employees were Edward N. McMillan and Norman H. Heindel, vice presidents.

The inside information Merrill Lynch was charged with disclosing to selected investors stemmed from investigations made by the big brokerage firm before becoming managing underwriter of a $75 million offering of Douglas debentures.

According to the SEC, the investors receiving the information either sold existing holdings of Douglas stock or sold the stock short. A short sale is the sale of borrowed stock with the seller, expecting its price to drop, hoping to profit by buying it back later at a lower price.

The SEC said that during the same few days the information about Douglas being faced with sharp drop in earnings was being passed on to the selected clients, other Merrill Lynch salesmen, apparently unaware of the outlook for Douglas, were selling its stock to other customers.

No Douglas officials were charged with any wrongdoing. Douglas since has merged with McDonnell Co. to form McDonnell-Douglas Corp., a major aerospace and electronics concern.

The SEC said that as a result of the information obtained from Merrill Lynch, the mutual funds and large investors receiving it sold 190,000 shares of Douglas. According to SEC calculations, there was about a $4.5 million difference between the price at which the investors sold and the market price of Douglas on June 29, after Douglas had publicly revealed its poor earnings outlook.

Teen To Panel Wins Support

The Rohnert Park Recreation Commission last night approved a plan to name a teen-ager to fill a commission vacancy.

"A student body officer might be in closer touch with the feelings of the students," he said, adding perhaps the student council later could create an elected position of a representative to the commission.

The vacancy was created when Dr. Donald Davis resigned as chairman earlier this month and Rasmussen was named to replace him.

The Rohnert Park Recreation Commission also:

RECREATION BUILDING — Heard that inclement weather is slowing construction of the recreation center. It is now scheduled to open after the first of the year rather than late next month.

GOLF COURSE — Hard that progress is being made on the municipal golf course scheduled to open in the spring.

Assault, Battery Booking Is Made

A San Rafael man was booked into Marin County Jail last night on a citizens arrest for assault and battery following a scuffle at Travelers Inn, 706 Third Street, San Rafael.

Police said Kalir O. Shannon, 35, of 1713 Lincoln Avenue, and a companion came to Travelers Inn, found the door locked and kicked in the glass. William Herman Bonge went to place Shannon under citizens arrest, but he left. He returned later and began scuffling with Bonge, police reported.

He was held in lieu of $440 bail and for the state parole board.

Trustees Hear Reading Reports In Kent School

The Kentfield School District board last night heard reports by four teachers on the reading instruction program offered at the Adaline E. Kent School.

A display of materials used in the program, and a discussion of the part the school library plays in the teaching of reading were included.

The board studied a tentative agreement for easement requests at the Kent School campus by the Corte Madera Creek flood control project. Supt. Anthony G. Bacich said it then made minor changes and referred the agreement back to project officials.

Project officials are seeking a 15-month temporary construction easement along the campus, and a permanent right-of-way at the school to enable moving of equipment.

The district has been concerned with how much damage might occur to the land, what provisions would be made for the safety of students, and what playground equipment would have to be moved, Bacich has said.

Damage To Jet Not Yet Known

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Just how much damage an accidental landing on San Francisco Bay did to a Japan Air Lines DC8 jet airplane remained a mystery today.

The Civil Aeronautics Board has not yet released the plane which landed short of a runaway at San Francisco International Airport on Friday without injury to any of the 107 aboard.

Huge cranes lifted the plane aboard a barge Sunday, and early today salvage workers still were considering means of getting it ashore so that it can be moved to the United Air Lines maintenance base for assessment of damages and repairs if possible.

The convention, which ends today, elected David R. Mosher of St. Petersburg, Fla., as first vice president; Mrs. Rita M. Welch, Braintree, Mass., secretary, and Don T. Barry, Raymond, Ill., treasurer.

CHICAGO AGLITTER FOR YULE

Thousands of tiny white lights decorate trees along Michigan Avenue and add glamor to the Chicago Water Tower, reminder of the historic blaze started by Mrs. O'Leary's cow in 1871. More than 100,000 of the tiny bulbs were lighted for the first time last night. (UPI Telephoto)

Hub Planners Delay On Apartment Plans

The San Anselmo Planning Commission last night in a special meeting, considered the request of Emily Merriman and others for rezoning property at 84 Madrone Avenue from single family to planned development, but took no action.

It agreed to study the matter further at its next regular meeting at 8 p.m. on Dec. 2 at city hall.

The applicants, who include the Ross Realty Co., propose construction of a 24-unit apartment building. Objections from the audience, including Mrs. Maude Happersberger, 58, Madrone Avenue, were that multiple zoning there may not be desirable because it is just north of much traveled Center Boulevard, and that only about one acre of the one-and-one-half-acre site is usable and the requested density of 24 units may be too high.

On the other agenda item, the commission granted the request of Russian Orthodox St. Nicholas Church that parking requirements be two spaces rather than five at the church building, 102 Ross Avenue.

Newton Freedom Plea Is Rejected

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The California Court of Appeal has ruled that Huey Newton, cofounder of the Black Panther party, must remain in prison pending his appeal from a voluntary manslaughter conviction.

Newton, minister of defense for the Negro militant group, was convicted of slaying a white Oakland policeman, John Frey, and wounding another in a shoot out Oct. 28, 1967.

Newton's attorney, Charles R. Garry, said he would ask the state Supreme Court to free his client pending appeal of Newton's Sept. 8 conviction which brought a two-to-fifteen-year prison sentence.

Point Reyes Station Crash Injures One

Bruce S. Adams, 16, of Inverness, was treated at Point Reyes Medical Center yesterday for a cut over the left eye after the car he was riding in slid off Highway 1, the California Highway Patrol said today.

The patrol said the accident occurred at 8:10 a.m. when the car, driven by Michael L. Martinson, 17, of Inverness Way, Inverness, skidded over a bank 2.5 miles north of Point Reyes Station. Martinson was cited for having a bald tire on his car.

Alabama Youth Gets Probation For Weed

Charles R. Womack, 19, who was living in the back of a truck in Southern Marin when arrested, was given a suspended 30-day jail sentence in Marin Superior Court yesterday and placed on a year of probation for possessing marijuana.

Judge Harold J. Haley declared the crime to be a misdemeanor. The youth, held at Juvenile Hall since his arrest Oct. 15, is to remain there until his parents arrange for his transportation home to Alabama, the judge said.

Homeowner Wins Permit For Horses

Mr. and Mrs. Welton C. Rotz and their two daughters will be able to keep two horses at 469 Corona Avenue in Lagunitas, if they maintain a clean corral area.

That was the ruling yesterday by county zoning Administrator Thomas E. Cordill. Rotz assured Cordill that his daughters keep the horses as a 4-H project and will see that the area is clean.

Cordill, noting that the lot is only 8,500 square feet, also ruled that the corral must remain at least 40 feet from the house, and all grain must be kept in rat-proof metal containers.

The Marin County Zoning Administrator also:

REALTY OFFICE — Approved a use permit for Jeffory S. Morshead to use a model home at 34 Corte San Fernando in Reedland Woods subdivision No. 2 as a real estate office.

VARIANCE — Allowed Richard D. Hedman to build a home on the second of two lots on the south side of Ridgewood Avenue near Tamalpais Drive, Homestead Valley, without the required off-street parking. Three parking spaces on Hedman's other lot will serve the home.

LOT SPLIT — Granted Matilda Brill permission to divide an 11,300-square-foot parcel at 203 Evergreen Avenue, Homestead Valley.

Probation On Theft

Daniel Howard Hubbard, 26, of San Rafael, was sentenced to 15 days in jail and placed on two years of probation in Marin Superior Court yesterday for burgling the Santa Venetia Supermarket March 25.

New Laws Requested To Protect Consumers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Witnesses told the Federal Trade Commission today that a combination of actions is needed to protect the consumer from fraud and deception—including stronger legislation, legal aid, and consumer education.

In a statement read into the record of the FTC hearing, Bronson C. LaFollette, attorney general of Wisconsin, said the main problem in his statement and many others is "the lack of statutory authorization for enforcement" of consumer protection.

He said stat eattorneys general should be authorized to issue injunctions when necessary to give relief for a consumer complaint.

"Such legislation is a vital weapon to deal with this growing problem," his statement said.

LaFollette was represented in this fifth day of FTC hearings on the general topic of consumer protection by Bruce Craig, a member of the Wisconsin Consumer Fraud Division.

Laws are needed, the statement said, to prevent companies from claiming money on a purchased item even after the item has been repossessed for default of payments.

Still another recommendation of the Wisconsin statement was that state motor vehicle departments be empowered to close auto repair shops that do not provide "qualified" work.

Another witness was James Williams of the United Planning Organization in Washington, D.C. Williams urged the creation of a new Cabinet level department on consumer matters and the passage of new consumer protection bills by Congress.

He said hearings should be held in such fields as utility rates, auto repairs and insurance, funeral practices and costs, and on credit bureaus "whose primary function is to serve business clients at the expense of consumers."

Home Looted Of Silver, Other Goods

The theft of about $775 worth of dishes, silverware, records, bedding and other household articles was reported yesterday by Susan Marie Mead of 30 Sonoma Street, San Rafael, police said.

San Rafael police also reported four other thefts today:

Gilbert Earl Selmos of 53 Woodland Avenue, San Rafael, reported yesterday that golf clubs, binoculars and miscellaneous items valued at a total of $530 had been taken from a padlocked storage area at his home between Nov. 12 and 15. The padlocked had been broken.

Jack Edward Miller of 55 Bahia Way, San Rafael, reported yesterday that his car stereo and 12 tapes valued at a total of $170 were taken from his car while it was parked in a driveway at 150 Paul Drive, San Rafael, yesterday morning.

A tachometer, a car stereo and six tapes were reported taken from his car by James Martin Hooweling of 451 Hibiscus Way, San Rafael, while it was parked on Nova Albion Way near Esmeyer Drive yesterday morning. He listed the value of the missing items at about $90.

Nancy Elizabeth Peterson of 39 Robinhood Drive, San Rafael, reported yesterday her son, Matthew Peterson's bike had been taken from Glenwood School Saturday.

Strike Hurts The Commuter

NEW YORK (AP) — The city halted most road construction today to offer a helping hand to the 90,000 commuters of the Long Island Railroad, shut down a second day by a trainmen's strike.

But the order to all contractors, utility companies and government agencies had little effect on the commuters, who again had to make their way to and from New York City through bumper-to-bumper traffic and on jammed buses and subways.

Constantine Sidamon-Eristoff, city acting transportation administrator, announced this morning that he had curtailed construction on all major roadways in Queens, Brooklyn and Manhattan, the three boroughs most affected by the railroad strike. Only the $72-million Long Island Expressway-Brooklyn-Queens Expressway interchange and emergency repairs were omitted.

Russell Wolden Out Of Prison

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Russell Wolden, the former San Francisco assessor convicted of bribery and conspiracy, is out of prison and in St. Mary's Hospital for treatment of a heart ailment.

He was released yesterday after Dr. Ralph E. Prout, chief medical officer at the State Medical Facility in Vacaville, told a judge that Wolden, 69, suffers "three or four episodes every 24 hours of chest pain or shortness of breath."

Superior Court Judge Lewis Drucker of Los Angeles, who sentenced Wolden in 1966 to a prison term of one to 14 years, observed: "The policy of the Adult Authority is that no prisoner should be allowed to die (of illness) in prison if that can be avoided."

Gallinas Slates Park Improvement

Rosal-Adrian Park in Gallinas Village will be improved and made usable by next summer, the directors of Gallinas Village Community Servies District decided last night.

The directors discussed park improvements with San Rafael landscape architect Sidney M. Lewin but made no decision on hiring him.

Instead, the directors decided to proceed with rough plans of their own a larged turded oval in the center of the park, with trees and shrubbery at the edges and a promenade in one corner.

Chairman David Banfield said a special meeting will be held next month to let the public review the improvement plans and give suggestions

Post Office Landscaping Is Approved

Landscaping plans by Capital Construction Co. of Los Angeles for the proposed Corte Madera Post Office at 7 Pixley Avenue were approved last night by the Corte Madera Board of Design.

Application of the Corte Madera Center Merchants' Council for design approval of a Hansel and Gretel house in the mall of Corte Madera Shopping Center also was approved. The board stipulated, however, that the house is for the Christmas season only and must be removed by Jan. 2.

The Corte Madera Board of Design also:

PATIO COVER — Approved the application of Alexander J Coutts for a patio cover in the rear area of 98 Mariner Green Drive.

PHOTO SERVICE — Denied the application of Photo Square Inc., San Francisco, for a photo service kiosk to be located on the south side of a Corte Madera Shopping Center parking lot.

Bill Drafted On Justice Naming

WASHINGTON (AP) — A procedure he says would prevent appointment of Supreme Court justices by a president on the basis of friendship or politics is being pressed by Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr.

The North Carolina Democrat, who helped block President Johnson's effort to elevate Justice Abe Fortas to chief justice, wrote fellow senators yesterday he will propose a constitutional amendment when Congress reconvenes.

He said it would require the president to name justices from among five or more candidates selected by a conference of the chief judges from each state and each federal judicial district.

Auto Leasing Operation Vetoed By Novato Planners

The Novato Planning Commission denied last night the application of Walter Brown for a use permit for an automobile leasing business on the southwest corner of Grant and Machin avenues.

The vote was 5-0, with Commissioners Jack Miklos and Mrs. Patricia Beyer absent.

The use permit was opposed by a petition signed by 39 property owners and businessmen in the area. The petition was presented by Alfred W. Bowman of 827 Reichert Avenue, who owns property across Grant Avenue from the proposed site, according to Planning Director Brian Mattson.

Benjamin F. Edwards, president of the Novato Downtown Merchants Association, said that the association opposed the auto leasing business on that site, according to Matson.

The association described the location as being one of the prime business sites in the city, Mattson reported.

The Novato Planning Commission Also:

SIGNS — Approved changes in the sign ordinance to be submitted to the city council. Major changes included a new definition of a shopping center as having a total of eight stores, an increase of four, and setting a minimum of five acres for a shopping center. The size of window signs would now be based on the frontage of businesses and not just limited to 50 per cent of the window area.

ZONE CHANGE — Approved subject to city council approval, a change from multiple to single family in the zoning of lots of San Marin Drive between San Andreas and San Mateo ways and set Dec. 9 for a public hearing on identical changes for San Marin Drive between Novato Boulevard and Simmons Lane.

COMMERCIAL — Approved, pending council approval, a zone change from single family to planned commercial for one acre on the west side of South Novato Boulevard South of Diablo Avenue for fifty associates.

MAP — Approved the 71-lot tentative map of Pleasant Valley Unit 6 on 21 acres west of Sutro Avenue for Sono-Marin Builders Inc., but postponed indefinitely consideration of the map of Marin Highlands Unit 5 of 71 lots on 31 acres south of Trumbull Avenue for the same builder, pending annexation of the area to the city.

RECREATION AREA — Approved consolidation in the master plan of the Marin Mobile Park site plan of two recreation areas of 4.65 acres just south of Hamilton Air Force Base east of Highway 101.

POSTPONED — Postponed until Dec. 9 the request of Albert Young for rezoning from single family to multiple of 10 acres north of Lamont Avenue and east of Highway 101.

Youngster On Mend After Injury By Car

Ulvar Wallace Klein, 6, of 4 Archangel Way, San Rafael, was reported in good condition at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Francisco today following a car-pedestrian accident at 3:10 p.m. yesterday on Golden Hinde Boulevard, San Rafael.

The child suffered a broken pelvis and cuts on his head when he apparently ran into the side of a car driven by Marrita Alice Ronconi of 219 Mirada Avenue, San Rafael, police said.

Petaluma Councilmen Receive Park Plans

Plans for 31-acre Luchessi Park were worked over last night at a study session of the Petaluma City Council.

Architect Sidney Lewin of San Rafael reviewed the plans approved Tuesday by the parks and recreation commission for the family park on Maria Drive near East Washington street and south McDowell Boulevard.

Lewin told councilmen plans include a 3.5-acre lake for boating similar to Stow Lake at Golden Gate Park in San Francisco. The lake could be stocked with fish or an area set aside for the sailing of miniature boats, he said.

Also planned are several flexible baseball diamonds, four tennis courts, handball court, soccer or field hockey field, badminton, volleyball, pathways for hikes and benches. Lewin said parking spaces for 370 cars had been alloted.

Designed to serve all age groups, a play area for young children has been provided as well as space for a future senior citizens center and a community center.

Picnic areas will easily accomodate 500 persons, said Richard Shollenberger, parks and recreation director. Telling the council they were most important, he said, "we already have people going out of town to picnic."

Councilmen suggested the possibility of coordinating athletic areas with plans for a future high school that may be built on South McDowell Boulevard. Shollenberger said that had been taken into consideration.

The park plans will be reviewed at the regular Dec. 1 council meeting at 7:30 p.m. and again Dec. 4 at a public hearing at 7:30 p.m. at city hall.

The Petaluma City Council Also:

POLICE STATION — Heard a report that the architectual firm of Lieb and Quaresma is working on plans for an addition to the police station. Richard S. Lieb said Police Chief Larry D. Higgins had asked him to prepare preliminary plans and give a cost estimate for enclosing the present carport into a new room and remodeling some existing rooms. Lieb said the preliminary planning fee would be $750 and if the firm does the entire job, the $750 would be applied to the total project costs. The firm is already doing a similar study for an addition to the central fire station.

REVENUE — Were told by City Treasurer Cecil G. Gealta that new sources of tax revenue this year would include property transfer taxes, television antenna taxes and cigarette taxes. He noted costs for operating the city had increased at an average rate of 10 per cent each year since 1965.

ASSESSMENTS — Heard recommendation from City Atty. Edouard E. Robert that a $200 limit be placed on assessments for segregating land. He noted that persons now pay a $100 fee for the first lot subdivided and $25 for each following lot. Robert said this rate could be excessive in comparison to the amount of administrative work. Treasurer Gealta called the present rate reasonable and said a limit would be impractical. Mayor Helen Putnam asked Gealta to survey neighboring cities for their practice.

Chancellor Bars Closing Campus At San Diego

SAN DIEGO (AP) —Chancellor William McGill, in his first major confrontation with University of California at San Diego students since taking over two months ago, refused a demand to close the campus for faculty-student discussions.

McGill met with students several hours yesterday in a campus plaza and told them he had an obligation "to keep the university open.

"I can't allow you to influence the rest of the academic community to this extent," he said.

Students had asked for a two-day discussion period, similar to the convocations at San Francisco State College instead of regular classes.

McGill did agree to allow students to meet for a free speech session today. He said students wanting to attend would be excused from classes.

MANILA (UPI) — Typhoon Nina left 17 persons dead and 56 fishermen missing in its sweep across the Philippines, the Manila Weather Bureau said today. The typhoon was downgraded to a tropical storm in the South China Sea.

Police Arrest School Leaders

NEW YORK (AP) — Two key Negro leaders in the Ocean Hill-Brownsville School District were taken into custody by police today, as the state moved to preserve a shaky agreement which ended a seven-week teachers' strike last week.

Rev. C. Herbert Oliver, chairman of the suspended Ocean Hill board, and Albert Vann, head of the Afro-American Teachers Association and a suspended teacher, were arrested at Junior High School 271.

Police said the two refused to leave the school as requested by Herbert Johnson, the state trustee put in charge of the eight-school experimental Brooklyn district as part of the strike-ending agreement.

Curriculum Report For Lagunitas

Lagunitas School District trustees last night heard a report on the seventh and eighth grade curriculum, Supt. Marshall J. McCunniff reported today.

Jean Berensmeier, parent of a student at the just-completed San Geronimo Valley School, outlined a plan for playground apparatus at the school using logs and wood construction which would blend with the forest atmosphere of a part of the play area.

The board will consider cost of the proposal at a future meeting, McCunniff said.

Trustees approved expenditure up to $200 for uniforms for pupils in the after school basketball program.

The board hired JoAnne Giddings as bus driver and noon playground supervisor at $1,714, and Carol Kendall as a teacher's aide and noon playground supervisor at $1,428, both for the rest of the school year.

The board will meet at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 16 at Lagunitas School to review the building program for San Geronimo Valley School.

Informer Takes Case To State's Tribunal

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Robert K. Worthington of Point Reyes Station, key police informer in the 1965 Sally Stanford burglary case, yesterday asked the state Supreme Court to overrule the state and to award him $150,000 as a "good samaritan."

Worthington, 43, a contractor, two years ago asked $152,777 from the state Board of Control, but got only $1,777. The board handles awards made to citizens who suffer physical harm or financial loss while giving aid to police.

The board rejected Worthington's claim that he had suffered $150,000 in general damages for "fear, nervousness and loss of business," and agreed to pay him only for the cost of moving his family five times during the much-publicized trial of the men who burglarized the Stanford home in San Francisco.

The board agreed to Worthington's claim that his out-of-pocket expenses totaled $2,777, but cut the award by $1,000 because he had received rewards totaling $1,000.

His attorneys, in the petition for a hearing before the court, asserted he was entitled to "an award substantially in excess" of actual expenses. They also noted that Worthington was shot in the arm while driving his pickup truck along Lucas Valley Road before the trial.

San Francisco police officer Salvatore Polani and three others were convicted after falling into a trap which Worthington helped set.

Credit Card Use Probation Set

Alvin L. Whittenbrock, 20, of Santa Rosa, who found a bank credit card belonging to someone else and used it for $3,000 worth of purchases in three weeks, was given a suspended jail sentence yesterday in Marin Superior Court.

Judge Harold J. Haley, noting Whittenbrock's clean record until arrested for using the credit card in Novato Oct. 3, gave him a four-month suspended sentence and placed him on two years of probation. He declared the offense a misdemeanor.

A condition of the probation is that Whittenbrock repay the Bank of America for his unauthorized chargings, the judge said.

Whittenbrock told the judge he used the credit card, found in a San Mateo County shopping center, to buy clothes and food for his wife and his three stepchildren.

Interim Freight Rate Increase Wins Approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interstate Commerce Commission granted the nation's railroads today an interim freight rate increase on most commodities of 3 to 10 per cent.

The ICC said in a statement its decision modifies its June 19 ruling that permitted the railroads to file tariffs limited to no more than 3 per cent.

It excluded from today's authorization higher rates for grain, iron, steel scrap and pig iron, saying increases in those rates must remain at the 3 per cent rate set last June.

The ICC said its final decision will be made later. Meanwhile, it said, it will permit the higher rate now because "of a critical need on the pact of the railroads for additional revenue to offset increased operating costs."

The earth rotates so quickly that a person standing on the equator would be traveling 1,000-miles per hour, says Collier's Encyclopedia.

Little-Oak-Barrel Brandy
ALMADÉN CENTENNIAL Brandy

Almadén. Little-oak-barrel brandy.

At Almadén, we don't let our brandy get lost in giant casks.

We age it in barrels—little oak barrels.

That's why Almadén Brandy has the kind of smooth, creamy taste you've always wanted in a brandy.

High-Cost Housing May Help Create Slums

Nobody builds a slum, intentionally.

Marin County, though, may be creating slums unintentionally. It may be doing so by its very insistence on large lots and high development standards.

How could this be? How could high-cost building, on large high-cost lots, result in slums? Let's consider.

It is widely recognized that real estate costs in Marin are very high — in fact, higher than in any other county in the Bay Area, considered countywide. Exclusive locations in Hillsborough, Burlingame Hills, Piedmont, etc., are as costly as any in Marin, but the other counties (except San Francisco, which has run out of land) have many localities of lower cost.

IT IS WIDELY recognized that a basic reason for the high price of homes in Marin is the high cost of land.

Because Marin is mostly hilly, with level land that can be cheaply developed a rather scarce article, there is not much that can be done about the high cost of land. Hillsides may be purchased fairly cheaply per acre, but by the time they have been converted into building sites, the cost has risen greatly. Much of the flat land must be filled — again adding greatly to cost. And the price of the flat acreage that needs no fill is inflated by its very scarcity.

How this expensive land is used, however, has great bearing on the cost of the completed homes.

The approach in Marin for many years has been to require relatively large lots. The idea has been to prevent crowding the land with buildings.

The result has been that only expensive houses can be built. If an acre of prime residential property costs $40,000, for instance, and can be divided into only four lots, that is $10,000 per lot — before improvements. And the share of the costs of streets and utilities that must be charged against each lot is proportionately high. The result is that the cost has risen so high before a house is built that it is unfeasible to put a house on such a lot with a price tag less than about $50,000.

Marin has a lot of these high-priced houses on high-priced lots. Even where the land is relatively cheap, this development method has made it impractical now to put up homes below about $35,000.

WHERE, THEN, are those to go who do not have the income to buy $35,000 to $50,000 homes? There are many, many such people in Marin.

They must (1) move into apartments, or (2) buy houses which were built on small lots in pre-control days. (The big old homes have shared, of course, in the inflation.) If they do the former, the apartment neighborhood suffers from too many children in the buildings, under conditions not designed for rearing families; if the latter, they cannot add to the home as the family increases because of existing restrictions.

Result: Slums.

MARIN HAS LONG been deeply concerned with planning to preserve its trees, its (mostly unusable) shoreline, etc.

Isn't it about time we concentrated on planning to preserve people?

Pollen Is Beautiful

We don't expect sufferers from pollen allergies to jump with joy at the news, but the fact is that the scanning electron microscope reveals pollen grains to be varied and beautiful examples of natural architecture. And each species of flowering plant appears to produce pollens which are as distinct in appearance as their blossoms.

For example, a grain of flax pollen magnified 1,250 times resembles the shell of a sea urchin. Wallflower pollen resembles sponges. The pollen of the hellebore looks like a cantelope. And that of thrift resembles sections of honeycomb.

Even in its tiniest forms, Nature can be quite complex and beautiful.

GOLDEN GATE VIEW

Political Wire-Pulling Sometimes Put To Good Use, For Instance...

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

Political pull traditionally is the first requirement for a job on the Golden Gate Bridge.

That's not surprising, but what is remarkable is that the system was capable of turning up a top-notch new general manager, Dale W. Luehring of Mill Valley.

The six bridge and highway district directors screening applicants for the job last July had settled on someone else before Leuhring entered the picture.

But they started to get telephone calls from Washington, Sacramento and some Bay Area wheels even more important than themselves. All got the word — Leuhring, who was retiring from the Air Force as a colonel — would be a good man to replace James Adam, who was retiring at 70.

THE RESULT of all this superior advice was that the committee dropped its first choice and decided to recommend Luehring's hiring to the full board of directors.

The big day saw his hiring quickly and unanimously approved.

Hardcastle, a shipping executive, had had some contact with Leuhring, who was in the transportation end of the Air Force, so they naturally got together when the bridge job came along.

Hardcastle, after satisfying himself that Leuhring would do the job as he thought it should be done, arranged those telephone calls without once revealing his role to his fellow directors until after it was all over.

At least one San Francisco director reportedly was furious when Hardcastle told him what he had done — after the full board vote. The same director had lobbied Hardcastle just before the board meeting, urging Hardcastle to vote for Luehring.

COMMUTERS will be under strong attack in the 1969 Legislature if Los Angeles' committee on proposed legislation has its way.

It has topped its list of 16 items recommended for city sponsorship in the Legislature with amendment of state law to permit a tax on wages and other income earned in the city by residents and nonresidents.

With both San Francisco and Los Angeles pushing for such an amendment, it could make its way into law.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Campus Uprisings Not Unrelated

Yesterday it was Berkeley and Columbia. And now the anarchy has (again) come to San Francisco State. Because the dates, names and places and the issues vary with each case, the liberal news media treats each of these as a separate and unrelated case. A good look at each case shows that they are all similar and related. Similar in that on each campus there is a strong rebel element planted in the faculty, a hard-core group of militant student leaders, and key administrators that appease the militants while putting up a front of opposing them.

They are related in that the key group running the show on each campus was either the W. E. B. DuBois Club or the Students for a Democratic Society. . . .

The short-term goal of these revolutionaries is control of the campuses, and they move a step closer to it with each confrontation. Their long term goal is the destruction of our American republic.

The same pattern is developing at College of Marin and, unless concerned students and citizens unite now to prevent it, College of Marin will soon erupt into anarcy and violence.

Two Intersections Need Traffic Lights

There are two intersections in Mill Valley that create a hopeless traffic jam in peak commuter hours which could be solved quiete simply by replacing the existing four-way stop signs with traffic lights. These intersections are at Camino Alto-East Blithedale and Lomita-East Blithedale.

The present system adds at least five minutes to the commuter time for Mill Valley residents, not to mention the frustration of deciding whose turn it is to "creep through." Surely with the high rate of taxes paid by home owners, the necessary funds could be appropriated to correct such an inadequate system of traffic control.

Way To Improve Execution Efficiency

As a professional bio-engineer and California taxpayer, I call your attention to the following facts regarding executions at San Quentin:

Current techniques allow for only two simultaneous killings and up to three hours for evacuation of the gas chamber. A bit of simple arithmetic demonstrates that 84 executions, two at a time, would require five days and six hours, working around-the-clock. Based upon an eight-hour day and a five-day week, the total time involved to complete the series would constitute 22 days.

If instead, all 84 are packed into the chamber at once, the job can be done in less than four hours, including evacuation of the chamber. The savings in salary and employee benefits will be considerable. A smaller but still significant savings will occur in the amount of gas-producing pellets used.

Should any further technical assistance be required, there are several gas chamber attendants left over from Nazi Germany who might volunteer their services.

THE RAZOR'S EDGE

Railroad Line Key To Future

As every I-J reader by now knows, the NWP RR wants to abandon its Sausalito branch. Several proposals have been advanced on how to use the present right of way and they all seem to include everything but future rail operations.

It is time that somebody decided that the right of way has only one real service and that is for providing continued rail service for Marin County. The present freight operation of the branch holds much potential for light industrial development in the county but perhaps the greatest potential of all is for development of alternate transportation for commuters to San Francisco.

If anything can be learned from history then I say that people should read a book entitled "The Northwestern Pacific RR." It can be found in any public library in Marin. A quick review of this book will reveal to the reader that Marin County once had a fine public transportation system. This old, but highly reliable system, if recreated and modernized, would go a long way toward solving the public transportation problem that now exists in Marin County. . . . If Marin wants to further pave the landscape with nothing but miles of concrete then I suggest they let the railroad die a horrible death and plunge full speed ahead with more highway construction. . . . The choice is yours, people of Marin, but decide wisely and rapidly, before it is too late and the rail line is gone.

Officials Show Public Conscience

Good deeds by public officials, elected or appointed, often go unnoticed.

I would like to compliment Mayor William R. Bremer for disqualifying himself when the appeal to rezone the Taylor tract came before the council. Mayor Bremer lives in that area.

Also to be complimented is Victor Banks, a member of the Tiburon Planning Commission. Mr. Banks alerted his friends and neighbors to the change made in the zoning ordinance. Many people do not get the local paper where the notices are published and are not aware of what is being done to them by the City of Tiburon. Mr. Banks was appointed, not elected. He also disqualified himself regarding the matter as he is a property owner in the area.

On the morning after a noisy and disorderly bash, a guest called the host to inform him, "At the height of the excitement last night, I must tell you that your wife promised to divorce you and marry me. I hope this doesn't upset you too much." "Upset me!" echoed the host with a hearty laugh. "That's why I gave the party."

Controllers, Pilots In Hero Roles As Air Traffic Congestion Grows

WASHINGTON — Anyone who travels frequently by air, as this reporter has done during the past three months, endures the frustration of delayed flights, cancellations and the interminable stackup with layers of planes in the overcast waiting to land at crowded airports. It must seem at times that the system is overburdened to the point of breakdown.

On Black Friday in July the climax came with an air traffic jam so horrendous that disaster was averted by sheer luck. This brought a demand for drastic reduction in the number of flights in and out of crowded airports.

The end of the vacation season meant a drop in air travel which has somewhat cut back the load. But the measures proposed to reduce the maddening delays, not to mention the hazards, are only in the beginning state. The bureaucratic mills grind exceedingly slow, conflicting interests pull in opposite directions, and the end of what at times appear to be chaos is, officials concerned with air traffic readily admit, a long way off.

THE CONTROLLERS who direct air traffic work overtime six or seven days a week, as was disclosed after Black Friday. Nervous tension with its physical toll is an occupational disease. The controllers are still working overtime bringing down the big jets out of foggy, rain-swept skies.

There has been some progress. Shocked by Black Friday and the picture of the sky jammed with planes almost wing tip to wing tip Congress reconsidered earlier budget cuts and allowed the Federal Aviation Administration to hire 2,000 more controllers. The Control Training Academy in Oklahoma City, which had been closed to save money, has been reopened with a class of 150.

It is an interesting commentary on values that the average salary of a controller — the man responsible for the safety of so many lives and an investment of millions of dollars in jet planes — is $9,000 to $10,000. He may work up after a number of years to $15,000 on the Civil Service scale.

THE FAA is conducting a 12-months of the year FAA For the first two and a half months on the year FAA received reports of 554 near midair collisions from pilots and other sources. FAA estimated that during this period there were 15,500,000 flight operations, so that one close call was reported for every 28,000 operations.

Traffic control is only one piece of the dangerous congestion picture. The urgent — perhaps desperate is the word — need is for airports. Even the casual air traveler knows the cluttered, crowded airport, with ramps extended out so far that a hike to the departure gate seems to take as long as the flight itself.

Earlier this month the FAA in the 1968 edition of the annual National Airport Plan said that more than 800 new airports must be built in the next five years to "relieve present congestion and accommodate future growth." Location of these airports is often the object of fierce contention.

NATIONAL AIRPORT here in Washington is the most glaring example of what overcrowding means. It was built to handle 4 million arrivals and departures annually. The total today is 10 million and it would be a lot more and sheer chaos, according to FAA officials, if a ceiling had not been put on—when traffic had reached two and a half times capacity.

Theoretically National Airport is regulated by FAA, unlike other airports around the country. But FAA with its 40,000 employees carrying out all the control functions is a creature of Congress. When the agency moved to keep out the bigger jets by putting a geographical flight range on operations out of National, making it in effect a local airport and channeling long-distance traffic to nearby Dulles and Friendship, members of Congress screamed to high heaven. The limit came off.

The simple truth is that the controllers and the pilots are the unsung heroes of the jammed airways. Their skill and their dedication are the margin between safety and disaster. It is a heavy burden they should not have to carry singlehanded.

Mali: Peanuts, Airlines, And Teachings Of Mao

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

The Sahara sun boiled down on a gaily decked tent from which the president of Mali, Modibo Keita, spoke above the loud complaints of camels tethered alongside a new macadam airstrip.

This was Mali in the first flush of independence from France. Already, the desert sand was beginning to drift over the new runway.

And this was Timbuctu, "where the camel meets the canoe," linked now by a new Malinese airline with Bamako, the capital, 400 miles away.

AS VISITING diplomats and other guests stewed in their own perspiration, Keita told them that this new airline would overcome desert barriers and act as a symbol of Mali's independence, unity and new prosperity.

In the market place, close to the sun-baked mud brick walls of a 600-year-old mosque, blue-eyed, black-skinned Tuaregs, fierce tribesmen of the desert, strolled hand-in-hand or with arms around each other's waists.

The Malis feared the Tuaregs. In ancient days they had been the slave traders, the men who loaded their camels with salt from mines deep in the Sahara for shipment by canoe down the Niger River and made their exchange in slaves.

DESPITE its size, twice that of Texas, Mali wasn't much of a country then and it isn't now.

Literally, it had a peanut economy. Its chief export is peanuts.

And, like many another newly independent black African nation, it wanted to fly before it could walk or run. It needed an expensive national airline like Eskimos need iceboxes.

When the diplomats departed Timbuctu for the shade and cool of Bamako, the Malis forgot to put either water or food on the inaugural airliner, superheated by hours sitting on the runway under the desert sun and with a four hour flight ahead.

On the way back, the Danish pilot flew low, and this correspondent recalls the wretching illness of two North Vietnamese delegates as the airplane bounced off one shimmering heat wave after another rising from the sands below.

KEITA, more than six feet tall, imposing in his white robes, tough under a gracious exterior and a socialist in the African manners, became Mali's first president after a short-lived federation with Senegal in which he served as premier.

But Keita, after receiving aid from both East and West, including the United States, was swinging close to the Red Chinese. A slogan in Bamako declared: "All the peoples of the world ardently love Chairman Mao."

With the Malinese economy slipping badly, it was too much for young officers in the Malinese army. This week, Keita fell to a bloodless coup.

Minority Rule Fails To Work Its Way Down To Novato Schools

For several years, our society has been reversing its original concept of majority rule to that of rule by an organized minority.

Nowhere has this been more true than in the universities and colleges. Here small minorities have made demands and carried them to the point of disrupting the function of institutions.

This point of view seems to be permeating down to the high school level. During the recent negotiations between the teachers of the Novato schools and trustees, there was a very vocal minority making suggestions which were almost like demands.

Then when it came to a vote of the assembled teachers, this vocal minority was overwhelmingly outvoted by the vast majority of the teachers.

ONE OF THE suggestions at the negotiations was to keep high schools on half-day sessions and not open San Marin High School. This was first suggested as an economy measure. Then the teachers got a raise and the school district planned to open the high school on Dec. 2.

A few days ago, a circular which could be signed and returned the same as a petition was passed around to Novato and San Marin high school teachers. It called for continuation of the half-day sessions with the afternoons being used by students and teachers in a free choice program.

Jerrold Moore, president of the 450-member Novato Teachers Association, said this idea had been discussed by the high schools curriculum council but no action was taken on it. The curriculum council is composed of the department heads.

Moore also said the Novato Teachers Association would not oppose the full-day schedule as adopted by the school board. Both Novato and San Marin high schools will go onto full six 50-minute periods with a post-period each day.

He said he did not expect it would be necessary for the Novato Teachers Association to take any action on the circulars which were passed to the teachers.

So again a vocal minority in the high schools failed to upset the concept of majority rule.

WE HAVE ALWAYS felt that the Novato area was about as free of racial prejudice as any we have ever seen. We attributed part of this to the influence of Hamilton Air Force Base.

That is not the only reason. Novato was the only city in Marin County which had a Negro police officer until he quit to go elsewhere for more money. Novato has a Negro on its parks and recreation commission. Negroes and Orientals are in business here. People of minority groups live all over the city and are not confined to any "ghetto" area.

A group, Novatans for Racial Equality, want the city council to do more for the minority races. It has held two meetings with the Novato City Council to further the cause.

The council has responded by declaring Novato an open city for housing and also hiring of its 70 city employees.

One point which the Novatans for Racial Equality made was that unless something drastic is done, America will be a two-culture society by 1984.

The morning after the council met with the racial equality group, I saw a car with a sticker on its back bumper which read: "Love America or leave it." The driver of the car was a Negro. It helped restore my confidence in this community and country.

GOP Fund-Raisers Need Help In Law And Order Crackdown

WASHINGTON — My friend, Rumpelmeyer, the arch-Democrat, called me up the other day with a surprise request. He wanted me to contribute to a "defense fund" for the Republicans who may be prosecuted under the Corrupt Practices Act for failure to meet the deadline on their reports of contributors to the Nixon-Agnew campaign.

"But Rumpelmeyer," I said, "why are you getting involved in this?"

"I believe in it," Rumpelmeyer said. "Nixon and Agnew ran on a law-and-order platform and they vowed to prosecute anyone who breaks the law. If they follow through on their pledge, then the first thing the new attorney general will have to do is take the people who raised money for Nixon and Agnew to trial."

"BUT SURELY, Rumpelmeyer," I said, "Nixon woudn't prosecute his own people for what was probably an administrative oversight. After all, it's just politics."

"That's what you say, but Nixon and Agnew specifically said they would not tolerate any monkeying around with the law. They promised if they were elected that there would no longer be some laws for people to obey, and others that they didn't have to obey. They won't have any choice but to see that the men who failed to file their reports feel the full weight of our judicial system. Now, how much can you pledge to the defense fund?"

"Wait a minute, Rumpelmeyer. No court in the land is going to convict men for being tardy in handing in political contribution reports."

"I'D LIKE to think so," Rumpelmeyer said. "But both Nixon and Agnew said during their campaigns that one of the big issues in our land was that the courts were too lenient on criminals, and that you don't prevent crime by letting people who break the law get off scot-free. I can't see where Nixon could do anything but lower the boom on his fund-raisers."

"You know, Rumpelmeyer," I said, "I'm always willing to give for a good cause, but even if the committee chairmen were tried, what could they get?"

"The law says they could get as much as a $10,000 fine and up to two years in jail," Rumpelmeyer said. "Even as a Democrat I don't think a Republican should have to do time for putting Nixon in the White House."

"I believe you're over-reacting, Rumpelmeyer. This whole thing will probably fade away."

"Not if Nixon gets a new attorney general. Don't you understand? The Nixon administration is trying to dramatize the issue of law and order. What better way to do it than to have the new attorney general try as his first case 'The People Versus the Nixon-Agnew Fund Raising Committee'? It would show beyond a shadow of a doubt that the new administration means business. I figure if we can get the defense fund started now, the poor guys responsible for the reports will have a better chance."

"YOU'VE GOT a good heart, Rumpelmeyer," I said. "Who would have ever thought that you would be concerned with Republican fund-raisers going to jail?"

"I wouldn't have gotten involved," Rumpelmeyer said, "but I'm concerned with justice, and Agnew refused to talk about justice during the campaign. He said people either have to obey the law or see that it's changed. That doesn't give the fund-raisers any place to go."

"OK, Rumpelmeyer. Put me down for $50. If you're man enough to raise money for their defense fund, then I don't see any reason why I shouldn't kick in. By the way, what do you think the defense will be?"

"We're going to claim it was a crime of passion."

Black Panther Cleaver Balks At Prison Order

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Black Panther Eldridge Cleaver, due to return to prison tomorrow as a parole violator, says he won't surrender.

The state would never free him again, he contends.

Cleaver, minister of information for the militant Negro group is required by State Supreme Court order to surrender to his parole officer tomorrow morning at the state building.

"That's one thing I can't do, go back to prison," Cleaver told a newsman yesterday. "Hoping and praying is irrational, so I've locked my mind and steeled myself."

Cleaver's attorney, Charles Garry, filed a petition yesterday with U.S. Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas in Washington for a stay, but there was no word from Washington of whether Douglas might act.

Garry said Cleaver had not received a registered letter from his parole board telling him to report tomorrow, and that consequently Cleaver will obey earlier instructions only to let his parole officer know where he is.

Regional Parole Administrator Hal Hubbell said in response to questions that if Cleaver doesn't show up, parole officers will try to contact him. If they can't, Hubbell said, they'll ask police to pick him up.

Their picket sign reads: "To save Eldridge Cleaver from police murder we wait and watch 24 hours a day." Most of the vigil keepers are white.

Cleaver had been paroled in 1966 after serving eight years of a 13-year Los Angeles sentence for assault to commit murder and rape.

After a shootout last spring in Oakland, in which Cleaver and two policemen were wounded and Panther treasurer Bobby Hutton was killed, Cleaver's parole was revoked and he was taken to the state's medical facility at Vacaville.

He was freed two months later when Solano County Superior Court Judge Raymond Sherwin agreed with Cleaver's contention that he was being held for his political beliefs.

What Happens When A Stock Is Split?

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Would you comment on an increasingly common situation? I refer to splits — such as in Gulf Oil. What is the effect of a split on share action? Will the stock become a slow mover?—A.N.

A. So far this year about 140 splits of over 50 per cent have been announced on New York Stock Exchange stocks, while only 66 took place last year. This increased space is likely to continue since a long bull market uptrend has pushed share prices to new high levels. Theoretically, a shareholder doesn't gain capital as a result of a split; in practice however, the lower price for the shares generally attracts a wider following.

Two examples of gains following splits can be seen in the action of Becton, Dickinson and Cincinnati Milling Machine, both splitting shares two for one in 1966. Becton shares, split in the high 70s, required just 18 months to reach 70 once again. Cincinnati Milling took only 10 months to move back to its presplit level.

In a company such as Gulf Oil, with its large common issue, the price effect of a split is mitigated. Likewise, if the fundamentals, such as earnings and outlook, do not justify the split, the shares will not respond as expected.

Q. I was told to buy Oil Shale Corp. I can afford the risk. What is your opinion on this selection?—R.B.

A. Oil Shale (TOSCO), in partnership with Standard Oil of Ohio and Cleveland Cliffs Iron, proposed building a $140 million plant to produce oil — with sulphur as a by-product — from Rocky Mountain shale deposits. However, disagreements with Sohio and a former board chairman temporarily disrupted progress; these are now well on the way to being resolved.

Word of institutional interest and reported proposals from several large oil companies, notably Atlantic Richfield, make a convincing argument for the eventual successful commercialization of TOSCO's recovery-process.

Controversy Ends With Vote On Directors

SAN FRANCISCO (BW) — A six-month controversy among shareholders of Pacific Vegetable Oil Corp. has ended with the election of a new board of directors that combines members of the company's founding family with a new group of prominent investors.

B. T. Rocca Jr. is the newly elected chairman and chief executive officer. Rocca Jr., son of the founder and former PVO president, said stockholders on the board have approximately 50 per cent of the stock outstanding.

Rocca Sr. was named founder-chairman. The board appointed Stuart R. Dole of San Francisco secretary and general counsel.

Related to the amicable conclusion of the stockholder controversy was the dismissal prior to the election of a $7 million lawsuit brought by the previous management against members of the dissident group.

Union Oil Dividend

LOS ANGELES — The board of directors of Union Oil Co. of California has declared a dividend of 35 cents per share on the common stock and also the regular 62½ cents quarterly dividend on the company's preferred shares.

Market Scores New Highs In Averages

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market closed today in trading, making new highs for 1968 in the averages.

The market was higher from the start.

A broad sweep including blue chips, glamor stocks and specially situated issues pushed indicators to new peaks for 1968.

The ticker tape was late at the close.

Prices near the close included:

Lionel, up ⅞ at 15⅞; American Smelting, up 10¾ at 84¾; Sinclair, up 6⅛ at 125⅜; Ling-Temco-Vought, up 3¼ at 93⅞; Reynolds Metals, off 1⅛ at 44⅝; Pan American World Airways, up 1⅜ at 29⅜; Lorillard, up 3⅜ at 78; Rollins Inc., up 2 at 84; Loew's Theatres, up 1¼ at 148½; and Procter & Gamble, up 3⅜ at 95⅜.

Confidence arising from the ability of stocks to withstand the shock of the European monetary crisis and a Wall Street belief that progress is being made in the Vietnam peace talks helped sentiment.

Lionel, up about a point, paced the list on activity in a bid to repeat yesterday's role as most-active stock.

An outside gainer was American Smelting, up more than 11 points and heavily traded, following a report that Pennzoil had proposed to combine with it in a tax-free transactions estimated to be worth about $105 a share of American Smelting.

Sinclair spurted 5 points as Gulf & Western started mailing proxy material to its shareholders covering the exchange offer for Sinclair stock. G&W gained more than a point.

Gold-mining stocks receded as the jitters subsided over the currency crisis. American-South African lost 2, Homestake and Campbell Red Lake a point or so.

Pacific Clay, Armstrong To Combine

LOS ANGELES (BW) — The boards of directors of Pacific Clay Products and Armstrong Paint and Varnish Works, Inc., have agreed in principle on combination of the two companies.

In announcing the terms of the proposed combination, company officials stated "an exchange of Armstrong's common stock for Pacific's will be worked out on the basis of one share of Armstrong for two-thirds of a share of a newly created $1.20 cumulative convertible preferred of Pacific plus four-tenths of a share of Pacific common stock.

"The Pacific convertible preferred will be immediately convertible into three-quarters of a share of Pacific common."

Pacific Clay Products is also considering the feasibility of creating a holding company which would be the parent of Pacific Clay Products, Armstrong and the Anaheim Union Water Co. On Nov. 18 an announcement was made concerning the merger of Anaheim with Pacific.

The proposed combination is subject to the approval of the shareholders of both Pacific and Armstrong and to various regulatory agencies.

Woolcott stated that the combination of the two companies will not change the structure of the Chicago-headquartered paint, chemical and can manufacturing company.

Present him with this authentic reproduction of Edison's first stock ticker, an 1869 model with glass dome and antiqued fruitwood base—all made into a handsome desk lamp 35 in. tall and complete with textured linen shade. An excellent reading lamp, conversation piece and token of esteem for a very nice man.

GLAMOROUS PANT ENSEMBLES FOR HOLIDAYS

Back To The Fashion Show As Junior League Benefit

By MOLLY MARIN

Marin Women

SECOND SECTION Tuesday, Nov. 26, 1968 13

It's back to the tried and true fashion show as a fund-raiser for the Junior League of San Francisco, to which the Marin members belong. And after a year hiatus in which the league presented a theatrical performance instead, the gala fashion event will carry the fund-raising load this season, not once but tiwce. The traditional luncheon and style show will be held Feb. 27 at the Continental Ballroom of the Hilton Hotel in San Francisco, and then that evening the fashions will be presented at an elegant cocktail and buffet party followed by dancing. New, too, this year will be the emphasis on men's fashions as well as the women's and youngsters' styles.

From Marin Mrs. Joseph E. Sheeks of Belvedere is co-chairman of models and Mrs. Gordon Dohemann of San Rafael is on the luncheon committee.

Invitations have been mailed for the sponsors table reservations for both noon and evening shows.

A RECEPTION was given Sunday at the Bohemian Club in San Francisco to honor Martha Bigelow Eliot of Tiburon, in recognition of her 20th year as director of the San Francisco Players Guild. The reception was given by the guild's board of directors and auxiliary after a performance of "Yatya, the Wonder Girl."

PROMINENT PHILADELPHIANS Dr. and Mrs. Edward S. Gifford Jr. will visit their nephew, John Heisley of Terra Linda on Thanksgiving Day. Dr. Gifford is chief opthamologist at the University of Pennsylvania Hospital, and his wife is a noted artist who is a member of the board of trustees of the Philadelphia Museum School of Art.

On this first trip west for the couple, they will spend six days touring the Bay Area and Monterey as well as Marin.

A CONTINGENT of Marinites is planning to be on hand for the San Francisco Sponsors fund-raising Casino 13 party on Dec. 13 at the Ice House Number One and Number Two. The evening of games, cocktails, supper and dancing will be a benefit for the City Theater of Jack Aranson of Mill Valley. Sponsors board members from Marin are Mr. and Mrs. John Kornfeld of Strawberry, Joyce Berg of San Rafael and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Skornia of Ross. Other Sponsors members who are working on the Casino 13 party are the Rev. and Mrs. Angus Dun Jr., Dr. and Mrs. Jansheski, Dr. and Mrs. Robert E. Rouda, Mrs. L. Henry Garland and James E. Williams, all of Marin.

THE HUNTLEY BENNETTS of Ross have been vacationing at the Royal Hawaiian and Sheraton Mauai Hotels in Hawaii after the Hawaiian International Open Golf Tournament. Mr. Bennett is West Coast sales manager for Newsweek magazine, which was a sponsor of the golf tournament held at the Waialae Country Club.

It's Turtlenecks

Turtles again win the race when it comes to men's sweaters for fall. But this year's crop is different from last. Gentlemen's Quarterly says the turtlenecks come in a variety of patterns that didn't exist a year ago. Instead of flat knit solids or one color bulkies and cable designs, the cables come in navy, red and white. An oversized windowpane check beefs up a silver gray turtleneck. Copper covers the front of a tan turtle. Two others have crosses dividing the front into colorful panels, while still another sweater is patterned with a dramatic V.

Junior Requests Suggestions To Help Alleviate Bashfulness

DEAR HELEN:

I'm a junior in high school, am five feet ten inches, weight 165, and am not bad looking, but I'm completely dateless. Every once in a while a girl waves to me or something, but I'm too bashful to go over and talk to her, or even wave back. I can talk to guys okay, but I guess I just don't know how to approach a girl. I'll probably never get up nerve to ask one for a date.

Any suggestions?—UP TIGHT

DEAR U. T.:

What you need is self-confidence, and the best way to get it is from girls your own age. But since you seem to have such difficulty in meeting them, why not get one of your male pals to give you a hand. A buddy could easily arrange a double date if you asked him. Also, why not join one of the recreational clubs at your school? In such groups guys and gals meet on a very informal basis and you'll find your shyness wearing off in no time.

Meanwhile, U. T., screw up your courage and take the "Hi"-road. Some girl is bound to take it from there.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

You said guys would wear purses in about the same ratio that girls wore see-through dresses with nothing much under.

Around here you see a lot of fellows with purses, and they aren't "purse-swingers" either. I'm still looking for a see-through dress.

Maybe the guys are trying to get even because women hogged their styles, but I wish they would forget beads, medallions, purses, long hair, and other feminine frills. What's wrong with looking like a man?—NORTHERN NEW JERSEY

DEAR HELEN:

I'm going with a fellow who is a nut about hunting and fishing. We are planning on marriage next year, but I'm not so sure.

He goes target shooting, doesn't call until he gets home, and then expects me to be ready in 10 minutes.

Last weekend he didn't show up at all. He claims he was thrown in jail Friday night and kept there until Sunday. I think he is lying to me. He just went hunting.

Shouldn't I think twice about marrying a liar?—DIANA

DEAR DIANA :

In this case, better a liar than a jailbird, but think twice anyway. I don't believe you're cut out to be a sportsman's wife. —H.

DEAR HELEN:

I don't know how that woman managed it — getting a legal abortion when she didn't qualify under the law. I speak from experience. I was an unwed p.g., and desperate enough to want an abortion. My parents tried, but they were turned down. The baby wasn't in danger, I wasn't ill, and I hadn't been forced.

Illegal — yes. But we were scared of that route.

I'm so very, very glad now, that I had my baby. She is the most wonderful thing that ever happened to me. When I think of how close I came to never having known her, I shudder. Yes, I kept her, and now I'm engaged to a wonderful fellow who is going to adopt her.

Helen, I don't think abortions are morally wrong, and I know that sometimes they're the only way, but I'm glad we aren't going all-out to legalize them. Think how many women hate the idea of having a baby at first, and then, in about the sixth month, begin to realize hoy lucky they are:—LUCKY ONE

'Middle Age' Extends To 70

(Last in a five part series from the Women's Medical News Service, "The Five Ages of Woman.")

POST-MENOPAUSE

A medical writer recounts how as a young woman she returned home to find her 52-year-old widowed mother serving tea to an unknown man she'd just met in the library. Convinced that her mother was too old for such goings-on, the daughter made the visitor feel so unwelcome that he never returned. Shortly after, her mother died. Now older and wiser, the writer is haunted by the recollection of her cruelty. And she realizes just how unold 52 really is.

But her youthful shortsightedness is epidemic. As a well-known gynecologist points out, few people understand the sex lives of teenagers or older persons — teenagers because they won't talk, older persons because nobody asks.

BUT TIMES ARE changing. Life expectancy lengthens to the point where the average woman lives about 30 more years after her menopause. And a recent book, "Sexual Life After Sixty" by Isadore Rubin, cites researchers who, ignoring precedent, are interesting themselves in the sex lives of older persons. For instance, a questionnaire to over-65-year-olds listed in "Who's Who" revealed that 70 per cent of the married men replying engaged with some regularity in coitus.

When Dr. William Masters and Virginia Johnson studied a select group of post-menopausal women, they found that the clitoral response of 70-year-olds was comparable to that of women in the thirties and early forties. Orgasms, too, were unchanged except for being shorter in duration. Active sex lives helped some older women to avoid the decrease of vaginal lubrication that is common.

In one poll of college-educated women, one out of every five in the 55-to-65 year age group said that after the menopause, women are usually more interested in sexual relations than they were before.

Dr. Sherwin Kaufman, a professor at the New York University School of Medicine, tackles the issue of post-menopause sex forthrightly and emphatically: "If a woman is in good health, feels well and has always had a good sex life, there is no reason to expect any change (following the menopause)."

Proof that sexual desires are independent of hormonal production, he says, lies in such facts as these: surgical removal of a young woman's ovaries does not interfere with her libido; prematurely mature children have sex urges consonant with their chronological age rather than with their precociously-developed bodies; and elderly women with comparable hormonal outputs lead very disparate sexual lives.

DR. SOPHIA KLEEGMAN, a New York gynecologist, describes a patient who had been frigid with two husbands through decades of marriage. At the age of 72 she took a 76-year-old lover with whom she found fulfillment.

Nor are these isolated exceptions. Since 35,000 marriages annually involve at least one partner over 65 years old, it's obvious that the senescent can swing too.

A person is indeed as old as he feels. When a group of 65-to-69-year-olds were asked how old they felt, fully half replied, "middle-aged" or even "young." Only when the investigators reached the group past 80 did they get nearly unanimous agreement that they were old.

In action, too, some elderly women have proved that calendars are not iron-clad. Nurse Clara Barton worked 14 hours a day when she was 90; Gertrude Atherton published her 56th book at that age; and Lillien Martin, America's first old-age counselor, learned to use a typewriter at age 65 and to drive a car when she was 77. Grandma Moses took up painting at the comparatively juvenile age of 75.

In recent years, national attitudes have shifted in seemingly contradictory directions: to students, the over-30s are "old," everyone else has raised both the threshold and the ceiling of "middle age." A generation or so ago, a 50-year-old woman would have been considered old; now she is clearly starting to be middle-aged. "Old" seems to begin at about 70. This differentiation between middle-aged and elderly has a physical basis. All the post-menopausal years should not be lumped together. When a woman is fiftyish, her breasts will tend to become fatty; in later years, the fat is absorbed and they become smaller and flabbier. In early middle age, women gain weight readily, developing (unless they are very careful and energetic) padding around the hips and abdomen. In old age, on the contrary, women tend to lose weight. A plump 80-year-old is as rare as a skinny candy-taster.

ALTHOUGH THE ovaries ease off their production of estrogen, this female hormone may still play a role in the post-menopausal woman. In a survey of 680 women ranging in age from 38 to 111 years, some women up to the age of 80 showed evidence of sex hormone activity. A stepping-up by the adrenal glands may partially compensate for the lagging ovaries.

After the age of 50 or so, women become increasingly vulnerable to certain diseases. They lose their comparative immunity to heart disease; few women in their fifties suffer heart attacks, but after that women are almost at equal risk as men of the same age. Cancer of the ovary has its highest incidence between the ages of 55 and 65. Other cancers of the reproductive system and cancer of the breast become increasingly common too. A regular annual visit to a gynecologist is thus of crucial importance during this period of aging.

Osteoporosis (the development of brittle bones) is four times more frequent among women than among men, affecting them at an earlier age. This disorder strikes an estimated one out of every four postmenopausal women.

Ultimately, everyone grows old, but one woman's old age is another woman's agelessness. The "old" dancer can be a "young" club president. The "old" tennis player can be a "young" grandmother. Energetic, understanding old can beat out flabby, self-satisfied middle-aged any day of the week. Ask any admirer of Marlene Dietrich.

Flowers Burn While Guests Enjoy Ball

By LOUISE COOK

NEW YORK (AP) — The April in Paris Ball by any other name is still one of the most glamorous charity affairs around.

Some 1,000 socialites proved that recently when they took over an entire floor of the Waldorf Astoria for the black tie, $350 per couple event, renamed this year Le Bal de l'Amite.

THE ONLY MISHAP of the evening occurred when the carnations on the head table caught fire, touched off by candles, which were part of the decorations. Several of the guests of honor doused the flames with water from crystal, gold-trimmed goblets.

Claudius C. Philippe, who founded the ball 17 years ago with the late Elsa Maxwell, said the name of the event was changed because it was held neither in April nor in Paris.

THE "AMITE" of the new title, Philippe said refers not to present French-American relations but to help given to George Washington during the American Revolution by the French.

Before the dinner, guests sipped champagne and tried their luck at charity-benefiting gambling tables, or drooled over goodies at a "Christmas boutique" of jewels by Cartier.

Mrs. John R. McLean, "Brownie" to her friends, was general chairman of this year's event. Eighty percent of the money raised by the ball goes to American charities, 20 per cent to French charities.

Couple Will Be Married On Tamalpais

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lee Crebassa of San Anselmo are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Linda F. Crebassa, to Timothy A. Giddings of Novato.

A graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School, she attended the College of Marin and Graceland College in Lamoni, Iowa. Linda is employed with the City of San Anselmo Parks and Recreation Department.

Timothy is the son of Mrs. Lloyd E. Giddings of Novato. He is a Novato High School graduate and attended College of Marin and is self-employed as a contractor.

The couple will be married Dec. 22 in a ceremony on Mt. Tamalpais.

Sad Brushes Found By Dental Group

AP Newsfeatures

Everyone knows the value of regular toothbrushing, but apparently not everyone knows how to care for toothbrushes. That's the gist of a survey undertaken recently in cooperation with the American Dental Association.

As reportef in ADA's official "journal," the survey showed that 50 per cent of the brushes inspected were "unsatisfactory for use." It found that a substantial portion of the American public is using toothbrushes that are worn-out, caked with dentrifice, covered with unsanitary deposits, and dangerous to dental health. The evaluation, which tested thousands of brushes currently in use in households across the country, was based solely on the ability of the brushes to do an effective cleaning job.

Of all the brushes examined, 19 per cent were found to be capable of causing gum injury. The report further pointed out, "It was obvious that most brushes were used much longer than their condition merited. It was apparent also that many brushes were improperly cared for."

According to the journal article, here are the signs to look for in deciding when to replace toothbrushes:

Worn-out brushes. The bristles are worn down and mis-shapen so that the brush can't do a proper cleaning job.

Brushes dangerous to gums. The bristles are flared and splayed so that they may injure gum tissue.

Brushes caked with dentrifice. The brushes have a build-up of dentrifice so that the flexibility of the bristles is impared and they function more as a unit than individually.

Brushes with unsanitary deposits. These brushes look unsightly and are also harmful for good oral hygiene.

The report concluded: "There is no doubt that there is great need for continued and more effective education of the public in use and care of the toothbrush."

Brush manufacturers recommend four months as a maximum time that toothbrushes should be used before replacement. They also suggest that two toothbrushes be used by each person each day, to give brushes as a chance to dry and so retain their firmness.

Delta Zeta's President Aids Hearing Loss Work

Mrs. Headley A. Brown of San Rafael, new president of Marin County Delta Zeta Alumnae, is especially interested in the sorority's national philanthrophy of assistance to the hearing handicapped.

Personally concerned with the problems of the hard of hearing because her mother had had such difficulties, Marge Brown has devoted many hours to volunteer work in connection with programs of aid to the hard of hearing begun by the local chapter 12 years ago.

MRS. HEADLEY BROWN

She has been a member of the group 14 years and has previously served as vice president, secretary, philantrophies and benefits chairman, historian and publicity chairman.

The new president plans to continue emphasis on the hearing project and is already working on the benefit to be held in April at the Marin Golf and Country Club to raise money for the hearing handicapped children of Marin at Gallinas School. She is also active in the Terra Linda Guild of Sunny Hills.

Marge attended Washington State University two years. She lists as her favorite activities swimming, tennis, enameling and bridge.

She and her husband, who is employed in the food processing department of Del Monte Corporation, have lived in Marin 14 years. They have two sons, Richard Headley Brown of Santa Cruz, and Leffler Brown, 19, a student at the College of Marin.

The Minor Generation Is Up To Its Neck In Sweater Fashions

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

NEW YORK (AP) — In the days not very far past, fashion as far as boys were concerned, was for girls, or for their mothers.

Clothes were just clothes, something to be worn to keep you warm and dry and decent and to keep your knees from scraping too hard on the sidewalk when you fell down skating.

What colors they were or shape they took did not matter much to the pre-adolescent. If at all, his fashion consciousness did not awaken until he developed an interest in the opposite sex.

Perhaps the oncoming generation of males might have followed in the dull gray fashion footsteps of their fathers if the peacock revolution had not permeated from the young quickly to the very young.

Kids are quick to copy their big brothers whom they envy for the extra years of maturity, and loathe to imitate the ways of their fathers who are authority figures. At least that's the way the amateur psychologists in the men's and boyswear industry analyze it.

At any rate the lads of America are holding their heads high and their chins up because the minor fashion news is all around their necks. Their first lesson in style is to do their own thing with sweaters that do their own thing or do the thing the sweaters for older boys do; around the collar line.

Dick Frankfort, stylist for Donmoor, was one of the first to mini the Nehrus and gurus for the little guys, and to make tall turtles, low turtles, rolled turtles, mock turtles, zipped-to-the-ears turtles and double-layered turtles and turtle dickeys for kids with very ordinary necks.

The junior crowd has been quick to take up the trend of decorating these with jangling jewelry and leather thongs and colorful scarves, formerly the province of girls.

One probably reason for the popularity of these under-the chin fashions not yet mentioned is that kids hate to wash those necks.

Bolinas Ranch Bought For Nature Education

Audubon Canyon Ranch, a nature preserve at Bolinas Lagoon, has purchased 232 acres along its southern border for potential use as a regional outdoor education center.

The Frederick Thompson ranch was purchased for $210,000 which must be raised through private donations, announced Dr. L. Martin Griffin Jr ranch chairman.

He described the property as "a complete unspoiled watershed reaching from near the top of Bolinas Ridge to the lagoon."

The lower portion has open meadows and "a beautifully restored two-story farm house built in 1852," Griffin said. "The upper portions are heavily timbered and there is a year-round stream furnishing a good water supply."

Tentative plans are to use the property as a regional outdoor education center for Marin and Bay Area schools, Griffin reported.

Virgil S. Hollis, county superintendent of schools and Stanley Friese, assistant superintendent, have told him the Thompson ranch land is ideal for outdoor education, Griffin reported.

The ranch land has many undisturbed plant and wildlife communities, including fresh and salt water marsh, native bunchgrass meadows, chaparall and oak woodlands and mixed conifer forests, he said. "Its trails will tie in with the Audubon Canyon Ranch wildlife preserve, now a National Landmark, and it is only a short distance to ocean beaches, Duxbury reef and the National Seashore."

If plans to establish an outdoor education center materialize, overnight facilities for school groups would be restricted to the lower valley to preserve the wilderness qualities of the ranch and the Bolinas ridge, Dr. Griffin said.

Marin County pupils are now bused 70 miles to Pescadero in San Mateo County because there is no outdoor education center in Marin, Dr. Griffin said.

The Educational Services Committee of the Marin County Board of Education is studying the possibility of having the Marin County Schools Office cooperate with the Marin Audubon Society to establish the proposed outdoor program.

Audubon Canyon Ranch now consists of 569 acres of rolling grasslands, woodlands and canyons and has 368 acres of water and tidelands in Bolinas Lagoon under lease as a wildlife refuge.

The ranch was purchased by the Marin Audubon Society and the Golden Gate Audubon Society of San Francisco.

West Marin Feels Density Confusion

By FRANK FARRARA

West Marin residents were confused and skeptical last night when they tried to fathom a proposed complicated point system for density of development in their area.

Planning Director Paul C. Zucker, with the aid of charts and blackboard, explained the proposed amendment to the West Marin Master Plan at a hearing by the Marin County Planning Commission at West Marin School.

The basic intent, as well as details of the point system, was sharply questioned during the two-hour and 50-minute hearing before about 40 resident.s

Zucker contended the system provided flexibility in development and would encourage a "mixed community" including multi-family units and visitor accommodations, such as motels.

It is designed to decrease urban sprawl and enhance West Marin's potential market for second homes and tourist-recreation development, he said.

"Cape Cod woke up almost too late, being plastered with suburbs ruining what anyone went there for in the first place," he said.

Several residents commented that the system was designed for 10 to 15 years from now, not the present, and questioned whether the multi-family development was desirable for the area.

Albert Solnit, chief of advance planning, advised residents not to overlook the advantages of capturing the tourism market, including visitors to the Point Reyes National Seashore, to help lower their tax rate.

The proposed system is "not anti small-lot," Zucker said, but "benefits will come to developers who move away from the typical suburban tract house."

The intent is to have the optimum economic development and the optimum environmental quality, Solnit noted.

The density plan assigns basic development points per acre of land, the steeper the terrain the fewer the points allocated. On top of this, bonus points would be granted for planned development, special features such as open space or trails and good design.

The developer could then build single family homes, multi-family units, visitor accommodations, commercial buildings or mobile homes up to the maximum number of points.

Single family units would use up more development points than any of the other uses.

Zucker also explained, as an inducement to provide low or moderate income housing, even fewer points would be required for that type of development.

There was some question that the proposed system would meet the call by Marin County supervisors for a bonus system based on an average density of 1.15 units per acre.

Originally the plan called for a density of .88 units per acre, but it was raised on an interim basis to 1.15.

"I don't know how you could make it more complicated," said Henry C. Hankins of Point Reyes.

After Zucker noted that details would have to be worked out, one resident said accepting the plan "would be buying a pig in a poke with too many ifs."

"It's no more a pig in a poke than the adopted plan," Zucker replied. "You really don't know how the adopted plan would be laid on the ground."

Zucker said the system hasn't been applied anywhere, but he saw no reason why it couldn't be applied in West Marin as well as other areas of Marin.

"We're kidding ourselves if we think we know in detail the West Marin of 40 years from now and to set up too precisely is a mistake," he said.

Asked if the flexibility system for individual developments would result in random commercial development, Zucker said "some controls would have to be built in."

One resident asked, "Aren't you just doing away with the West Marin Master Plan?"

Zucker explained that the plan has been adopted and "the debate now is how it should be amended" to raise the denisty. He said he opposed the straight across-the-board density increase.

The planning commission will have its third hearing on the proposed point system at 9 a.m. Monday at Marin County Civic Center.

Ballet Students Will Perform

Seven advanced students from the Leona Norman School of Ballet, San Rafael, will tomorrow perform excerpts from "The Nutcracker Suite" at four schools in the Dixie School District.

The performances are: 9:30 a.m. in the Bernard Hoffman School, Terra Linda; 11 a.m. in the Santa Margarita School, Terra Linda; 1 p.m. in the Mary Silveira School, Marinwood, and 2:10 p.m. in the Oak View School, Lucas Valley.

The performers will be in costume.

OWNERSHIP QUESTIONED

Tiburon Council Gives Informal Nod To Parking Lot Plans

The controversial proposal for an 81-space parking lot at Tiburon Boulevard and Paradise Drive last night won the unofficial approval of the Tiburon City Council — some two years after the proposal was first presented to the city.

The council, on a 4-0 vote, adopted a resolution of intent to grant a temporary use permit for the parking lot at the Dec. 9 meeting. Councilman Thomas E. Drohan was absent.

Approval was delayed two weeks to allow the staff time to research the actual ownership of the property and to draft a resolution which would adequately incorporate all the conditions of landscaping, grading and entrance and exit engineering sought by the council.

Developer Jay Quetnick told the council that he, Marshall Walthers and Michel Demaurex are partners in Waterfront Properties and are legal owners of the parcel upon which the parking lot is to be constructed.

However, in a letter to the council, Matthew B. Weinberg said he is the owner of the property involved and, although he had no objection to the use of the land as a parking lot, he wanted the record to show clearly that Waterfront Properties did not speak for him before the council.

The original use permit application for the parking lot, made in late 1966, was signed by Weinberg and Demaurex. The use permit was denied by the city's board of adjustments and the council, in January 1967, refused to hear an appeal requested by Weinberg and Demaurex, because the city was involved in a lawsuit with the four property owners over the development of the waterfront along Paradise Drive, south of Main Street.

Quetnick last night said that Waterfront Properties and Weinberg were having a "family quarrel" in which they did not think the city should become involved.

The council agreed and requested staff to clarify the ownership and to obtain a stipulation from Weinberg and the attorneys for Waterfront Properties that the granting of the temporary use permit would in no way prejudice litigation still pending in court over the waterfront development question.

During the recess, Mayor William R. Bremer said the council had decided to hear the application at this time because it wanted to "cooperate" with the developers as a conciliatory step toward working out the snarl of litigation which has prevented a solution to the Paradise Drive waterfront problem.

Included in the conditions requested by the council for the one-year permit was one requiring the property owners to provide permit parking for ferry boat commuters. Councilman Branwell D. Fanning said commuters, for a small extra fee, would purchase the permit with their monthly commute books. All other patrons of the parking lot would pay parking fees, he said.

The Tiburon City Council Also:

AWARD — Presented an award for civic service to Elmo L. De Martini who recently completed his second term on the city's planning commission. Allan Thompson was appointed by Bremer to replace De Martini at the Nov. 13 council meeting.

PARKING — Postponed to Dec. 9 consideration of a proposal to prohibit parking on the south side of Paradise Drive between Main and Mar West streets pending resolution of the Waterfront Properties parking lot request.

TIBURON LODGE — Postponed to Dec. 9 approval of the master plan for addition of 44 units to the Tiburon Lodge pending study and a report by the council's lands and development committee.

MASTER PLAN — Postponed to Dec. 9 approval of the master plan for 1-11 Main Street pending study and a report by the council's lands and development committee.

DRAINAGE — Postponed consideration of the Trestle Glen basin drainage problem pending further study by the council's public services committee.

LIGHTS — Asked city staff to study and report on complaints of excessive intensity in downtown lighting.

APPOINTMENT — Accepted fanning's recommendation that he resign and another representative be appointed to the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council. Fanning said he had been unable to attend many EOC meetings because of conflicts with city business. Bremer said he would appoint someone to the post at the Dec. 9 meeting, if possible.

COMMENDATION — Agreed to commend the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District board for the institution of one way toll collection.

MEETING S— Agreed not to meet on Dec. 23 because of the Christmas holiday and adjourned to 8 p.m. Dec. 9 in City Hall.

AT SAUSALITO SCHOOL

Afro-American Festival Swings

By ALAN JONES

"A lot of adults are uncomfortable about black people," James T. Toliver said. "But I'm sure your parents aren't, and I'm sure you aren't.

A 120 grade school children — thoroughly mixed between black and white — listened intently as Toliver, formerly with the Peace Corps and now guidance counselor in the Sausalito school system, told of his Peace Corps experiences in West and Central Africa with snakes, foreign languages, African customs "and children and families just like yours."

Toward the rear of the Central School auditorium sat 20 to 25 mothers and a handful of other adults, many of them black. Several mothers wore "natural" hair and bold-printed African style dress.

Toliver spoke, and later sang to his own drum accompaniment, at this week's Afro-American Festival at Central School, set up by the school staff as an addition to studies this semester of African nations.

On stage yesterday, talked on and off by KDIA disc jockey Bob White, were a series of young people's groups.

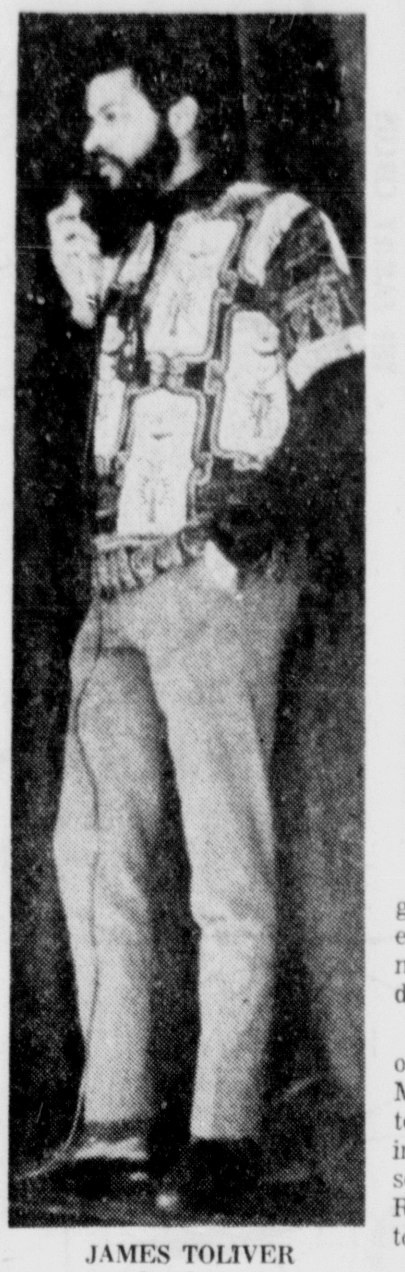
A mixed group of black and white elementary school children performed a pulsing, multiphasic rhythmic number on bongos and African drums.

Three subteen-age black youths joined the Naturals for dances to soul music.

". . . The emphasis is on our black history, and our black culture," said Gabe Jackson community worker for the school who is coordinating the festival which runs through tomorrow at Central.

Twelve home rooms of second, third and fourth graders each have taken one African country for intensive study this semester, learning how its people live, their customs, what they plant and reap and how they make their living.



JAMES TOLIVER
'A head start'

The three-day festival, Jackson said, is aimed at showing pupils how the African influence has developed in America as well. Pupils studying the African cultures can relate their development to the experience and culture of the American Negro.

By way of showing what he meant, Jackson came onstage with his own African drums and did a five-minute performance that had the entire auditorium clapping in unison until the rhythm threw them off beat.

In the rear of the auditorium a group of older black youths looked on, swinging in time to the music and wildly applauding the dancers and drummers.

Jackson said classes from other elementary schools in Marin have been invited to attend to obtain their own insight into Afro-American roots, and some classes from Novato, San Rafael and other districts plan to attend.

Several professional performers who have promised to take part will perform tomorrow, Jackson said, including Sausalito School District Trustee Nathaniel Johnson who is a singer and musician. Marin City poet Calvin Scott, cartoonist Morrie Turner and some Tamalpais High School student groups.

No one is talking yet about an annual festival. But judging from the Central School pupils' response, Jackson has a hit on his hands that could be repeated next year.

Police Have No Clues To Sabella's Robbery

San Rafael police today reported themselves facing a blank wall in their search for the three unidentified gunmen in Sunday night's kidnap of Luciano Sabella and subsequent $4,000 robbery of Sabella's restaurant in Mill Valley.

The three men, masked at the time of the crime, left no clues and might as well have vanished into thin air, according to police.

The gunmen invaded Sabella's Peacock Gap residence at 227 Riviera Drive, terrorized him and his wife, Diane, and forced Sabella to accompany them to the restaurant, one robber remaining behind to guard Mrs. Sabella.

Sabella was forced to open the safe of the restaurant and later released at a darkened spot at the Bon Air Medical Center off Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

Couple To Plead On Dope Charges

William N. Roberts of 6 Tamarack Road, San Geronimo, was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on a charge of marijuana possession.

Drony L. Welch of 101 Hawthorne Street, Santa Venetia, arrested with him in Nicasio Friday, was charged with possessing a device for smoking a narcotic.

Both were to return to court tomorrow to plead to the charges.

Garbage Rate Hike Approved

Homestead Valley Sanitary District board last night approved an increase in garbage collection rates requested by tha Mill Valley Refuse Co. Warren I. Jacobs, chairman reported.

Jacobs said the exact amount of the increase will be computed by the district's auditor and presented to the board for approval on Dec. 16.

The new rates will be based on the operating costs of the Mill Valley Refuse Co. and the E. DeMartini Co., which services a small area of the valley, pro rated over the number of homes served by both companies, Jacobs said. De Martini will also received the rate increase, Jacobs noted.

The board set its next meeting for 8:30 p.m. Dec. 16, rather than Dec. 23, because of Christmas.

Park Officials Seek Substitute For Turf

Mill Valley Parks and Recreation commissioners last night agreed to investigate other types of ground cover for Old Mill Park after several attempts to maintain a grass turf in the redwood grove failed.

Parks and Recreation Director Don Dimitratos said the park is too damp and shady for grass to stand up under heavy use by children.

Commissioners asked Dimitratos to look into the possibility of using wood chips or decomposed granite in the area.

The Mill Valley Parks and Recreation Commission also:

TENNIS — Approved a two-month tennis tournament next fall for the parks and recreation department's interclub tennis team.

LIAISON — Named Chairman Jean Barnard as liaison to the city council.

GOLF COURSE — Heard that the grass tees on the eighth and ninth holes at the municipal golf course have been completed and the fairway for the eighth hole planted.

LANDSCAPING — Heard that landscaping around Boyle Park restrooms has been completed.

THANKS — Thanked the Mill Valley Junior Chamber of Commerce for constructing a bridge at Old Mill Park. The city provided the materials and the Jaycees the labor, Dimitratos said.

MEETING — Set the next meeting for 8 p.m. Dec. 9 at the library and canceled the regularly scheduled Dec. 23 meeting because of the Christmas holiday.

Novato Arrests Ukiah Bank Aide

Clyde F. Bradley, 36, operations officer of the Ukiah branch of the Bank of America was arrested this morning by Novato police on a warrant charging embezzlement of more than $10,000.

Bradley was arrested at a residence at 746 Diablo Avenue at the request of Ukiah Police Chief Donn Sauldsbury, according to Novato Police Chief Robert de Grazia.

Sauldsbury said that Bradley was wanted for investigation of embezzlement, the exact amount not known, from the Ukiah branch of the bank.

The federal warrant calls for $50,000 bail, De Grazia said. Bradley would be turned over to the Ukiah police and FBI, Di Grazia said.

Old School's Salvage Plan Is Ruled Out

Mill Valley School District trustees last night authorized the demolition of the old Homestead School building after hearing it would cost too much to salvage one floor of the building for storage and restroom facilities.

The board then approved plans for the addition of storage and restroom areas to the main school building and landscaping and seating areas on the old building site, according to Supt. James A. Collins.

The board previously agreed to demolish only the second floor of the building and construct a deck on top of the first foor storage area.

Additional state requirements to ensure structural soundness were too expensive, Collins said. making demolition and construction of the addition the most economical way to provide necessary facilities.

The Mill Valley School District board also:

PAYMENT — Authorized a partial payment to Richard N. Jessup for architectural services on the Homestead School project.

RESIGNATIONS — Accepted the resignations of Carol Hurwitz, Alto School teacher, and Eleanor Buckley, volunteer aide coordinator. Both resigned because they were moving out of town.

MEETING — Set the board's next meeting for 8 p.m. Dec. 16 at Park School.

Smoke, Siren Drill Set For Fort Barry

Heavy smoke and a siren may be seen and heard at Fort Barry from 8 a.m. to noon tomorrow during a "routine" exercise, the Army announced today.

The exercise, to be conducted by A Battery, 2nd Battalion, 51st Artillery at Fort Barry, also is expected to generate heavy military traffic on area roads, according to Lt. Ronald Izumi, an information officer at the Presidio of San Francisco.

"Mommy, Dolly keeps humming 'Rudolph the Red Nosed Reindeer' and we haven't even had Thanksgiving yet!"

ALMANAC

Today is Tuesday, Nov. 26, the 331st day of 1968 with 35 to follow.

The moon is in its first quarter The morning stars are Mars and Jupiter. The evening start are Saturn and Venus.

On this day in history:

In 1925 Americans could buy a new Ford roadster for $260.

In 1940 the Nazis forced 500,000 Jews in Warsaw to live in a ghetto surrounded by an 8-foot concrete wall.

A thought for the day: American journalist Ambrose Bierce said, "Prejudice is a vagrant opinion without visible means of support."

TIME AND TIDE

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Modern Bridge Expert Must Play With Soul For Victory

Have you ever noticed the resemblance between the deuce of spades and the deuce of clubs? Not the obvious similarities: after all, even the unfortunate people who don't read this column can see the black figure 2 in two corners of each card. The real resemblance is in the soul of those cards. As usual, we have a bridge hand to prove all of this.

RUFFS KING

South ruffed the king of diamonds with the deuce of spades, drew one round of trumps and then led the deuce of clubs to try a finesse with dummy's queen.

East took the king of clubs and returned the queen of hearts, giving the defenders three heart tricks. Down one, all because South didn't play with "soul."

If you know how to take a hint, you've surely seen where South went wrong. If not, see if you can work it out for yourself before you read on.

EARLY ERROR

South made his mistake by playing the wrong black deuce at the first trick. Instead of ruffing the king of diamonds South should discard the deuce of clubs. West must shift to a club, and declarer steps up with dummy's ace. After drawing one round of trumps with the queen, declarer leads dummy's queen of clubs.

If East plays low, South discards a heart. This is quite safe because even if West had the king of clubs and could win the trick he could cash only one heart trick. South would lose only one diamond, one club and one heart.

KING IN EAST

As it happens, East has the king of clubs, whenever East plays low, South will discard a heart. Whenever East puts up the king of clubs, South will ruff and return to dummy with a trump to get rid of more hearts on the good clubs.

Instead of going down one, South makes his contract with an overtrick — all because he can see the true resemblance between the two black deuces.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one diamond, and the next player bids one spade.

You hold:

♠ 3
♥ Q J 10
♦ J 8 7 6 4 3
♣ K 9 8.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two diamonds.

This is a pronounced underbid, but you will surely get another chance to speak. A jump to four diamonds would be more descriptive, but would get you past three notrump (which might be the best contract). A jump to three diamonds would promise about an ace more in high-card strength. In short, no bid really.

Supervisors Hit Street Sleeping

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) —The board of supervisors has adopted a law against sitting or sleeping on streets or sidewalks, voting down an objection by one member that it was "an antihippie ordinance."

Supervisor Jack Morrison said: "This law trends on constitutional freedoms."

Before the board adopted the measure 9-1 yesterday, Supervisor Peter Tamaras commented: "All the laws these days are on the side of criminals. The country needs laws on the side of the good people."

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Oral Vaccines Being Developed To Combat Influenza Outbreaks

VAN DELLEN

Many of our readers ask why an oral vaccine similar to the one that protects against poliomyelitis cannot be made to ward off influenza. Actually two forms of oral flu vaccine are available; one is made from dead viruses, the other from living, but weakened, influenza viruses. Although not so effective as oral polio vaccine, they are just as good as flu vaccine that is injected. Our researchers are conducting clinical trials using an oral spray that is given intranasally.

POLIO AND INFLUENZA are both caused by viruses, but there is a difference in how the conditions get started. The oral polio vaccine is effective because the poliomyelitis virus has to spread from the intestines to the central nervous system in order to cause disease. In contrast, influenzal viruses multiply in the respiratory tract.

Presently, we are hearing more and more about the debut of a new variant of A2 influenza; the new strain is spreading from Hong Kong and Singapore. It differs widely from other A2 strains previously isolated.

Furthermore, some authorities have suggested that it be classified as A3. It is not, however, a serious form of flu.

SOME OF the publicity associated with the Hong Kong variant has been misconstrued as a new epidemic. At the time of this writing, there is no epidemic but public health officials are concerned about this possibility because it takes a long time to prepare a protective vaccine. Our current supplies protect only against flu strains now prevalent in this country.

Chronically ill persons and the elderly have the greatest need for the vaccine. Essentially they are the ones facing serious complications or death from influenza.

Such "high risk" individuals should be treated first when an epidemic is forecast. These include victims of heart disease, hypertension, lung disorders, and diabetes.

ANTIVIRAL AGENTS are also on the agenda. Amantadine hydrochloride is effective against some influenzal strains. Another newcomer is isoquinoline, which is not yet on the market. The interferon inducers also are good prospects for the future.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

SHORTNESS OF BREATH

E. L. writes: Does shortness of breath occur in lung disease as well as in heart trouble?

REPLY

Yes. Our leaflet on shortness of breath explains the various conditions in which the symptoms appears. It can be obtained by sending stamped, self-addressed envelope with request.

'PUSHING' VITAMIN PILLS

A reader writes: I stopped in a drug store recently and the clerk urged me to buy vitamins. He said everyone needs them. Is this a fact?

REPLY

No — just a salesman's pitch.

First Lady Dedicates Redwoods

EUREKA (UPI) — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson's five-year crusade to beautify America has officially ended with dedication of the Redwood National Park and a two-mile hike through the world's tallest trees.

"You know after today I hardly have an exclamation left," Mrs. Johnson said after leading reporters on a one-hour walk yesterday through the dense Northern California coastal redwood forest.

"I thought everything was the most and the biggest and the best," she added before boarding a plane for a flight to the LBJ Ranch in Texas. She plans to spend Thanksgiving at the ranch with the president.

Mrs. Johnson, wearing a camel-colored pants suit and hiking boots, questioned conservation club officials about the history of the stately, ancient trees as she walked along the cool, damp floor of the forest.

"This place is absolutely unique," she said. "This day has been a jewel."

The First Lady began the last of a four-day, 6,000-mile cross-country tour by dedicating the 58,000-acre national park.

The ceremonies were performed beneath a towering redwood which began growing 657 years ago—181 years before Columbus discovered America.

The $92 million park, approved earlier this year by Congress, contains the world's tallest known tree—as high as a 36-story building. Many of the trees began growing before the birth of Christ.

Friendly pickets and a crowd of about 400 persons greeted Mrs. Johnson at the dedication site. The pickets carried signs reading "Ladybird, tell the world the park still has a long way to go," "This is only a beginning — save more redwoods," and "Thoreau, Muir, T.R., LBJ."

But Norman B. Livermore, California resources secretary and Gov. Ronald Reagan's representative at the ceremonies, said there would be no more large tracts of redwoods taken from lumber companies for park lands.

Before leaving the park and flying to Texas, Mrs. Johnson was driven along the Redwood Highway where the majestic trees grow down to the rocky shores of the Pacific.

Mrs. Johnson then boarded her chartered plane and flew back to Texas, ending a trip which began four days before in New Orleans and included stops at Cape Kennedy and Denver.

It was her last official trip as First Lady on behalf of conservation causes and a more beautiful America.

Saunders was released on $625 bail.

TV REVIEW

Sinatra's Singing: The Best

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—"Francis Albert Sinatra Does His Thing" was the inspired title of CBS-TV's one-hour last night special starring the singer who is known as Frank.

Sinatra's thing, as everybody knows, is singing with unmatched style, savoir faire and charm that is all the more real because his face, manner and phrasing radiate the experiences of a man who has lived.

UNIQUE STYLE

It is this unique sense of character that separates the men from the boys in all forms of work, and show business is no exception. And it is the special sense of character identified with Sinatra—above all, his lust for life and his refusal to settle into a rut—that appeals to romantics of all ages.

As in his past specials, all these qualities were very plain to see last night, and it is hardly a surprise to report that once again the great showman illustrated what pop singing at its best is all about.

His guests this time were Diahann Carroll and the 5th Dimension.

Miss Carroll's lovely singing served as a reminder that although she is the star of NBC-TV's "Julia" series, her talents are much wider. And the 5th Dimension fit in beautifully too as Sinatra even got into the act with them.

EASY SWINGER

The fact that Sinatra can knock off songs of the "new generation" with aplomb and artistry should be no surprise to anyone. In his own way, he has created new generations of musical interpretation in his personal progression as a singer. My own personal preference is to hear him gaily making his way through dashing, insouciant, witty lyrics, informing the contended clods of what the world is all about, or at least can be if you swing out.

"Francis Albert Sinatra Does His Thing" was, in short, another of the singer's contributions to show business posterity. He's a good man for a television critic to have around. He takes your mind off your work.

Federico Fellini, the incomparable Italian movie director, is making a film about himself for NBC-TV's "Experiment in Television" series. The hour will be a study of Fellini preparing to make a movie, "The Satyricon," and also recalling" his first awareness of film as a child, with recollections of part films and even of projects started and then put aside."

San Rafael, Novato Toll Free Calls Set

San Rafael and Novato residents will be able to call each other toll free as of next April, Troy E. Lewis, manager of the San Rafael office of Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co., announced today.

After approximately April 10, the local calling area for San Rafael customers will include the prefixes 883 in Ignacio, 892 and 897 in Novato and 838 at Hamilton Air Force Base, he said.

The San Rafael exchange includes San Anselmo, Ross, Kentfield, Fairfax, Terra Linda, and Marinwood with the prefixes 453, 454, 456, 457, 461, 472 and 479.

Not only will the calls be toll free, but it will also no longer be necessary to dial "1" before the prefixes.

The agreement between Pacific Telephone and Western Telephone Co., which provides telephone service in Novato, was approved by the California Public Utilities Commission in May, 1967.

The companies were given two years to start the new service.

At the time the new service goes into effect, Novato and Ignacio customers will have a rate increase but San Rafael will not, because a rate increase going into effect next Tuesday has taken into consideration the new arrangement.

SAN RAFAEL — Business service will rise from $9.55 to $13.25 on Tuesday with no increase in April; residence service from $3.90 to $4.65 on Tuesday with no increase in April.

IGNACIO — Business service will rise from $7.35 to $9 on Tuesday and to $11.25 in April; residence service from $4.25 to $4.75 on Tuesday and to $5.15 in April.

NOVATO — No increase on Tuesday but business rate will rise from $10.25 to $13.10 and residence rate from $5 to $6.20 in April.

Pair Named Marin's Top 4-H Members

Madelyn Angress of Marshall and Glenn Parks of Tomales are the county's 4-H Club all-stars this year.

They were honored at a ceremony Saturday night at the Sinaloa High School in Novato.

"The all-star award is the highest county award in the 4-H program," said Marin County Farm Advisor Donald L. Brittsan. "The two were selected on the basis of their outstanding project work during their years as 4-H Club members." They will attend the statewide all-star conference to be held next summer at Davis.

Madelyn is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert A. Angress of Marshall. Glenn is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Parks of Tomales.

Judges who picked the all-stars were were James McNern, former 4-H all-star, Virginia Shattuck of San Rafael, Mrs. Vera Miller of San Anselmo and Peter J. Ferrarese, manager of Crocker Citizens Bank in Novato.

THE WINNER — University of Southern California great O. J. Simpson, shown here in action against California Nov. 9, today was named winner of the Heisman Trophy as the outstanding collegiate football player in the country.

USC's Fabulous Simpson Captures Heisman Trophy

NEW YORK (AP) — O. J. Simpson, Southern California's record-breaking runner, was named winner of the Heisman Trophy today as college football's best player for 1968.

Simpson, an All-American as a junior last season, was an overwhelming choice in the voting conducted by the Downtown Athletic Club among the nation's sports writers and sportscasters.

He received 2,853 points to 1,103 for runner-up Leroy Keyes of Purdue and 387 for Terry Hanratty of Notre Dame.

The 6-2, 207-pound Simpson, a superb athlete with the effortless grace of a deer but the shattering power of a bull, cracked collegiate ball-carrying records this year in leading Southern Cal to nine straight victories and the No. 2 national ranking.

He has overshadowed the performances of such all-time great running stars as Red Grange, Tom Harmon, Glenn Davis, Jimmy Brown and Gale Sayers.

He has carried the ball this year 334 times, a record, and piled up 1,654 yards rushing, a new peak in that category. He has scored 21 touchdowns, the most in the nation.

A transfer from City College of San Francisco, Simpson has played only two seasons with USC but in that period has accomplished more than many top-grade athletes are able to gain in three.

His career record shows him with 3,069 yards rushing and 32 touchdowns. No athlete has ever gained more on the ground in two years.

O. J. has a good chance of grabbing two other season marks with a game against Notre Dame left. He needs only 17 points to overtake Jim O'Brien of Cincinnati, who has finished for the scoring lead. He needs to pick up 85 more yards in any fashion—running, pass-catching, kick-returning—to pass Eugene Morris of West Texas State as the nation's No. 1 all-purpose back of 168. Morris has 1,957 hards, Simpson 1,872.

O. J. called "Orange Juice" by his mates, grew up with a brother and two sisters in a black neighborhood of San Francisco called Portero Hills. They were reared by their mother, a hospital worker.

In high school, he was a 5-10, 160-pound tackle. He frequently was in trouble with juvenile authorities. Later he fell under the influence of the Booker T. Washington Community Center, which headed him toward a college education.

Simpson is sure to be No. 1 in the pro football draft and O. J. says, "Ive always longed for those pro dollars."

THANKSGIVING DAY BATTLE

Tars To Face Star QB

It's another "big game week" for College of Marin's football squad, and the tenseness is beginning to show.

With the Tars' State J.C. Playoff date with Fresno City College two days away, coach Dick Read has gone over the films of Fresno games so many times he's probably seeing the Valley Conference champions in his dreams.

And the figure that will appear most often in those dreams, and in Read's thoughts up to Thursday's noon kickoff in Fresno's Ratcliffe Stadium is that of Ram quarterback Mike Rasmussen, a 6-foot-1, 170-pound lefthander who rates as the best quarterback Read has seen in eight years of junior college coaching.

NATURAL

"Rasmussen is what makes them a great team," said Read. "If they didn't have him, they'd just be a good club — with him, they're terrific. He's a real natural athlete, quick, good hands—he must play basketball or baseball too — and a real quick release, fine short and medium passer."

With three good receivers and a fine offensive backfield as well as a small but quick line, Rasmussen has led Fresno to an offensive average of 375 yards per game in the Rams' 7-2 season mark. Steve Natsues, the swift flanker who is in the top 15 in statewide receiving, is his favorate target, but tight end Bob Burdick and split end Bob Davidon are almost as good.

PROBLEMS

"They present a lot of problems to the defense," sighed Read, remarking that since Rasmussen is lefthanded, he confuses the defense and can roll to his left and throw back across the field, which is hard on a righthander. In addition, the Ram frosh is adept at changing huddle calls at the line of scrimmage via audibles, and has great accuracy (103 completions in 195 attempts for 1,600 yards) and a lot of guts. "He got hit real good a few times in the games we saw on film," said Read, "but he just got up and kept the team moving."

Running the team from a pro-set formation, sometimes shifting out of an I formation, Rasmussen runs a strong ground game, with a very effective off-tackle play. "The off-tackle is every team's bread and butter," says Read. "It's been ours for the last three years. They run it very well, and we have to stop it to stop them. But it's hard because they can hit you from so many different angles."

FORMATION

The Rams will also run quick pitches to the fullback or tailback, who lines up as deep man in the I, the same way O. J. Simpson does for USC. Happily, the Rams have no O. J. — but what they have is tough enough.

Rasmussen will drop back and throw, or roll out and set up. With his quick release, he can wait until the last possible moment to throw. In addition, he can run. In the 34-27 Ram win over archrival College of Sequoias that won the Valley title, he ran for 55 yards in 12 carries to lead FCC's ground game, in addition to passing for 268 years.

GOOD MORALE

Overall, Read feels that team morale is good. The eligibility issue now only affects one player, who may be able to play, and star halfback Tim Garvin is back on the starting team after missing the Santa Rosa finale due to grades.

"If we get too afraid or too flat, we'll get beat badly down there," said Read. "But if we play a tough game, the kind we're capable of, we can do it. It'll take a maximum effort from the whole team, but if we make the effort it'll be real close and we can win. I just don't want to get the kids too keyed up too early. I have a lot of faith in this team; they've come from behind so many times this year, I think they have the courage it takes to win."

Other Blacks Give Support To Gridders

SAN JOSE (AP) — San Jose State's seven embattled Negro football players, in danger of losing their scholarships if they boycott Saturday's game with Brigham Young University, have received support from their counterparts in other sports.

Representatives of the basketball and track teams said at a meeting yesterday that the Negroes on those teams and in other sports had all voted to turn in their scholarships if the football players lost theirs.

The football players have said they will refuse to play against BYU here because of alleged racial policies of the Mormon Church, which runs the university.

At first, said linebacker Tony Jackson, the Negroes were assured they would not lose their scholarships for refusing to play.

"President (Robert) Clark and (Athletic Director Bob) Bronzan said that if they were black, they'd do the same thing," Jackson said.

But after white athletes threatened not to play last Saturday against Arizona State if the Negroes' boycott went unpunished, Jackson said, Clark and Bronzan changed their minds.

As it stands now, the Negroes will lose their athletic scholarships, but other money will be made available.

This, however, didn't satisfy the Negro athletes, who noted that NCAA rules would keep them from ever competing in college again if they lost their scholarships.

The athletes have formed a Black Athletes Federation, which, besides threatening to turn in all their scholarships, made the following demands:

That the school hire a Negro football coach to replace Harry Anderson, who is retiring after this season. Walter Roberts, a San Jose graduate who went on to play with the National Football League Los Angeles Rams and Cleveland Browns, was mentioned.

That San Jose discontinue all athletic events with Brigham Young University.

That a Negro be hired as assistant athletic director.

That Negro athletes be discouraged from enrolling at San Jose unless the "racist conditions under which black athletes operate at San Jose State College daily" improve.

Attending the meeting were Olympic track stars John Carlos and Ronnie Ray Smith and basketball players C.J. Haward and Darrell Hillman.

No New League Move For Marin Catholic

To the great relief of many local persons, the California Interscholastic Federation has shelved a plan to transfer Marin Catholic High School out of the Marin County Athletic League and into a new conference with some East Bay schools.

The parochial school of Kentfield was vehemently against such a move because of transportation expenses and gate appeal that would suffer in competition against non-Marin schools.

Marin is the smallest school in the MCAL and plays an independent football schedule against schools its own size, but competes with the seven other MCAL members in other sports and will continue to do so, thanks to the CIF's change of heart.

Like Father, Like Son

ALL-LEAGUE FOOTBALL honors seem to run in the Jay Simon family of Corte Madera. When Redwood High School center Phil Simon, a junior, was named to the All-Marin County Athletic League last week he was just following in his dad's footsteps. Jay Simon, now a contractor, was an All-North Bay League tackle at Tamalpais high back in the 1940s, All-Northern California Junior College selection at College of at Oregon State. Jay never turned professional; he Marin and then honorable mention All-Pacific Coast remained Simon pure.

WELL, THE GANG down at College of Marin finally got their Toilet Bowl touch tackle football game played the other day and what a romp. The COM Times staff beat the Associated Student Government 69-21 as Rick Beban passed for six touchdowns and Editor-In-Chief Kimo Campbell scored four times, twice on passes from Beban. "We're flushed with victory," said Campbell. Harry Gilbert and Mike Conroy starred for the losers.

Good Job By Baccaglio

MARTIN BACCAGLIO, the former Novato High, College of Marin and San Jose standout, was mentioned prominently on television Sunday for his defensive end work for the Cincinnati Bengals against the Oakland Raiders.

Obtained by Cincinnati from the San Diego Chargers earlier this season, Baccaglio recovered the Raiders' only fumble and was in on several tackles.

DAVID CHASE, son of Mrs. Ruth P. Chase of Greenbrae, starred for the University of Rochester soccer team this season and drew praise as an "excellent defender" from coach Bill Boomer.

WORD FROM University of Santa Clara reports that former Drake High basketball all-star Bob Tobin should see considerable action with the Bronco varsity as a forward this bounceball season. Bob is now a junior and has grown to 6-5, 220 pounds.

Santa Clara, U S F In Cable Car Classic

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Two San Francisco Bay Area teams will be among the competitors in the annual Cable Car Classic Basketball Tournament, set for Dec. 13-14.

The University of Santa Clara, winner of the tournament last year, will meet the Houston Cougars and the University of San Francisco will tangle with Brigham Young University, Provo, Utah, on the first day of the tournament.

The winners will meet for the title Dec. 14.

Girl Jock Now Tries Singing

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Thwarted at her effort to become the first woman jockey in American horse racing, Penny Ann Early began a bid today for a singing career.

"I can ride better than I sing," the comely 25-year-old said when she stepped off a plane here last night.

Jay Bainwater, an independent producer in this recording center, brought Miss Early to Nashville and says she will cut a single record. Rainwater added he expects to sell about 100,000 copies.

"I'm a shower singer," Penny Ann said.

"I've got a song that you can sing in the showers," Rainwater responded.

Miss Early failed at her first bid to become a jockey when she couldn't get a mount before the close of the fall racing season at Churchill Downs at Louisville, Ky.

But she did land a contract with the Kentucky Colonels of the American Basketball Association, although her sports career so far has consisted of adding glamor to the Colonels' bench.

Miss Early will try to break the sex barrier next at Latonia racetrack.

"I think I'll ride before next week is over," she said, even if it requires a court fight. "There's the Civil Rights Act, you know."

Ghilotti Cagers Win Rec Game

Ghilotti Brothers, paced by Bill Buffalow's 28-point spree, defeated San Quentin Prison 103-78 last night in the San Rafael Recreation Department's Class A Adult Basketball League at San Quentin.

In another Class A game played at San Rafael High School, Red Shield of San Francisco defeated Paradise Pharmacy, 75-66. Red Shield had five men scoring in double figures—Fred Williams 18, Jesse Wilson 14, Bill Lindsay 13, Norman King 11 and George Bayless 10.

Leaders for Paradise were Jay Johnson 15, Jim Halm 13, Jack Stromberg 12 and Al Patsei 12.

Class C scores and high scorers:

SETTLEMENT TO FEUD?

Most Golfers Still Hopeful

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP) — Most of the golfing tourists at the Cajun Classic, the year's last circuit stop, were hopeful of an early settlement of the war between the Professional Golfers Association and the American Professional Golfers.

Leaders of the APG, the organization of tournament pros who've split away from the PGA in a fight over control of the $5 million plus tour, flew to Florida for talks yesterday with the hierarchy of the PGA.

TO MEET

APG President Gardner Dickinson and Dan Sikes Jr., a lawyer as well as a tournament golf star, were to meet with the president, vice president and treasurer of the PGA.

Dickinson, asked in an interview here what it would take to satisfy the touring pros so they would remain with the PGA, replied:

"What it's been all along, what it's been for 30 years, or 40, or however long they have been hollering at each other.

"The touring pros' rights in matters pertaining strictly to tournaments run by the PGA, to cast the deciding vote as to how the tour is run, who works for them and so fourth.

"That's all it is. One vote majority. One more touring player than a majority of the tournament committee."

However, PGA National Vice President Nobole Chalfant of Denver, who also was here, said in an interview he didn't think the PGA would ever permit the touring players to have "complete control. The (the PGA) want a share in all negotiations."

Chalfant said the PGA has talked about a golf czar ever since Jack Tuthill resigned as PGA tournament director and joined the APG staff.

"There has been talk of getting a tournament manager and different names have been discussed, but no one has been offered a position, job or anything," said Chalfant.

"I don't think we're in a position to do so at this time until we know what the future of tournament golf is going to be."

Dickinson, however, when asked how he felt about a czar, said:

SECRET

"We have offered the job to someone. I can't tell you who at this time."

Many of the golfers in the Cajun Classic, which rookie Ron Cerrudo, of San Rafael, won, privately said they felt a compromise may be reached before the PGA and APG are due back in federal court next month.

"Our door has never been shut," said Dickinson. "Stuck a little, but it isn't closed."

ANDERSON SPEAKS OUT ON GUN LAW

WASHINGTON (AP) — Olympic rifle champion, Gary Anderson said yesterday he doesn't think the nation's new gun control law will hinder most hunters and marksmen who shoot for sport.

Anderson, former student at San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo who now lives in Axtell, Neb., appeared at a news conference at the National Rifle Association to take a couple of potshots at part of the new regulations. He said they would have made it impossible for him to buy the rifle with which he won his second straight Olympic gold medal.

But Anderson added his specific problem of getting special imported rifles probably could be worked out in the future. And he conceded the new laws would not impose any restrictions on the average hunter and sportsman.

The gun control law forbids mail sales of arms and ammunition across state lines, requires special licenses for gun imports, and bans all sales to ex-convicts, minors and the mentally incompetent.

Simpson Leads UPI A-A Team

NEW YORK (UPI)—O.J. "Orange Juice" Simpson, who often makes the difficult look easy, accomplished the "impossible" today when he got the nation's sports writers and broadcasters to agree on one thing unanimously.

Simpson, the record-breaking running back from Southern California, was a unanimous choice on all 202 ballots cast in the voting for the 1968 United Press International All-America college football team announced today.

It marked the first time in the history of the team—the only All-America team chosen by direct vote of the nation's sports writers and broadcasters—that one man was named on all the ballots. The closest previous approach to perfection came in 1966 when end George "Bubba" Smith of Michigan State missed a unanimous vote by seven ballots.

It also marked the second straight year that Simpson, now a senior, had led the voting for the All-America team and for the second year in a row versatile back Leroy Keyes of Purdue, who received votes both on offense and defense, was runner-up with a total of 191 ballots.

One thing Simpson was not able to do—to lead Southern Cal to the greatest number of places on the All-America team. The Trojans, who had four men on the squad last year, landed only two this time—Simpson and defensive back Mike Battle.

THE OFFENSIVE MR. NAMATH

New York Jets quarterback Joe Namath, Fu Manchu-type mustache and all, yesterday was named the American Football League's offensive player of the week after leading the Jets to a 37-15 victory over the San Diego Chargers Sunday. Hart Resigns, Pitt Looks For New Coach

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The University of Pittsburgh, once a football power but now just another loser, is searching again for a coach.

The search began yesterday when Dave Hart, an enthusiastic but unproductive coach, resigned.

Not since 1963 when Pitt had a 9-1 record has the school had a winner. Hart's three teams shared 1-9 records, but the season just ended may have been the worse.

Opponents racked up 393 points against Pitt, the most in the school's history. Scores like 63-7, 48-0, 50-17 and 65-9 are in the record book.

Hart was hired in 1965 to rejuvenate a sliding team under John Michelosen. But Hart's record was worse.

Still, the former high school coach successfully recruited players other Eastern schools wanted badly.

But it's on this success that Hart pinned at least part of his downfall. Night after night, he said, were spent on the banquet circuit or in homes of prospects—reducing his coaching time and energy.

When he came to Pitt, 40 players showed up for football; this season he had 80.

"I hope the new guy can coach 80 guys and not worry about getting 40 new ones," Hart told reporters.

Before this season Hart and publicists billed Pitt as a much improved team, and the season as "The year the Panthers begin to growl." It never happened.

Hart left Pitt with a suggestion—lowering Pitt's strict academic standards for players.

Chancellor Wesley M. Posvar, when pressed, admitted the whole academic program is undergoing analysis which may bring about innovations. But he gave no hint that standards for athletes will be lowered.

Hart said he resigned of his own accord, but he said nobody rushed to stop him when he offered to quit.

"Well, it might be the smart thing to do," he said Frank Carver, the athletic director, told him during a 15-minute conversation.

"I think you have made the right decision," Carver said he told Hart.

Posvar announced that a committee has been named to search for a new coach. He said, however, that Hart's contract, which has one year to go, would be honored.

Hart, a native of Connellsville, coached high school teams in Pennsylvania for 11 years before he went to Kentucky and then Navy as an assistant coach.

"I'm a fighter," he said. "I expected to return and wish I could but it's not supposed to be."

Farr Out For Year

DETROIT (AP) — Mel Farr of the Detroit Lions of the NFL will undergo surgery on his left knee and will be out for the rest of the season. The knee was injured in a game against the San Francisco 49ers on Oct. 27.

GIRLS SPORTS

San Rafael, Redwood, Drake Win

San Rafael, Drake and Redwood high schools took championships in the fall sports season of the Marin County Athletic League girls' division.

San Rafael swept to the swimming title with a 6-0 won-lost record to edge Redwood (5-1). The Redwood gals suffered the same bridesmaid fate in tennis where Drake of San Anselmo won with a 6-0 mark.

Redwood finally came through in volleyball where it won a 10-game schedule with a 9-1 mark. Marin Catholic of Kentfield 1 was runnerup and took the junior varsity title with an 8-2 record.

Atkins Finished

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Doug Atkins of the New Orleans Saints, has been lost for the rest of the NFL season with a fractured kneecap.

Mike Ryan Wins NCAA Cross Country

NEW YORK (AP) — Mike Ryan, an aspiring fighter pilot who calls Okinawa home, has proven his speed afoot by capturing the NCAA cross country championship in a duel with two Eastern distance stars.

Ryan, a 5-foot-7, 145-pound junior at the Air Force Academy, beat Georgetown's Steve Stageberg by 60 yards yesterday for the individual NCAA crown, with Art Dulong of Holy Cross third.

Villanova took the team title for the third straight year although its top finisher, Tom Donnelly, placed eighth in the six-mile test at Van Cortlandt Park. The Wildcats compiled a low score of 78 points. Stanford was second with 101 and Southern California third with 108.

Ryan, who was born in Ithaca, N.Y., but lists his home as Okinawa, where his father is a lieutenant colonel in the Air Force, took the lead from Dulong at the four-mile mark and won in 29 minutes, 16.8 seconds.

Stageberg, winner of the IC4-A meet at the same park last week, came on to take second from Dulong, who was allowed to compete by a special vote of the executive committee after learning his entry had not been received in time.

Team placings below the first three were unofficial and individual placings below the first 20 also were in doubt.

Nolan Says Belk To Start Against Packers Sunday

SAN FRANCISCO — Rookie defensive end Bill Belk, who has turned in fine performances since being called up two weeks ago, will get his second starting assignment Sunday when the San Francisco 49ers take on the Green Bay Packers.

The massive end from Maryland State grabbed a fumble in San Francisco's 20-20 tie with Los Angeles two weeks ago and last Sunday grabbed off a Dick Shiner pass for a touchdown as the 49ers routed Pittsburgh, 45-28.

Coach Dick Nolan was forced to call on Belk after regular Clark Miller injured his knee and backup man Kevin Hardy also suffered the same injury. Hardy, however, is expected to be ready for the Packer clash.

Nolan said yesterday he was satisfied with most of the players but does want to "make changes in certain areas."

Hoping for a speedy halfback in the draft, he said he was looking for three things: "speed, consistency and ability to perform in clutch situations."

Cal Quint Tabbed As 2nd

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Northern California basketball writers have picked California to finish runner-up to mighty UCLA in the Pacific-8 conference.

The Bruins are virtually everybody's pick to finish No. 1 in the nation.

Behind Cal in yesterday's predicted final standings were Southern California, Oregon State and Washington State.

And where will Stanford finish?

Indian Coach Howie Dallmar smiled wryly as he told the writers' luncheon:

"We held an intrasquad scrimmage Thursday — first team against second team and the second team won handily. That means either we have great depth or we have problems."

California Coach Jim Padgett said his Bears "have some talent." But he said they're a young team and will have to prove themselves under pressure.

In the West Coast Athletic Conference, Santa Clara was named to repeat as champion. But Coach Dick Garibaldi was only mildly optimistic.

"They're probably the best first string I've ever had, but the worst reserves," he said.

The Broncos' main opposition is expected to come from the University of the Pacific Tigers, whose coach, Dick Edwards, said he will have all the starters back and gunning for their third league title in four years.

The apparent have-not in the circuit will be the University of San Francisco, with the entire starting five gone by graduation.

BEWARE, NAVY

Army Quarterback Not Flashy, Gets Job Done

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — A few of the uninitiated television fans watching the Army-Navy football game Saturday may get a jolt when Steven Lindell pops on the screen as the Army quarterback.

"Do they call that guy a passer?" may be a first astonished reaction. "Whoever told him he was a quarterback?"

The shock will stem from the fact that Lindell is far from the image of the classic quarterback. Sometimes he throws the ball end over end. Other times the ball seems to wobble and fade in the air.

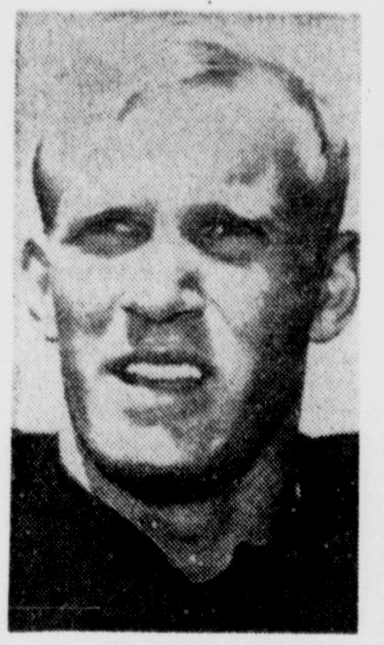
SCRAMBLES

From his quarterback slot, Lindell scoots and scrambles. He often doesn't follow the pattern. At first glance, it appears he is lost and doesn't know what he is doing.

However, he usually gets the ball away and usually somebody catches it. Statistically, he is the best passer in Army's long and glittering football history.

"He isn't what you would call a classic passer," says Army Coach Tom Cahill. "I doubt if the pros would be interested in him even if he weren't committed to a military career.

"He's simply a guy who gets the job done. He has been a great inspiration for our team."



STEVE LINDELL
Army star

When Lindell ends his varsity career against Navy Saturday, he will have wiped out some of the proudest offensive records in Army football, eclipsing marks set by the great Chris Cagle, Carl Stichweh and Pete Vann.

He already has beaten Cagle's mark for most plays. In three season, Lindell has had part in 743 plays compared with Cagle's four-year total of 613 from 1926 through 1929.

As a sophomore in 1966, Lindell had a hand in more plays than any Army player ever—281.

In passing alone, Lindell has thrown 455 times and completed 227, both Army records, and needs only 15 more yards through the air in the Navy game to surpass the total aerial yardage set by Pete Vann. The latter held the record of 372 passes and 174 completions for 2,915 yards.

STARTS IN '66

The Army quarterback, a six-foot, 180-pounder who hails from the little town of Princeton 30 miles northwest of Minneapolis, burst into bloom as Army's unorthodox but effective quarterback in 1966, the year that brought Cahill in as head coach.

Lindell starred in a 20-7 victory over Navy. Last year he completed 13 of 21 passes for 173 yards and two touchdowns against Utah. This year he scurried 26 yards against Pittsburgh and 41 against Boston College for touchdowns and kept Army in the game against Penn State, losing to the unbeaten Nittany Lions 28-24.

San Rafael 2nd In Swim Meet

The San Rafael Swim Club took second place in team standings at the second annual Blackford Invitational Swim Meet held at Blackford High School in San Jose Saturday.

Palo Alto Swim Club won the meet.

The San Rafael club took five relay victories and 11 individual wins in the meet.

Double winners for San Rafael were Gordon Hodgson in boys 10 and under, Peter Kamler in boys 8 and under, Leslie Bryans in Girls 13-14, and Jo Hislop in girls 13-14.

Single winners were Nancy Placak in girls 8 and under, Joe Dunn in boys 10, and under, and Tami McDuffie in girls 11-12.

Oaks Beat Houston, Fatten Lead

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Rick Barry scored only 25 points, 10 below his average, and the Oakland Oaks scored their lowest total of the season but that didn't stop them from winning.

The Oaks seek their second straight victory on a four-game road trip at New Orleans tonight against the Buccaneers after beating Houston 111-102 last night.

Oakland increased its lead to five games over Los Angeles in the American Basketball Association's Western Division.

The Mavericks pulled to within 106-100 with 1:02 left on toy Jackson's three-point basket but Houston fouls enabled the Oaks to keep the lead.

Sports Commissioners Sound Like Children

From time to time Pete Rozelle, commissioner of football, and William D. Eckert, commissioner of baseball, make conflicting claims. Rozelle claims football commands the biggest audiences in television. Eckert insists it's baseball.

The commissioners sound like a couple of kids claiming "My all day sucker is bigger than yours."

Eckert's office just released a two-page statement claiming that the fourth game of the 1968 World Series played in Detroit on Sunday, Oct. 6, was viewed in more homes and by more people than any other sports event in history.

"Over 28.5 million homes tuned to the game," the statement read. "This is almost a million more homes than saw the previously No. 1 ranked Sunday game of the 1963 World Series between the Dodgers and Yankees.

"BASED ON an estimated 2.75 persons to a home, this means that some 78,577,500 watched the 1968 World Series game in the United States. In addition, the game was televised into Canada, Japan, Mexico and other Latin American countries.

"This represented the second largest TV audience of all time for any program. Only the 1967 Academy Awards show drew a larger TV audience."

ON AND ON went the statement which finally acknowledged that football also draws sizeable TV audiences. It admitted that the 1968 Super Bowl was third on the all-time TV sports list with 27 million homes tuned in.

Rozelle, relying on TV audience ratings different from those used by Eckert, previously claimed an all-time sports high for the 1968 Super Bowl.

AND IN doing so Rozelle jumped to the same illogical conclusion about football TV audiences that Eckert reached about World Series TV audiences.

"From the ratings," Rozelle declared earlier in the year, "it is clear that pro football commands television's biggest audiences."

"FROM THE rankings," Eckert declared in his recent release, "it is easy to conclude that World Series is still America's No. 1 sports event."

There's no need to point out the flaws in such fuzzy logic. Elementary rules of clear thinking prohibit general conclusions from specific facts.

And, indeed, the specific audience ratings of both the World Series and the Super Bowl might be challenged. For instance, how many homes are there in your neighborhood with 2.75 persons?

Rested Warriors To Face Bulls

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—After taking back-to-back victories with little more than three hours of sleep, the San Francisco Warriors will be well rested when they play the Chicago Bulls in a National Basketball Association game tomorrow night at the Cow Palace.

The Warriors walloped Seattle 132-119 Saturday night at the Cow Palace. They had beaten Los Angeles 100-98 at Los Angeles Friday night but had to wait long hours — missing sleep—as both the Los Angeles and San Francisco airports were fogged in.

Lack of sleep didn't appear to bother Joe Ellis as he hit 15 of 19 shots from the floor and added two free throws for 32 points in pacing the victory over Seattle.

The victory pulled the Warriors over .500 with a 10-9 record.

Alcindor, Bruins Rated No. 1 Again

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The UCLA basketball team, seeking an unprecedented third straight national championship, opens the 1968-69 season where it left off last year — the No. 1 rated team in the country.

All-American center Lew Alcindor and fellow Bruins were the unanimous choice to repeat UCLA's title claim in the annual preseason poll conducted by The Associated Press.

PERFECT SCORE

The AP selectors voted a perfect 400 points for UCLA, with North Carolina, Kentucky, Notre Dame and Kansas trailing in that order.

Coach John Wooden was pleased by the compliment but he's a cautious man with predictions involving his teams.

UCLA opens its campaign here Saturday night against Purdue, and Wooden has only to recall that it took a last second basket to down the Boilermakers, 73-71.

Today, in fact, Wooden is not ready to name his starting team. The front line seems set, with seniors Lynn Shackleford, 6-5, Jim Nielsen, 6-7, and 7-2 Alcindor, who now weighs in at 235.

There is, however, a lively battle at guard, and that is where Wooden still has to make decisions.

UCLA played an intra-squad game last Friday night. A crowd of 8,260 paid to see it.

"The thing that pleased me most," said Wodden, "was that our guards did better than they did in practice. As I've said before, my front line could be one of the greatest in collegiate history."

Wooden was especially pleased with John Vallely, a 6-2½ guard, a junior college transfer, and three senior backcourt men, Bill Sweek, 6-3; Don Saffer, 6-1, and Kenny Heitz, 6-3½.

Of Alcindor, Wooden observed significantly:

MORE MATURE

"He is more mature, five pounds heavier and appears to have better stamina this year. He definitely is more maneuverable. But perhaps most importantly, he is more at ease and seems to be enjoying it more."

If Lew is indeed enjoying it more, it stands to reason UCLA's opponents may enjoy it less this season.

Rounding out the top 10 in the AP poll, in order, were Davidson, St. Bonaventure, Houston, New Mexico and Purdue.

The second 10: 11, Villanova, 12, Ohio State. 13, Vanderbilt. 14, Cincinnati. 15, Marquette. 16, Western Kentucky. 17, Duke. 18, Detroit. 19, Florida. 20, Tennessee.

Pasadena Bowl: Sacramento St. Vs. Grambling

PASADENA (AP) — The Pasadena Bowl, formerly known as the Junior Rose Bowl, will pit Sacramento State College of California against Louisiana's Grambling College.

Both teams will bring regular-season records of 8-2 into the Dec. 7 game.

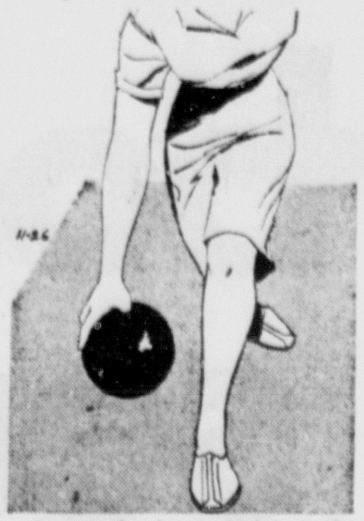
Grambling is this year's Southwestern Athletics Conference tri-champion. Sacramento State, runner-up to Humboldt State in the Far Western Conference, led the circuit in defense.

Grambling will be coached by Eddie Robinson, virtually an institution at the school. He's in his 27th season there. Ray Clemens, in his eighth year at Sacramento State, will coach the Hornets.

The 23-year-old game was opened to four-year colleges last year. West Texas State College, which defeated San Fernando State College of Northridge, Calif., 35-13 last year, declined an invitation to return.

BOWLING TIPS

By MARION LADEWIG



It may be fun to twist on the dance floor, but its counterpart on the bowling lanes won't work. The woman in today's illustration is about to turn her wrist violently counter-clockwise at release in an effort to increase the sidespin of the ball. Her fingers are on the right side of the ball. The best release finds the fingers more behind the ball at this point with only a minimal wrist-twist.

Marin Kids Gain Coast Ice Skating

Michelle Robinson and Forrest Craig will be representing the Marin Figure Skating Club at the Pacific Coast Figure Skating Championships Dec. 12 through 14 in Los Angeles.

Other club members at Squaw Valley included Caroline Sturquelle, third, juvenile girls; Lisa Craig, fourth, pre-juvenile; Gracie Fleming, eighth, pre-juvenile girls, and Kim Likerman, fourth, intermediate ladies.

Juli McKinstry, 12, of San Rafael, who skates out of Santa Rosa, teamed with Charlie Tickner, 14, of Walnut Creek, to defend the Novice Division pairs title at the Squaw Valley meet.

Blame Thoughtless Hunters For 'Off-Limits' Territory

By JAMES K. WOODWORTH

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Thousands of nimrods took to the fields last weekend on the opening day of the annual pheasant season and many found the open hunting areas have been reduced as more and more landowners find it necessary to place their property "off-limits" to hunters.

It is always startling to us to find that all sportsmen are placed in one category, almost as destructive pests, because of the actions of a few, unthinking, and obviously unsportsmanlike individuals.

Some of the blame can be placed on the new hunter who invades property because he does not know the "rules" of a true sportsman, which require clearing with the landowner for the privilege of hunting on his property.

TARGET PRACTICE

We have known farmers and rice growers who formerly welcomed hunters to their lands, but due to the thoughtlessness of a few, these lands have now been closed, and little wonder. Not long ago we came upon a trio of deer hunters who had stopped in the forest to rest, and consume a few beers. They left the empty cans strewn about the property and were enjoying themselves by tossing them in the air and firing their rifles in attempts at hitting the flying cans, which were left where they fell.

Others have patiently worked for 15 or 20 minutes to remove "No Trasspassing-No Hunting" signs so they could claim they did not see them, and most hunters have seen these signs literally riddled with bullets where some angry, immature gun toter had taken his wrath out on the sign.

It is such irrational acts which result in demands for restrictions on guns and it is time the sportsmen themselves joined together to stop this type of practice, or they may see more actions to curb guns, hunting and other sports as well.

It may be considered unusual and harsh punishment, but it is our feeling that unless action is taken immediately, much will be lost in the way of hunting.

Therefore, we believe stiffer penalties may be in order for the misuse of guns . . . such as lifetime revocation of hunting permits . . . since it is our feeling that misuse of a weapon once makes it easier to misuse the gun a second time . . . and so on.

If some hard stand is not taken by the real sportsmen of the state, and soon, these juvenile-thinking gun wielders could end for all time the present cooperation between sportsmen and landowners throughout the state.

DEER INCREASE

Preliminary deer tag returns indicate an increased "take" of deer of more than 25 per cent above last year. Total so far, including the special season hunts, has been placed at 52,061 deer taken in all hunts.

Tag returns for the late season were up 28 per cent, from the 23,658 a year ago to 30,272 this year.

The report of 52,061 deer killed is still well below the average of 61,729 bucks killed during the five-year period between 1962 and 1966, the final year before the adoption of the "self-validation" system, which allows hunters to validate their own deer tags.

There is some speculation that the reduction in kill reports may be due to this new system of self-validation, started last year.

If it holds on wet roads, imagine the control you'll have on dry ones!
